THE CRIMINAL COURT MANUAL

MINOR ACTS.

THE GOVERNMENT OF INDIA (ADAPTATION OF ACTS OF PARLIAMENT) ORDER, 1937.

AT THE COURT AT BUCKINGHAM PALACE.

PRESENT :—THE KING'S MOST EXCELLENT MAJESTY IN COUNCIL.

WHEREAS by sub-section (5) of section three hundred and eleven of the Government of India Act, 1935 (hereafter in the recitals to this Order referred to as "the Act") it is provided that any Act of Parliament containing references to India or any part thereof, to countries other than or situate outside India or other than or situate outside British India, to His Majesty's dominions, to a British possession, to the Secretary of State in Council, to the Governor-General in Council, to a Governor in Council or to Legislatures, courts or authorities in, or to matters relating to the Government or administration of, India or British India shall have effect subject to such adaptations and modifications as His Majesty in Council may direct, being adaptations and modifications which appear to His Majesty in Council to be necessary or expedient in consequence of the provisions of the Act or of the Government of Burma Act, 1935 :

AND WHEREAS by sub-section (2) of section one hundred and seventy-eight of the Act it is provided that all enactments relating to any such loans, guarantees and other financial obligations of the Secretary of State in Council as are referred to in sub-section (1) of that section shall in relation to those loans, guarantees and obligations continue to have effect with certain substitutions and with such other modifications and such adaptations as His Majesty in Council may deem necessary :

AND WHEREAS under section three hundred and twenty of the Act His Majesty by Order in Council has appointed the first day of April, nineteen hundred and thirty-seven, as the date on which the provisions of the Act, other than the provisions of Part II thereof, are, subject to any exceptions mentioned in the Order, to come into force :

AND WHEREAS a draft of this Order has been laid before Parliament in accordance with the provisions of sub-section (1) of section three hundred and nine of the Act and an address has been presented to His Majesty by both Houses of Parliament praying that an Order may be made in the terms of this Order :

NOW, THEREFORE, His Majesty, in the exercise of the said powers and of all other powers enabling him in that behalf, is pleased, by and with the advice of His Privy Council, to order, and it is hereby ordered, as follows :—

1. This Order may be cited as THE GOVERNMENT OF INDIA (ADAPTATION OF ACTS OF PARLIAMENT) ORDER, 1937, and shall come into operation on the first day of April, nineteen hundred and thirty-seven.

2. The Acts of Parliament referred to in the Schedule to this Order shall have effect subject to the adaptations and modifications specified in the said schedule.

3. In any Act of Parliament passed before the commencement of this Order and not referred to in the Schedule thereto references to the revenues of India shall be construed, in relation to the period after the establishment of the Federation of India, as references to the revenues of the Federation and, in relation to the period between the commencement of Part III of the Government of India Act, 1935, and the establishment of the Federation, as references to the revenues of the Governor-General in Council.

4. The provisions of this Order which adapt or modify any Act by transferring functions to another authority shall not render invalid any order, bye-law, rule or regulation duly made, or anything duly done, before the commencement of this Order and any such order, bye-law, rule, regulation or thing may be revoked, varied or undone in like manner, to the like extent and in the like circumstances as orders, bye-laws, rules, regulations or things made or done by the authority to which the functions are transferred.

5. Nothing in the Aden Colony Order, 1936, shall be construed as requiring that references in Acts of Parliament to India or British India shall continue to be construed as including references to Aden.

M. P. A. Hankey.

THE SCHEDULE.

PART I.

[Omitted as Acts of Parliament are not included in this Manual.]

THE GOVERNMENT OF INDIA (ADAPTATION OF INDIAN LAWS) ORDER, 1937.

N.B.—The Acts and Regulations contained in these volumes are to be taken as subject to the amendments made by the Government of India (Adaptation of Indian Laws) Order, 1937.

AT THE COURT AT BUCKINGHAM PALACE.

PRESENT :—THE KING'S MOST EXCELLENT MAJESTY IN COUNCIL.

WHEREAS by section two hundred and ninety-three of the Government of India Act, 1935 (hereafter in the recitals to this Order referred to as "the Act"), His Majesty is empowered by Order in Council to provide that as from such date as may be specified in the order any law in force in British India or in any part of British India shall, until repealed or amended by a competent legislature or other competent authority, have effect subject to such adaptations and modifications as appear to His Majesty to be necessary or expedient for bringing the provisions of that law into accord with the provisions of the Act :

AND WHEREAS a draft of this Order has been laid before Parliament in accordance with the provisions of sub-section (1) of section three hundred and nine of the Act and an Address has been presented to His Majesty by both Houses of Parliament praying that an Order may be made in the terms of this Order :

NOW, THEREFORE, His Majesty, in the exercise of the said powers and of all other powers enabling him in that behalf, is pleased by and with the advice of His Privy Council to order, and it is hereby ordered as follows :—

1. This Order may be cited as THE GOVERNMENT OF INDIA (ADAPTATION OF INDIAN LAWS) ORDER, 1937, and shall come into operation on the first day of April, nineteen hundred and thirty-seven.

2. (1) In this Order the expression "Indian law" means a law as defined in section two hundred and ninety-three of the Act.

(2) The Interpretation Act, 1889, applies for the interpretation of this Order as it applies for the Interpretation of an Act of Parliament.

3. The Indian Laws mentioned in the Schedules to this Order shall, until repealed or amended by a competent Legislature or other competent authority, have effect subject to the adaptations and modifications directed by those schedules to be made therein or, if it is so directed, shall cease to have effect.

4. (1) Whenever an expression mentioned in the first column of the table hereunder printed occurs (otherwise than in a title or preamble or in a citation or description of an enactment) in a Central or Provincial Act or Regulation, whether an Act or Regulation mentioned in the Schedules to this Order or not, then unless that expression is by this Order expressly directed to be otherwise adapted or modified, or to stand unmodified, or to be omitted, there shall be substituted therefor the expression set opposite to it in column two of the said table.

Table of General Adaptations.

Governor-General of India in Council : Governor-General of India : Governor-General in Council : Governor-General : Government of India.	Central Government.
Governor in Council : Governor (except in the expression "Governor's Province") : Lieutenant Governor in Council : Lieutenant Governor : Chief Commissioner (except in the expression "Chief Commissioner's Province") : Local Government : Local Administration.	Provincial Government.
Gazette of India : Local Official Gazette : Local Gazette : any other expression denoting a gazette in which official notices of a government are published, not being the gazette of a district or other sub-division of a Province.	Official Gazette.

Any reference to the Governor (or Lieutenant Governor) of a named Province in Council shall be treated for the purposes of this paragraph as if it were a reference to the Governor (or Lieutenant Governor) in Council of that Province.

(2) A direction in the Schedules to this Order that a specified Indian law or section or portion of an Indian law shall stand unmodified shall be construed merely as a direction that it is not to be modified or adapted in accordance with the foregoing provisions of this paragraph.

5. (1) Where this Order requires that in any specified Indian law, or in any section or other portion of an Indian law, certain words shall be substituted for certain other words or that certain words shall be omitted, that substitution or omission, as the case may be, shall, except where it is otherwise expressly provided, be made wherever the words referred to occur in that law, or, as the case may be, in that section or portion.

(2) Where this Order requires that in any Indian law a plural noun shall be substituted for a singular noun or vice versa, or a masculine noun for a neuter noun or vice versa, there shall be made also in any verb or pronoun in the sentence in question such consequential amendment as the rules of grammar may require.

6. (1) The following provisions shall have effect where any Indian law which under this Order is to be adapted or modified has before the commencement of this Order been amended, either generally or in relation to any particular area, by the insertion or omission of words, or the substitution of words for other words :—

(a) Effect shall first be given in the amending law to any adaptation or modification required by paragraphs three and five of this Order to be made therein ;

(b) the original law shall then be amended, either generally or, as the case may be, in its application to the particular area, so as to give effect to the directions contained in the amending law or, where any adaptation or modification has fallen to be made under sub-paragraph (a), in that law as so adapted or modified ; and

(c) all adaptations or modifications required by this Order to be made in the original law shall then be made in that law as so amended, except so far as in the case of any particular area they may be inapplicable.

(2) In this paragraph references to the amendment of a law by the insertion or omission of words or the substitution of words do not include references to an amendment which is effected merely by directing that certain words shall be construed in a particular manner.

7. Subject to the foregoing provisions of this Order, any reference by whatever form of words in any Indian law in force immediately before the commencement of this Order to an authority competent that the date of the passing of that law to exercise any powers or authorities, or discharge any functions, in any part of British India shall, where a corresponding new authority has been constituted by or under any Part of the Government of India Act, 1935, for the time being in force, have effect until duly repealed or amended as if it were a reference to that new authority.

8. In any Indian law in force immediately before the commencement of this Order any reference by name or description to any territory shall, unless the contrary intention appears or unless it has been, or is by this Order, otherwise expressly provided, be construed as a reference to the territory which bore that name or answered to that description at the date when the enactment containing that name or description came into operation :

Provided that in the application of any enactment to Madras, Bombay, Bihar or the Central Provinces, references in that enactment to Madras, Bombay, Bihar or the Central Provinces, as the case may be, shall be construed as exclusive of so much of those Provinces respectively as was separated therefrom on the constitution of the Provinces of Orissa and Sind.

9. The provisions of this Order which adapt or modify Indian laws so as to alter the manner in which, the authority by which, or the law under or in accordance with which, any powers are exercisable shall not render invalid any notification, order, commitment, attachment, bye-law, rule or regulation duly made or issued, or anything duly done, before the commencement of this Order ; and any such notification, order, commitment, attachment, bye-law, rule, regulation or thing may be revoked, varied or undone in the like manner, to the like extent and in the like circumstances as if it had been made, issued or done after the commencement of this Order by the competent authority and under and in accordance with the provisions then applicable to such a case.

10. Save as provided by this Order, all powers which under any law in force in British India, or in any part of British India, were immediately before the commencement of Part III of the Government of India Act, 1935, vested in, or exercisable by, any person or authority shall continue to be so vested or exercisable until other provision is made by some legislature or authority empowered to regulate the matter in question.

11. Nothing in this Order shall affect the previous operation of, or anything duly done or suffered under, any Indian law, or any right, privilege, obligation or liability already acquired, accrued or incurred under any such law, or any penalty, forfeiture or punishment incurred in respect of any offence already committed against any such law.

12. For the avoidance of doubt it is hereby declared that—

(a) nothing in this Order transferring or assigning any functions to the Central Government shall be construed as excluding those functions from the operation of section one hundred and twenty-three or section one hundred and twenty-four of the Government of India Act, 1935 ;

(b) the transfer by this Order to a Provincial Government of any jurisdiction therefore exercisable by the Local Government of the Province shall not be construed as excluding that jurisdiction from the operation of sub-section (2) of section two hundred and ninety-six of the said Act ;

(c) nothing in this Order shall affect the provisions of any Order in Council for the time being in force made under section one hundred and fifty-eight, section one hundred and fifty-nine or section one hundred and sixty of the said Act (which empower Orders to be made regulating the relations of India and Burma as to their monetary systems, relief from double taxation, customs, and ancillary and related matters), or under any corresponding provisions in the Government of Burma Act, 1935 ; and

(d) no repeal effected by this Order shall affect the operation of sub-paragraph (2) of paragraph fifteen of the Government of India (Commencement and Transitory Provisions) Order, 1936.

[Schedule omitted as the amendments have been carried out in the main Acts.]

THE GOVERNMENT OF INDIA (ADAPTATION OF INDIAN LAWS) SUPPLEMENTARY ORDER, 1937.

AT THE COURT AT BUCKINGHAM PALACE.

PRESENT :—THE KING'S MOST EXCELLENT MAJESTY IN COUNCIL.

WHEREAS by section two hundred and ninety-three of the Government of India Act, 1935 (hereafter in the recitals to this Order referred to as "the Act"), His Majesty is empowered by Order in Council to provide that as from such date as may be specified in the Order any law in force in British India or in any part of British India shall, until repealed or amended by a competent legislature or other competent authority, have effect subject to such adaptations and modifications as appear to His Majesty to be necessary or expedient for bringing the provisions of that law into accord with the provisions of the Act :

AND WHEREAS in exercise of the said powers an Order in Council called the Government of India (Adaptation of Indian Laws) Order, 1937 (hereafter in this Order referred to as "the principal Order") has been made :

AND WHEREAS by sub-section (2) of section three hundred and nine of the Act His Majesty in Council is empowered to vary any Order in Council previously made under the Act :

AND WHEREAS a draft of this Order has been laid before Parliament in accordance with the provisions of sub-section (1) of section three hundred and nine of the Act and an address has been presented to His Majesty by both Houses of Parliament praying that an Order may be made in the terms of this Order :

NOW, THEREFORE, His Majesty, in the exercise of the said powers, and of all other powers enabling him in that behalf, is pleased by and with the advice of His Privy Council to order, and it is hereby ordered, as follows :—

1. This Order may be cited as THE GOVERNMENT OF INDIA (ADAPTATION OF INDIAN LAWS) SUPPLEMENTARY ORDER, 1937.

2. The Schedules to the principal Order shall be modified as directed in the Schedule to this Order, and shall have effect, and be deemed always to have had effect, as so modified.

THE SCHEDULE.

Modifications of Schedule I to the principal Order.

[Omitted as the amendments have been carried out in the main Acts.]

THE AGRICULTURAL [AND OTHER]¹ PRODUCE (GRADING AND MARKING) ACT (I OF 1937).

An Act to provide for the grading and marking of agricultural produce.

WHEREAS it is expedient to provide for the grading and marking of agricultural [and other]¹ produce; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Short title and extent.

1. (1) This Act may be called THE AGRICULTURAL PRODUCE (GRADING AND MARKING) ACT, 1937.

(2) It extends to the whole of British India, including British Baluchistan and the Sonthal Parganas but excluding Burma.

Explanations.

2. In this Act, unless the contrary appears from the subject or context,—

(a) "agricultural produce" includes all produce of agriculture or horticulture and all articles of food or drink wholly or partly manufactured from any such produce, and fleeces and the skins of animals;

(b) "counterfeit" has the meaning assigned to that word by S. 28 of the Indian Penal Code;

(c) "covering" includes any vessel, box, crate, wrapper, tray or other container;

(d) "grade designation" means a designation prescribed as indicative of the quality of any scheduled article;

(e) "grade designation mark" means a mark prescribed as representing a particular grade designation;

(f) "quality", in relation to any article, includes the state and condition of the article;

(g) "prescribed" means prescribed by rules made under this Act;

(h) "scheduled article" means an article included in the Schedule; and

(i) an article is said to be marked with a grade designation mark, if the article itself is marked with a grade designation mark or any covering containing or label attached to such article is so marked.

Prescription of grade designations.

3. The Central Government may, after previous publication by notification in the Official Gazette, make rules—

(a) fixing grade designations to indicate the quality of any scheduled article;

(b) defining the quality indicated by every grade designation;

(c) specifying grade designation marks to represent particular grade designations;

(d) authorising a person or a body of persons, subject to any prescribed conditions, to mark with a grade designation mark any article in respect of which such mark has been prescribed or any covering containing or label attached to any such article;

(e) specifying the conditions referred to in clause (d) including in respect of any article conditions as to the manner of marking, the manner in which the article shall be packed, the type of covering to be used, and the quantity by weight, number or otherwise to be included in each covering ;

(f) providing for the payment of any expenses incurred in connection with the manufacture or use of any implement necessary for the production of a grade designation mark or with the manufacture or use of any covering or label marked with a grade designation mark [or with measures for the control of the quality of articles marked with grade designation marks including testing of samples and inspection of such articles or with any publicity work carried out to promote the sale of any class of such articles]¹ and

(g) providing for the confiscation and disposal of produce marked otherwise than in accordance with the prescribed conditions with a grade designation mark.

Penalty for unauthorised marking with grade designation mark.

4. Whoever marks any scheduled article with a grade designation mark, not being authorised to do so by rule made under S. 3, shall be punishable with fine which may extend to Rs. 500.

5. Whoever counterfeits any grade designation mark or has in his possession any die, plate or other instrument for the purpose of counterfeiting a grade designation mark shall be punishable with imprisonment which may extend to two years, or with fine, or with both.

Penalty for counterfeiting grade designation mark.

6. The Central Government after such consultation as he thinks fit of the interests likely to be affected, may by notification in the Official Gazette declare that the provisions of this Act shall apply to an article of agricultural produce not included in the Schedule [or to an article other than an article of agricultural produce]² and on the publication of such notification such article shall be deemed to be included in the Schedule.

An Act to make better provision for the control of the manufacture, possession, use, operation, sale, import and export of aircraft.

WHEREAS it is expedient to make better provision for the control of the manufacture, possession, use, operation, sale, import and export of aircraft; It is hereby enacted as follows :—

Short title and extent.

1. (1) This Act may be called THE INDIAN AIRCRAFT ACT, 1934.

(2) It extends to the whole of British India, including British Baluchistan and the Sonthal Parganas, [and applies also—

(a) to British subjects and servants of the Crown in any part of India ;

(b) to British subjects who are domiciled in any part of India wherever they may be;

(c) to, and to persons on, aircraft registered in British India wherever they may be.]¹

Definitions.†

2. In this Act, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,—

(1) "aircraft" means any machine which can derive support in the atmosphere from reactions of the air, and includes balloons whether fixed or free, airships, kites, gliders and flying machines ;

(2) "aerodrome" means any definite or limited ground or water area intended to be used, either wholly or in part, for the landing or departure of aircraft, and includes all buildings, sheds, vessels, piers, and other structures thereon or appertaining thereto ;

(3) "import" means bringing into British India ; and

(4) "export" means taking out of British India.

3. The Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, exempt from [all or any of the provisions of this Act]² any aircraft or class of aircraft and any person or class of persons, or may direct that such provisions shall apply to such aircraft or persons subject to such modifications as may be specified in the notification.

Power of Central Government to exempt certain aircraft.

4. The Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, make such rules as appear to him to be necessary for carrying out the Convention relating to the regulation of Aerial Navigation signed at Paris, October 13, 1919, with Additional Protocol, signed at Paris, May 1, 1920, and any amendment which may be made thereto under the provisions of Article 34 thereof.

Power of Central Government to make rules to implement the Convention of 1919.

Power of Central Government to make rules.

5. (1) The Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, make rules regulating the manufacture, possession, use, operation, sale, import or export of any aircraft or class of aircraft.

LEG. REF.

² Substituted by Act XXXVII of 1939.

(2) Without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power, such rules may provide for—

(a) the authorities by which any of the powers conferred by or under this Act are to be exercised ;

[(aa) the regulation of air transport services, and the prohibition of the use of aircraft in such services except under the authority of and in accordance with a licence authorising the establishment of the service ;

(ab) the information to be furnished by an applicant for, or the holder of, a licence authorising the establishment of an air transport service to such authorities as may be specified in the rules ;]¹

(b) the licensing, inspection and regulation of aerodromes the conditions under which aerodromes may be maintained and the fees which may be charged thereat, and the prohibition or regulation of the use of unlicensed aerodromes ;

(c) the inspection and control of the manufacture, repair and maintenance of aircraft and of places where aircraft are being manufactured, required or kept ;

(d) the registration and marking of aircraft ;

(e) the conditions under which aircraft may be flown, or may carry passengers, mails, or goods; or may be used for industrial purposes and the certificates, licences or documents to be carried by aircraft ;

(f) the inspection of aircraft for the purpose of enforcing the provisions of this Act and the rules thereunder, and the facilities to be provided for such inspection ;

(g) the licensing of persons employed in the operation, manufacture, repair or maintenance of aircraft ;

(h) the air-routes by which and the conditions under which aircraft may enter or leave British India, or may fly over British India, and the places at which aircraft shall land ;

(i) the prohibition of flight by aircraft over any specified area, either absolutely or at specified times or subject to specified conditions and exceptions ;

(j) the supply, supervision and control of air-route beacons, aerodrome lights, and lights at or in the neighbourhood of aerodromes or on or in the neighbourhood of air-routes ;

[(jj) the installation and maintenance of lights on private property in the neighbourhood of aerodromes or on or in the neighbourhood of air-routes, by the owners or occupiers of such property, the payment by the Central-Government for such installation and maintenance, and the supervision and control of such installation and maintenance, including the right of access to the property for such purposes ;]²

(k) the signals to be used for purposes of communication by or to aircraft and the apparatus to be employed in signalling ;

(l) the prohibition and regulation of the carriage in aircraft of any specified article or substance ;

(m) the measures to be taken and the equipment to be carried for the purpose of ensuring the safety of life ;

(n) the issue and maintenance of log-books ;

(o) the manner and conditions of the issue or renewal of any licence or certificate under the Act or the rules, the examinations and tests to be undergone in connection therewith, the form, custody, production, endorsement, cancellation, suspension or surrender of such licence or certificate, or of any log-books ;

(p) the fees to be charged in connection with any inspection, examination, test, certificate, or licence made, issued or renewed under this Act ;

(q) the recognition for the purposes of this Act of licences and certificates issued elsewhere than in British India relating to aircraft or to the qualifications of persons employed in the operation, manufacture, repair or maintenance of aircraft ; and

(7) any matter subsidiary or incidental to the matters referred to in this sub-section.

[(3) Every rule made under this section shall be laid as soon as may be after it is made before each of the Chambers of the Central Legislature, while it is in session, for a total period of one month which may be comprised in one session or in two or more sessions, and if before the expiry of that period, or where the period for which the rule is so laid, before one Chamber does not coincide with that for which it is so laid before the other, before the expiry of the later of these periods, both Chambers agree in making any modification in the rule or both Chambers agree that the rule should not be made, the rule shall thereafter have effect only in such modified form or be of no effect, as the case may be.]¹

Power of Central Government to make orders in emergency.

6. (1) If the Central Government is of opinion that in the interests of the public safety or tranquillity the issue of all or any of the following orders is expedient, it may, by notification in the Official Gazette—

(a) cancel or suspend, either absolutely or subject to such conditions as it may think fit to specify in the order all or any licences or certificates issued under this Act ;

(b) prohibit either absolutely or subject to such conditions as it may think fit to specify in the order, or regulate in such manner, as may be contained in the order, the flight of all or any aircraft or class of aircraft over the whole or any portion of British India ;

(c) prohibit, either absolutely or conditionally, or regulate the erection, maintenance or use of any aerodrome, aircraft, factory, flying-school or club or place where aircraft are manufactured, repaired or kept, or any class or description thereof ; and

(d) direct that any aircraft or class of aircraft or any aerodrome, aircraft factory, flying-school or club, or place where aircraft are manufactured, repaired or kept, together with any machinery, plant, material or things used for the operation, manufacture, repair or maintenance of aircraft shall be delivered, either forthwith or within a specified time, to such authority and in such manner as it may specify in the order, to be at the disposal of His Majesty for the public service.

(2) Any person who suffers direct injury or loss by reason of any order made under clause (c) or clause (d) of sub-section (1) shall be paid such compensation as may be determined by such authority as the Central Government may appoint in this behalf.

(3) The Central Government may authorize such steps to be taken to secure compliance with any order made under sub-section (1) as appear to it to be necessary.

(4) Whoever knowingly disobeys, or fails to comply with, or does any act in contravention of, an order made under sub-section (1) shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to three years, or with fine, or with both, and the Court by which he is convicted may direct that the aircraft or thing (if any) in respect of which the offence has been committed, or any part of such thing, shall be forfeited to His Majesty.

Power of Central Government to make rules for investigation of accident.

7. (1) The Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, make rules providing for the investigation of any accident arising out of or in the course of [the navigation—

(a) in or over British India of any aircraft, or

(b) anywhere of aircraft registered in British India.]²

(2) Without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power, such rules may—

(a) require notice to be given of any accident in such manner and by such person as may be prescribed ;

(b) apply for the purposes of such investigation, either with or without modification, the provisions of any law for the time being in force relating to the investigation of accidents ;

(c) prohibit pending investigation access to or interference with aircraft to which an accident has occurred, and authorize any person so far as may be necessary for the purposes of an investigation to have access to, examine, remove, take measures for the preservation of, or otherwise deal with any such aircraft ; and

(d) authorize or require the cancellation, suspension, endorsement or surrender of any licence or certificate granted or recognized under this Act when it appears on an investigation that the licence ought to be so dealt with, and provide for the production of any such licence for such purpose.

8. (1) Any authority authorized in this behalf by the Central Government may detain any aircraft if in the opinion of such authority—

(a) having regard to the nature of an intended flight, the flight of such aircraft would involve danger to persons in the aircraft or to any other persons or property ; or

(b) such detention is necessary to secure compliance with any of the provisions of this Act or the rules applicable to such aircraft ; or such detention is necessary to prevent a contravention of any rule made under clause (h) or clause (i) of sub-section (2) of section 5.

(2) The Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, make rules regulating all matters incidental or subsidiary to the exercise of this power.

[8-A. The Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, Power of Central Government to make rules for protecting the public health.

make rules for the prevention of danger arising to the public health by the introduction or spread of any infectious or contagious disease from aircraft arriving at or being at any aerodrome and for the prevention of the conveyance of infection or contagion by means of any aircraft leaving an aerodrome and in particular and without prejudice to the generality of this provision may make, with respect to aircraft and aerodromes or any specified aerodrome, rules providing for any of the matters for which rules under sub-clauses (i) to (viii) of clause (p) of sub-section (1) of section 6 of the Indian Ports Act, 1908, may be made with respect to vessels and ports.]¹

thereof is visited by or threatened with an outbreak of any dangerous epidemic disease, and that the ordinary provisions of the law for the time being in force are insufficient for the prevention of danger arising to the public health through the introduction or spread of the disease by the Agency of aircraft, the Central Government may take such measures as it deems necessary to prevent such danger.

(2) In any such case the Central Government may without prejudice to the powers conferred by section 8-A, by notification in the Official Gazette, make such temporary rules with respect to aircraft and persons travelling or things carried therein and aerodromes as it deems necessary in the circumstances.

(3) Notwithstanding anything contained in section 14, the power to make rules under sub-section (2) shall not be subject to the condition of the rules being made after previous publication, but such rules shall not remain in force for more than three months from the date of notification :

Provided that the Central Government may by special order continue them in force for a further period or periods of not more than three months in all.]²

9. (1) The provisions of Part VII of the Indian Merchant Shipping Act, 1923, relating to Wreck and Salvage shall apply to aircraft on or over the sea or tidal waters as they apply to ships, and the owner of an aircraft shall be entitled to a reasonable reward for salvage services rendered by the aircraft in like manner as the owner of a ship.

(2) The Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette make such modifications of the said provisions in their application to aircraft as appear necessary or expedient.

10. In making any rule under section 5, section 7, [*]¹ section 8 or [section 8-A]² the Central Government may direct that a breach of it shall be punishable with imprisonment for any term not exceeding three months, or with fine of any amount not exceeding one thousand rupees, or with both.

11. Whoever wilfully flies any aircraft in such a manner as to cause danger to any person or to any property on land or water or in the air shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to six months, or with fine which may extend to one thousand rupees, or with both.

12. Whoever abets the commission of any offence under this Act or the rules, or attempts to commit such offence, and in such attempt does any act towards the commission of the offence, shall be liable to the punishment provided for the offence.

13. Where any person is convicted of an offence punishable under any rule made under clause (i) or clause (l) of sub-section (2) of section 5, the Court by which he is convicted may direct that the aircraft or article or substance as the case may be, in respect of which the offence has been committed, shall be forfeited to His Majesty.

14. Any power to make rules conferred by this Act is subject to the condition of the rules being made after previous publication for a period of not less than three months.

15. The provisions of section 42 of the Indian Patents and Designs Act, 1911, shall apply to the use of an invention on any aircraft not registered in British India in like manner as they apply to the use of an invention in a foreign vessel.

16. The Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, declare that any or all of the provisions of the Sea Customs Act, 1878, shall, with such modifications and adaptations as may be specified in the notification, apply to the import and export of goods by air.

17. No suit shall be brought in any Civil Court in respect of trespass or in respect of nuisance by reason only of the flight of aircraft over any property at a height above the ground which having regard to wind, weather and all the circumstances of the case is reasonable, or by reason only of the ordinary incidents of such flight.

18. No suit, prosecution or other legal proceeding shall lie against any person for anything in good faith done or intended to be done under this Act.

LEG. REF.

THE SCHEDULE.

[8th April, 1932.

An Act to provide for the administration and discipline of the Indian Air Force.

WHEREAS it is intended to establish an Indian Air Force ;

AND WHEREAS it is expedient to provide for the administration and discipline of that Force and for purposes connected therewith ;

It is hereby enacted as follows :—

CHAPTER I.

PRELIMINARY.

Short title and commencement.

1. (1) This Act may be called THE INDIAN AIR FORCE ACT, 1932.

(2) It shall come into force on such date as the Central Government may, by notification in the (Official Gazette) appoint.

Persons subject to this Act. 2. (1) The following persons shall be subject to this Act, namely :—

(a) officers and warrant officers of the Indian Air Force ;

(b) persons enrolled under this Act ;

(c) persons not otherwise subject to military [naval]¹ or air force law, who, on active service, in camp, on the march, or at any frontier post specified by the Central Government by notification in this behalf, are employed by, or are in the service of, or are followers of, or accompany any portion of, the Indian Air Force.

(2) Every person who has become subject to this Act under sub-section (1), clause (a) or (b), shall remain so subject until duly discharged or dismissed.

3. (1) The Central Government may, by notification, direct that any persons or class of persons subject to this Act under section 2, sub-section (1), clause (c), shall be so subject as officers, warrant officers or non-commissioned officers, and may authorise any officer to give a like direction with respect to any such person and to cancel such direction.

(2) All persons subject to this Act other than officers, warrant officers and non-commissioned officers shall, if they are not persons in respect of whom a notification or direction under sub-section (1) is in force, be deemed to be of a rank inferior to that of a non-commissioned officer.

4. Every person subject to this Act under section 2, sub-section (1), clause (c), shall, for the purposes of this Act, be deemed to be under the commanding officer of the corps, unit or detachment (if any) to which he is attached, and if he is not attached to any corps, unit or detachment, under the command of any officer who may for the time being be named as his commanding officer by the officer commanding the force with which such person may for the time being be serving, or of any other prescribed officer, or, if no such officer is named or prescribed, under the command of the said officer commanding the force :

Provided that an officer commanding a force shall not place a person under the command of an officer of official rank inferior to that of such person if there is present at the place where such person is any officer of higher rank under whose command he can be placed.

5. (1) Whenever persons subject to this Act are serving whether within or without India under an officer not subject to this Act, the Central Government may prescribe the officer by whom the powers which, under this Act, may be exercised by officers commanding units, shall, as regards such persons, be exercised.

(2) The Central Government may confer such powers either absolutely or subject to such restrictions, reservations, exceptions and conditions as he may think fit.

Definitions.

6. In this Act, unless there is something repugnant in the subject or context,—

(17) "air force offence" means any act or omission made punishable by this Act ;

(18) "civil offence" means an offence which, if committed in British India, would be triable by a criminal Court ;

[(19) "His Majesty's naval forces" include the Indian Marine Service ;
omitted by Act XXXV of 1934.]

- (20) "notification" means a notification published in the [Official Gazette]
 (21) "prescribed" means prescribed by rules made under this Act; and
 (22) all words and expressions used herein and defined in the Indian Penal Code, and not hereinbefore defined, shall be deemed to have the meanings respectively attributed to them by that Code.

CHAPTER II.

ENROLMENT, ATTESTATION, DISMISSAL, DISCHARGE AND REDUCTION.

7. Upon the appearance before the prescribed enrolling officer of any person desirous of being enrolled, the enrolling officer shall read and explain to him, or cause to be read and explained to him in his presence, the conditions of service for which he is to be enrolled; and shall put to him the question set forth in the prescribed form of enrolment, and shall, after having cautioned him that if he makes a false answer to any such question he will be liable to punishment under this Act, record or cause to be recorded his answer to each such question.

8. If, after complying with the provisions of section 7, the enrolling officer is satisfied that the person desirous of being enrolled fully understands the questions put to him and consents to the conditions of service and if he perceives no impediment, he shall sign and shall cause the person to sign the enrolment paper, and the person shall be then deemed to be enrolled.

9. The enrolling officer shall not cause any person to sign the enrolment paper unless he is satisfied that such person is a subject of His Majesty or of a Prince or Chief in India, and—

- Conditions for enrolment.
- (a) is of unmixed Indian descent, or
 - (b) if he is of mixed Indian and non-Indian descent, is domiciled in India, or
 - (c) if he is of unmixed non-Indian Asiatic descent, is domiciled in India and his father and grandfather were domiciled in India.

[10. Every person who has for the space of three months been in the receipt of air force pay and been borne on the rolls of any unit shall be deemed to have been duly enrolled and shall not be entitled to claim his discharge on the ground of any irregularity or illegality in the enrolment or on any other ground whatsoever; and if within the said three months such person claims his discharge any such irregularity or illegality or other ground shall not, until such person is discharged in pursuance of his claim, affect his position as a person enrolled under this Act or invalidate any proceedings, act or thing taken or done prior to his discharge.]¹

11. The following persons shall be attested, namely:—

- Persons to be attested.
- (a) all persons enrolled as combatants;
 - (b) all other enrolled persons prescribed by the [Central Government].

12. (1) When a person who is to be attested is reported fit for duty, or has completed the prescribed period of probation, an oath or affirmation shall be administered to him in the prescribed form by his commanding officer in front of his unit or such portion thereof as may be present, or by any other prescribed person.

(2) The form of oath or affirmation prescribed under this section shall contain a promise that the person to be attested will be faithful to His Majesty, his heirs and successors, and that he will serve in the Indian Air Force and go wherever he is ordered by air, land, or sea, and that he will obey all commands of any officer set over him, even to the peril of his life.

(3) The fact of an enrolled person having taken the oath or affirmation directed by this section to be taken shall be entered on his enrolment paper, and authenticated by his signature and by the signature of the officer administering the oath or affirmation.

Dismissal by Central Government. 13. The Central Government may at any time dismiss from the service any person subject to this Act.

Dismissal by the Air Officer Commanding or prescribed officer. 14. The Air Officer Commanding His Majesty's Air Forces in India, or any prescribed officer, may at any time dismiss from the service any person subject to this Act other than an officer.

15. The prescribed authority may, in conformity with any rules prescribed in this behalf, discharge from service any person subject to this Act.

16. Any enrolled person who is dismissed or discharged from the service shall be furnished by his commanding officer with a certificate setting forth—

- (a) the authority dismissing or discharging him ;
- (b) the cause of his dismissal or discharge ; and
- (c) the full period of his service in the Indian Air Force.

Discharge and dismissal out of India. 17. (1) Any enrolled person who is entitled under the conditions of his enrolment to be discharged, or whose discharge is ordered by competent authority, and who, when he is so entitled or ordered to be discharged, is serving out of India, and requests to be sent to India, shall, before being discharged, be sent to India with all convenient speed.

(2) Any person subject to this Act who is dismissed from the service and who, when he is so dismissed, is serving out of India, shall be sent to India with all convenient speed :

Provided that, where any such person is sentenced to dismissal combined with any other punishment, such other punishment, or, in the case of a sentence of imprisonment, a portion of such other punishment, may be inflicted before he is sent to India.

Reduction. 18. (1) The Air Officer Commanding His Majesty's Air Forces in India, or any prescribed officer, may at any time reduce any warrant officer or any non-commissioned officer to a lower grade or to a lower rank or to the ranks, or any airman other than a warrant officer or non-commissioned officer to a lower class in the ranks.

(2) The commanding officer of an acting non-commissioned officer may order him to revert to his permanent grade as a non-commissioned officer, or, if he has no permanent grade above the ranks, to the ranks.

CHAPTER III.

PUNISHMENTS AND PENAL DEDUCTIONS.

Punishments. 19. Punishments may be inflicted in respect of offences committed by persons subject to this Act, and convicted by court-martial, according to the scale following, that is to say,—

- (a) death ;
- (b) imprisonment, which shall be of two degrees, namely :—
 - (i) long imprisonment, which shall be rigorous and for a term not less than three years and not exceeding fourteen years, and
 - (ii) short imprisonment, which may be rigorous or simple, for a term not exceeding two years ;
- (c) in the case of airmen, detention for a term not exceeding two years ;
- (d) dismissal from the service ;
- (e) in the case of officers and warrant officers, suspension from rank, pay and allowances for a period not exceeding two months ;
- (f) reduction, in the case of a warrant officer, or a non-commissioned officer, to a lower grade, or to a lower rank or to the ranks ;

(g) in the case of officers, warrant officers and non-commissioned officers, forfeiture of seniority of rank;

(h) in the case of officers, warrant officers and non-commissioned officers, reprimand or severe reprimand ;

(i) forfeitures and stoppages as follows, namely:—

(i) forfeiture of service for the purpose of promotion, increased pay, pension or any other prescribed purpose ;

(ii) forfeiture of any military [naval]¹ or air force decoration or military [naval]¹ or air force reward ;

(iii) forfeiture, in the case of a person sentenced to dismissal from the service, of all arrears of pay and allowances due to him at the time of such dismissal ;

(iv) stoppages of pay and allowances until any proved loss or damage occasioned by the offence of which he is convicted is made good ;

(v) on active service, forfeiture of pay and allowances for a period not exceeding three months.

20. Where in respect of any offence under this Act there is specified a particular punishment, there may be awarded in respect of that offence instead of such particular punishment (but subject to the other provisions of this Act as to punishments and regard being had to the nature and degree of the offence) any one punishment lower in the above scale than the particular punishment.

21. (1) Where any person, subject to this Act and under the rank of warrant officer, on active service is guilty of any offence, it shall be lawful for a court-martial to award for that offence any such punishment as may be prescribed as a field punishment. Field punishment shall be of the character of personal restraint or of hard labour but shall not be of a nature to cause injury to life or limb.

(2) Field punishment shall, for the purpose of commutation, be deemed to stand in the scale of punishments next below dismissal.

22. A sentence of a court-martial may award, in addition to or without any one other punishment, any one or more of the punishments specified in clauses (d), (f), (h) and (i) of section 19.

Reduction of non-commissioned officers and warrant officers to ranks.

23. A warrant officer or non-commissioned officer sentenced by court-martial to imprisonment, detention, field punishment or dismissal from the service, shall be deemed to be reduced to the ranks.

24. When any enrolled person on active service has been sentenced by court-martial to dismissal or to imprisonment, whether combined with dismissal or not, the prescribed officer may direct that such person may be retained to serve in the ranks, and where such person has been sentenced to imprisonment, such service shall be reckoned as part of his term of imprisonment.

Retention in the ranks of person convicted on active service.

25. (1) The [Central Government] may prescribe the minor punishments to which persons subject to this Act shall be liable without the intervention of a court-martial, and the officer or officers by whom, and the extent to which, such minor punishments may be awarded.

(2) Detention and, in the case of persons subject to this Act on active service, any prescribed field punishment may be specified as minor punishments :

Provided that—

(a) the term of such detention or field punishment shall not exceed twenty-eight days ; and

(b) detention or field punishment shall not be awarded to any person of or above the rank of non-commissioned officer, or who, when he committed the offence in respect of which it is awarded, was of or above such rank.

(3) The provisions of sections 77, 78, and 79 shall apply to the proceedings of officers empowered to award minor punishments under this section as if such officers were courts-martial.

26. (1) The following penal deductions may be made from the pay and allowances of an officer of the Indian Air Force, that is to say,—

(a) all pay and allowances due to an officer who absents himself without leave or overstays the period for which leave of absence has been granted to him, unless a satisfactory explanation has been given to his commanding officer and has been approved by the [Central Government];

(b) any sum required to make good such compensation for any expenses, loss, damage or destruction occasioned by the commission of any offence as may be determined by the court-martial by whom he is convicted of such offence [or by any officer exercising authority under section 25]¹;

(c) any sum required to make good the pay of any officer or airman which he has unlawfully retained or unlawfully refused to pay;

(d) any sum required to make good any loss, damage or destruction of public or service property which, after due investigation, appears to the [Central Government] to have been occasioned by any wrongful act or negligence on the part of the officer.

(2) The following penal deductions may be made from the pay and allowances of an airman, that is to say,—

(a) all pay and allowances for every day of absence either on desertion or without leave or as a prisoner of war, and for every day of imprisonment or detention awarded by a criminal court, a court-martial or an officer exercising authority under section 25, or of field punishment, awarded by a court-martial or such officer;

(b) all pay and allowances for every day whilst he is in custody on a charge for an offence of which he is afterwards convicted by a criminal court or court-martial, or on a charge of absence without leave for which he is afterwards awarded imprisonment, detention or field punishment by an officer exercising authority under section 25;

(c) all pay and allowances for every day on which he is in hospital on account of sickness certified by the medical officer attending on him to have been caused by an offence under this Act committed by him;

(d) for every day on which he is in hospital on account of sickness certified by the medical officer attending on him to have been caused by his own misconduct or imprudence, such sum as may be prescribed;

(e) all pay and allowances ordered by a court-martial to be suspended or forfeited;

(f) any sum ordered by a court-martial to be stopped;

(g) any sum required to make good such compensation for any expenses caused by him, or for any loss of or damage or destruction done by him to any arms, ammunition, equipment, clothing, instruments, service necessaries, or military decoration, or to any buildings or property, as may be awarded by his commanding officer;

(h) any sum required to pay a fine awarded by a criminal Court, a court-martial exercising jurisdiction under section 58 or an officer exercising authority under section 25;

Provided that the total deductions from the pay and allowances of a person subject to this Act made under clauses (e) to (g) both inclusive, shall not (except in the case of a person sentenced to dismissal) exceed in any one month one-half of his pay and allowances for that month.

Explanation.—For the purposes of clauses (a) and (b)—

LEG. REF.

56. Any person subject to this Act who attempts to commit an air force offence or to cause such an offence to be committed, and in such attempt does any act towards the commission of the offence may, where no express provision is made by this Act for the punishment of such attempt, be punished with the punishment provided in this Act for such offence.

57. Any person subject to this Act who abets the commission of any air force offence, or of any offence punishable under the Army Act [the Naval Discipline Act or that Act as modified by the Indian Navy (Discipline) Act, 1934,¹ the Air Force Act or the Indian Army Act, 1911, such offence being of the same nature as any air force offence, shall be punishable with the punishment provided in this Act for such air force offence.

58. (1) Any person subject to this Act who at any place in or beyond British India commits any civil offence shall be deemed to be guilty of an air force offence, and, if charged there-with under this section, shall be liable to be tried by court-martial and to be punished as follows, that is to say :—

(a) if the offence is one which would be punishable under the law of British India with death or with transportation, he shall be liable to suffer any punishment other than whipping, assigned for the offence by the law of British India ; and

(b) in other cases, he shall be liable to suffer any punishment, other than whipping, assigned for the offence by the law of British India, or such punishment as might be awarded to him in pursuance of this Act in respect of an act prejudicial to good order and air force discipline :

Provided that a person subject to this Act who, at any place in British India or at any place in which [the Central Government or the Crown Representative] exercises powers and jurisdiction by virtue of [the Government of India Act, 1935, or of any Order in Council made under the Foreign Jurisdiction Act, 1890] and while not on active service, commits an offence of murder or culpable homicide against a person not subject to this Act or an offence of rape, shall not be deemed to be guilty of an air force offence and shall not be tried by court-martial.

(2) The powers of a court-martial to charge and to punish any person under this section shall not be affected by reason of the civil offence with which such person is charged being also an air force offence.

CHAPTER V.

ARREST AND PROCEEDINGS BEFORE TRIAL.

59. (1) Any person subject to this Act who is charged with an offence may be taken into air force custody.

(2) Any such person may be ordered into air force custody by any superior officer.

(3) The charge against every person taken into air force custody shall, without unnecessary delay, be investigated by the proper authority, and as soon as may be, either proceedings shall be taken for punishing the offence, or such person shall be discharged from custody.

60. Whenever any person subject to this Act, who is accused of any offence under this Act, is within the jurisdiction of any Magistrate or police-officer such Magistrate or officer shall Arrest by civil authorities. aid in the apprehension and delivery to air force custody of such person upon receipt of a written application to that effect signed by his commanding officer.

61. (1) Whenever any person subject to this Act deserts, his commanding officer shall give written information of the desertion Capture of deserters. to such civil authorities as, in his opinion, may be able to afford assistance towards the capture of the deserter; and such authorities shall thereupon take steps for the apprehension of the said deserter in like manner as if he were a person for whose apprehension a warrant had been issued by a Magistrate and shall deliver the deserter, when apprehended, to air force custody.

(2) Any police-officer may arrest without warrant any person reasonably believed to be subject to this Act and to be travelling without authority, and shall bring him without delay before the nearest Magistrate, to be dealt with according to law.

62. (1) When any person subject to this Act has been absent without due authority from his duty for a period of twenty-one

Inquiry on absence without leave. days, a court of inquiry shall, as soon as practicable, be assembled and, upon oath or affirmation administered in the prescribed manner, shall inquire respecting the absence of the person, and the deficiency, if any, of property of [the Crown] entrusted to his care, or of his arms, ammunition, equipments, instruments, clothing or necessities; and, if satisfied of the fact of such absence without due authority or other sufficient cause, the Court shall declare such absence and the period thereof, and the said deficiency, if any; and the commanding officer of the unit to which the person belongs shall enter in the court-martial book of the unit a record of the declaration.

(2) If the person declared absent does not afterwards surrender, or is not apprehended, he shall, for the purposes of this Act, be deemed to be a deserter.

63. For the prompt and instant repression of irregularities and offences

Provost-marshal. committed in the field or on the march, provost-marshals may be appointed by the Air Officer Commanding His Majesty's Air Forces in India; and the powers and duties of such provost-marshals shall be regulated according to the established custom of war and the rules of the service.

64. The duties of a provost-marshal so appointed are to take charge of persons

Duties and powers. in air force custody, to preserve good Order and discipline and to prevent breaches thereof by persons subject to this Act.

He may at any time arrest and detain for trial any person subject to this Act who commits an offence and may also carry into effect any punishments to be inflicted in pursuance of the sentence of a court-martial.

CHAPTER VI.

CONSTITUTION, JURISDICTION AND POWERS OF COURTS-MARTIAL.

Kinds of courts-martial.

65. For the purposes of this Act there shall be three kinds of courts-martial, that is to say,—

- (1) general courts-martial;
- (2) district courts-martial; and
- (3) field general courts-martial.

Power to convene general courts-martial. 66. A general court-martial may be convened by the [Central Government] or by any officer empowered in this behalf by warrant of the [Central Government].

Power to convene district courts-martial. 67. A district court-martial may be convened by any authority having power to convene a general court-martial, or by any officer empowered in this behalf by warrant of any such authority.

Limitation of powers of convening authorities. 68. A warrant issued under section 66 or section 67 may contain such restrictions, reservations or conditions as the authority issuing it may think fit.

Convening of field general courts-martial. 69. The following authorities shall have power to convene a field general court-martial, that is to say,—

(a) an authority empowered in this behalf by an order of the [Central Government];

(b) on active service, the commanding officer of the forces in the field, or any officer empowered by him in this behalf ;—

(c) the commanding officer of any detached portion of the Indian Air Force on active service, when, in his opinion, it is not practicable, with due regard to discipline or the exigencies of the service, that an offence should be tried by a general court-martial, and circumstances prevent a reference to higher authority.

70. A general court-martial shall consist of not less than five officers each of whom must have held a commission during not less than three whole years and of whom not less than four must be of a rank not below that of a flight lieutenant.

Composition of district courts-martial. 71. A district court-martial shall consist of not less than three officers.

Composition of field general courts-martial. 72. A field general court-martial shall consist of not less than three officers.

Dissolution of courts-martial. 73. (i) If a court-martial after the commencement of a trial is reduced below the smallest number of officers of which it is by this Act required to consist, it shall be dissolved.

(2) If, on account of the illness of the accused before the finding, it is impossible to continue the trial, a court-martial shall be dissolved.

(3) Where a court-martial is dissolved under this section, the accused may be tried again.

Jurisdiction and powers of courts-martial generally. 74. Save as otherwise provided by or under this Act, courts-martial shall have—

(a) jurisdiction to try and to punish all air force offences, and all civil offences committed by persons subject to this Act ;

(b) exclusive jurisdiction to try all air force offences which are not also civil offences ; and

(c) exclusive power to award the punishments specified in this Act.

Jurisdiction and powers of general and field general courts-martial. 75. A general or field general court-martial shall have power to try any person subject to this Act for any offence made punishable therein, and to pass any sentence authorised by this Act.

76. A district court-martial shall have power to try any person subject to this Act other than an officer for any offence made punishable therein, and to pass any sentence authorised by this Act other than a sentence of death or imprisonment for a term exceeding two years.

77. When any person subject to this Act has been acquitted or convicted of an offence by a court-martial or by a criminal court, or has been summarily dealt with for an offence under section 25, he shall not be liable to be tried again for the same offence by a court-martial.

78. No trial by court-martial of any person subject to this Act for any offence (other than an offence of mutiny, desertion or fraudulent enlistment) shall be commenced after the expiration of three years from the date of such offence, and no such trial for an offence of desertion (other than desertion on active service) or of fraudulent enlistment shall be commenced if the person in question has, subsequently to the commission of the offence, served continuously in an exemplary manner for not less than three years with any portion of His Majesty's regular forces.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this section “mutiny” means any of the offences specified in section 35.

79. Any person subject to this Act who commits any offence against it may be tried and punished for such offence in any place
Place of trial. whatever.

80. When a criminal Court and a court-martial have each jurisdiction in respect of a civil offence, it shall be in the discretion of the prescribed air force authority to decide before which court the proceedings shall be instituted, and, if that authority decides that they shall be instituted before a court-martial, to direct that the accused person shall be detained in air force custody.

81. (1) When a criminal Court having jurisdiction is of opinion that proceedings ought to be instituted before itself in respect of any civil offence, it may, by written notice, require the prescribed air force authority at the option of such authority either to deliver over the offender to the nearest Magistrate to be proceeded against according to law, or to postpone proceedings pending a reference to the [Central Government].

(2) In every such case the said authority shall either deliver over the offender in compliance with the requisition or shall forthwith refer the question as to the court before which the proceedings are to be instituted for the determination of the [Central Government], whose order upon such reference shall be final.

82. (1) Notwithstanding anything contained in section 26 of the General Clauses Act, 1897, or in section 403 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, a person convicted or acquitted by a court-martial may be afterwards tried by a criminal Court for the same offence or on the same facts.

(2) If a person sentenced by a court-martial in pursuance of this Act to punishment for an offence is afterwards tried by a criminal Court for the same offence or on the same facts that Court shall, in awarding punishment, have regard to the air force punishment he may already have undergone.

CHAPTER VII.

PROCEDURE OF COURTS-MARTIAL.

President.

83. At every court-martial the senior member shall sit as president.

84. Every general court-martial shall, and every district court-martial may, be attended by a judge advocate, who shall be either

Judge Advocate. an officer belonging to the department of the Judge Advocate-General in India, or, if no such officer is available, a fit person appointed by the convening officer.

85. (1) At all trials by courts-martial, as soon as the Court is assembled, the names of the president and members shall be read over to the accused, who shall thereupon be asked whether Challenges. he objects to being tried by any officer sitting on the Court.

(2) If the accused objects to any such officer, his objection, and also the reply thereto of the officer objected to, shall be heard and recorded, and the remaining officers of the Court shall, in the absence of the challenged officer, decide on the objection.

(3) If the objection is allowed by one-half or more of the votes of the officers entitled to vote, the objection shall be allowed, and the member objected to shall retire, and his vacancy may be filled in the prescribed manner by another officer, subject to the same right of the accused to object.

(4) When no challenge is made, or when challenge has been made and disallowed, or the place of every officer successfully challenged has been filled by another officer to whom no objection is made or allowed, the Court shall proceed with the trial.

86. (1) Every decision of a court-martial shall be passed by an absolute majority of votes; and where there is an equality of votes, as to either finding or sentence, the decision shall be in favour of the accused:

Provided that no sentence of death shall be passed without the concurrence of two-thirds at the least of the members of the Court.

(2) In matters other than a challenge or the finding or sentence, the president shall have a casting vote.

87. An oath or affirmation in the prescribed form shall be administered to every member of every court-martial and to the judge advocate at the beginning of the trial.

88. Every person giving evidence at a court-martial shall be examined on oath or affirmation, and shall be duly sworn or affirmed in the prescribed form.

89. (1) The convening officer, the president of the Court, the judge advocate, or the commanding officer of the accused person, may, by summons under his hand, require the attendance before the Court, at a time and place to be mentioned in the summons, of any person either to give evidence or to produce any document or other thing.

(2) In the case of a witness amenable to air force [, naval]¹ or military authority, the summons shall be sent to the officer commanding the corps, [ship,]¹ unit, department or detachment to which he belongs, and such officer shall serve it upon him accordingly.

(3) In the case of any other witness, the summons shall be sent to the Magistrate within whose jurisdiction he may be or reside, and such Magistrate shall give effect to the summons as if the witness were required in the Court of such Magistrate.

(4) When a witness is required to produce any particular document or other thing in his possession or power, the summons shall describe it with reasonable precision.

(5) Nothing in this section shall be deemed to affect the Indian Evidence Act, 1872, sections 123 and 124, or to apply to any document in the custody of the postal or telegraph authorities.

(6) If any document in such custody is, in the opinion of any District Magistrate, Chief Presidency Magistrate, High Court or Court of Session, wanted for the purpose of any court-martial, such Magistrate or Court may require the postal or telegraph authorities, as the case may be, to deliver such document to such person as such Magistrate or Court may direct.

(7) If any such document is, in the opinion of any other Magistrate or of any Commissioner of Police or District Superintendent of Police, wanted for any such purpose, he may require the postal or telegraph authorities, as the case may be, to cause search to be made for and to detain such document pending the orders of any such District Magistrate, Chief Presidency Magistrate or Court.

90. (1) Whenever, in the course of a trial by court-martial, it appears to the Court that the examination of a witness is necessary for the ends of justice, and that the attendance of such witness cannot be procured without an amount of delay, expense or inconvenience which, in the circumstances of the case, would be unreasonable, such Court may address the Judge Advocate-General in order that a commission to take the evidence of such witness may be issued.

(2) The Judge Advocate-General may then, if he thinks necessary, issue a commission to any Presidency Magistrate, District Magistrate or Magistrate of the first class, within the local limits of whose jurisdiction such witness resides, to take the evidence of such witness.

(3) When the witness resides in [any Indian State or tribal area] in which there is an official representing [the Central Government or the Crown Representative] the commission may be issued to such official.

(4) The Magistrate or official to whom the commission is issued, or if he is the District Magistrate, he or such Magistrate of the first class as he appoints in this behalf, shall proceed to the place where the witness is or shall summon the witness before him and shall take down his evidence in the same manner, and may for this purpose exercise the same powers, as in trials of warrant-cases under the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898.

(5) Where the commission is issued to such official as is mentioned in sub-section (3), he may delegate his powers and duties under the commission to any official subordinate to him whose powers are not less than those of a Magistrate of the first class in British India.

(6) When the witness resides out of India, the commission may be issued to any British Consular officer, British Magistrate or other British official competent to administer an oath or affirmation in the place where such witness resides.

(7) The prosecutor and the accused person in any case in which a commission is issued may respectively forward any interrogatories in writing which the Court may think relevant to the issue, and the Magistrate or official to whom the commission is issued shall examine the witness upon such interrogatories.

(8) The prosecutor and the accused person may appear before such Magistrate or official by pleader or, except in the case of an accused person in custody, in person, and may examine, cross-examine and re-examine (as the case may be) the said witness.

(9) After any commission issued under this section has been duly executed, it shall be returned, together with the deposition of the witness examined thereunder, to the Judge Advocate-General.

(10) On receipt of a commission and deposition returned under sub-section (9), the Judge Advocate-General shall forward the same to the Court at whose instance the commission was issued or, if such Court has been dissolved, to any other court convened for the trial of the accused person; and the commission, the return thereto and the deposition shall be open to the inspection of the prosecutor and the accused person, and may, subject to all just exceptions, be read in evidence in the case by either the prosecutor or the accused, and shall form part of the proceedings of the Court.

(11) In every case in which a commission is issued under this section the trial may be adjourned for a specified time reasonably sufficient for the execution and return of the commission.

Explanation.—In this section, the expression “Judge Advocate-General” means the Judge Advocate-General in India and includes a Deputy Judge Advocate-General.

Conviction of one offence permissible on charge of another.

91. (1) A person charged before a court-martial with desertion may be found guilty of attempting to desert or of being absent without leave.

(2) A person charged before a court-martial with attempting to desert may be found guilty [* *]¹ of being absent without leave.

(3) A person charged before a court-martial with using criminal force may be found guilty of assault.

(4) A person charged before a court-martial with using threatening language may be found guilty of using insubordinate language.

(5) A person charged before a court-martial with any of the offences specified

LEG. REF.

Act XXI of 1943.

¹ The words “of desertion or” omitted by clause (a), clause (b), clause (d) or clause (e) of section 44 may be found guilty of any other of these offences with which he might have been charged.

(6) A person charged before a court-martial with an offence punishable under section 58 may be found guilty of any other offence of which he might have been found guilty if the provisions of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, were applicable.

(7) A person charged before a court-martial with any other offence under this Act may, on failure of proof of an offence having been committed in circumstances involving a more severe punishment, be found guilty of the same offence as having been committed in circumstances involving a less severe punishment.

(8) A person charged before a court-martial with any offence under this Act may be found guilty of having attempted to commit or of abetment of that offence although the attempt or abetment is not separately charged.

General rule as to evidence. 92. The Indian Evidence Act, 1872, shall, subject to the provisions of this Act, apply to all proceedings before a court-martial.

Judicial notice. 93. A court-martial may take judicial notice of any matter within the general, naval, military or air force knowledge of the members.

94. In any proceeding under this Act, any application, certificate, warrant reply or other document purporting to be signed by an officer in [the service of the Crown] shall, on production, be presumed to have been duly signed by the person and in the character by whom and in which it purports to have been signed, until the contrary is shown.

Enrolment paper as evidence. 95. Any enrolment paper purporting to be signed by an enrolling officer shall, in proceedings under this Act, be evidence of the person enrolled having given the answers to questions which he is therein represented as having given. The enrolment of such person may be proved by the production of a copy of his enrolment paper purporting to be certified to be a true copy by the officer having the custody of the enrolment paper.

Presumption as to certain documents. 96. (1) A letter, return or other document respecting the service of any person in, or the dismissal or discharge of any person from, any portion of His Majesty's Forces, or respecting the circumstance of any person not having served in, or belonged to, any portion of His Majesty's Forces, if purporting to be signed by or on behalf of the [Central Government] or the Commander-in-Chief in India or by any prescribed officer, shall be evidence of the facts stated in such letter, return or other document.

(2) An Army List, [Navy List,]¹ Air Force List or Gazette purporting to be published by authority shall be evidence of the status and rank of the officers or warrant officers therein mentioned, and of any appointment held by such officers or warrant officers and of the corps, [ship,]¹ unit, battalion, arm, branch or department of the service to which such officers or warrant officers belong.

(3) Where a record is made in any service book in pursuance of this Act or of any rules made thereunder or otherwise in pursuance of air force duty, and purports to be signed by the commanding officer or by the officer whose duty it is to make such record, such record shall be evidence of the facts thereby stated.

(4) A copy of any record in any service book purporting to be certified to be a true copy by the officer having the custody of such book shall be evidence of such record.

(5) Where any person subject to this Act is being tried on a charge of desertion or of absence without leave, and such person has surrendered himself into the custody of, or has been apprehended by, a provost-marshal, assistant provost-marshal or other officer, or any portion of His Majesty's Forces, a certificate purporting to be signed by such provost-marshal, assistant provost-marshal or other officer, or by the commanding officer of that portion of His Majesty's Forces and stating the fact, date and place of such surrender or apprehension, shall be evidence of the matters so stated.

LEG. REF.

(6) When any person subject to this Act is being tried on a charge of desertion or of absence without leave, and such person has surrendered himself into the custody of, or has been apprehended by, a police-officer not below the rank of an officer in charge of a police-station, a certificate purporting to be signed by such police-officer and stating the fact, date and place of such surrender or apprehension, shall be evidence of the matters stated.

(7) Any document purporting to be a report under the hand of any Chemical Examiner or Assistant Chemical Examiner to Government upon any matter or thing duly submitted to him for examination or analysis and report may be used as evidence in any proceeding under this Act.

97. (1) If at any trial for desertion, absence without leave, overstaying leave or not rejoining when warned for service, the person tried states in his defence any sufficient or reasonable excuse for his unauthorised absence, and refers in support thereof to any officer in [the service of the Crown], or if it appears that any such officer is likely to prove or disprove the said statement in the defence, the Court shall address such officer and adjourn until his reply is received.

(2) The written reply of any officer so referred to shall, if signed by him, be received in evidence and have the same effect as if made on oath before the Court.

(3) If the Court is dissolved before the receipt of such reply, or if the Court omits to comply with the provisions of this section, the convening officer may, at his discretion, annul the proceedings and order a fresh trial by the same or another court-martial.

98. (1) When any person subject to this Act has been convicted by a Court-martial of any offence such court-martial may inquire into and receive and record evidence of, any previous convictions of such person, either by a court-martial established under this Act or any other enactment or by a criminal court, and may further inquire into and record the service character of such person.

(2) Evidence received under this section may be either oral or in the shape of entries in, or certified extracts from, court-martial books or other official records; and it shall not be necessary to give notice before trial to the person tried that evidence as to his previous convictions or service character will be received.

99. When any property regarding which any offence appears to have been committed, or which appears to have been used for the commission of any offence, is produced before a court-martial during a trial, the Court may make such order as it thinks fit for the proper custody of such property pending the conclusion of the trial, and if the property is subject to speedy or natural decay may, after recording such evidence as it thinks necessary, order it to be sold or otherwise disposed of.

CHAPTER VIII.

CONFIRMATION, REVISION, PARDON AND REMISSION OF SENTENCES.

Finding and sentence invalid without confirmation.

100. No finding or sentence of a general or district court-martial shall be valid except so far as it may be confirmed as provided by this Act.

Power to confirm finding and sentence of general court-martial.

101. The findings and sentences of general courts-martial may be confirmed by the [Central Government] or by any officer empowered in this behalf by warrant of the [Central Government].

Power to confirm finding and sentence of district court-martial.

102. The findings and sentences of district courts-martial may be confirmed by any authority having power to convene a general court-martial, or by any officer empowered in this behalf by warrant of any such authority.

Limitation of powers of confirming authorities.

103. A warrant issued under section 101 or section 102 may contain such restrictions, reservations or conditions as the authority issuing it may think fit.

Confirmation of finding and sentence of field general court-martial.

104. (1) Save as provided in sub-sections (2) and (3), a finding and sentence of a field general court-martial shall not require to be confirmed, and may be carried out forthwith.

(2) The finding and sentence of a field general court-martial shall require to be confirmed—

(a) in the case of the trial of an officer,

(b) in the case of a sentence of death or of imprisonment for a term exceeding two years, and

(c) in any other case if so ordered by the convening authority.

(3) Such finding and sentence may be confirmed by the convening authority or, if the convening authority so directs, by an authority superior to the convening authority.

105. Subject to such restrictions as may be contained in any warrant issued under section 101 or section 102, a confirming authority may, if it confirms the sentence of a court-martial, mitigate or remit the punishment thereby awarded, or commute that punishment for any punishment or punishments lower in the scale laid down in section 19.

Power of confirming authority to mitigate, remit or commute sentences.

106. When any person subject to this Act is tried and sentenced by court-martial while on board ship, the finding and sentence so far as not confirmed and executed on board ship may be confirmed and executed in like manner as if such person had been tried at the port of disembarkation.

Confirmation of finding and sentence on board ship.

107. (1) Any finding or sentence of a court-martial which requires confirmation may be once revised by order of the confirming authority; and on such revision, the Court, if so directed by the confirming authority, may take additional evidence.

Revision of finding or sentence.

(2) The Court, on revision, shall consist of the same officers as were present when the original decision was passed, unless any of those officers are unavoidably absent.

(3) In case of such unavoidable absence the cause thereof shall be duly certified in the proceedings, and the Court shall proceed with the revision, provided that if a general court-martial, it still consists of five officers, or, if a district court-martial, of three officers.

[108. (1) Where a finding guilty by a court-martial, which has been confirmed, or which does not require confirmation, is found for any reason to be invalid or cannot be supported by the evidence, the authority which would have had power under section 110, to commute the punishment awarded by the sentence, if the finding had been valid, may substitute a new finding, if the new finding could have been validly made by the court-martial on the charge and if it appears that the court-martial must have been satisfied of the facts establishing the offence specified or involved in the new finding, and may pass a sentence for the said offence.

Substitution of a valid finding or sentence for an invalid finding or sentence.

(2) Where a sentence passed by a court-martial, which has been confirmed, or which does not require confirmation, not being a sentence passed in pursuance of a new finding substituted under sub-section (1), is found for any reason to be invalid, the authority which would have had power under section 110 to commute the punishment awarded by the sentence if it had been valid may pass a valid sentence.

(3) The punishment awarded by a sentence passed under sub-section (1) or sub-section (2) shall not be higher in the scale of punishments than, or in excess of the punishment awarded by the sentence for which a new sentence is substituted under this section.]¹

109. (1) Whenever, in the course of a trial by court-martial, it appears to the Court that the person charged is of unsound mind and consequently incapable of making his defence, or that such person committed the act alleged, but was by reason of unsoundness of mind incapable of knowing the nature of the act or that it was wrong or contrary to law, the Court shall record a finding accordingly, and the president of the Court shall forthwith report the case to the confirming authority or, in the case of a field general court-martial, to the prescribed officer.

(2) A confirming authority to whom a case is reported under sub-section (1) may, if it does not confirm the finding, take steps to have the accused person tried by the same or another court-martial for the offence with which he was originally charged.

(3) A prescribed officer to whom a case is reported under sub-section (1) and a confirming authority confirming a finding in any case so reported to it shall order the accused person to be kept in custody in the prescribed manner, and, where the confirming authority is not itself the [Central Government] shall report the case for the orders of the [Central Government].

(4) On receipt of a report under sub-section (1) or sub-section (3), the [Central Government] may order the accused person to be detained in a lunatic asylum or other suitable place of safe custody.

(5) Where an accused person, having been found by reason of unsoundness of mind to be incapable of making his defence, is in custody or under detention, the prescribed officer may—

(a) if such person is in custody under sub-section (3), on the report of a medical officer that he is capable of making his defence, or

(b) if such person is detained under sub-section (4), on a certificate such as is referred to in section 473 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, take steps to have such person tried by the same or another court-martial for the offence with which he was originally charged or, provided that the offence is a civil offence, by a criminal court.

(6) A copy of every order made by the prescribed officer under sub-section (5) shall forthwith be sent to the [Central Government].

110. (1) When any person subject to this Act has been convicted by a court-martial of any offence, the [Central Government] or the prescribed officer may—

(a) either without conditions or upon any conditions which the person sentenced accepts, pardon the person or remit the whole or any part of the punishment awarded; or

(b) mitigate the punishment awarded, or commute such punishment for any less punishment or punishments mentioned in this Act.

(2) If any condition on which a person has been pardoned or a punishment has been remitted is, in the opinion of the authority which granted the pardon or remitted the punishment, not fulfilled, such authority may cancel the pardon or remission, and thereupon the sentence of the Court shall be carried into effect as if such pardon had not been granted or such punishment had not been remitted :

Provided that in the case of a person sentenced to imprisonment, such person shall undergo only the unexpired portion of his sentence.

(3) When under the provisions of section 23 a non-commissioned officer is deemed to be reduced to the ranks, such reduction shall, for the purposes of this section, be treated as a punishment awarded by sentence of a court-martial.

CHAPTER IX.

EXECUTION OF SENTENCES AND DISPOSAL OF PROPERTY.

111. In awarding a sentence of death a court-martial shall, in its discretion, direct that the offender shall suffer death by being hanged by the neck until he be dead, or shall suffer death by being shot to death.

Sentence of death.

112. Whenever any person is sentenced under this Act to imprisonment, the term of his sentence shall, whether it has been revised or not, be reckoned to commence on the day on which the original proceedings were signed by the president.

Commencement of sentence of imprisonment.

[113. Whenever any sentence of imprisonment is passed under this Act, or whenever any sentence so passed is commuted to imprisonment, the confirming officer, or, in the case of a sentence which does not require confirmation, the Court or in either case such officer as may be prescribed may direct either that the sentence shall be carried out by confinement in a civil prison or by confinement in a military or air force prison, and the commanding officer of the person under sentence or such other officer as may be prescribed, shall forward a warrant in the prescribed form to the officer in charge of the prison in which the person under sentence is to be confined and shall forward him to such prison with the warrant :

Provided that in the case of a sentence of imprisonment for a period not exceeding three months, in lieu of a direction that the sentence shall be carried out by confinement in a civil, military or air force prison, a direction may be made that the sentence shall be carried out by confinement in air force custody :

Provided further that on active service a sentence of imprisonment may be carried out by confinement in such place as the officer commanding the forces in the field may from time to time appoint.]¹

114. Whenever, in the opinion of the Air Officer Commanding His Majesty's Air Forces in India, any sentence or portion of a sentence punishment shall be carried out by detaining the offender in any military or air force detention barracks, detention cells or other military or air force custody.

[116. Whenever an order is duly made under this Act setting aside or varying any sentence, order or warrant under which any person is confined in a civil, military or air force prison a warrant in accordance with such order shall be forwarded by the prescribed officer to the officer-in-charge of the prison in which such person is confined.]²

Communication of certain orders to prison officers.

117. Where a sentence of transportation is imposed by court-martial under section 58, the offender, until he is transported, shall be dealt with in the same manner as if he had been sentenced to rigorous imprisonment, and shall be deemed to have been undergoing his sentence of transportation during the term of his imprisonment.

Offenders sentenced to transportation how dealt with until transported.

118. When a sentence of fine is imposed by a court-martial under section 58 whether the trial was held within British India or not, a copy of such sentence, signed and certified by the president of the court or the officer holding the trial, as the case may be, may be sent to any Magistrate in British India, and such Magistrate shall thereupon cause the fine to be recovered in accordance with the provisions of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, for the levy of fines as if it was a sentence of fine imposed by such Magistrate.

Execution of sentence of fine.

119. (1) After the conclusion of a trial before any court-martial, the Court or the authority confirming its finding or sentence or any authority superior to such authority, or, in the case of a finding or sentence which does not require confirmation, the officer commanding the unit within which the trial was held, may make such order as it or he thinks fit for the disposal by destruction, confiscation, delivery to any person claiming to be entitled to possession thereof, or otherwise, of any property or document produced before the Court or in its custody, or regarding which any offence appears to have been committed or which has been used for the commission of any offence.

Order for disposal of property regarding which offence committed.

(2) Where any order has been made under sub-section (1) in respect of property regarding which an offence appears to have been committed, a copy of such order signed and certified by the authority making the same may, whether the trial was held within British India or not, be sent to a Magistrate in any presidency-town or district in which such property for the time being is, and such Magistrate shall thereupon cause the order to be carried into effect as if it was an order passed by such Magistrate under the provisions of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898.

Explanation.—In this section the term “property” includes, in the case of property regarding which an offence appears to have been committed, not only such property as has been originally in the possession or under the control of any party but also any property into or for which the same may have been converted or exchanged, and anything acquired by such conversion or exchange whether immediately or otherwise.

[119-A. (1) The Central Government may set apart any building or part of a building or any place under its control as an air force prison or detention barracks for the confinement of persons sentenced to imprisonment or detention under this Act.

Establishment and regulation of air force prisons and detention barracks.

(2) The Central Government may by rules provide—

(a) for the government, management and regulation of such air force prisons and detention barracks;

(b) for the appointment and removal and powers of inspectors, visitors, governors and officers thereof;

(c) for the labour of prisoners and persons undergoing detention therein and for enabling such prisoners or persons to earn by special industry and good conduct a remission of a portion of their sentence; and

(d) for the safe custody of such prisoners or persons and the maintenance of discipline among them and the punishment by personal correction, restraint or otherwise, of offences committed by them:

Provided that such rules shall not authorise corporal punishment to be inflicted for any offence nor render the imprisonment or detention more severe than it is under the law for the time being in force relating to civil prisons in British India.

(3) Rules made under this section may provide for the application to air force prisons or detention barracks of any of the provisions of the Prisons Act, 1894 (IX of 1894), relating to the duties of officers of prisons and the punishment of persons not prisoners.]¹

CHAPTER X.

SPECIAL RULES RELATING TO PERSONS AND PROPERTY.

120. (1) If an officer of the Indian Air Force thinks himself wronged by his commanding officer, or other superior officer, and on due application made to his commanding officer does not receive the redress to which he may consider himself entitled, he may complain to the [Central Government] in order to obtain justice.

(2) If any airman thinks himself wronged in any matter by any officer other than the officer under whose command or orders he is serving, or by any airman, he may complain thereof to the officer under whose command or orders he is serving, and if he thinks himself wronged by the officer under whose command or orders he is serving, either in respect of his complaint not being redressed or in respect of any other matter, he may complain thereof to his commanding officer, and if he thinks himself wronged by his commanding officer, either in respect of his complaint not being redressed or in respect of any other matter, he may complain thereof to the prescribed officer; and every officer to whom a complaint is made in pursuance of this section shall cause such complaint to be inquired into, and shall, if on inquiry he is satisfied of the justice of the complaint so made, take such steps as may be necessary for giving full redress to the complainant in respect of the matter complained of.

121. (1) No president or member of a court-martial, no judge advocate, no party to any proceeding before a court-martial, or his legal practitioner or agent, and no witness acting in obedience to a summons to attend a court-martial, shall, while proceeding to, attending on or returning from a court-martial, be liable to arrest under civil or revenue process.

(2) If any such person is arrested under any such process, he may be discharged by order of the court-martial.

122. (1) No officer or person enrolled in the Indian Air Force shall be liable to be arrested for debt under any process issued by, or by the authority of, any civil or revenue court or revenue officer.

(2) The Judge of any such Court may examine into any complaint made by such person or his superior officer of the arrest of such person contrary to the provisions of this section, and may, by warrant under his hand, discharge the person, and award reasonable costs to the complainant, who may recover those costs in like manner as he might have recovered costs awarded to him by a decree against the person obtaining the process.

(3) For the recovery of such costs no fee shall be payable to the Court by the complainant.

123. Neither the arms, clothes, equipment, accoutrements or necessities of any person subject to this Act, nor any animal used by him for the discharge of his duty, shall be seized, nor shall the pay and allowances of any such person or any part thereof be attached, by direction of any civil or revenue Court or any revenue officer, in satisfaction of any decree or order enforceable against him.

124. Every person belonging to the Indian Air Force Reserve shall, when called out for or engaged upon or returning from training or service, be entitled to all the privileges accorded by sections 122 and 123 to a person subject to this Act.

125. (1) On the presentation to any Court by or on behalf of any person subject to this Act of a certificate, from the proper air force authority, of leave of absence having been granted to or applied by for him for the purpose of prosecuting or defending any suit or other proceeding in such Court, the Court shall, on the application of such person, arrange, so far as may be possible, for the hearing and final disposal of such suit or other proceeding within the period of the leave so granted or applied for.

Priority of hearing by courts of cases in which persons subject to this Act are concerned.

(2) The certificate from the proper air force authority shall state the first and last day of the leave or intended leave, and set forth a description of the case with respect to which the leave was granted or applied for.

(3) No fee shall be payable to the Court in respect of the presentation of any such certificate, or in respect of any application by or on behalf of any such person for priority for the hearing of his case.

(4) Where the Court is unable to arrange for the hearing and final disposal of the suit or other proceeding within the period of such leave or intended leave as aforesaid, it shall record its reasons for having been unable to do so, and shall cause a copy thereof to be furnished to such person on his application without any payment whatever by him in respect either of the application for such copy or of the copy itself.

(5) If in any case a question arises as to the proper air force authority qualified to grant such certificate as aforesaid, such question shall be at once referred by the Court to an officer commanding a unit, whose decision shall be final.

126. The following rules are enacted respecting the disposal of the property of every person subject to this Act who dies or deserts :—

Property of deceased persons and deserters.

(1) The commanding officer of the unit to which the deceased person or deserter belonged shall secure all the movable property belonging to the deceased or deserter that is in camp or quarters, and cause an inventory thereof to be made, and draw any pay and allowances due to such person.

(2) In the case of a deceased person who has left in a Government savings bank (including any post office savings bank, however named) a deposit not exceeding one thousand rupees, the commanding officer may, if he thinks fit, require the secretary or other proper official of the bank to pay the deposit to him forthwith, notwithstanding anything in any departmental rules, and after the payment thereof in accordance with such requisition no person shall have any right in respect of the deposit except as hereinafter provided.

(3) In the case of a deceased person whose representative is on the spot and has given security for the payment of the service or other debts in camp or quarters (if any) of the deceased, the commanding officer shall deliver over any property received under clauses (1) and (2) to that representative.

(4) In the case of a deceased person whose estate is not dealt with under clause (3), and in the case of any deserter, the commanding officer shall cause the movable property to be sold by public auction, and shall pay the service and other debts in camp or quarters (if any), and, in the case of a deceased person, the expenses of his funeral ceremonies, from the proceeds of the sale and from any pay and allowances drawn under clause (1) and from the amount of the deposit (if any) received under clause (2).

(5) The surplus, if any, shall in the case of a deceased person, be paid to his representative (if any), or, in the event of no claim to such surplus being established within twelve months after the death, be remitted to the prescribed person.

(6) In the case of a deserter, the surplus (if any) shall be forthwith remitted to the prescribed person and shall, on the expiry of three years from the date of his desertion, be forfeited to His Majesty, unless the deserter shall in the meantime have surrendered or been apprehended.

[(7) In the case of a person dying or deserting while on active service, the references in the foregoing rules to the commanding officer shall be construed as references to the Standing Committee of Adjustment, if any, appointed in this behalf in the manner prescribed; and the power conferred by rule (2) to require payment of a deposit left in a Government savings bank shall be read as a power to require the payment from any deposit left in any bank, notwithstanding anything in the rules of the bank, of a sum, not exceeding one thousand five hundred rupees, equal to the nearest multiple of one hundred rupees above the amount estimated by the Standing Committee of Adjustment as necessary to meet the service and other debts in camp or quarters of the deceased.

(8) The decision of the commanding officer or the Standing Committee of Adjustment, as the case may be, as to what are the service and other debts in camp or quarters of a deceased person and as to the amount payable therefor shall, without prejudice to any jurisdiction otherwise exercisable by a court of law, be final ;

(b) the existing Explanation shall be numbered Explanation 1 and the following Explanation shall be added namely :—

"Explanation 2.—The expression 'service and other debts in camp or quarters' includes for the purposes of this section money due as—air force debts, namely, sums due in respect of, or of any advance in respect of—

(a) quarters,

(b) mess, band, and other service accounts,

(c) air force clothing, appointments and equipments, not exceeding a sum equal to six months' pay of the deceased, and having become due within eighteen months before his death.]¹

Explanation 1.—A person shall be deemed to be a deserter within the meaning of this section who has without authority been absent from duty for a period of twenty-one days and has not subsequently surrendered or been apprehended.

Meaning of deserter.

127. Property deliverable and money payable to the representative of a deceased person under section 126, may, if the total value or amount thereof does not exceed one thousand rupees, and if the prescribed person thinks fit, be delivered or paid to any person appearing to him to be entitled to receive it or to administer the estate of the deceased, without requiring the production of any probate, letters of administration, certificate or other such conclusive evidence of title ; and such delivery or payment shall be a full discharge to those ordering or making the same and to the Secretary of State for India in [Crown] from all further liability in respect of the property or money ; but nothing in this section shall affect the rights of any executor or administrator or other representative, or of any creditor of a deceased person against any person to whom such delivery or payment has been made.

Disposal of certain property without production of probate, etc.

Application to lunatics and persons missing on active service.

128. The provisions of [sections 126 and 127]² shall, so far as they can be made applicable, apply in the case of a person subject to this Act becoming insane or who, being on active service, is officially reported missing :

Provided that, in the case of a person so reported missing, no action shall be taken under sub-sections (2) to (5), inclusive, ²[of section 126] until one year has elapsed from the date of such report.

THE SCHEDULE.

[Omitted by Act I of 1938.]

INDIAN AIR FORCE VOLUNTEER RESERVE (DISCIPLINE) ACT (XXXVI OF 1939.)

29th September, 1939.

An Act to provide for the discipline of members of the Indian Air Force Volunteer Reserve raised in British India on behalf of His Majesty.

WHEREAS it is expedient to provide for the discipline of members of the Indian Air Force Volunteer Reserve raised in British India on behalf of His Majesty ; It is hereby enacted as follows :—

Short title, extent and commencement.

1. (1) This Act may be called THE INDIAN AIR FORCE VOLUNTEER RESERVE (DISCIPLINE) ACT, 1939.

(2) It extends to the whole of British India and applies to members of the Indian Air Force Volunteer Reserve wherever they may be.

(3) It shall come into force on such date as the Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, appoint in this behalf.

Power to make rules for regulation of the Indian Air Force Volunteer Reserve.

2. The Central Government may make rules for the Government, discipline and regulation of the Indian Air Force Volunteer Reserve.

3. Every member of the Indian Air Force Volunteer Reserve, while undergoing training in any unit, or otherwise, in pursuance of rules made under section 2, or when called into actual service in the Indian Air Force, in pursuance of the said rules, shall be subject to the Indian Air Force Act, 1932, in the same manner as a person belonging to His Majesty's Indian Air Force, and shall continue to be so subject until duly released from such training or service, as the case may be.

4. (1) If any member of the Indian Air Force Volunteer Reserve, when required, in pursuance of rules made under section 2, to join a unit or attend at any place for the purpose of undergoing training, fails without reasonable excuse to join or attend in accordance with such requirement, he shall be punishable with fine which may extend to two hundred rupees.

Penalty for failure to attend when required or called up.

(2) If any member of the Indian Air Force Volunteer Reserve, when called into actual service in the Indian Air Force, and required by such call to join any unit or attend at any place, fails without reasonable excuse to comply with such requirement at or within such time as the Central Government may, by order, direct, he shall be liable to be apprehended and punished in the same manner as a person in or belonging to the Indian Air Force deserting or improperly absenting himself from duty, except that the punishment shall not exceed imprisonment which may extend to two years.

5. When any member of the Indian Air Force Volunteer Reserve is required, in pursuance of the rules made under section 2, to join any unit or attend at any place for the purpose of undergoing training, or is called into actual service in the Indian Air Force, a certificate purporting to be signed by an officer appointed in this behalf under the said rules and stating that the said member failed to join or attend in accordance with such requirement or call shall, without proof of the signature or appointment of such officer, be evidence of the matter stated therein.

6. No Court inferior to that of a Presidency Magistrate or Magistrate of the first class shall try an offence punishable under sub-section (1) of section 4.

7. The Indian Air Force Volunteer Reserve (Discipline) Ordinance, 1939, is hereby repealed; and any rules made, anything done and any action taken under the said Ordinance shall be deemed to have been made, done or taken under this Act as if this Act had commenced on the 16th day of September, 1939.

An Act to provide for the preservation of Ancient Monuments and objects of archæological, historical or artistic interest.

WHEREAS it is expedient to provide for the preservation of ancient monuments, for the exercise of control over traffic in antiquities and over excavation in certain places, and for the protection and acquisition in certain cases of ancient monuments and of objects of archæological, historical or artistic interest; It is hereby enacted as follows :—

Short title and extent.

1. (1) This Act may be called THE ANCIENT MONUMENTS PRESERVATION ACT, 1904.

(2) It extends to the whole of British India, inclusive of British Baluchistan, the Sonthal Parganas and the Pargana of Spiti.

Definitions.

2. In this Act, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,—

(1) "ancient monument" means any structure, erection or monument, or any tumulus or place of interment, or any cave, rock-sculpture, inscription or monolith, which is of historical, archæological or artistic interest, or any remains thereof, and includes—

(a) the site of an ancient monument ;

(b) such portion of land adjoining the site of an ancient monument as may be required for fencing or covering in or otherwise preserving such monument ; and;

(c) the means of access to and convenient inspection of an ancient monument ;

(2) "antiquities" include any movable objects which the [Central Government]¹, by reason of their historical or archæological associations, may think it necessary to protect against injury, removal or dispersion :

(3) "Commissioner" includes any officer authorized by the [Central Government]¹ to perform the duties of a Commissioner under this Act :

(4) "maintain" and "maintenance" include the fencing, covering in, repairing, restoring and cleansing of a protected monument, and the doing of any act which may be necessary for the purpose of maintaining a protected monument or of securing convenient access thereto :

(5) "land" includes a revenue-free estate, a revenue-paying estate, and a permanent transferable tenure, whether such estate or tenure be subject to incumbrances or not : and

(6) "owner" includes a joint owner invested with powers of management on behalf of himself and other joint owners, and any manager or trustee exercising powers of management over an ancient monument, and the successor in title of any such owner and the successor in office of any such manager or trustee :

Provided that nothing in this Act shall be deemed to extend the powers which may lawfully be exercised by such manager or trustee.

3. (1) The [Central Government]² may, by notification³ in the Official Gazette, declare an ancient monument to be a protected monument within the meaning of this Act.

Protected monuments.

(2) A copy of every notification published under sub-section (1) shall be fixed up in a conspicuous place on or near the monument, together with an intimation that any objections to the issue of the notification received by the [Central Government]¹ within one month from the date when it is so fixed up will be taken into consideration.

(3) On the expiry of the said period of one month, the [Central Government]¹, after considering the objections, if any, shall confirm or withdraw the notification.

(4) A notification published under this section shall, unless and until it is withdrawn, be conclusive evidence of the fact that the monument to which it relates is an ancient monument within the meaning of this Act.

Ancient Monuments.

Acquisition of rights in or guardianship of an ancient monument.

4. (1) The Collector, with the sanction of the [Central Government]¹, may purchase or take a lease of any protected monument.

(2) The Collector, with the like sanction, may accept a gift or bequest of any protected monument.

(3) The owner of any protected monument may, by written instrument, constitute the Commissioner the guardian of the monument, and the Commissioner may, with the sanction of the [Central Government]¹ accept such guardianship.

(4) When the Commissioner has accepted the guardianship of a monument under sub-section (3), the owner shall, except as expressly provided in this Act, have the same estate, right, title and interest in and to the monument as if the Commissioner had not been constituted guardian thereof.

(5) When the Commissioner has accepted the guardianship of a monument under sub-section (3), the provisions of this Act relating to agreements executed under section 5 shall apply to the written instrument executed under the said sub-section.

(6) Where a protected monument is without an owner, the Commissioner may assume the guardianship of the monument.

5. (1) The Collector may, with the previous sanction of the [Central Government]¹ propose to the owner to enter into an agreement with the [Central Government]² for the preservation of any protected monument in his district.

(2) An agreement under this section may provide for the following matters, or for such of them as it may be found expedient to include in the agreement :—

(a) the maintenance of the monument ;

(b) the custody of the monument, and the duties of any person who may be employed to watch it ;

(c) the restriction of the owner's right to destroy, remove, alter or deface the monument or to build on or near the site of the monument ;

(d) the facilities of access to be permitted to the public or to any portion of the public and to persons deputed by the owner or the Collector to inspect or maintain the monument ;

(e) the notice to be given to the [Central Government]³ in case the land on which the monument is situated is offered for sale by the owner, and the right to be reserved to the [Central Government]³ to purchase such land, or any specified portion of such land, at its market value ;

(f) the payment of any expenses incurred by the owner or by the [Central Government]³ in connection with the preservation of the monument.

(g) the proprietary or other rights which are to vest in His Majesty in respect of the monument when any expenses are incurred by the [Central Government]³ in connection with the preservation of the monument ;

(h) the appointment of an authority to decide any dispute arising out of the agreement ; and

(i) any matter connected with the preservation of the monument which is a proper subject of agreement between the owner and the [Central Government]³.

(4) The terms of an agreement under this section may be altered from time to time with sanction of the [Central Government]² and with the consent of the owner.

(5) With the previous sanction of the [Central Government],³ the Collector may terminate an agreement under this section on giving six months' notice in writing to the owner.

(6) The owner may terminate an agreement under this section on giving six months' notice to the Collector.

(7) An agreement under this section shall be binding on any person claiming to be owner of the monument to which it relates, through or under a party by whom or on whose behalf the agreement was executed.

(8) Any rights acquired by [the Central Government]³ in respect of expenses incurred in protecting or preserving a monument shall not be affected by the termination of an agreement under this section.

6. (1) If the owner is unable, by reason of infancy or other disability, to act for himself, the person legally competent to act on his behalf may exercise the powers conferred upon an owner by section 5.

Owners under disability or not in possession.

(2) In the case of village-property the headman or other village-officer exercising powers of management over such property may exercise the powers conferred upon an owner by section 5.

(3) Nothing in this section shall be deemed to empower any person not being of the same religion as the persons on whose behalf he is acting to make or execute an agreement relating to a protected monument which or any part of which is periodically used for the religious worship or observances of that religion.

7. (1) If the Collector apprehends that the owner or occupier of a monument intends to destroy, remove, alter, deface, or imperil the monument or to build on or near the site thereof in contravention of the terms of an agreement for its preservation under section 5, the Collector may make an order prohibiting any such contravention of the agreement.

(2) If an owner or other person who is bound by an agreement for the preservation or maintenance of a monument under section 5 refuses to do any act which is in the opinion of the Collector necessary to such preservation or maintenance, or neglects to do any such Act within such reasonable time as may be fixed by the Collector, the Collector may authorize any person to do any such act, and the expense of doing any such act or such portion of the expense as the owner may be liable to pay under the agreement may be recovered from the owner as if were an arrear of land-revenue.

(3) A person aggrieved by an order made under this section may appeal to the Commissioner, who may cancel or modify it and whose decision shall be final.

8. Every person who purchases, at a sale for arrears of land-revenue or any other public demand, or at a sale made under the Bengal Patni Taluks Regulation, 1819, an estate or tenure in which is situated a monument in respect of which any instrument has been executed by the owner for the time being, under section 4 or section 5, and every person claiming any title to a monument from, through or under an owner who executed any such instrument, shall be bound by such instrument.

9. (1) If any owner or other person competent to enter into an agreement under section 5 for the preservation of a protected monument, refuses or fails to enter into such an agreement when proposed to him by the Collector, and if any endowment has been created for the purpose of keeping such monument in repair, or for that purpose among others, the Collector may institute a suit in the Court of the District Judge, or, if the estimated cost of repairing the monument does not exceed one thousand rupees, may make an application to the District Judge for the proper application of such endowment or part thereof.

(2) On the hearing of an application under sub-section (1), the District Judge may summon and examine the owner and any person whose evidence appears to him necessary, and may pass an order for the proper application of the endowment or of any part thereof, and any such order may be executed as if it were the decree of a Civil Court.

10. (1) If the [Central Government]¹ apprehends that a protected monument is in danger of being destroyed, injured or allowed to fall into decay, the [Central Government] may direct the Provincial Government² to acquire it under the provisions of the Land Acquisition Act, 1894, as if the preservation of a protected monument were a "public purpose" within the meaning of that Act.

(2) The powers of compulsory purchase conferred by sub-section (1) shall not be exercised in the case of—

(a) any monument which or any part of which is periodically used for religious observances; or

(b) any monument which is the subject of a subsisting agreement executed under section 5.

(3) In any case other than the cases referred to in sub-section (2) the said powers of compulsory purchase shall not be exercised unless the owner or other person competent to enter into an agreement under section 5 has failed, within such reasonable period as the Collector may fix in this behalf, to enter into an agreement proposed to him under the said section or has terminated or given notice of his intention to terminate such an agreement.

[10-A. (1) If the [Central Government]¹ is of opinion that mining, quarrying, excavating, blasting and other operations of a like nature should be restricted or regulated for the purpose of protecting or preserving any ancient monument, the [Central Government]¹ may, by notification in the Official Gazette, make rules—

(a) fixing the boundaries of the area to which the rules are to apply, (b) forbidding the carrying on of mining, quarrying, excavating, blasting or any operation of a like nature except in accordance with the rules and with the terms of a licence, and

(c) prescribing the authority by which, and the terms on which, licences may be granted to carry on any of the said operations.

(2) The power to make rules given by this section is subject to the condition of the rules being made after previous publication.

(3) A rule made under this section may provide that any person committing a breach thereof shall be punishable with fine which may extend to two hundred rupees.

(4) If any owner or occupier of land included in a notification under sub-section (1) proves to the satisfaction of the [Central Government]¹ that he has sustained loss by reason of such land being so included, the [Central Government]¹ shall pay compensation in respect of such loss.³

11. (1) The Commissioner shall maintain every monument in respect o

An Act to consolidate and amend the law relating to Arms, Ammunition and Military Stores.

WHEREAS it is expedient to consolidate and amend the law relating to arms, ammunition and military stores; It is hereby enacted as follows :—

Preamble.

LEG. REF.

This Act declared in force in Upper Burma generally (except the Shan States), by the Burma Laws Act, 1898 (XIII of 1898), S. 4 (1) and Sch. I (Bur. Code); and in the Santhal Parganas, see Reg. III of 1872 as amended by Regulation, 1899 (III of 1899), S. 3 (B. & O. Code) and in the Arakan-Hill District by Regulation I of 1916, Sec. 2, Bur. Code.

Extended to the Myelat in the Federated Shan States by Sec. 10 (1) (XIII of 1898), see Notification No. 17, dated 5th March, 1927, Burma Gazette, 1927, Pt. I, p. 256; extended under sec. 10 (1) of the Burma Laws Act, 1898 (XIII of 1898), to the notified areas of Taunggyi in the State of Yawnghe Lashio, in the State of North Hsenwi and Loilem in the State of Laikha and to the Civil Station of Lioimwe in the State of Kengtung and under sec. 12 (1) (c) of that Act the officers who are to perform the duties of a Magistrate under the Act have been notified, see Burma Gazette 1908, Pt. I, p. 455; declared in force except sec. 15, Regulation III of 1913, B. & O. Code declared by notification under sec. 3 (a) of Act XIV of 1874, to be in force in the Districts of Hazaribagh, Lohardaga and Manbhum, and in Pargana Dhalbhum and the Kolhan in the District of Singhbhum, see Gazette of India, 1881, Pt. I, p. 504. The District of Lohardaga included at this time the present District of Palamau, which was separated in 1894; Lohardaga is now called the Ranchi District, Calcutta Gazette, 1899, Pt. I, p. 44; extended to British Baluchistan by notification under secs. 5 and 5-A of the Scheduled Districts Act, 1874, with certain modifications and exceptions, see p. 97 of The Baluchistan Local Rules and Orders, Edition, 1926, extended to the Pargana of Manipur by the Manipur Laws Regulation, 1926 (II of 1926).

As to the trial in a Presidency town of offences against the Act, see (Act V of 1898), sec. 184.

A license granted under the Indian Explosives Act, 1884 (IV of 1884), for the manufacture, possession, sale, transport or importation of an explosive may be given effect of a like licence granted under the Indian Arms Act, 1878 (XI of 1878), see Act IV of 1884, sec. 15.

As to the possession, manufacture and export of arms, ammunition and gun-powder in the Chittagong Hill Tracts, see Regulation (I of 1900), secs. 11 and 12, Ben. Code.

Its application to the Pargana of Spiti is barred by sec. 14 of the Spiti Regulation, 1873

I.—Preliminary.

1. This Act may be called THE INDIAN ARMS ACT, 1878; and it extends to the whole of British India.¹

Short title. Local extent.

Savings.

But nothing herein contained shall apply to—

(a) arms, ammunition or military stores on board any sea-going vessel and forming part of her ordinary armament or equipment, or

(b) the manufacture, conversion, sale, import, export, transport, bearing or possession of arms, ammunition or military stores by order of [any Government in British India]², or by a public servant or [a member of either of the forces constituted by the Indian Territorial Force Act, 1920, or the Auxiliary Force Act, 1920]³ in the course of his duty as such public servant or [member].⁴

Commencement.

2. This Act shall come into force on such day⁵ as the Central Government by notification in the Official Gazette appoints.

3. [Repealed by Act I of 1938.]

Interpretation-clause.

4. In this Act, unless there be something repugnant in the subject or context,—

As to further law relating to unlawful manufacture and possession of explosive substances, see the Explosive Substances Act, 1908 (VI of 1908) Secs. 4 (b) and 5.

It is in force throughout the province of Assam except the Lushai Hills, see Notification No. 2443-T., dated the 1st June, 1914, Assam Gazette, 1914, Pt. II, p. 843.

¹As to definition of "British India," see the General Clauses Act, 1897 (X of 1897), sec. 1 (7).

²Substituted for 'the Government' A. O., 1937.

³These words were substituted by sec. 35 of the Auxiliary Force Act, 1920 (XLIX of 1920).

⁴This word was substituted for the word "volunteer" by sec. 35, ibid.

⁵The Act came into force on the 1st October, 1878—see Notification No. 1169 dated 27th June, 1878, Gazette of India, 1878, Pt. I, p. 389.

SEC. 1: CONSTRUCTION OF ACT.—A penal enactment like the Arms Act must be construed in favour of the individual person where any doubt exists. 29 Cr.L.J. 575=109 I.C. 511=1928 N. 219. See also 15 A. 129 holding that the Act must be strictly construed.

CL. (b): SALE OF ARMS BY PUBLIC SERVANT IN DISCHARGE OF DUTY.—The sale of arms by the Nazir of the Court, in execution of a decree, is a sale by a public servant in the discharge of his duty, and, therefore, excluded by sec. 1, cl. (b), from the operation of the Act: it would be proper for the Court ordering the sale, to give notice of the sale and of the purchaser's name and address contemplated by sec. 5. 9 B. 518. Police Sub-Inspector, not of 1st grade, presented by Government, with the revolver, going armed with dagger commits no offence. U.B.R. 1907, 4th Qr. Arms. 1.

SEC. 3.—For notification No. 1169, dated 27th June, 1878, see Gazette of India, Pt. I, p. 389.

SEC. 4.—See also Notes under secs. 5, 14, 19 and 27.

DEFINITION—ARMS.—The definition of "arms" is intentionally wide and the list of weapons referred to therein is clearly not exhaustive. It cannot be said that every type of air gun or air pistol must be excluded from the definition. 60 C. 1477=38 C.W.N. 84=1934 C. 368=32 P. R. (1918) Cr.=20 Cr. L. J. 11=48 I.C. 486; 1 Weir 654. The word "arms" except so far as the definition expressly include other weapons must be understood to mean weapons of offence, suitable for use in warfare. L.B.R. (1893-1900) 416. The Government can exclude any weapon from the operation of the Act but cannot notify that a particular weapon is an arm within the meaning of the Act. Ibid. Whether or not any particular instrument is included in the expression "arms" must necessarily depend on the circumstances of each case. Whatever can be used as an instrument of attack or defence and is not an ordinary implement for domestic purposes, falls within the purview of the Act. 2 L. 291=64 I.C. 847=23 Cr.L.J. 63; 32 P.R. 1918 Cr.=20 Cr.L.J. 11=48 I.C. 486. It is always the purpose for which an implement is primarily used which determines the question whether it does or does not fall within the definition of 'arms'. Implements or articles primarily intended for domestic or agricultural use are not arms under the Act and Takwas fall under the former category, A.I.R. 1940 Lah. 468. See also 1927 L. 162 Neither the length, breadth, nor the form of the blade of a weapon nor the handle affords any certain test of its classification as "arms". 32 P.R. 1918 Cr.=20 Cr.L.J. 11=48 I.C. 486. See also on the point 20 P.R. 1900; 1 L.B.R. 271; L.B.R. (1893-1900) 416; Ibid, 417; Ibid, 487; 11 C.W.N. 971=34 C. 749=6 Cr.L.J. 227 on the point. The mere fact that a weapon is dangerous and may cause death if used would not make it "arms" 15 Cr.L.J. 685=26 I. C. 133. The word "fire-arms" means "arms that are fired by means of gun-powder or other explosives." 42 C. 1153=16 Cr.L.J. 9=19 C.W.N. 706=26 I.C. 313. The purpose for which an implement is primarily intended regulates whether it would, in ordinary parlance, be spoken of as an arm,

"cannon" includes also all howitzers, mortars, wall-pieces, mitrailleuses and other ordnance and machine-guns, all parts of the same, and all carriages, platforms and appliances for mounting, transporting and serving the same:

"arms" includes fire-arms, bayonets, swords, daggers, spears, spearheads and bows and arrows, also cannon and parts of arms, and machinery for manufacturing arms:

"ammunition" includes also all articles specially designed for torpedo service and submarine mining, rockets, gun-cotton, dynamite, lithofracteur and other explosive or fulminating material, gun-flint, gun-wards, percussion-caps, fuses and friction-tubes, all parts of ammunition and all machinery for manufacturing ammunition, but does not include lead, sulphur or saltpetre:

and if it is not designed for use as a weapon of offence and defence, although it may be used as such, then it is not an "arm." 1 L.B.R. 271; 28 Cr.L.J. 199=99 I.C. 935=1927 L. 162. See also 5 R. 710=29 Cr.L.J. 115=1928 R. 49; 23 Cr.L.J. 594=68 I.C. 318=1923 R. 23.

PARTS OF FIRE-ARMS.—When stray pieces of metal can be held to be parts of fire arms, see 1942 A. M.L.J. 34.

UNSERVICEABLE FIRE ARM.—A fire arm even though it is unserviceable if it could be repaired and used is a fire arm, the possession of which without license is an offence. 1943 Mad. 661=(1943) 2 M.L.J. 283.

I. WHAT ARE ARMS—CHHAVIES.—The word "arms" includes parts of arms and, therefore, chhavies may be "arms" within the meaning of the Act. 20 P.R. 1900 Cr.; 33 P.L.R. 1901; 10 P.L.R. 1919; 20 Cr.L.J. 577=52 I.C. 103. Everything is a chhavi, which has a large axe-like blade, curved or otherwise with an arrangement of ring or rings for binding it to the handle and a handle of considerable length. 33 P.L.R. 1914=15 Cr.L.J. 506=24 I.C. 594. As to Takwas, see A.I.R. 1940 Lah. 468.

SWORD-STICK.—A sword-stick is a sword sheathed in a cane stick and comes within the definition of arms. 11 C.W.N. 971=34 C. 749=6 Cr.L.J. 227.

LATHI.—An instrument consisting of two separate pieces, namely, a lathi 6 ft. 3 ins. long at one end of which a hollow screw and an axe-like blade 5 ins. by 4½ ins. having a screw to allow of its being fixed into the long lathi was held to be an arm within the meaning of sec. 19 (f), as no instrument like that is ever used for domestic or agricultural purposes. 9 L. 137=29 Cr.L.J. 961=1928 L. 295; 33 P.L.R. 1914; 16 P.R. 1900 Cr. and 32 P.R. (Cr.) 1918.

BATTLE-AXE.—A battle-axe is an arm. 1 Weir 654.

CLASP-KNIFE.—Clasp knives are not arms within the Act. 15 Cr.L.J. 585=25 I.C. 337; L.B.R. (1893-1900) 417, 487; 1 L.B.R. 274. But a clasp knife which has a blade 5½ inches long with a pointed end and is fitted to a long handle and turns over into the handle falls within the meaning of the word "arms." 5 R. 710=29 Cr.L.J. 115=1928 R. 49. So also a hunting knife sharpened on one side only. 51 I.C. 573=25 Cr.L.J. 1119=1924 Cal. 714.

GUN-BARREL.—A gun-barrel, so long as it can be used as a gun-barrel, is an arm within the definition of the Arms Act, sec. 4, because it is a part of a fire-arm. But it is not a "fire-arm" within the meaning of sec. 14 of the Act, nor is it one of the other articles mentioned in the section, 12 C.P.L.R. Cr. 10. But see 3 N.L.R.

A gun minus a percussion cap is an "arm" within the definition of the Act. I.L.R. 1937 N. 488=38 Cr.L.J. 639=1937 N. 213. The possession of a gun-barrel and nipple without a licence, in serviceable condition, is an offence under sec. 19 (f). 7 M. 70=1 Weir 658. See also 12 C.P.L.R. 8 Cr. =3 N.L.R. 53.

REVOLVER OUT OF REPAIR.—A revolver, even if it is out of repair, is nonetheless an arm, and a person in possession of such a weapon, without a licence, is guilty of an offence under sec. 19. 6 P.R. 1908 Cr.=7 Cr.L.J. 350. See also (1943) 2 M.L.J. 283. A revolver, the trigger of which is out of order, is a fire-arm within the meaning of the Arms Act. In such cases, the question is not so much whether the particular weapon is serviceable as a fire-arm, but whether it has lost its specific character and has so ceased to be a fire-arm. Whether in any particular case, the instrument is a fire-arm or not is a question of fact to be determined according to the circumstances of the case. 21 M. 360=1 Weir 659 (F.B.). See also 6 P.R. 1908 Cr.; 1 Sind L.R. 18. Where the accused was found to be in illegal possession of a revolver "in loose parts" without a license and it appeared that the parts were in a rusty condition but they could be used if cleaned and oiled, held, that the articles possessed by the accused were "arms" and he was liable to be convicted under sec. 19 (f). 37 C.W.N. 234=34 Cr.L.J. 916=1933 Cal. 495.

SWORD HILT.—The expression "arms" includes "parts of arms." Sword hilts are, therefore "arms". 38 P.R. 1889 Cr. As to sword-stick, see 34 C. 749. Bolts and bars of rifles are arms. 25 Cr.L.J. 539 =77 I.C. 1003 =1923 L. 761.

II. WHAT ARE NOT ARMS: COOK'S KNIFE.—The purpose for which an implement is primarily intended regulates whether it should be considered an arm or not. A cook's knife is not an arm. 5 L.B.R. 130.

AIR-GUN.—Air guns which are not adopted for use with explosive substances and which have been classed as toys by the Government for the purposes of the Tariff Act are toys and do not come under the definition of arms. 4 Cr. L.J. 239.

UNSERVICEABLE FIRE-ARMS.—In including parts of arms in the meaning of arms the Legislature intended to provide against the importation and retention of arms in parts which might be put together any moment and used as fire-arms. A fire-arm, which is defective and otherwise unserviceable, is not within the meaning of the Act. There fore possession of a gun rendered unserviceable by the loss of the trigger is not an

"military stores," in any section of this Act as applied to any part of British India, means any military stores to which the Central Government may from time to time, by notification in the Official Gazette, specially extend such section in such part, and includes also all lead, sulphur, saltpetre and other material to which the Central Government may from time to time so extend such section :

"license" means a license granted under this Act, and "licensed" means holding such license.

II.—Manufacture, Conversion and Sale.

5. No person shall manufacture, convert or sell, or keep, offer or expose for sale, any arms, ammunition or military stores, except under a license and in the manner and to the extent permitted thereby.

Unlicensed manufacture, conversion and sale prohibited.

DAH.—Not arms. L.B.R. (1893-1900) 416. The true criterion is not whether any given Dah is an "upyat", but what was the intention of the maker as regards its purpose. 68 I.C. 818; 11 L.B.R. 340=23 Cr.L.J. 594=1923 Rang. 23 (1).

SPEARS.—It is always a question of fact whether the article for the possession of which a charge under the Act is made comes within the definition of 'arms' or not. A spear which has the appearance of a spear, and which can be used as a spear, does not cease to be so merely because it is electroplated or is called something else such as Nishan Sahib or is used for a religious purpose. The fact that an article which comes within the definition of "arms" in the Arms Act is used for religious purposes does not relieve the person in possession of such an arm from the operation of the Act. I.L.R. (1941) Lah. 789=196 I.C. 766=A.I.R. 1941 Lah. 340.

SPEAR-HEAD.—As the word 'spear' is used in sec. 4 in contradistinction to spear-head, a spear cannot be held to include spear-head. 167 I.C. 935=1937 A.L.J. 41=1937 All. 228.

AMMUNITION.—The word 'ammunition' includes only such explosive or fulminating material as could be used for any military purpose or in particular for fire-arms or torpedoes or war-rockets, etc. Patakhas which are quite useless for such purposes, are not ammunition within the meaning of the Act and a conviction under sec. 19 (j) is not sustainable for possessing the same without licence. 53 All. 226=32 Cr.L.J. 564=1931 A. 17. See also 8 M. 202; 1 Weir 664. Though possession of fire works is no offence, possession of gunpowder without licence is an offence even if it is for the innocent purpose of making fire-works as gun powder is capable of being used for purposes of warfare. 1 Weir 655; 8 M. 202; 1 Weir 664. Bullets made of lead are not excluded from the terms of the Arms Act. A piece of lead in the shape of a bullet or in the shape of shot is certainly ammunition or a part of ammunition. Lead as such which is not in such a shape is excluded from the meaning of the term, although lead can be made up into cartridges. 37 Cr.L.J. 727=1936 A.L.J. 657=1936 A. 292.

AMMUNITION—EMPTY CARTRIDGE CASE.—Empty cartridge case is ammunition as defined by sec. 4 the possession of which is an offence. 7 A.L.J. 102=4 I.C. 405=10 Cr.L.J. 573; 21 A.L.J. 879=26 A. 107=1924 A. 215; 32 A. 152; 1936 A.L.J. 657=162 I.C. 912=37 Cr.L.J. 727. The expression "all parts of ammunition" as used in sec. 4 of the Arms Act includes empty cartridge cases. 7 B. L.R. 474=2 Cr.L.J. 449. But see 47 A. 629=1925 A. 498 and 1926 A. 255, cited under sec. 14 holding that they are not ammunition unless they are capable of being re-loaded in India. See also 20 P.R. 1890 Cr.

FIRE-WORKS—ROCKETS.—The manufacture or possession of fire-works, including rockets which are mere fire-works, does not come within the prohibition of sec. 5. The rockets referred to in sec. 4 under the definition "ammunition" are war-rockets. 5 M. 159=1 Weir, 655. D. 8 M. 202).

SEC. 5. N.B.—See also notes under sec. 4, supra and sec. 19, infra.

REPAIRER OF ARMS.—A repairer of arms is not within the purview of secs. 5 and 19 (a). 1 Weir 656. In this Act, the word "repair" appears neither in the provision prescribing a licence nor in the provision prescribing a penalty, the word "convert" being used in substitution therefor. The term "manufacture" cannot be construed to include "repair." 1 Weir 653.

SALE OF GUN USED FOR PRIVATE PURPOSE AFTER NOTICE, BUT BEFORE PERMISSION.—The sale of a gun, used for one's private purpose, after giving notice to the Magistrate, but before the receipt of his permission, is not an offence under sec. 19 (b). 1 Weir. 657.

LICENCE FOR MATCH-LOCK CONVERTING IT INTO PERCUSSION GUN.—There is no distinction drawn in the Act between the various kinds of explosive fire-arms; and, if reference is had to Sch. II, it will be seen that a distinction is there drawn, not between the different kinds of gun, as for example, a rifle and a smooth-bore, but between fire-arms and fire-arm barrels and pistols and pistol-barrels. 10 M. 131=1 Weir 665. Where a person was charged with possessing a percussion-gun while his licence covered only a match-lock and the defence was that, for convenience sake, he had the original gun altered from match-lock to a percussion-gun after he obtained licence, held that the accused could not be convicted under sec. 19 of the Act. Ibid.

MANUFACTURE OF KIRPANS—EXEMPTION.—

Nothing herein contained shall prevent any person from selling any arms or ammunition which he lawfully possesses for his own private use to any person who is not by any enactment for the time being in force prohibited from possessing the same; but every person so selling arms or ammunition to any person other than a person entitled to possess the same by reason of an exemption under section 27 of this Act shall, without unnecessary delay, give to the Magistrate of the district, or to the officer in charge of the nearest police-station, notice of the sale and of the purchaser's name and address.

III.—Import, Export and Transport.

Unlicensed importation and exportation prohibited. Importation and exportation of arms and ammunition for private use.

6. No person shall bring or take by sea or by land into or out of British India any arms, ammunition or military stores except under a license and in the manner and to the extent permitted by such license.

Nothing in the first clause of this section extends to arms (other than cannon) or ammunition imported or exported in reasonable quantities for his own private use by any person lawfully entitled to possess such arms or ammunition; but the Collector of Customs or any other officer empowered by the [Central Government]¹ in this behalf by name or in virtue of his office may at any time detain such arms or ammunition until he receives the orders of the [Central Government]¹ thereon.

Explanation.—Arms, ammunition and military stores taken from one part of British India to another by sea or across intervening territory not being part of British India, are taken out of and brought into British India within the meaning of this section.

Sanction of [Central Government] required to warehousing of arms, etc.

7. Notwithstanding anything contained in the Sea Customs Act, 1878, no arms, ammunition or military stores shall be deposited in any warehouse licensed under section 16 of that Act without the sanction of the [Central Government]¹.

8. [Levy of duties on arms, etc., imported by sea.] Rep. by the Amending Act, 1891 (XII of 1891).

9. [Power to impose duty on import by land.] Rep. by the Amending Act, 1891 (XII of 1891).

Power to prohibit transport.

10. The Central Government may, from time to time, by notification in the Official Gazette—

(a) regulate or prohibit the transport of any description of arms, ammunition or military stores over the whole of British India or any part thereof, either altogether or except under a license and to the extent in the manner permitted by such license, and

(b) cancel any such notification.

Explanation.—Arms, ammunition or military stores transhipped at a port in British India are transported within the meaning of this section.

11. The [Central Government]¹, [* * * *]²,

Power to establish searching stations.

may at any places along the boundary-line between British India and foreign territory, and at such distance within such line as it deems expedient, establish searching posts at which all vessels, carts and baggage-animals, and all boxes, bales and packages in transit, may be stopped and searched for arms, ammunition and military stores by any officer empowered by [the Central Government]¹ in this behalf by name or in virtue of his office.

12. When any person is found carrying or conveying any arms, ammunition or military stores, whether covered by a license or not, in such manner or under such circumstances as to afford just grounds of suspicion that the same are being carried by him with intent to use them, or that the same may be used, for any unlawful purpose, any person may without warrant apprehend him and take such arms, ammunition or military stores from him.

Arrest of persons conveying arms, etc., under suspicious circumstances.

Any person so apprehended, and any arms, ammunition or military stores so taken by a person not being a Magistrate or Police-officer, shall be delivered over as soon as possible to a Police-officer.

Procedure where arrest made by person not Magistrate or Police-officer.

All persons apprehended by, or delivered to, a Police-officer, and all arms and ammunition seized by or delivered to any such officer under this section, shall be taken without unnecessary delay before a Magistrate.

IV.—Going armed and possessing Arms, etc.

13. No person shall go armed with any arms except under a license and to the extent and in the manner permitted thereby.

Prohibition of going armed without license.

Any person so going armed without a license or in contravention of its provisions may be disarmed by any Magistrate, Police-officer or other person² empowered by the [Central Government]³ in this behalf by name or by virtue of his office.

14. No person shall have in his possession or under his control any cannon or fire-arms, or any ammunition or military stores, except under a license and in the manner and to the extent permitted thereby.

Unlicensed possession of fire-arms, etc.

SCOPE OF SECTIONS 13 AND 14.—Section 13 prohibits an unlicensed person from going armed with any kind of arms, that is to say, a person going armed with either a knife or a revolver comes within the provisions of the section. But with regard to fire-arms, a further offence may be committed, namely of having them in possession or under control, without a licence. Sec. 14 covers this offence, and if this offence is committed with the intention referred to in sec. 20, then a heavier punishment may be inflicted than for the simple offence under sec. 14, the penalty for which is provided in sec. 19 (f). To be in possession or control of arms other than those mentioned in sec. 14 is not an offence, though it is an offence to go armed with them, as provided in sec. 13. 146 I.C. 645=1933 Cal. 692.

MEANING OF WORDS.—“Going armed” term “going armed” in sec. 13, means “carrying arms” 1 Weir. 663. The phrase is not to be restricted to carrying or bearing arms in the manner usual for the particular weapon in view, L.B.R. (1892-1900), 284. A person who appears in a public place or issues from his own property or abode, having about his person a weapon of the sort described in sec. 4, and not covered by a licence, goes armed, L.B.R. (1893-1900), 284. Taking of a blunt spear capable of being sharpened to parade ground for gymnastic purposes amounts to going armed within the meaning of the section. 31 Cr.L.J. 1109=32 Bom. L.R. 571=1930 Bom. 174.

“Going armed in contravention of Sec. 13”—In the case the accused was found in another man’s house wearing dagger. He did not allege that the dagger was not his or that he had not brought it to the house. On the contrary, he specified the purpose for which the dagger was used. Held that under the above circumstances the accused had committed the offence of “going armed with dagger”. U.B.R. (1897-1901), Vol. I, 4. As to what are ‘arms’ see notes under sec. 4 supra.

POSSESSION OF FIRE-ARMS AFTER THE EXPIRY OF LICENCE.—The word “extent” in sec. 14 cannot be limited to mean territorial extent. Possession of arms of which licence has not been renewed is punishable under sec. 19 (f) read with sec. 14. 60 C. 445=34 Cr.L.J. 363=37 C.W.N. 93=1933 C. 218.

“POSSESSION”—MASTER, AND SERVANT.—A servant using a gun belonging to his master would no doubt have the weapon under his control, so long as the use continued, but the weapon would remain in the master’s possession. Throughout the Act, the word “possession” must be taken to mean something different from mere “control”. 4 N.L.R. 78=8 Cr.L.J. 18. A person licensed to carry a gun, lent one of his servants his gun to shoot game with it. Held, that the servant should not be convicted for carrying a gun without a licence and that the gun should not be confiscated. A.W.N. (1881) 7 [R. 22 A. 118]; 17 A.L.J. 758=20 Cr.L.J. 432 =51 I. C. 208; 14 B.L.R. 501=13 Cr.L.J. 525 =15 I.C. 797. It must constantly happen that sportsmen on their way to and from the field hand over their guns to their servants to avoid unnecessary fatigue to themselves, and by doing so it does not appear that the servants should be considered as going armed when they have no control over the use of the gun so far as intended, and are simply bearers of the gun as a load. If the gun were taken to pieces before being handed to the servant, it would be difficult to hold that he could be armed with it; and the moral restriction of the servant’s duty to make no use of the gun seems in effect to make the same difficulty when the gun is left complete. U.B.R. (1897-1901), Vol. I, 1 (15 A. 27, R.). See also 27 P.R. 1885 (Cr.).

LICENCE TO CARRY ARMS COVERING ONE RETAINER.—A licence to carry arms including a retainer authorises any retainer to carry the arms specified in the licence with the permission of his master. The licence should not be so construed as to restrict the retainer to carry the arms only in the presence of the master. 20 C. 444. See also cases cited under Sec. 19, cl. (b) the point.

UNLICENSED POSSESSION OF FIRE-ARMS.—The notification of Government of India exempts all soldiers in the service of Her Majesty from the operation of certain provisions of Secs. 13 to 16 of the Arms Act. The term “soldiers” includes reservists. A reservist found in possession of double-barrelled gun without a licence was not guilty under sec. 19. 1 P.R. 1902 (Cr.).

LICENCE TO GO ARMED FOR SPECIAL PURPOSE.—Where a licence to go armed is granted for protection only, the licensee cannot use it for sport or display. 1 Weir. 663.

ORDER APPOINTING AN OFFICER AS COMMISSIONED OFFICER WITH RETROSPECTIVE EFFECT.—The petitioner, who was promoted from the rank of Havildar to the rank of Jamadar on 30th August, with retrospective effect from the 1st June was held to be a commissioner officer from the 1st June, and therefore was held to fall within one of the classes exempted by the Government of India from the operation of the prohibitions contained in secs. 14 and 15 of the Act. 27 P.R. 1885 (Cr.). A gun minus a percussion cap being an ‘arm’ within the definition in the Act, a person who goes about with it ‘goes armed’ within the meaning of sec. 13. 1 L.R. 1937 N. 488=38 Cr.L.J. 639=1937 N. 213. The unserviceable remains of a gun could not be fairly described as a ‘fire-arm’ within the meaning of sec. 14 and do not require to be protected by a licence. 12 C.P.L.R. Cr. 8 (6 M. 60 and 7 M. 70, R.).

POSSESSION OF FIRE-ARMS NOT COVERED BY LICENCE.—Where a licence granted relates to a full-sized gun, the person holding such a licence cannot keep a half-barrel gun under it. 29 Cr.L.J. 472=109 I.C. 120=1928 L. 759.

DALWES—SPEARS—FORKS—POSSESSION OF.—Dalwes, spears, and forks do not come within the term “military stores” and the mere possession of such weapons is not a punishable offence. But going armed with swords or spears without a licence is punishable under sec. 13. U.B.R. (1892-1896), Vol. I, 1. As to possession of arms without licence, see 9 B.L.R. Ap. 34; 18 W.R. (Cr.) 1; 18 W.R. (Cr.) 26; 119 P.R. 1866 (Cr.); 9 B. 478. As to unlicensed possession of saltpetre, see 25 P.R. 1869.

POSSESSION OF BAYONETS.—The possession of bayonets without a licence is not an offence punishable under the Arms Act except in districts proclaimed under sec. 15 of that Act. L.B.R. (1872-1892), 426.

POSSESSION OF EMPTY CARTRIDGES.—While the police were searching accused’s house, for stolen property (which was not present) they discovered in a locked box two empty brass 405 used cartridge cases, which were incapable of being re-loaded in India. Held, that accused was not guilty. 47 A. 629=26 Cr.L.J. 1039=1925 A. 498. To support a conviction for possession of empty cartridges it should be proved that the cartridges can be re-loaded in India and used as ammunition by the persons with whom they are found. If this is not found the cartridges are not ammunition and so no prosecution can be made on their basis. 24 A.L.J. 208=27 Cr.L.J. 136=1926 A. 255.

POSSESSION OF ARMS FOR PURPOSE OF REPAIR.—From the provisions of the U.P.R. Arms Rules and Orders (1924) it is perfectly clear that a

¹[16. (1) Any person possessing arms, ammunition or military stores the possession whereof has, in consequence of the cancellation or expiry of a license or of an exemption or by the issue of a notification under section 15 or otherwise, become unlawful, shall without unnecessary delay deposit the same either with the officer in charge of the nearest police-station, or, at his option and subject to such conditions as the [Central Government]² may by rule prescribe, with a licensed dealer.

In certain cases arms to be deposited at police stations or with licensed dealers.

(2) When arms, ammunition or military stores have been deposited under sub-section (1) or, before the first day of January, 1920, under the provisions of any law for the time being in force, the depositor shall, at any time before the expiry of such period as the ²[Central Government] may by rule prescribe, be entitled—

(a) to receive back any thing so deposited the possession of which by him has become lawful; and

(b) to dispose, or authorize the disposal, of any thing so deposited by sale or otherwise to any person whose possession of the same would be lawful; and to receive the proceeds of any such sale:

Provided that nothing in this sub-section shall be deemed to authorize person who repairs arms and is in possession of guns made over to him for repairs cannot be convicted of an offence of being in possession of arms without licence. Once it is found that a person was in possession of arms for bona fide purpose of repairing them the length of time during which his possession thereof is justified depends upon the circumstances of each case. 30 Cr.L.J. 984=1930 A.L.J. 201=1929 A. 720 See also under sec. 5.

BEING IN POSSESSION OF ARMS WITHOUT LICENCE.—SANCTION OF COLLECTOR TO PROSECUTE.—In order to prosecute a person for being in possession of guns without licence, the Collector's sanction for the prosecution should be obtained under sec. 28. 5 M. 26=1 Weir. 662. On this point, see also notes under sec. 19 infra.

FAILURE TO PRODUCE LICENCE.—The provisions of sec. 13 which prohibits any person from going armed except under licence, cannot be held to mean that the licensee is bound to take his licence with him whenever he goes armed. 1 Weir. 661. The law does not require nor the licence provide, that a licence to carry arms shall always be on the person of the bearer of arms. 20 C. 444. If on being required to show his licence, the bearer of arms is prepared to produce it, on being given a reasonable opportunity to get it, and such licence exists, he should not be prosecuted. 20 C. 444. The production of the licence at trial is a sufficient answer to the charge of infringing the Act. 20 C. 444; 3 C.W.N. 394. See also 64 I.C. 275=22 Cr.L.J. 755 in which 20 C. 444 was followed.

FAILURE TO DEPOSIT ARMS (SPEARS).—There is no provision in sec. 14 requiring a person to deposit a spear. Where there is no other basis for conviction, it is illegal. 2 L.W. 532=16 Cr.L.J. 528=29 I.C. 544.

EXEMPTION—PRIVILEGE.—A person who is exempted from the operation of the Act can send a servant armed with his gun to shoot for him. 18 Cr.L.J. 297=38 I.C. 329. Any licence or exemption not granted under the Act or Rules should be invalid and would give no protection to the accused. 1932 R. 180.

EXEMPTION OF KIRPANS.—The exemption in Sch. II of the Rules only applies to Kirpans actually in existence and possessed or carried by Sikhs and not to the manufacture of Kirpans by Sikhs. A sikh is not prevented from dealing with a Kirpan which he possesses in any way he likes, 3 L. 437=1923 L. 267.

SEARCH.—The knowledge of the existence of fire-arms found in a hut on search should not, without further evidence, be imported to any other than the occupier of the hut nor would that presumption operate even against him if it could be proved that it was possible, the arms might be there without his knowing it. 41 C. 350=18 C.W.N. 498=15 Cr.L.J. 385=23 I.C. 985. Sentence—Conspiracy to possess arms in contravention of—Sentence of transportation—If can be awarded. See 39 C.W.N. 334 (F.B.).

SECS 14 AND 19.—The possession of a gun by a person after the expiry of his licence and before its renewal is in contravention of S. 14 and is an offence punishable under S. 19 (f) of the Act. Note 11 appended to the conditions printed on the license granted in Form XVI, which prescribes the fees payable if the license is renewed within one month of the date on which it expired and those payable after one month from that date, merely provides a period of grace during which the application for renewal may be made and the fees payable thereon deposited. It does not lay down that the quondam license-holder is entitled, as of right to have the license renewed on payment of the fee mentioned. 44 P.L.R. 486=A.I.R. 1942 Lah. 300=I.L.R. (1943) Lah. 756.

the return or disposal of any thing the confiscation of which has been directed under section 24.

(3) All things deposited as aforesaid and not returned or disposed of under sub-section (2) within the prescribed period therein referred to shall be forfeited to His Majesty.

(4) (a) The [Central Government]¹ may make rules consistent with this Act for carrying into effect the provisions of this section.

(b) In particular and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing provision, the [Central Government]¹ may by rule prescribe—

(i) the conditions subject to which arms, ammunition and military stores may be deposited with a licensed dealer, and

(ii) the period after the expiry of which things deposited as aforesaid shall be forfeited under sub-section (3).]

V.—Licenses.

17. The Central Government may from time to time, by notification in the Official Gazette, make rules to determine the officers by whom the form in which, and the terms and conditions² on and subject to which, any license shall be granted; and may by such rules among other matters—

(a) fix the period for which such license shall continue in force;

(b) fix a fee payable by stamp or otherwise in respect of any such license granted in a place to which section 32, clause 2, of Act XXXI of 1860³ applies at the time this Act comes into force or in respect of any such license other than a license for 'possession granted in any other place';

(c) direct that the holder of any such license other than a license for possession shall keep a record or account, in such form as the [Central Government] may prescribe, of anything done under such license, and exhibit such record or account when called upon by an officer of Government to do so;

(d) empower any officer of Government to enter and inspect any premises in which arms, ammunition or military stores are manufactured or kept by any person holding a license of the description referred to in section 5 or section 6;

(e) direct that any such person shall exhibit the entire stock of arms, ammunition and military stores in his possession or under his control to any officer of Government so empowered; and

(f) require the person holding any license or acting under any license to produce the same, and to produce or account for the arms, ammunition or military stores covered by the same when called upon by an officer of Government so to do.

Cancelling and suspension of license. 18. Any license may be cancelled or suspended—

(a) by the officer by whom the same was granted, or by any authority to which he may be subordinate, or by any Magistrate of a district, or Commissioner of Police in a presidency-town, within the local limits of whose jurisdiction the

NOTES.

SEC. 17: LICENCE TO KILL WILD BEASTS—KILLING WILD BEAST FOR SPORT WITHOUT SPORTING LICENCE.—Persons who are granted licence to carry arms, under Form XI, R. 16, of the Act, to kill bisons which are notoriously in the habit of injuring crops, will be justified in going armed for the purposes of sport and no separate licence under Form VIII, R. 13, is necessary. 5 M. 26=1, Weir. 662. The U. P. Arms Rules and Orders (1924) make it clear that possession of arms for purpose of repair is not an offence. 30 Cr.L.J. 984=119 I.C. 13=1929 A. 720. District Magistrate in granting licence is not a Court. 4 N.L.R. 134. Schedule VII does not provide for the exemption of any person from the necessity of a licence. It simply describes the persons who are exempt from payment of fee chargeable for a licence in Form No. 16 in respect of certain arms. The most that a person falling within item (c), Sch. VII of the Rules of 1924, viz., a member of the Indian Defence Force with a long service medal, is entitled to, is a paper declaring that the holder was entitled to a licence without payment. He is not entitled to a life certificate of exemption from the necessity of a licence. 34 Cr. L.J. 112=1932 R. 180.

holder of such license may be, when, for reasons to be recorded in writing such officer, authority, Magistrate or Commissioner deems it necessary for the security of the public peace to cancel or suspend such license; or

(b) by any Judge or Magistrate before whom the holder of such license is convicted of an offence against this Act, or against the rules made under this Act; and the ¹[Central Government] may ²[* *] by notification in the Official Gazette cancel or suspend all or any licenses throughout the whole or any portion of ³[British India].

SEC. 19: GENERAL.—N. B. See also notes under secs. 4, 5, 13, 14, 15 and 20. Offences under this section are bailable. See Cr. P. Code, 1898, Sch. II.

SALTPETRE IN KANDESH DISTRICT.—As the Government of India has not, by any notification extended sec. 19 to saltpetre in the Khandesh District, a person cannot be convicted under sec. 19 for keeping saltpetre without a licence. Rat. 227=Cr. Rg. 1 of 1886.

EXTENSION OF TIME BEFORE RENEWAL OF LICENCE, EFFECT OF.—An order extending the time for renewal of a licence has the effect of keeping a licence previously granted practically in force. 3 C.W.N. 394.

TRIAL.—An offence under sec. 19 is not triable summarily. 1 Weir. 654.

SENTENCE.—Under this section, a Magistrate on finding the accused guilty is bound to pass some sentence, though, of course, it is open to him to pass a nominal sentence. 1 Weir 654. Solitary confinement cannot be awarded for offences under the Act. 25 Cr.L.J. 120=1924 L. 667.

BURDEN OF PROOF.—The notification of 11th May, 1917, permits Sikhs, to carry Kirpan with impunity; and where an accused claims the benefit of an exception to the broad rule of law, he must establish that he comes within the exception. Though a Kirpan means sword, every sword cannot come within the meaning of the word. 23 Cr.L.J. 78=65 I.C. 430=1922 L. 141. See also 32 Bom.L.R. 106=1930 B. 155.

IRREGULARITY IN PROCEDURE.—Where the head constable made a false report that a dacoity had been committed and he had arrested some dacoits and after a delay of three days, as he said, recovered the arms from the petitioner, not in the presence of witnesses, who signed the list but who distinctly recorded that the arms were produced before them by the constable, held, the petitioner was not guilty. 1923 L. 466.

CLAUSE (a).—An offence under sec. 19 (a)

is committed only if the weapon is actually delivered to a person who has not got a licence. Mere negotiations for sale to a person who has no licence is not in itself an offence. 60 C. 445=37 C.W.N. 93=1933 C. 218. A dagger was found in a room in a house. The room and the house were jointly occupied by a father and his adult son. There was no evidence to show that either of them was aware of its existence. Held, that neither of them could be convicted of an offence under sec. 19. 52 P.R. 1905 Cr.=3 Cr.L.J. 71. When it is not shown that the accused had exclusive possession of the room in which arms are found, or that arms were placed there by him, or belonged to him, or that he knew they were there, the accused cannot be convicted of the offence under sec. 19. 75 P.L.R. 1901. (25 P.R. 1883.) See also 41 C. 350=15 Cr.L.J. 385. Where the accused, who had a licence under the Explosives Act to manufacture and sell gunpowder and fire-works on certain premises, manufactured fire-works at a different place, held, that the accused could not be convicted under the Arms Act. 1 Weir. 656. Clasp knives are not arms within the Act and a sale of them is not punishable under sec. 19 (a). 15 Cr.L.J. 585=25 I.C. 337. Sikh found in possession of kirpans of the length varying from nine to ten inches is not guilty of the offence under sec. 19 as such kirpans are not swords. 32 B.L.R. 106=125 I.C. 435=31 Cr.L.J. 847=1930 B. 153. In Punjab, Sikhs are exempt in virtue of Schedule II, 3 (6) from prosecution under sec. 19 (f) for possessing a sword or kirpan. 26 Cr.L.J. 661=5 L. 308=1924 L. 600. But manufacture of kirpans by Sikhs is prohibited by sec. 15 and is not covered by the exemption in Sch. II of the Rules which applies to kirpans actually in existence and possessed or carried by Sikhs. 3 L. 437=25 Cr.L.J. 342=1923 L. 267.

POSSESSION OF GUN-POWDER WITHOUT LICENCE.—The term "ammunition" is defined by the Act, as meaning, among other things, any explosive material. The intention of the Act was to deal with an explosive material capable of being used for purposes of warfare. 8 M. 202=1 Weir. 664. Therefore, a person, in possession of a quantity of gun-powder without licence is liable to be convicted under sec. 19, although he may intend to employ the powder in the manufacture of fire-works or other harmless purposes. 8 M. 202=1 Weir 664 (5 M. 159.) The mere possession or sale of fire-works,

- (b) fails to give notice as required by the same section ;
 (c) imports or exports any arms, ammunition or military stores in contravention of the provisions of section 6 ;
 (d) transports any arms, ammunition or military stores in contravention of a regulation or prohibition issued under section 10 ;
 (e) goes armed in contravention of the provisions of section 13 ;

without a licence, is no offence under the Arms Act. But the possession of gun-powder without a licence, even though for the innocent purpose of making fire-works, is an offence.

1 Weir. 653. There is nothing in the Act or the rules, which renders a sale of sulphur and ammunition by the agent of a licence-holder illegal.

12 M. 473=1 Weir. 655. As to possession of unserviceable fire arms, see 1943 Mad. 661= (1943) 2 M.L.J. 283.

CL. (d).—Where a person orders a gun from a dealer in Bombay ostensibly for an intending purchaser but in fact upon his own account, the act does not amount to offence of transporting without licence under sec. 19 (d). Under R. 24 Arms Rules, it is for the consignor and not for the consignee to apply for and obtain licence and when the transporting is done by dealer in Bombay, it is fully covered by the licence. Conviction under sec. 19 (d) cannot in such a case be sustained. It is sufficient that the person ordering the gun should under R. 22 hold a licence to possess the gun and if he is found without one he is liable to prosecution, on receipt of the weapon for possessing it without licence. 52 M. 999=1929 M. 864=57 M.L.J. 520. It is for the prosecution to prove definitely that the number of cartridges in the actual possession of the accused on any particular date exceeded the number covered by his licence. 141 I.C. 263=34 Cr.L.J. 190=1933 L. 166.

CLAUSE (e)—OFFENCE UNDER THE CLAUSE, WHETHER TRIABLE BY THE SECOND-CLASS MAGISTRATE.—No Magistrate of the second-class has the power to try an offence under sec. 19 (e). 1 Weir. 660.

GOING ARMED.—The offence of going armed with fire-arm is considerably more narrow than the offence of being in possession merely of fire-arms. The expression "going armed" clearly indicates two things, namely, firstly an intention to use it as a fire-arm and secondly the possibility of using it. 48 M.L.J. 502=26 Cr.L. L. 1028=1925 Mad. 585. Thus, simply possessing arms without licence and without an intention to use them is no offence under s. 19 (e). 37 B. 181=14 Bom.L.R. 964=13 Cr.L.J. 860. But the Sind Court has held that a person who carries about a gun without any ammunition can be said to go "armed" holding the view that to define "armed" as meaning "one who is equipped with an arm capable of immediate use as an arm" would be contrary to the vernacular meaning of the word "armed" and would also be not safe. 77 I.C. 736=25 Cr.L.J. 448=1925 Sind 177. But see contra 1 Weir. 661 and 1 Weir 662 cited infra under cl. (f).

The term does not include taking arm for the purpose of repair. A.W.N. 1891, 208. See also. 15 A. 27; 16 A. 276; 24 A. 454. If a person carries a gun not in his hand but tied to his bi-cycle in the manner of a piece of luggage, he must be said to be "going armed" within the meaning of S. 19 (e) of the Arms Act and is liable to conviction. 22 P.L.T. 570=1941 P.W.N. 423=A.I.R. 1941 Pat. 284.

The mere temporary possession, without a licence, of arms for purposes other than their use as such, is not an offence within the meaning of sec. 19. The above principle is not confined to the case of a servant carrying his master's gun, but applies also to a friend performing the same office to a friend. The essence of the offence is the going armed, i.e., carrying a weapon with the intention of using it as a weapon, when the necessity or opportunity arises. 24 A. 454. See also. 6 P.R. 1908 Cr.=7 Cr.L.J. 350; 4 N.L.R. 146; 5 L.B.R. 83. Accused who was the servant of a licence-holder was only in possession of the gun on behalf of his master who had left the place where the accused was guarding his master's money for a short time only; held that the accused should not be convicted. 146 I.C. 498=1933 Pat. 600. A servant who goes out at the request of his master with his master's gun to shoot duck for him is guilty of "going armed". 4 S.L.R. 214=12 Cr.L.J. 122=9 I.C. 720. See also 24 A. 54 and 38 I.C. 329. Sec. 19, cl. (e) does not include the word "habitually" and the words "goes armed" connote carrying a weapon with the intention of using it when the necessity arises. Even an isolated act of carrying a weapon in contravention of the licence could amount to an offence under sec. 19, cl. (e). Where an accused gets himself possessed of a sword with the intention of using it as a weapon for the purpose of attacking his opponents and uses it, while using that weapon he must have moved about and he would therefore be considered to have gone armed within the meaning of cl. (e), sec. 19. 53 B. 604=31 Bom.L.R. 536=30 Cr.L.J. 1059=1929 B. 283. The privilege conferred by the exemption referred to in Notification No. 518, dated 6th March, 1879, as amended by Notification No. 458 dated 18th March, 1898, is of a persona nature and protects only persons carrying fire-arms for their own personal use, and does not extend to the servants and retainers of the persons exempted. 14 C.P.L.R. Cr. 112. (22 A. 118, Diss.) A gun minus a percussion cap is within the definition of 'arm' in sec. 4, and a person going about with it 'goes armed,' and his conviction under sec. 19 (e) is not improper. I.L.R. 1937 Nag. 488=38 Cr.L.J. 639=1937 N. 213.

PERSON CARRYING ARMS—PRESUMPTION.—A man who is found going about with a pistol, gun, sword or other weapon must, in the absence of proof to the contrary, be presumed to be carrying it with the intention of using it, should an opportunity for using it arise, and, unless he is licensed to carry the weapon and is not exceeding the terms of his licence, he may be properly convicted under sec. 19 (e); 15 A. 27; I.L.R. 1937 N. 488=38 Cr. L.J. 639=168 I.C. 879=1937 N. 213.

OFFENCE, WHEN COMPLETE.—The offence is

(f) has in his possession or under his control any arms, ammunition or military stores in contravention of the provisions of section 14 or section 15 ;

(g) intentionally makes any false entry in a record or account which, by a rule made under section 17, clause (c), he is required to keep ;

complete the moment a person enters with the arms in his possession. No particular intention is necessary. 35 M. 596=13 Cr.L.J. 776=17 I.C. 408.

SPEAR EXEMPTED.—The carrying of a spear is not offence, because spears are exempted from the operation of secs. 13 to 16. Rat. 507. Under Rule 11-A of the notification of the Government of India, dated 6th March, 1879, spears of all kinds are, so far as regards the Presidency of Madras, excluded from the operation of any prohibition and direction contained in the Arms Act. 1 Weir. 660. The notification issued by the U. P. Local Government does not prohibit the possession of a spear-head in the District of Ghazipur. The word 'spear' used in that notification cannot be extended to spear-head in view of the language of sec. 4 of the Act. Accordingly, the possession of a spear-head in Ghazipur District cannot justify a conviction under sec. 19 (f) of the Act. 167 I.C. 935=1937 A.L.J. 41=A.I.R. 1937 A. 228. The meaning of Dahnyang in the Burmese translation of the Arms Act must be limited to the meaning of dagger. L.B.R. (1893-1900) 320. As to takwas being arms, see A.I.R. 1940 Lah. 468=42 Cr. L.J. 144.

CLAUSE (f) OFFENCE UNDER.—[See also the cases cited under secs. 14 and 15 and 52 M. 999, cited under clause (d) of this section.] The offence under S. 19 (f) is constituted by 'possession or control' of any arms, etc. The test provided by the section is not as to whom the arms belong to but whether they are in the possession or under 'control' of the person charged. It is not exclusive possession or exclusive control that is required by the section, but merely possessing or control. It is the actual physical possession and control that the Act is speaking of and not merely a 'possession' or 'control' by construction of law. The offence is the offence of physically and actually possession or controlling the arms in question. It is not a liability to be found in a merely constructive or presumed possession or control which the law might for other purposes import into the facts of the case. 190 I.C. 785=1940 A.L.J. 467=A.I.R. 1940 All. 449=I.L.R. (1940) All. 657. "Possession" for the purposes of the Arms Act is possession for use. The mere holding of a weapon by one person on behalf of the person entitled to it is not "possession" within the meaning of S. 19 (f). When a person holding a licence for a gun stays in the house of a friend and leaves the house leaving the gun in that house intending to return for it shortly afterwards, it cannot be held that the licensee is not in possession or that the friend in whose house it has been left, is in possession of it, especially when the friend has not made any use of the gun. 191 I.C. 187=42 Cr.L.J. 97. "Possession for the purposes of the Arms Act is possession for use. The mere holding of a weapon by one person on behalf of the person entitled to it is not "possession" within the meaning of S. 19 (f). When a person holding a licence for a gun stays in the house of a friend and leaves the house leaving the gun in that house intending to return for it shortly afterwards, it cannot be held that the licensee is not in possession or that the friend in whose house it has been left, is in possession of it especially when the friend has not made any use of the gun. 42 Cr.L.J. 97=1941 Pat. 209. In a case under S. 19 (f) it is the primary duty of the prosecution to prove the possession of the accused, but there may be cases in which the circumstances are such that possession of the accused can safely be presumed, otherwise it will be impossible for the prosecution to secure a conviction. Hence the words 'and control' in the section must be taken in a wider sense and to mean something more than actual possession. Where it was found that the room from which the illicit arms were recovered was in the joint exclusive possession of the two accused and that other male members of the house lived in another portion of the house, it was held that the accused must be held to have the joint control of the room and that where there was no one willing to take the responsibility the only possible presumption the Court could make was that they were in joint control. 201 I.C. 401=43 Cr.L.J. 666=A.I.R. 1942 Cudh 448=18 Luck. 253. See also 1943 Pesh. 20. Exclusive possession or control of any particular person over an incriminating article is not required under S. 19 (f), Arms Act, and S. 5, Explosive Substances Act. The possession or control might well be possession or control of two or more persons. Every case must depend upon its particular facts and the Courts must consider each case and come to a conclusion whether it is proved that the incriminating article is in the possession or under the control of any particular person or in the possession or under the control of more than one person. 1944 Lah. 339 (F.B.). In cases under S. 5, Explosive Substances Act, and S. 19, Arms Act, the onus of proving the guilt of the accused rests on the prosecution as in all other criminal charges. S. 106, Evidence Act, applies to cases similar to the two cases given in the illustrations to that section and does not affect the onus of proving the guilt of an accused. That onus rests on the prosecution and is not shifted on to the accused by reason of that section. Consequently in cases where incriminating articles are recovered from a place in the occupation or possession of more persons than one and it is not possible to fix the liability on any particular individual, it would not be legally permissible to call upon all the occupants of the place to account for the presence of the incriminating articles in their premises and in the absence of any satisfactory explanation on their part to hold all of them to be in possession or control of the same. Mere proof that an incriminating article is found in premises occupied by a number of persons does not in itself establish prima facie the guilty of any particular person or all of them jointly. 215 I.C. 161=A.I.R. 1944 Lah. 339 (F.B.). See also 1944 Lah. 64.

POSSESSION OR CONTROL. The words "possession and control" in S. 19 (f), Arms

(h) intentionally fails to exhibit anything which, by a rule made under section 17 clause (e), he is required to exhibit; or

(i) fails to deposit arms, ammunition or military stores, as required by section 14 or section 16;

Act, and S. 5, Explosive Substances Act mean something more than mere constructive or legal possession and control. Possession and control required to constitute offences under the aforesaid sections must mean conscious possession and actual control, and as under those sections mere possession of incriminating articles constitutes serious criminal offences there must be mens rea or guilty knowledge before a person can be convicted of such possession. Consequently, where incriminating articles under S. 19 (f), Arms Act, and S. 5, Explosive Substances Act, are recovered from a place in the occupation or possession of more persons than one and it is not possible to fix the liability on any particular individual, a Court is not bound to hold that the said articles were in possession or under the control of the head of the family. 215 I.C. 161 = A.I.R. 1944 Lah. 339 (F.B.). The phrase "the possession of the arms or control over the arms" referred to in Cl. (f) of sec. 19 implies actual physical possession or control of the arms or ammunition in respect of which the charge has been lodged. Where the arms were found concealed underneath a gunny cloth spread inside the bullock-cart, and the persons were found sitting inside the bullock-cart, and jumped out of it and tried to escape but were caught, held, they must alone be deemed to be in joint physical possession of these arms, which were found in the cart and liable to punishment under sec. 19 (f) and not other members of the gang. 35 Cr.L.J. 973 = 149 I.C. 533 = 1934 O. 200. See also 45 P.L.R. 421. Where an unlicensed gun, on the information of the accused, was recovered from the railway premises within the railway fencing, which place was accessible to the public, and a path was running close by, Held, that no member of the public could have ordinarily got at the gun inasmuch as it was concealed from view, whereas the accused could have access to it at opportune moments and hence in the eye of the law he must be deemed to be in possession and control of the gun. I.L.R. 1937 A. 710 = 38 Cr.L.J. 910 (2) = 1937 A. 497. Where a person is proved to have kept a gun for sometime and then made it over to another to keep for him he cannot be convicted under sec. 19, Cl. (f). 15 C.W.N. 440 = 10 I.C. 688 = 12 Cr.L.J. 197. The licensee was forbidden under the terms of his licence from taking the gun to a public assemblage; if he does so, he would be guilty of an offence under sec. 19. 24 Bom.L.R. 487 = 22 Cr.L.J. 450 = 67 I. C. 722 = 1923 B. 35. (Marriage assemblage). Where the condition of licence was that the licensee should not carry the gun to a fair, religious assemblage, or other public assemblage, without the special permission of the District Magistrate, carrying of the arm in a marriage procession would not be an offence as a marriage procession would neither come under the category of a religious procession nor of a public assemblage. 29 Cr.L.J. 575 = 109 I.C. 511 = 1928 N. 219. It is possible for a minor to be in custody and in control of arms and where he is proved to be in actual possession of arms and without a licence he can be convicted under sec. 19 (f). 40 A. 420 = 19 Cr.L.J. 447 = 44 I.C. 975. As to conspiracy to possess fire-arms coming under sec. 120-B of the Penal Code, see 31 C.W.N. 239 = 28 Cr. L. J. 241 = 1937 C. 265; see also 39 C.W.N. 334 (F.B.). Simply because a person knows that there are some fire-arms illegally concealed in his master's garden, it cannot be held that they are necessarily in his possession or control, and he cannot be convicted under sec. 19 (f), 40 C.W.N. 1374.

POSSESSION AFTER EXPIRY OF LICENCE.—A man who possesses an arm for which he holds an expired licence does not do so "under that licence and in the manner and to the extent permitted thereby." Accordingly he commits an offence under sec. 19 (f) and is not punishable under sec. 23. 167 I.C. 191 = 38 Cr.L.J. 396 = A.I.R. 1937 Pesh. 30. See also 44 P.L.R. 486 = 1942 Lah. 300. R. 30 of the Bengal Government Rules which prescribes that renewal may be granted if applied for within 30 days of the expiry of the licence does not affect the liability under the Arms Act. 60 C. 445 = 34 Cr.L.J. 363 = 37 C.W.N. 93 = 1933 C. 218.

OFFENCE AFTER SEVERAL YEARS AFTER THE ACT CAME INTO FORCE.—Where several years after passing of this Act an offence under sec. 19 (f) was committed at a place to which the previous Act of 1860 applied, the previous sanction of a Magistrate is not a condition precedent for prosecution. 24 P.R. 1913 Cr. = 14 Cr.L.J. 688 = 21 I.C. 1008.

DISTINCT OFFENCE.—Offences created by and punishable under sec. 20 are distinct from those under sec. 19. 17 Cr.L.J. 209 = 8 L.B.R. 452 = 34 I.C. 321; 42 C. 1153 = 16 Cr. L.J. 9 = 19 C.W.N. 706 = 26 I.C. 313. See also 1940 O.W. N. 481 = A.I.R. 1940 Oudh 337. Where the accused are in possession of a stolen revolver, the fact that they are convicted in respect of its possession under sec. 411, I. P. C. or under sec. 414, I. P. C. is no bar to their being convicted under sec. 19 (f). 146 I.C. 354 = 1933 O. 470. See also 145 I.C. 609 = 34 Cr.L.J. 1018 = 1933 A.L.J. 523 = 1933 A. 461. Where accused has been convicted and sentenced separately for being in possession of the revolver, it is questionable whether they can be convicted separately for being in possession of the cartridges with which the revolver is loaded. 146 I.C. 354 = 1933 O. 470. Accused, who was charged under sec. 120-B, Penal Code read with secs. 19 and 20 of the Arms Act for having joined in a conspiracy with others to possess arms in contravention of the Arms Act, was absconding and when arrested he was found in possession of arms, held, that separate proceedings can be taken for the possession of arms on the second occasion, that the two cases are wholly independent and that the evidence or the conviction in one cannot be considered in the other. 143 I.C. 627 = 34 Cr.L.J. 637 = 1933 L. 231. But where the case against the accused was found on facts, as constituting an offence under the Arms Act, shall be punished with imprisonment for a term which may extend to three years, or with fine, or with both.

as well as under sec. 30 of the Rangoon Police Act. Held, that the accused should not have been charged and convicted twice as for two offences under each of the said Acts. 3 L.B.R. 218 (F.B.). On this section, see also 5 Bom.L.R. 26.

JOINT POSSESSION—BENEFIT OF DOUBT.—Having regard to the fact that the CHAVI was found in a house admittedly in the joint possession of both the accused, it could not be said with any degree of certainty that one of them was in exclusive possession thereof. The accused must be given the benefit of doubt. 25 Cr.L.J. 399=77 I.C. 447=1923 L. 513. See also 65 I.C. 447=23 Cr.L.J. 95 (L.) See also 158 P.L.R. 1905 and 75 P.L.R. 1901, cited under clause (a), supra. Accused led the police to a cattle-shed near the house in which he was living with his father and brother and pointed out the place where a revolver was lying. Held, the mere knowledge of the fact that the revolver was lying in the shed or the pointing out of the place from which it was actually found, without proof that the place was in the exclusive possession of the accused was not sufficient to hold the accused guilty under sec. 19 (f). 146 I.C. 232=34 Cr.L.J. 1256=1933 L. 314. In a case under S. 19 (f) it is the primary duty of the prosecution to prove the possession of the accused, but there may be cases in which the circumstances are such that possession of the accused can safely be presumed, otherwise it will be impossible for the prosecution to secure a conviction. Hence the words 'and control' in the section must be taken in a wider sense and to mean something more than actual possession. Where it was found that the room from which the illicit arms were recovered was in the joint exclusive possession of the two accused and that other male members of the house lived in another portion of the house, it was held that the accused must be held to have the joint control of the room and that where there was no one willing to take the responsibility the only possible presumption the Court could make was that they were in joint control. 1942 O.W.N. 379=43 Cr.L.J. 666=A.I.R. 1942 Oudh 448.

ARMS FOUND IN JOINT FAMILY HOUSE ACCESSIBLE TO MANY—OFFENCE.—When the place in which an incriminating article is found is one to which several persons have equal rights of access, it cannot be said to be in the possession of any one of them. 21 C. W.N. 899; 18 Cr.L.J. 781=41 I.C. 157. See also 92 I.C. 589=27 Cr.L.J. 301 (All.); 100 I.C. 819=28 Cr.L.J. 339=1927 L. 725; 32 Cr.L.J. 699=131 I.C. 441=1931 O. 115. In the case of a house occupied by a joint family there is an initial presumption that an article found therein is in the possession of the head of the family. 30 Cr.L.J. 668=1929 L. 872 (1928 L. 272, relied on). 169 I.C. 681=38 Cr.L.J. 838=A.I.R. 1937 Pesh. 73; 1941 Nag. 296. The same principle applies to all families living jointly in the same house. The weight to be attached to the presumption must vary according to circumstances. It could easily be rebutted by showing that the room or receptacle in question was in the particular and exclusive possession of a particular member of the family. The strength of the presumption would also vary according to the improbability that the article owing to its size, etc., could have escaped the notice of the head of the family. I.L.R. (1942) Nag. 523=196 I.C. 727=1941 N.L.J. 405=A.I.R. 1941 Nag. 296. Thus where a house was occupied by the accused, his father who was 80 years old, and his wife, and a chhavi blade was found in the wife's possession, the mere fact that the father is 80 years old is not sufficient to establish that the accused was in possession of the chhavi. 30 Cr.L.J. 668=1929 L. 872. Although it is not laid down as an invariable rule that where weapons are found in a house occupied by a Hindu family living jointly, possession is necessarily that of the managing member only, yet in all such cases, where it is sought to establish that possession and control are with some member of the family other than the managing member, there must be good and clear evidence of the fact, before the Court can arrive at such a conclusion. The Act is one highly penal and must be strictly construed. 15 A. 129. Where an unlicensed gun is found in the house belonging to a Hindu joint family a presumption arises against all the adult male members that it was in their possession and control and they might one and all be tried on the charge. It is for the members to show they were not in possession of the gun. The mere fact that a member is not the manager would not by itself absolve him from liability. 54 A. 411=33 Cr.L.J. 719=1932 A.L.J. 570=1932 A. 441. But see 55 A. 112, cited below in which the above decision has been dissented from. In order to sustain a conviction under sec. 19 (f) it is necessary to prove not only the presence of the article in the house but the possession of some particular person over that article. So the head of the family cannot be convicted merely on the ground that some loaded cartridges were found in the grain bin of the house. 55 A. 112=143 I.C. 114=1933 A. 112. Where the house of the accused was searched by the police on receipt of certain information and the receipt of search was that an unlicensed muzzle loading pistol was found concealed under a heap of grain inside a vessel and inside the barrel of the pistol percussion caps were also found and it appeared that the accused and his sons and their wives were living in the house at that time. Held, that the accused being the head of the family could under the circumstances be taken to have had knowledge of the concealment. 147 I.C. 625=35 Cr.L.J. 428=1934 A. 548. The conviction of the other members of the family under such circumstances is not legal and will be set aside. 15 P. 696=17 P.L.T. 573=1936 P. 512. Where unlicensed arms are found concealed upon premises which though legally the joint property of a joint Hindu family, are in fact, at the time of the finding, in the exclusive possession and control of one member of the family, that member of the family, can properly be held to be in possession of such arms. 3 Cr.L.J. 88=28 A. 302=3 A.L.J. 833.

EXCLUSIVE POSSESSION.—[See A.L.J. 467=A.I.R. 1940 All. 449.] An accused was charged under sec. 19 (f) and the only evidence against him was that at his instance a place was dug up in the house of another person wherefrom a pistol and some cartridges were recovered, but during the commission of robbery he was not alleged to be armed with a pistol; moreover the person from whose house the pistol and cartridges were recovered was suspiciously withheld by the police, Held, that such exclusive possession was not established against the accused as would justify his conviction for the offence of possessing a pistol without a licence. A.I.R. 1937 L.561. In a case under the Arms Act the question of exclusive possession of an arm cannot be raised for the first time in appeal. 15 Cr.L.J. 506=24 I.C. 594.

POSSESSION OF ARMS—EVIDENCE DOUBTFUL—CONVICTION ILLEGAL.—Where it was found that the two accused were found lying on a bed in the house of another and in the bedding a chhavi was found wrapped in a cloth, held, that it was impossible to say which of the two was actually in possession and therefore that the conviction of the accused was illegal. 65 I.C. 447 (1)=23 Cr.L.J. 95 (L.). See also 33 C.W.N. 202=30 Cr.L.J. 1038=119 I.C. 297=1929 C. 30. Sec. 19 (f) was never intended to cover a case of two persons making temporary use of a revolver in order to foist a false case on another. That two people should jointly own a single revolver is itself an unusual circumstance. 1937 M.W.N. 572 (2). Where the charge rested on suspicion and the guilt was not proved. Two persons L and M were shown to have been moving about under suspicious circumstances. L was caught and searched and a revolver and cartridges were recovered from him. It appeared that M knew of L's possession of the revolver but there was nothing more incriminating against him. Held, that sec. 34, Indian Penal Code, had no application and that M could not be convicted under sec. 19 (f). 37 C.W.N. 201=60 C. 618=34 Cr.L.J. 299=1933 C. 132. Where the only evidence for the prosecution is that a miscellaneous collection of arms and ammunition was found in a house belonging to the accused, it is not safe to convict him of an offence under sec. 19 (f) when there is no clear evidence that the accused was living in the house until within a short period before the discovery. 46 L.W. 522=(1937) 2 M.L.J. 620.

POSSESSION OF LEAD FOR INDUSTRIAL PURPOSES.—Where it was possible that the lead found in the possession of the accused was for fishing purposes, the Magistrate should have, where the accused was unrepresented, put some questions with a view to elucidating from them whether they were prima facie vendors of lead for industrial, that is, fishing purposes. 32 Cr.L.J. 206=1930 R. 349.

POSSESSION OF GUN WITHOUT AMMUNITION.—The possession of a gun without ammunition, in the absence of a licence, is not punishable under sec. 19 (e); nor can the accused be convicted under sec. 19 (f), in the absence of the previous sanction of the District Magistrate. 1 Weir 662. The carrying of a gun without ammunition, by an unlicensed person is an offence under sec. 19 (f), but not under sec. 19 (e). 1 Weir 661. [F. 1 Weir 662]. But see 77 I.C. 736 (Sind), cited under clause (e). The provisions of sec. 19 (f) do not make the mere possession of a gun punishable; they make possession contrary to the provisions of sec. 14 punishable. 12 C.W.N. 272; 7 Cr.L.J. 112=35 C. 219. The snatching up of a gun, which was in the hand of another, and firing it at a mad dog, do not constitute the possession contemplated by sec. 14. 12 C.W.N. 272; 7 Cr.L.J. 112; 35 C. 219. Where a person is found to have kept a gun for some time and then made it over to another to keep for him he cannot be convicted under sec. 19 (f). 15 C.W.N. 440=12 Cr.L.J. 197=10 I.C. 688. A person carrying a revolver in his pocket, without a licence is guilty only under sec. 19 (f), and not under sec. 20. 72 P.L.R. 1916=33 I.C. 823. Where a revolver is found in the possession of one of two men sitting together and it was proved at one time that revolver was possessed by one or the other of the two, both are guilty of possessing arms without a licence. 16 Cr.L.J. 637=30 I.C. 461=27 P.W.R. (Cr.) 1915. The possession of a sword or dagger without a licence in a place to which sec. 15 has not been rendered applicable is not punishable under sec. 19 (f). 1 Weir 666. Thus, possession of a jambia or a kind of dagger is not an offence under sec. 19 in the Bombay Presidency. 32 Bom.L.R. 350=31 Cr.L.J. 932=1930 B. 159.

POSSESSION BY SERVANT OR RELATION—USE OF GUN BY SERVANT.—A person who is exempted from the provisions of the Act, if can send his servant armed with a gun to shoot for him. 9 Cr.L.J. 297=38 I.C. 329. A person licensed to possess gun cannot authorize the possession of that gun by his servant for an unlawful purpose; and a servant who is in such possession of that gun can be properly convicted under sec. 19 (f) of the Arms Act. 159 I.C. 183=1935 A.L.J. 1096=1935 A. 916. A servant of a gun licensee who is merely carrying the gun of his master to the latter's house under his orders cannot be held liable to conviction under S. 19 (f), Arms Act, 187 I.C. 120=1939 M.W.N. 1260=A.I.R. 1940 Mad. 257. The temporary possession of a gun by a servant who carries it from his master's house to the balacksmith's for repairs and by the blacksmith for the purpose of repair, without a licence, is not punishable under sec. 19. 16 A. 267. See also 24 A. 454 cited under cl. (e). But use of the gun by the servant of a licensee, for his own purposes is an offence though the servant can carry the gun legally for the purpose of his master or in the presence of his master. 47 M. 438=25 Cr.L.J. 975=1924 M. 668=46 M.L.J. 401. Though an unlicensed pistol was found in a shop, the master being absent the servant in possession of the pistol alone could be convicted for the offence. The master's conviction could not be upheld. 20 A.L.J. 855=23 Cr.L.J. 729=1923 A. 33. Where a person who apparently had a licence to go armed had come to shoot to a village wherein his cousin's servant was, feeling thirsty, went to get a drink, leaving the gun with the servant (a person not holding a licence under the Arms Act), held, that such a temporary custody of the gun by the servant did not amount to the "possession" or "control" contemplated by cl. (f) of sec. 19. 4 N.L.R. 146 (Cr.) A servant carrying a gun on his master's behalf is not guilty under sec. 19 (f) of the Arms Act, of possessing a gun in contravention of the provisions thereof. 41 C. 11=17 C.W.N. 979=14 Cr.L.J. 377=20 I.C. 137. But if the master himself had no licence, the servant would be, though technically, guilty under this section 19 (f) whether the servant may or may not be aware of the absence of licence, which will affect only the quantum of punishment. 18 P.L.T. 88=38 Cr.L.J. 409. On this point, as to possession of arms by servant, see also 13 C.W.N. 124=4 I.C. 333; 1 Weir 664; 3 C.W.N. 394. Even a servant who is found in British India carrying a gun for the purpose of having it repaired, will not be protected from the provisions of sec. 19 read with sec. 6 if the gun is not covered by a licence acknowledged by the British Government. 30 Cr..L.J. 543=1929 O. 157. When communal riots were taking place in different quarters of the town, the accused, brother of a licence-holder, took out his brother's gun and fired shots in the air so that people mischievously inclined might know that it was not safe for them to do any mischief to the people living in the house, held, that the possession of the gun was on behalf of the brother and the accused was not guilty. 47 A. 606=23 A.L.J. 356=1925 A. 396. Where the accused took out the gun of his father who held a licence for it, for the purpose of shooting birds and was found out by an officer of the police near a pond, it was held that the letter of the law was contravened but that a fine of Rs. 25 would answer the purpose. 47 A. 267=22 A.L.J. 1095=26 Cr.L.J. 479=1935 A. 175. See also 157 I.C. 411=1935 Pesh. 103. The accused who was a cousin of the licensee of a gun borrowed the gun and carried it in a marriage procession when he fired some shots and wounded some people accidentally. Held he was guilty under sec. 19. 24 Bom. L.R. 487=22 Cr.L.J. 450=57 I.C. 722=1923 B. 35.

OTHER ILLUSTRATIVE CASES.—There is nothing in the Arms Act to exempt the custodians of a temple which had a collection of fire-arms used as objects of worship, from complying with the requirements of the Act either by taking out a licence or obtaining exemption under sec. 27, so that a conviction under sec. 19, cl. (f), for neglect to take out licence in respect of such arms, is not illegal. 8 C. 473. A fire-arm, which is defective and otherwise unserviceable, is not within the meaning of the Arms Act, and, consequently, not one for which a licence need be taken out, although it might be capable of being rendered serviceable by being repaired. 1 Weir 658. Whether in any particular instance an instrument is a fire-arm or not, is a question to be determined according to the facts of each case, and the circumstance that it is in an unserviceable condition is not sufficient to take it out of the category of fire-arms. 9 Cr.L.J. 259=1 S.L.R. 18 Cr. (F.B.). Possession of a revolver "in loose parts" without a licence was held to be an offence where it appeared that the parts were in a rusty condition but they could be used if cleaned and oiled. 34 Cr.L.J. 916=37 C.W.N. 234=1933 C. 495. In a District which has not been disarmed, the possession of a sword without a licence is not an offence under the Act, unless the person in possession goes armed with it. 1 Weir 666. Patakhars, which are quite useless for military purpose or for use as fire-arms or torpedos or war-rockets are not ammunition within the meaning of the Act and a conviction under sec. 19 (f) is not sustainable for possessing the same without licence. 53 A. 226=32 Cr.L.J. 564=1931 A. 17. Empty cartridge cases with exploded caps are not "ammunition" as defined in the Act. 20 P.R. 1890 (Cr.) An instrument for recapping cartridge cases of the Martini-Hurley rifles is not machinery for manufacturing ammunition within the meaning of the Act. 20 P.R. 1890 (Cr.)

CONCEALMENT OF ARMS.—Each case of concealment of arms must be decided on its own facts as to whether it falls under sec. 19 or sec. 20 but for sec. 20 to apply there must be some special indication of an intention to conceal the possession of the arms from a public servant, railway official or public carrier. 9 L. 550=29 Cr.L.J. 577=1928 L. 193. (8 P.R. 1915 Cr.; 1923 L. 79; 1925 L. 434; 1926 L. 262, Foll.; 9 P.R. 1912 (Cr.) and 1925 L. 395, Diss. from.) See also 1931 Lah. 561. Merely keeping of a chhavi blade in one's own house and possessing a stick that would fit into it, cannot be regarded as falling within the purview of sec. 20. The case would fall more appropriately under the definition of sec. 19 (f). 1931 L. 561 (r). See also 15 Cr.L.J. 506=24 I.C. 594. If a person carries on his person a small weapon such as a pistol, a dagger, or a blade of a chhavi he naturally puts it in his pocket or dab and if with that weapon in his pocket or dab he is in his house or in his village or in a bazaar or in a Court compound, it cannot be inferred that he was so carrying the weapon with the intention specified in sec. 20. 28 Cr.L.J. 671=1927 L. 561. Where a Railway passenger was found to have a revolver and cartridges in the inner coat, held, that he was liable to be convicted under sec. 20, not under sec. 19. 32 Cr.L.J. 995=1931 L. 663. Section 20 is applicable to a case of possession of arms contrary to the provisions of the Act, when the accused has concealed it in his waist band of loin cloth. 8 P.R. 1915 (Cr.)=16 Cr.L.J. 412=28 I.C. 796. The mere denial, on the part of a person, whose house is being searched by the Police for unlicensed arms, that he has any such arms in his possession does not constitute a concealment or attempt to conceal arms on search being made by the Police within the meaning of the second paragraph of sec. 20. 3 Cr.L.J. 88=28 A. 302=3 A.L.J. 833. Where certain fire-arms had been found from the possession of the accused, who had concealed them under a heap of straw, in order that visitors in his house should not see them, held, that the concealment was not with the intention specified in sec. 20, and the accused could, therefore, be convicted only under sec. 19(f). 9 Cr.L.J. 259 (F.B.); 1 S.L.R. 18 (Cr.) Being in possession of a chhavi and keeping it hidden is punishable under sec. 19. Section 20 applies only when the export or import of an arm is attempted. 1 P.W.R. 1914 (Cr.)=33 P.L.R. 1914=15 Cr.L.J. 506=24 I.C. 594. (18 I.C. 265 Foll.) See also 6 L. 151=86 I.C. 221=1925 L. 395. A discovery of arms in consequence of the information supplied by the accused that he had buried a revolver in his field fulfils the requirements of sec. 19 (f) and sec. 20. 72 P.L.R. 1916=33 I.C. 823=17 Cr.L.J. 183. AMENDMENT IN BENGAL.—[N. B. — Sections 19-A and 20 Proviso were inserted by Bengal Act XXI of 1932, and they are applicable only to the Bengal Province.]

“19-A. Notwithstanding anything contained in section 19 whoever commits an offence under cl. (c) or cl. (e) or cl. (f) of section 19 shall, if the offence is committed in respect of a pistol, revolver, rifle, or shot gun, be punished with transportation for life or any shorter term, or with imprisonment for a term which may extend to fourteen years, or with fine.”

Government in this behalf. A search conducted by a police officer in charge of a reporting station, especially empowered as above, without obtaining a warrant from a Magistrate is not illegal. 16 A.L.J. 721=19 Cr.L.J. 943=47 I.C. 801. As to search see also 27 C. 692=4 C.W.N. 750; 22 A. 118. Where the offence has been undoubtedly committed by the accused, who was in possession of arms, the fact that the legal procedure (sec. 25) was not followed in making the search would not, by itself, be sufficient ground to acquit the accused. U.B.R. (1892-1896), Vol. I, 2. 16 P.L.T. 598=1935 Cr.C. 1202=159 I.C. 487=1935 P. 465. A person charged under sec. 19 (f) cannot be acquitted simply because the search was not in strict compliance with sec. 103 Cr. P. Code. 131 I.C. 441=32 Cr.L.J. 699=1931 O. 115. See also 47 A. 575=1925 A. 434.

The exemption of volunteers from the operation of the Arms Act, by Government of India Notification No. 458, dated 18th March, 1898, is not confined merely to purposes of volunteering. 22 A. 323. A volunteer is, by virtue of such exemption entitled to keep fowling pieces and to use them for the purpose of protecting his cultivation. 22 A. 323.

SANCTION OF DISTRICT MAGISTRATE NECESSARY.—A prosecution under sec. 19 (f) requires the sanction of the District Magistrate. L.B.R. (1872-1892), 426. See also U.B.R. (1892-1896), Vol. I, 1; 9 C.P.L.R. (Cr.) 26; 1 Weir 660; 1 Weir 663; 27 C. 692; 4 L.B.R. 247=8 Cr.L.J. 65; 12 Cr.L.J. 234=10 I.C. 261; 25 Cr.L.J. 203=76 I.C. 571=1924 R. 85; 17 Cr.L.J. 209=8 L.B.R. 452=34 I.C. 321; 9 Bur.L.T. 217=18 Cr.L.J. 357=38 I.C. 741; 11 Cr.L.J. 190=4 I.C. 1107; 1941 P.W.N. 423=22 Pat. L.T. 570=1941 Pat. 284. According to sec. 29, sanction of the District Magistrate was necessary to prosecute a person under sec. 19 (f) for possessing arms without a licence in the District of Aligarh, only for three months after 15th March, 1878, and not subsequently. 1929 A.L.J. 215=117 I.C. 822=30 Cr.L.J. 856=1929 A. 69. So also in the Bijnor District and other parts of the United Provinces to the north of the rivers Jumna and Ganges, the sanction of the District Magistrate for prosecution under sec. 19 is not necessary. 24 A.L.J. 30=27 Cr.L.J. 15=91 I.C. 47=1926 A. 143. As provisions of sec. 32 of Act XXXI of 1860 were not in force in District Dera Ghazi Khan, the previous sanction of the District Magistrate is necessary under sec. 19 (f) and a prosecution without such sanction is illegal. 146 I.C. 437=43 P.L.R. 965=1933 L. 869. Such sanction is required in the Peshawar and also in the other four Districts of the Frontier Province. 143 I.C. 508=34 Cr.L.J. 670=1933 Pesh. 69. Where the accused is clearly in possession of arms and ammunition without a licence, no sanction is necessary for starting prosecution under sec. 19 (f). 1929 A.L.J. 28=30 Cr.L.J. 566=1929 A. 68. Where sanction is necessary the proceeding is illegal, null and void if no sanction is obtained. 12 Cr.L.J. 234=10 I.C. 261= (1911) 1 M.W.N. 271. See also 1941 P.W.N. 423=1941 Pat. 284. The trial without sanction under sec. 29, is not merely an error of procedure. The Court has no power to allow proceedings to be instituted without such sanction. No failure of justice is necessary to set aside a conviction under the section made in proceedings without such sanction. U.B.R. (1872-1896), Vol. I, 2. Where sanction is obtained after commitment, neither sec. 532 nor sec. 537, Cr. P. Code, can cure the omission. 5 M.L.T. 162. Section 537 (b) does not cure the want of sanction in any case, except when the sanction is required under sec. 195, Cr. P. Code. 4 L.B.R. 247=8 Cr.L.J. 65. Sections 19 and 20 are so interwoven that it is difficult to see how an offence can be committed under the first paragraph of sec. 20 unless an offence under one of the enumerated sub-sections in sec. 19 has also been committed; therefore, before prosecuting a person under sec. 20 previous sanction should be obtained. 27 C. 692=4 C.W.N. 750. Where the offence reported to the Magistrate (under sec. 157 Cr. P. Code) was an offence under sec. 20, and the proceedings prior to the application for sanction to prosecute under sec. 19 (f), were proceedings under sec. 20 for which no sanction is necessary under sec. 29, the objection that the prosecution was bad for failure to obtain the previous sanction of the District Magistrate for an offence under sec. 19 (f) could not be sustained. 130 I.C. 437=32 Cr.L.J. 517=1931 Sind 9. Where sanction to prosecute is given under sec. 29 for unlawful possession and concealment of arms and ammunition and for an offence under sec. 20 read with sec. 19 (f), held, that as no sanction was required by sec. 29 for an offence under sec. 20 the sanction should be treated as one given for an offence under sec. 19 (f) and hence conviction under sec. 19 (f) is not illegal. (Ibid.) If an accused person is convicted of an offence punishable under sec. 20 by the trying Magistrate, there is nothing to prevent the appellate Court, from altering the conviction to one under sec. 19 (f). (Ibid.). Section 29 is restricted to offence under sec. 19 (f) and does not extend to a prosecution under sec. 20. The first part of sec. 20 creates offences distinct from and graver than those under sec. 19. 9 Bur.L.T. 217=11 Cr.L.J. 357=38 I.C. 741. See also 25 Cr.L.J. 203=76 I.C. 571=1924 R. 85.

20. Whoever does any act mentioned in clause (a), (c), (d) or (f) of section 19 in such manner as to indicate an intention that such act may not be known to any public servant as defined in the Indian Penal Code, or to any person employed upon a railway or to the servant of any public carrier, and whoever, on any search being made under section 25, conceals or attempts to conceal any arms, ammunition or military stores, shall be punished with imprisonment for a term which may extend to seven years, or with fine, or with both.

[Proviso added by Bengal Act XXI of 1931 applicable only to Bengal].

LEG. REF.

S. 20. AMENDMENT IN BENGAL.—The following proviso has been added, namely:—"Provided that if an offence committed under this section is in respect of a pistol, revolver, rifle, or shot gun, the offender shall be punished with transportation for life or any shorter term, or with imprisonment for a term which may extend to fourteen years, or with fine." [Applicable only to Bengal.]

SECS. 19 (f) and 19-A: CHARGE AND CONVICTION UNDER—APPEAL—CHARGE AND CONVICTION UNDER SEC. 20-A—LEGALITY.—Possession of fire-arms in furtherance of terrorist movements is not in itself an offence under the Arms Act. For a conviction for an offence under sec. 19-A of the Arms Act, as amended by Bengal Act XXI of 1932, it is incumbent on the prosecution to prove that the fire-arms were possessed in contravention of the Arms Act; in other words, the prosecution must lead some evidence which would justify an inference that the possession was against the provisions of the Act, i.e., without license or some other legal authority. Mere proof that the accused are members of an organisation the object of which is to commit terrorist crimes or offences is not sufficient; because it would not follow therefrom, in the absence of other evidence, that the accused are also parties to a criminal conspiracy for the specific and definite purpose of possessing fire-arms in contravention of the Arms Act. 62 C. 819=39 C.W. N. 761. In an appeal from a conviction on a charge under secs. 19 (f) and 19-A of the Indian Arms Act, the High Court is not competent to substitute a charge under sec. 20-A of the Arms Act and convict him thereunder. To do so would be to infringe one of the most important principles of criminal law, namely, that a man should not be charged, tried and convicted without being heard in defence. 39 C.W.N. 334=62 C. 433=1935 C. 561 (F.B.).

CL. (i).—The offence of failing to deposit arms under cl. (i) of sec. 19 was not triable by a second class Magistrate. 1 Weir 660.

SECS. 19 AND 20: SCOPE.—It is difficult to lay down any general rule as to what cases fall under S. 20 and what cases under S. 19. Every case must be decided on its own facts. S. 20 is not confined to cases where import or export of arms is attempted and applies to cases where a person is concealing a weapon. Where certain arms and ammunition were found tied and concealed under the cot of the accused in a room in a hostel, it must be presumed that the intention of the accused was not only to conceal them from the boys of the hostel but also from any public servant who may happen to come to the hostel and hence they are guilty under S. 20 of the Act. 188 I.C. 110=A.I.R. 1940 Oudh 337. See also 34 I.C. 321=8 L.B.R. 452; 42 Cal. 1153.

SEC. 20.—See also under sec. 19, supra, heading CONCEALMENT OF ARMS.

SCOPE AND APPLICATION.—For a conviction to fall under S. 20, Arms Act there must be some special indication of an intention that the possession of the arms was being concealed from a public servant or from a Railway official. Hence if a man carries an unlicensed weapon in his haversack when sitting in the platform of a Railway station, it must be conceived that it is his intention that his possession of unlicensed weapon may not be known to any public servant or Railway official and the case would fall under S. 20 of the Act. 1942 A.L.J. 383=43 Cr.L.J. 854=A.I.R. 1942 A. 349=I.L.R. (1942) All 899. Each case of concealment of arms must be decided on its own facts as to whether it falls under sec. 19 or sec. 20, but for sec. 20 to apply there must be special indication of an intention to conceal the possession of arms from a public servant, railway official or a public carrier. 9 L. 550=29 Cr.L.J. 577=109 I.C. 593=1928 L. 193; 7 L. 65. See also 6 L. 151=26 Cr.L.J. 733=1925 L. 395; 32 P.L.R. 651=1931 L. 571; 1931 L. 561; 156 I.C. 645=1933 C. 692. The question whether the circumstances justify the inference that the intention was such as is indicated in sec. 20 must depend on the particular circumstances of each case. 144 I.C. 850=34 Cr.L.J. 890=1933 P. 493. Each case of concealment of arms must be decided on its own facts. 23 Cr.L.J. 609=68 I.C. 833=1923 L. 79; 7 L. 65=1926 L. 262; 130 I.C. 437=1931 Sind 9=32 Cr.L.J. 517. The fact that a person is concealing a weapon while he is on a railway platform must indicate an intention to conceal the weapon from railway officials who are about that platform. 9 L. 302=29 Cr.L.J. 256=1928 L. 110. Section 20 is not confined to cases where the import or export of arms is attempted but can apply to ordinary cases of concealment also. 132 I.C. 855=32 Cr.L.J. 995=1931 L. 663; 146 I.C. 645=1933 C. 692; 60 Cr.L.J. 190=38 C.W.N. 656=1934 C. 705. But see contra 6 L. 151; 9 P.R. 1914 cited below. The section applies only to cases where the import or export of arms is attempted and not to every case of possession or concealment of arms. Something more than a mere ordinary concealment should be established in order to bring the possession within the meaning of sec. 20. 6 L. 151=86 I.C. 221=26 Cr.L.J. 733=1925 L. 395. See also 9 P.R. 1912=18 I.C. 265=14 Cr.L.J. 41. But see 132 I.C. 855=32 Cr.L.J. 995=1931 L. 663, cited in ind. The

21. Whoever, in violation of a condition subject to which a license has been granted, does or omits to do any act shall, when the doing or omitting to do such act is not punishable under section 19 or section 20, be punished with imprisonment for a term which may extend to six months, or with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees, or with both.

first part of sec. 20 does not deal with cases of concealment of arms in the possession of the person on his being arrested. It only deals with cases of concealment before arrest. (1911) 1 M.W.N. 271=10 I.C. 261=12 Cr.L.J. 234. The two parts of sec. 20 are quite independent of one another. Mere possession of an unlicensed weapon is punishable under sec. 19 (f) but, if the circumstances are such as to indicate an intention that the possession may not be known to the police the offence is punishable under sec. 20. Whether the intention referred to above exists or not is a pure question of fact. The mere concealment of an unlicensed weapon may not of itself be sufficient to bring the offence within the mischief of the first part of sec. 20 more especially if the circumstances are such as to indicate that the intention of the offender was merely to keep the weapon concealed from his friends, relations or other private persons and not necessarily from the police but actual physical concealment is not a necessary ingredient of the offence but a mere piece of circumstantial evidence which may be taken into consideration along with other circumstances with a view to ascertaining the real intention of the offender. 60 C. 545=144 I.C. 957=34 Cr.L.J. 879=1933 C. 516. A person proceeding to commit dacoity with arms in his possession would ordinarily carry them in his pocket or in his clothes, without there being any express intention on his part to conceal them from public servants or railway employees, so that the mere fact that the weapon is not exposed to view does not necessarily indicate the intention mentioned in sec. 20. 144 I.C. 850=34 Cr.L.J. 890=1933 P. 493. An unlicensed person going armed with a revolver may be convicted either under sec. 19 or sec. 14 [sec. 19 (e) or sec. 19 (f)] and consequently may be convicted under sec. 20 if the offence is committed with the intention referred to in sec. 20. 146 I.C. 645=1933 C. 692.

JURISDICTION.—An offence under sec. 20 is not triable by a first-class Magistrate. 2 L.B.R. 244. On this point, see also I.L.R. (1940) Kar. 296=A.I.R. 1940 Sind 107.

PRACTICE AND PROCEDURE.—If, in a trial of a case under the Arms Act, the evidence recorded shows an offence under sec. 20, the Magistrate ought to commit the case to the Sessions Court. 34 I.C. 314=20 C.W.N. 732=17 Cr.L.J. 202. Where the arms were discovered on the information given by the accused, the concealment of the chhavis and other arms recovered from the possession of the accused is clearly with the intention referred to in sec. 20. 1923 L. 434. See also 72 P.L.R. 1916 and 9 L.L.J. 211 cited under sec. 19. Where the petitioner was alleged to have given information which led to the discovery of the rifle, proof of his knowledge where the rifle was would not be enough by itself to raise a presumption that he had concealed it himself. 1923 L. 238.

ILLUSTRATIVE CASES.—Where the weapon which was found to fit the dang the appellant was carrying was originally concealed but the appellant voluntarily took it from its place of concealment in order to threaten a railway servant who caught him for travelling without a ticket, held, it indicates an indifference as to whether the weapon was seen or not. The intention requisite for an offence under sec. 20 had not been established and conviction must be altered to sec. 19. 26 Cr.L.J. 166=83 I.C. 726=1923 L. 10. The fact that the accused secreted the spear-head next to the skin does not indicate any intention that the possession by the accused of the spear-head might not be known to any public servant. 31 Cr.L.J. 79=120 I.C. 273=1929 L. 576. The fact that the accused ran away when challenged by the constable indicates an intention of the character mentioned in sec. 20. But where accused had a companion who also ran away but upon whose person nothing incriminating could be found, as no such intention can be credited to the companion on the ground he also ran away, it cannot be attributed to the accused as well. (Ibid.) Where revolvers are concealed in a trunk being conveyed by railway the intention of the person must be presumed to be to conceal them from railway officials and the case falls under sec. 20. 32 P.L.R. 651=1931 L. 571. So also where the accused who travelled in a railway compartment was found to have a revolver and certain cartridges in the pocket of his inner coat. 132 I.C. 855=32 Cr.L.J. 995=1931 L. 663. Where the accused had a revolver in his possession, and when the police appeared he attempted to run away, held, his intention was that his possession of the revolver might not be known to the police and that he was guilty under sec. 19 (f) read with sec. 20. 55 A. 681=1933 A. 627. See also 146 I.C. 645=1933 C. 692 as to the circumstances evidencing the intention required by sec. 20. Where the circumstances under which a pistol was recovered from the accused who had come on a visit to Lahore from his village, led to a clear inference that his intention was that the possession of the pistol by him may not be known to any public servant, it was not a case of an ordinary concealment and conviction should be one under sec. 20. 96 I.C. 390=27 Cr.L.J. 934. Where a person who was in unlicensed possession of revolver and cartridges gave the revolver to somebody else for the purpose of keeping it concealed and it was evident that the possession of the revolver was in some way connected with the political opinions of the accused, held, that the accused was liable to be convicted under sec. 20. 60 C. 571=143 I.C. 802=37 C. Where the gun was upon a charpoy upon which the accused was sitting and was covered with a dotahi and the accused had been convicted under sec. 20, the conviction was altered into one under sec. 19 (f). 6 L. 151=26 Cr.L.J. 733=1925 L. 395.

EVIDENCE—APPROVER'S STATEMENTS.—Where an approver makes a statement disclosing his illegal possession of fire-arms, and is released having fulfilled the conditions of his pardon, it is illegal to try him under sec. 20. 10 A.L.J. 717=22 Cr.L.J. 699=63 I.C. 827.

SENTENCE.—Merely on the ground that the weapon concealed is a chhavi the maximum sentence ought not to be inflicted. 3 L. L.J. 145; 66 I.C. 995=23 Cr.L.J. 339. Sentence of three years' rigorous imprisonment without special grounds is very heavy and ought to be reduced. 17 Cr.L.J. 80=32 I.C. 672 (M.). See also 9 L. 302. The fact that there was suspicion in the mind of the police that the accused was about to take part in the criminal undertaking is not a circumstance which a Court can take into consideration in arriving at an appropriate punishment for the actual offence which has been proved under sec. 20. 9 L. 302=29 Cr.L.J. 256=1928 L. 110. Previous conviction is ground for giving maximum sentence. 8 P.R. (Cr.) 1915=16 Cr.L.J. 412. Where there was nothing to show that the appellant was of bad character or was engaged in any criminal undertaking at the time he was arrested, and he had produced evidence of good character, held, that a sentence of three years' rigorous imprisonment was sufficient for the offence under sec. 20. 132 I.C. 855=32 Cr.L.J. 995=1931 L. 663. The accused who had a pistol without a licence was sentenced to eighteen months' rigorous imprisonment for having by its use caused accidental homicide. He was again prosecuted under sec. 20, Arms Act, and sentenced to seven years' rigorous imprisonment. Held, that the sentence was too severe even assuming that a separate sentence was justified. Sentence was reduced to one month's rigorous imprisonment. 137 I.C. 141=33 Cr.L.J. 413 (1)=1932 L. 365.

SELLING MILITARY STORES TO UNAUTHORISED PERSON BY MANAGER OF LICENSED VENDOR.—If the manager of a licensed vendor of arms and ammunition sells military stores to a person, without previously ascertaining that he is legally authorised to possess the same, the licensee becomes liable to punishment under sec. 22; and it is no defence to plead that the delivery by the man in charge is not a delivery by the owners of the shop. 24 B. 423; 2 B.L.R. 52. The rule "whatever a servant does in the course of his employment with which he is entrusted and as a part of it, is his master's act" is applicable to certain criminal proceedings also. 24 B. 423=2 B.L.R. 52.

RIFLE—DELIVERY INTO THE CUSTODY OF SERVANT NOT AUTHORISED TO POSSESS.—A and his servant N, while out on a shooting excursion, came across a deer recently killed by a tiger. A fixed his rifle over the killed deer so as to form the trap for the tiger and went home leaving N to watch the trap. A was charged under sec. 22 of the Arms Act, with having delivered the rifle into the possession of an unauthorised person. Held, that the delivery into possession contemplated by sec. 22 of the Arms Act is such a delivery as gives the person into whose possession the arm is delivered control over the arm and authority to use it as an arm and that therefore A cannot be convicted for an offence under sec. 22. 5 L.B.R. 83. Where a gunmaker acting under the directions of the licence-holder made over his gun to a person merely to carry it to its owner and not with any authority to use it as an arm, held, that the gunmaker did not commit an offence under sec. 22. A licence-holder of a gun can permit another person who is not so licensed to carry his gun. 26 A.L.J. 162=29 Cr.L.J. 97=1928 A. 55.

such Magistrate, having first recorded the grounds of his belief, may cause a search to be made of the house or premises occupied by such person or in which such Magistrate has reason to believe such arms, ammunition or military stores are or is to be found, and may seize and detain the same, although covered by a license, in safe custody for such time as he thinks necessary.

The search in such case shall be conducted by, or in the presence of, a Magistrate, or by, or in the presence of some officer specially empowered¹ in this behalf by name or in virtue of his office by the [Central Government]².

SEARCH WARRANT.—A Magistrate directing the issue of a warrant to search premises on information received that the owner or occupant thereof is in possession of fire-arms without a licence acts as a Court and not merely as a public servant whether he purports to act under the Criminal Procedure Code or under sec. 25 of this Act. 35 M.L.J. 686=20 Cr.L.J. 90=48 I.C. 890=42 M. 96. SECS. 25 AND 30.—Sections 25 and 30 were enacted for the protection of the subject as well as to inspire confidence in the proceedings conducted by the police officers, and their provisions cannot normally be allowed to be disregarded so as to reduce them to a mere dead-letter. If no reasonable excuse or justification is offered for not following them, the Court may well look with suspicion upon the entire proceeding and hesitate to convict an accused person upon the result of the search, unless the prosecution offers strong and unimpeachable evidence to remove the suspicion. 37 Cr.L.J. 100=16 P.L.T. 598=1935 P. 465.

³Act XXXI of 1860 was repealed by sec. 3 of this Act.

Government of India Press in 1923 entitled the "Arms Act" and described inter alia as "brief explanation of the Arms Act" is not a notification within the meaning of sec. 27. 1932 R. 180.

NOTIFICATIONS—CONSTRUCTION.—Notifications relating to the Arms Act imposing a penalty upon the subject must be construed very strictly. 32 B.L.R. 106=31 Cr.L.J. 847=1930 B. 153.

ARMS, DEFINITION OF—POWERS OF GOVERNMENT TO EXCLUDE.—The word "arms," except so far as the definition expressly includes other weapons must be understood to mean weapons of offence, suitable for use in war-fare. L.B.R. (1893-1900) 416. The Government of India have under sec. 27, the power of excluding any description of arms from the operation of the Act. (Ibid.). But the Act does not empower the Government to define what is an arm within the meaning of the Act. (Ibid.) If anything is not, in the opinion of the Court, an arm within the meaning of the Arms Act, it is immaterial whether Government have or have not excluded it from the operation of the Act. (Ibid.) Dahs of the kind described in the Government of India, Home Department Notification No. 827, dated 15th June, 1893, as excluded from the operation of the Act are not arms within the meaning of the Act, and it is therefore, unnecessary to exclude them from the operation of the Act. A sword-stick is a weapon different from kirpan. The two expressions cannot be regarded as synonymous, and so the possession of a sword-stick by a Sikh is not exempted by sec. 27. 29 Cr.L.J. 425=108 I.C. 596=1928 L. 299. See also under sec. 19.

Cr. C. M-I—10

SEC. 29.—See also notes under sec. 19 (f) under heading "Sanction of District Magistrate necessary."

SCOPE OF THE SECTION.—The "proceedings" referred to in S. 29 clearly mean legal proceedings in a Criminal Court and such "proceedings" are "instituted" within the meaning of S. 29 only when under S. 190, Cr.P.C. a magistrate takes cognizance of the offence. I.L.R. (1949) Kar. 524=1944 Sind 103. According to sec. 29 sanction of the District Magistrate was necessary to prosecute a person under sec. 19 (f) for possessing arms without a licence in the District of Aligarh, only, for three months after 15th March, 1878 and not subsequently. 1929 A.L.J. 215=30 Cr.L.J. 856=1929 A. 69. See also 1941 P.W.N. 423=1941 Pat. 284. See also under sec. 19, cl. (f). Proceedings may be taken against a person under sec. 20 for the secret possession of arms in contravention of sec. 14 or 15 of the same Act, without previous sanction under sec. 29. 17 Cr.L.J. 209=34 I.C. 321=8 L.B.R. 432 (F.B.). 1934 C. 705. But the accused should be discharged under sec. 20 if the intention to conceal the possession is not made out. (Ibid.) Where a City Magistrate who is also the Additional District Magistrate empowered with the powers of District Magistrate tries a case under S. 19-F, it cannot be said that sanction under S. 29 is unnecessary because he exercised the powers of a District Magistrate as well. Even in such a case trial without sanction under S. 29 is illegal. Sanction under S. 29 can only be granted on a consideration of the facts connected with the prosecution and it cannot be said that the Magistrate tried the case after granting sanction to himself in his capacity as Additional District Magistrate; for having granted the sanction in that capacity the case cannot be tried by the Magistrate granting the sanction whether he acts as Additional District Magistrate or City Magistrate. The trial therefore is illegal. I.L.R. (1940) Kar. 296=41 Cr.L.J. 707=A.I. R. 1940 Sind 107.

"PROCEEDINGS."—As in the case of a suit, a proceeding is instituted when for the first time the adjudication of a Court of competent jurisdiction is sought. Therefore, the expression "proceedings" in sec. 29 mean legal proceedings in Court and not searches or arrests or investigations made by the police in exercise of the powers conferred upon them by the Criminal Procedure Code; or any other law. 6 P. 768=29 Cr.L.J. 301=1928 P. 146. See also 104 I.C. 433=28 Cr.L.J. 817=1927 C. 721. Entering a case in the case-book and making out a charge is not institution of proceedings under sec. 29. 104 I.C. 433=28 Cr.L.J. 817=1927 C. 721.

Sec. 30.—See Notes under secs. 19 (f) and 20, supra.

SCOPE OF SECTION.—The Act appears to contemplate the presence of some specially empowered officer besides the officer conducting the search. 8 C. 473. See also 47 A. 575=26 Cr.L.J. 1112=1925 A. 434; 16 A.L.J. 721=19 Cr.L.J. 949=47 I.C. 801. The Act appears to refer to cases in which the Magistrate considers that arms, whether under a licence or not, are possessed "for an illegal purpose," or under circumstances such as to endanger the public peace. 8 C. 473.

JURISDICTION.—Search for arms would be illegal if it was not ordered by a Magistrate in pursuance of sec. 25. U.B.R. (1892-1896), Vol. I, 1. As to jurisdiction of Magistrates under the Act, see also Rat. 80=Cr. Reg. 15th January, 1874; 3 P.R. 1869 (Cr.). In the United Provinces, an officer in charge of a Police station is empowered to conduct a search. An officer who takes action under a particular section must be deemed to have full powers until the contrary is proved. 1929 A.L.J. 28=30 Cr.L.J. 566=1929 A. 68.

SEARCH, WARRANT, FORM OF.—Magistrates before they issue search warrants, under the Act, should record the grounds of their belief, that there are in the house, which it is proposed to search, weapons kept for an unlawful purpose. 15 A. 129.

ILLEGAL SEARCH—DAMAGES.—The defendant, who did not, before causing the search of the plaintiff's house, to be made, first record the grounds of his belief as provided for by sec. 25 could not justify the search under the provisions of the said Act. 8 C.L.J. 75. As there was no proceeding pending before him, the defendant was not a 'Court' within the meaning of sec. 94 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, and, therefore, the defendant could not direct a search to be made in his presence under the provisions of sec. 205 of the Code. (Ibid.) The search having been for the purposes of discovering arms generally, sec. 165 of the Code did not apply. Conducting a search for arms is not an act done in the discharge of a judicial duty. Judicial Officers Protection Act does not apply to such a case. Even where a defendant's bona fide, in conducting a search, is established, it does not release him from the obligation the law casts upon him as being in supreme control of the search party, of seeing that the search was conducted in a proper and reasonable manner. (Ibid.) In such a case, the damages, should be substantial, and not merely nominal. (Ibid.) As to effect of illegality of search, see 2 N.W.P. 57. Although the search is illegal, a person can be convicted where the evidence against him is conclusive. The ordinary meaning of "in the course of any proceeding instituted" is in the course of any legal proceedings which have already begun. 47 A. 575=23 A.L.J. 364=26 Cr.L.J. 1112=1925 A. 434. —The Army Act gives powers of arrest and trial of a person who has ceased to be subject to military law. But his trial must commence within three months of his ceasing to be so subject. After the expiration of the period of three months the person charged with an offence ceases to be liable to arrest or trial by court-martial. 1934 Cr.C. 1185=1934 L. 845.

Composition of summary general courts-martial. 63. A summary general court-martial shall consist of not less than three ¹[British officers or Indian commissioned officers.]

Summary courts-martial.

64. (1) A summary court-martial may be held—
(a) by the commanding officer of any corps or department of His Majesty's Indian Forces, or of any detachment of those forces ;

(b) by the commanding officer of any British corps or detachment to which details subject to this Act are attached.

(2) At every summary court-martial the officer holding the trial shall alone constitute the court, but the proceedings shall be attended throughout by two other officers who shall not, as such, be sworn or affirmed.

Dissolution of courts. 65. (1) If a court-martial after the commencement of a trial is reduced below the smallest number of officers of which it is by this Act required to consist it shall be dissolved.

(2) If, on account of the illness of the accused before the finding it is impossible to continue the trial, a court-martial shall be dissolved.

(3) Where a court-martial is dissolved under this section, the accused may be tried again;.

Jurisdiction of Courts-martial.

66. When any person subject to this Act has been acquitted or convicted of an offence by a court-martial or by a criminal court, or has been summarily dealt with for an offence under section 26 or section 22, he shall not be liable to be tried again for the same offence by a court-martial or dealt with summarily in respect of it under either of the said sections.

3[67. No trial by court-martial of any person subject to this Act for any offence (other than an offence of mutiny, desertion or fraudulent enrolment) shall be commenced after the expiration of three years from the date of such offence, and no such trial for an offence of desertion (other than desertion on active service) or of fraudulent enrolment shall be commenced if the person in question ⁴[(not being an Indian commissioned officer)] has, subsequently to the commission of the offence, served continuously in an exemplary manner for not less than three years with any portion of His Majesty's regular forces.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this section, 'mutiny' means any of the offences specified in clauses (a), (b) and (c) of section 27.]

68. Any person subject to this Act who commits any offence against it may be tried and punished for such offence in any place
Place of trial. whatever.

Adjustment of the jurisdiction of Courts-martial and Criminal Courts.

69. When a criminal court and a court-martial have each jurisdiction in respect of an offence, it shall be in the discretion of the prescribed military authority to decide before which Court the proceedings shall be instituted, and, if that authority decides that they shall be instituted before a court-martial to direct that the accused person shall be detained in military custody.

Clauses Act, 1897, or in section 403 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, a person convicted or acquitted by a court-martial may be afterwards tried by a criminal court for the same offence or on the same facts.

(2) If a person sentenced by a court-martial in pursuance of this Act to punishment for an offence is afterwards tried by a criminal court for the same offence or on the same facts, that court shall, in awarding punishment, have regard to the military punishment he may already have undergone.

Powers of Courts-martial.

Powers of general and summary general courts-martial.

72. A general or summary general court-martial shall have power to try any person subject to this Act for any offence made punishable therein and to pass any sentence authorized by this Act.

73. A district court-martial shall have power to try any person subject to this Act other than an officer for any offence made punishable therein, and to pass any sentence authorized by this Act other than a sentence of death, or transportation, or imprisonment for a term exceeding two years: ¹[Provided that a district court-martial shall not award to a warrant officer any punishment other than the ²[punishments specified in clauses (g), (gg) and (h) of section 43] either in addition to or in substitution for any such punishment, the punishment specified in clause (d) or the punishment specified in clause (f) of that section].

Offences triable by summary court-martial.

74. A summary court-martial may try any offence punishable under any of the provisions of this Act :

Provided that when there is no grave reason for immediate action, and reference can without detriment to discipline be made to the officer empowered to convene a district court-martial ³[or on active service a summary general court-martial] for the trial of the alleged offender, an officer holding a summary court-martial shall not try without such reference any of the following offences, namely :—

(a) any offence punishable under sections 25, 27, clauses (a), (b) or (c), 33 ⁴[or 41] or,

(b) any offence against the officer holding the court.

(4) When a witness is required to produce any particular document or other thing in his possession or power, the summons shall describe it with convenient certainty.

(5) Nothing in this section shall be deemed to affect the Indian Evidence Act, 1872, sections 123 and 124, or to apply to any letter, postcard, telegram or other document in the custody of the postal or telegraph authorities.

(6) If any document in such custody is, in the opinion of any District Magistrate, Chief Presidency Magistrate, High Court or Court of Session, wanted for the purpose of any court-martial, such Magistrate or Court may require the postal or telegraph authorities, as the case may be, to deliver such document to such person as such Magistrate or Court may direct.

(7) If any such document is, in the opinion of any other Magistrate or of any Commissioner of Police or District Superintendent of Police, wanted for any such purpose, he may require the postal or telegraph authorities, as the case may be, to cause search to be made for and to detain such document pending the orders of any such District Magistrate, Chief Presidency Magistrate or Court.

85. (1) Whenever, in the course of a trial by court-martial, it appears to the Court that the examination of a witness is necessary for the ends of justice, and that the attendance of such witness cannot be procured without an amount of delay, expense, or inconvenience which, in the circumstances of the case, would be unreasonable, such Court may address the Judge Advocate-General in order that a commission to take the evidence of such witness may be issued.

(2) The Judge Advocate-General may then, if he thinks necessary, issue a commission to any District Magistrate or Magistrate of the first class, within the local limits of whose jurisdiction such witness resides, to take the evidence of such witness.

(3) When the witness resides in ¹[any Indian State or tribal area] in which there is an officer representing the ²[Central Government or the Crown Representative] the commission may be issued to ³[that] officer.

(4) The Magistrate or officer to whom the commission is issued, or, if he is the District Magistrate, he or such Magistrate of the first class as he appoints in this behalf, shall proceed to the place where the witness is or shall summon the witness before him and shall take down his evidence in the same manner, and may for this purpose exercise the same powers, as in trials of warrant cases under the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898.

(5) Where the commission is issued to such officer as is mentioned in subsection (3), he may delegate his powers and duties under the commission to any officer subordinate to him whose powers are not less than those of a Magistrate of the first class in British India.

(6) When the witness resides out of India, the commission may be issued to any British consular officer, British Magistrate or other British official competent to administer an oath or affirmation in the place where such witness resides.

(7) The prosecutor and the accused person in any case in which a commission is issued may respectively forward any interrogatories in writing which the Court may think relevant to the issue, and the Magistrate or officer to whom the commission is issued shall examine the witness upon such interrogatories.

(8) The prosecutor and the accused person may appear before such Magistrate or officer by pleader, or, except in the case of an accused person in custody, in person, and may examine, cross-examine and re-examine (as the case may be) the said witness.

(9) After any commission issued under this section has been duly executed, it shall be returned, together with the deposition of the witness examined thereunder, to the Judge Advocate-General.

¹[108-A. In every case in which a sentence of transportation is passed under this Act, the offender, until he is transported, shall be dealt with in the same manner as if sentenced to rigorous imprisonment, and shall be deemed to have been undergoing his sentence of transportation during the term of his imprisonment.]

109. ²[Whenever an order is duly made under this Act setting aside or varying any sentence, order or warrant under which any person is confined in a civil or military prison, a warrant in accordance with such order shall be forwarded by the prescribed officer to the officer in charge of the prison in which such person is confined.]

110. In executing a sentence of solitary confinement such confinement shall in no case exceed fourteen days at a time, with intervals between the periods of solitary confinement of not less duration than such periods, and, when the imprisonment awarded exceeds three months, the solitary confinement shall not exceed seven days in any one month of the whole imprisonment awarded, with intervals between the periods of solitary confinement of not less duration than such period.

[111-B. (1) The Central Government may set apart any building or part of a building or any place under its control as a military prison for the confinement of persons sentenced to imprisonment under this Act [or under the Burma Army Act].⁵

(2) The Central Government may make rules providing—

(a) for the government, management and regulation of such military prisons;

(b) for the appointment and removal and powers of inspectors, visitors, governors and officers thereof;

(c) for the labour of prisoners undergoing confinement therein, and for enabling persons to earn, by special industry and good conduct, a remission of a portion of their sentence; and

(d) for the safe custody of prisoners and the maintenance of discipline among them and the punishment, by personal correction, restraint or otherwise, of offences committed by prisoners:

Provided that such rules shall not authorise corporal punishment to be inflicted for any offence nor render the imprisonment more severe than it is under the law for the time being in force relating to civil prisons in British India.

or the Commander-in-Chief in India, or, in the case of a sentence which he could have confirmed or which did not require confirmation the officer commanding the army, army corps, division or independent brigade in which such person at the time of his conviction was serving, or the prescribed officer may,

(a) either without conditions or upon any conditions which the person sentenced accepts, pardon the person or remit the whole or any part of the punishment awarded ;

(b) mitigate the punishment awarded, or commute such punishment for any less punishment or punishments mentioned in this Act :

Provided that a sentence of transportation shall not be commuted for a sentence of imprisonment for a term exceeding the term of transportation awarded by the Court.

(2) If any condition on which a person has been pardoned or a punishment has been remitted is, in the opinion of the authority which granted the pardon or remitted the punishment, not fulfilled, such authority may cancel the pardon or remission, and thereupon the sentence of the Court shall be carried into effect as if such pardon had not been granted or such punishment had not been remitted :

Provided that, in the case of a person sentenced to transportation or imprisonment, such person shall undergo only the unexpired portion of his sentence.

PROPERTY OF DECEASED PERSONS, DESERTERS AND LUNATICS.

¹[114. The following rules are enacted respecting the disposal of the property of every person subject to this Act who dies or deserts :—

Property of deceased persons and deserters.

(1) The commanding officer of the corps, detachment or department to which the deceased person or deserter belonged shall secure all the movable property belonging to the deceased or deserter that is in camp or quarters, and cause an inventory thereof to be made, and draw any pay and allowances due to such person.

(2) In the case of a deceased person who has left in a Government savings bank (including any post office savings Bank, however named) a deposit not exceeding one thousand rupees, the commanding officer may, if he thinks fit require the secretary or other proper officer of the bank to pay the deposit to him forthwith, notwithstanding anything in any departmental rules, and after the payment thereof in accordance with such requisition, no person shall have any right in respect of the deposit except as hereinafter provided.

(3) In the case of a deceased person whose representative is on the spot and has given security for the payment of the regimental or other debts in camp or quarters (if any) of the deceased, the commanding officer shall deliver over any property received under clauses (1) and (2) to that representative.

(4) In the case of a deceased person whose estate is not dealt with under clause (3), and in the case of any deserter, the commanding officer shall cause the movable property to be sold by public auction, and shall pay the regimental and other debts in camp or quarters (if any), and, in the case of a deceased person the expenses of his funeral ceremonies, from the proceeds of the sale and from any pay and allowances drawn under clause (1) and from the amount of the deposit (if any) received under clause (2).

(5) The surplus, if any, shall, in the case of a deceased person, be paid to his representative (if any), or in the event of no claim to such surplus being established within twelve months after the death, then the same shall be remitted to the prescribed person.

(6) In the case of a deserter, the surplus (if any) shall be forthwith remitted to the prescribed person and shall, on the expiry of three years from the date of his desertion, be forfeited to His Majesty, unless the deserter shall in the meantime have surrendered or been apprehended.

[(7) Where the deceased person or deserter is an Indian commissioned officer on active service, the references in the foregoing rules to the commanding officer shall be construed as references to the Standing Committee of Adjustment, if any, appointed in this behalf in the manner prescribed; and the power conferred by rule (2) to require payment of a deposit left in a Government savings bank shall be read as a power to require the payment from any deposit left in any bank, notwithstanding anything in the rules of the bank, of a sum, not exceeding two thousand rupees, equal to the nearest multiple of one hundred rupees above the amount estimated by the Standing Committee of Adjustment as necessary to meet the regimental and other debts in camp or quarters of the deceased.

(8) The decision of the commanding officer or the Standing Committee of Adjustment, as the case may be, as to what are the regimental and other debts in camp or quarters of a deceased person and as to the amount payable therefor shall, subject to the result of any appeal as against an order to the principal court of original civil jurisdiction in the locality, be final.]²

THE INDIAN ARMY (SUSPENSION OF SENTENCES)
ACT (XX OF 1920).¹
EFFECT OF LEGISLATION.

Year.	No.	Short title.	Repealed or otherwise how affected by Legislation.
1920	XX	The Indian Army (Suspension of Sentences) Act, 1920.	cp. in part by Act XII of 1927.

[23rd March, 1920.

An Act to consolidate and amend the law relating to the suspension of sentences passed by Courts-martial under the Indian Army Act, 1911.

WHEREAS it is expedient to consolidate and amend the law relating to the suspension of sentences of imprisonment or transportation passed by courts-martial on persons subject to the Indian Army Act, 1911 ; It is hereby enacted as follows :—

1. This Act may be called THE INDIAN ARMY
Short title and construction. (SUSPENSION OF SENTENCES) ACT, 1920, and shall be construed as one with the principal Act.

Definitions.

2. In this Act, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,—
(a) “committed” means committed to prison or to confinement in military custody ;

(b) “competent military authority” means superior military authority, or any general or other officer not below the rank of field officer duly authorised by a superior military authority ;

(c) “imprisonment” includes confinement in military custody ;

(d) “principal Act” means the Indian Army Act, 1911 ;

(e) “sentence” means a sentence of transportation or imprisonment, whether originally passed on a person subject to the principal Act, or passed by way of reduction or commutation ; and “sentenced” has the corresponding meaning ; and

(f) “superior military authority” means the Commander-in-Chief in India or any officer empowered under the principal Act to convene general courts-martial or summary general courts-martial.

3. (1) Where a person subject to the principal Act is sentenced, the confirming officer when confirming the sentence, or, in Suspension of sentences. the case of a sentence which does not require confirmation, the officer holding the trial or the President of the court-martial when passing sentence may, notwithstanding anything in the principal Act, direct that such person be not committed until the orders of a superior military authority have been obtained.

(2) A superior military authority may, in the case of any such offender so sentenced,—

(a) direct that, until his orders have been obtained, such offender shall not be committed ; and

(b) suspend the sentence whether or not the offender has already been committed.

LEG. REF.

¹ For Statement of Objects and Reasons, see Gazette of India, 1920, Pt. V, p. 124 ; and for Proceedings in Council, see ibid., 1920, Pt. VI, pp. 843 and 955.

(3) Where, in accordance with any order passed under sub-section (2), a sentence is suspended, the offender shall, whether he has been committed or not, forthwith be released.

Calculation of periods of sentence under suspension. 4. Any period during which a sentence is under suspension shall be reckoned as part of the term of such sentence.

Power to set aside suspension or order remission. 5. A superior military authority may, at any time whilst a sentence is suspended under this Act, order—

(a) that the offender be committed to undergo the unexpired portion of the sentence, or

(b) that the sentence be remitted.

6. Where a sentence has been suspended under this Act, the case may at any time, and shall at intervals of not more than four months, be reconsidered by a competent military authority, and if, on any such reconsideration, it appears to such authority that the conduct of the offender since his conviction has been such as to justify a remission of the sentence, he shall, if he is not also a superior military authority, refer the case to a superior military authority.

Procedure on further sentence of offender whose sentence is suspended. 7. Where an offender, while a sentence on him is suspended under this Act, is sentenced for any other offence, then—

(a) if the further sentence is also suspended under this Act, the two sentences shall run concurrently ;

(b) if the further sentence is for a period of three months or more and is not suspended under this Act, the offender shall also be committed on the unexpired portion of the previous sentence, but both sentences shall run concurrently ; and

(c) if the further sentence is for a period of three months or less and is not suspended under this Act, the offender shall be committed on that sentence only, and the previous sentence shall (subject to any order which may be passed under section 5 or section 6) continue to be suspended.

8. The powers conferred by this Act shall be in addition to, and not in derogation of, any powers as to the mitigation, remission or commutation of sentences conferred by the principal Act, and a superior military authority shall, as regards persons subject to that Act, be an authority having power to mitigate, remit or commute sentences under S. 112 of that Act.

9. Where in addition to any other sentence the punishment of dismissal has been awarded by a Court-martial, and such other sentence is suspended under this Act then, notwithstanding anything contained in the principal Act or in any rules made thereunder, such dismissal shall not take effect until so ordered by a superior military authority.

Provided that, if a sentence is remitted under this Act, the punishment of dismissal shall also be remitted.

SEC. 2 (8).—As to who can inspect and obtain certified copies, see 31 C. 284=8 C.W.N. 125. An extract was prepared from the ledger books of the bank. It was not a true copy and it was signed by the sub-accountant for the manager. The certificate read as follows: "We certify that this is a true extract from the books of the bank." Held, that it was not a certified copy as defined in S. 2 (8). A.I.R. 1941 Rang. 344.

SEC. 4.—See as to copy of entry in the books of a Bank not falling within the definition of company. 4 C.W.N. 433 (F.B.); 18 A. at pp. 94-95. As to who could order production of books, see 32 C. 498.

SEC. 5.—Sec. 94 (3) of Cr. P. Code does not exempt Bankers' books from production before the Police, and an officer in charge of a Police-station conducting an investigation is entitled to inspect them even without an order of Court.

Sec. 5 of this Act does not prevent him from doing so, as proceedings before him are not legal proceedings as defined in the Act. 17 L. 593=38 P.L.R. 1042. There is really no conflict between S. 94 of the Cr.P. C. and the Bankers' Books Evidence Act. S. 5 of the latter Act is the only section which can be relied upon as containing anything inconsistent with S. 94, Cr. P. Code. But all that S. 5 of that Act enacts is that no officer of the Bank shall in any legal proceeding to which the Bank is not a party be compellable to produce any bankers' book the contents of which can be proved under the Act or to appear as a witness to prove the matters, transactions and accounts, etc., unless by order of the Court or Judge made for special cause. "Court" includes a Magistrate trying a criminal case, so that a Bank cannot be compelled to produce its books without an order of the Court "for special cause." But there is no reason at all why an order made under S. 94, Cr. P. Code, should not be regarded as a sufficient order for the purpose of S. 5 of the Bankers' Books Evidence Act. There is nothing in that Act which prevents an order being made under S. 94, Cr. P. Code, in the proper case. In a prosecution against the auditors of a Bank for offences in respect of false statements in the balance-sheet of the Bank certified by them as correct, an order for production can law-

Case in which officer of banks not compellable to produce books. not a party be compellable to produce any banker's book the contents of which can be proved under this Act, or to appear as a witness to prove the matters, transactions and accounts therein recorded, unless by order of the Court or a Judge made for special cause.

6. (1) On the application of any party to a legal proceeding, the Court or a Judge may order that such party be at liberty to inspect and take copies of any entries in a banker's book for any of the purposes of such proceeding, or may order the bank to prepare and produce, within a time to be specified in the order, certified copies of all such entries, accompanied by a further certificate that no other entries are to be found in the books of the bank relevant to the matters in issue in such proceeding, and such further certificate shall be dated and subscribed in manner hereinbefore directed in reference to certified copies.

(2) An order under this or the preceding section may be made either with or without summoning the bank, and shall be served on the bank three clear days (exclusive of bank holidays) before the same is to be obeyed, unless the Court or Judge shall otherwise direct.

(3) The bank may at any time before the time limited for obedience to any such order as aforesaid either offer to produce their books at the trial or give notice of their intention to show cause against such order, and thereupon the same shall not be enforced without further order.

7. (1) The costs of any application to the Court or a Judge under or for the purposes of this Act and the costs of anything done or to be done under an order of the Court or a Judge made under or for the purposes of this Act shall be in the discretion of the Court or Judge, who may further order such costs or any part thereof to be paid to any party by the bank if they have been incurred in consequence of any fault or improper delay on the part of the bank.

(2) Any order made under this section for the payment of costs to or by a bank may be enforced as if the bank were a party to the proceeding.

(3) Any order under this section awarding costs may, on application to any Court of Civil Judicature designated in the order, be executed by such Court as if the order were a decree for money passed by itself:

Provided that nothing in this sub-section shall be construed to derogate from any power which the Court or Judge making the order may possess for the enforcement of its or his directions with respect to the payment of costs.

fully be made under S. 94, Cr. P. Code, but it should be made, in the case of bankers' books, very cautiously and carefully drafted. A routine order ex parte is generally undesirable. The prosecutor who applies for an order and for inspection of the books produced should be required to state before the issue of the order not only what books he requires to be produced but also why their production is necessary with specific reference to the allegations in his complaint. Anything in the nature of a roving or fishing inspection of the books of a Bank should be prevented. But the prosecution cannot be denied the right of inspection of documents the production of which has been held to be necessary or desirable for the purpose of the trial and which have been held to be relevant after considering the objections of the party producing. I.L.R. (1938) Bom. 31.

Sec. 6.—An order under the section cannot, ordinarily in the absence of special circumstances, be made without notice to the other side. 5 Bom.L.R. 865; 1932 B. 428. See also 20 M. 189 (196). A Bank has under S. 6, sub-S. (3) of the Act statutory right to object to any order directing inspection to be given of its books. It is not the practice of the Court to allow inspection of bankers' books under the Act, unless a prima facie case is made out for thinking that there is some matter on which the books of the Bank are bound to be relevant. Courts have no doubt very wide powers of ordering production and directing inspection of documents but such an order against a person, not a party to the proceedings involves a serious inroad upon his normal rights as a citizen. Courts are always averse to giving anything in the nature of a roving or fishing commission to inspect documents. I.L.R. (1938) B. 119=39 Bom. L. R. 1187=A.I.R. 1938 B. 33 (S.B.). 1926	XXXVIII	The Indian Bar Councils Act, 1926.	Amended by Act XIII of 1927.

An Act to provide for the constitution of Bar Councils in British India and for other purposes.

WHEREAS it is expedient to provide for the constitution and incorporation of Bar Councils for certain Courts in British India, to confer powers and impose duties on such Bar Councils, and to consolidate and amend the law relating to legal practitioners entitled to practise in such Courts; it is hereby enacted as follows:—

Preliminary.

Short title, extent, application and commencement.

1. (1) This Act may be called THE INDIAN BAR COUNCILS ACT, 1926.

(2) It extends to the whole of British India, and shall apply to the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal, and at Madras, Bombay, Allahabad²[and] Patna³ [* * *] and to such other High Courts within the meaning of clause (24) of section 3 of the General Clauses Act, 1897, as the⁴[Provincial Government] may, by notification⁵ in the Official Gazette declare to be High Courts to which this Act applies.

(3) This section and sections 2, 17, 18 and 19 shall come into force at once; and the Central Government may, by notification⁶ in the Official Gazette

LEG. REF.

²Inserted by A.O., 1937.

³Words "and Rangoon" omitted by ibid.

⁴Substituted for "Governor-General in Council" by ibid.

⁵For notification declaring the Chief Court of Oudh to be a High Court to which this Act applies, see Gazette of India, 1928, Pt. I, p. 325.

⁶For such notification appointing the 1st March, 1928, as the date on which the rest of the Act will come into force in respect of the Chief Court of Oudh and secs. 3 to 7 in respect of Calcutta High Court, see Gazette of India, 1928, Pt. I, p. 325.

Provisions of secs. 8-16 came into force from the 1st July, 1928, in respect of Calcutta High Court, see Gazette of India, 1928, Pt. I, p. 382.

The rest of the Act came into force from the 16th July, 1928, in respect of Madras High Court, see Gazette of India, 1928, Pt. I, p. 382; in respect of Allahabad High Court from 1st June, 1928, see Gazette of India, 1928, Pt. I, p. 400; in respect of Patna High Court, from 1st January, 1929, see ibid., p. 703; in respect of Bombay and Rangoon High Courts, from 1st January, 1929, see ibid., p. 714.

—SEC. 1: (Per Sulaiman, Banerjee and Sen, JJ.).—Independently of this Act, the High Court does no longer possess any inherent jurisdiction to punish an advocate for professional misconduct or to adopt a procedure for enquiry other than that laid down in the Act or to pass an order for costs against him or to impose a fine not contemplated by the Act. 1930 A. 225=52 A. 619=1930 A.L.J. 402 (F.B.).

direct that the other provisions of this Act, or any provision thereof specified in the notification, shall come into force in respect of any High Court to which this Act applies on such date as he may by notification appoint.

Interpretation.

2. (1) In this Act, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,—

(a) “advocate” means an advocate entered in the roll of advocates of a High Court under the provisions of this Act ;

(b) “Advocate-General” includes where there is no Advocate-General, the Government Advocate and, where there is no Advocate-General or Government Advocate, such officer as the Provincial Government may declare to be the Advocate-General for the purposes of this Act ;

(c) “High Court” means a High Court to which this Act applies, and

(d) “prescribed” means prescribed by rules made under this Act.

Constitution of Bar Councils.

Constitution and incorporation of Bar Councils.

3. (1) For every High Court a Bar Council shall be constituted in the manner hereinafter provided.

LEG. REF.

The High Court has power to refuse admission to the Bar to any person at its discretion. But weight should be attached to the recommendation of the Bar Council which represents the view of the legal profession. 1930 A. 22=1929 A.L.J. 1105=123 I.C. 683 ; 124 I.C. 659=5 Luck. 615.

Advocates enrolled in the Madras High Court under the provisions of the Act, are entitled to act and plead in the insolvency jurisdiction of the High Court. 52 M. 92=1928 M. 1182=55 M.L.J. 551.

All judicial officers should keep a vigilant eye on the conduct of legal practitioners of whatever status and should in proper cases institute inquiries under the Act according to the status of the legal practitioner concerned ; but legal practitioners are entitled also to the protection of the Court and inquiries should not be instituted or complaints made without having given very grave consideration to the reasonable probability of the case against the legal practitioner being well founded. As much injustice may be done to a legal practitioner by ill-conceived proceedings against him as may be done to the public interest and to the general body of legal practitioners by failure to keep a vigilant eye upon and take proper and strong action against cases of misconduct. Complaint rejected. 1931 A.L.J. 678=1931 A. 580.

In a proceeding against a legal practitioner under the Act it is open to the High Court to consider the case on the evidence and arrive at a different conclusion to that of the Bar Tribunal. 1930 M.W.N. 216. An advocate convicted for an offence of perjury although struck off the roll of vakils must be dealt with under the Act, he having been enrolled as the Advocate of the High Court under the provisions of the Act. 131 I.C. 67=8 O.W.N. 267=1931 O. 161.

Where the High Court went into the report of the Bar Council and inflicted punishment on a legal practitioner, and a counsel appeared on behalf of the Bar Council all the time, held, that the legal practitioner should be directed to pay a fee to the counsel. 1930 M.W.N. 216. Where a complaint against legal practitioner is made before the Act came into force but the enquiry takes place under the Act, the High Court has the power to direct the practitioner to pay the costs of the proceedings before the Tribunal and before the High Court. 54 M. 857=134 I.C. 33=61 M.L.J. 148 (F.B.).

Before the Court will set aside a bar council election because of certain irregularities in the conduct of the election, it must be satisfied that the election was not an election in substance conducted under existing law according to the rules framed for the holding of the election. An election ought not to be held void by reason of transgressions of the law committed without any corrupt motive in the conduct of the election, if the Court is satisfied that the result of the election was not and could not have been affected by those transgressions. 1935 A. 295=157 I.C. 220.

An advocate who has once been consulted by a party is not thereby debarred from appearing for the opposite party for all times. He is free to accept a brief against him, if he has not received any information of a confidential nature from the party who consulted him. The onus of proving that such information was conveyed lies and lies heavily on the party seeking to restrain the advocate's appearance. I.L.R. (1940) All. 262=1940 A.L.J. 170=A.I.R. 1940 All. 233. See also 11 O.W.N. 23=1934 Oudh 58 (S.B.).

SEC. 2 (c) : HIGH COURT.—High Court referred to in the Act is a chartered High Court. Benares State Chief Court is neither a High Court within the meaning of the Act nor subordinate to the Allahabad High Court. 1930 A. 91 (1)=27 A.L.J. 1195.

(2) Every Bar Council so constituted shall be a body corporate having perpetual succession and a common seal with power to acquire and hold property, both movable and immovable and to contract, and shall by the name of the Bar Council of the High Court for which it has been constituted sue and be sued.

Composition of Bar Councils. 4. (1) Every Bar Council shall consist of fifteen members, of whom—

- (a) one shall be the Advocate-General;
- (b) four shall be persons nominated by the High Court, of whom not more than two may be Judges of that Court; and
- (c) ten shall be elected by the advocates of the High Court from amongst their number.

(2) Of the elected members of every Bar Council not less than five shall be persons who have for not less than ten years been entitled as of right to practice in the High Court for which the Bar Council has been constituted.

(3) Of the elected members of the Bar Councils to be constituted for the High Courts of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal and at Bombay such proportion as the High Court may direct in each case shall be persons who have, for such minimum period as the High Court may determine, been entitled to practice in the High Court in the exercise of its original jurisdiction, and such number as may be fixed by the High Court out of the said proportion shall be barristers of England or Ireland or members of the Faculty of Advocates in Scotland.

(4) There shall be a Chairman and Vice-Chairman of each Bar Council elected by the Council in such manner as may be prescribed:

Provided that the Advocate-General of Bengal, Madras and Bombay shall be Chairman ex-officio, respectively, of the Bar Councils constituted for the High Courts of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal, at Madras and at Bombay.

5. (1) Notwithstanding anything contained in clause (c) of sub-section (1) of section 4, the elected members of the first Bar Council constituted under this Act for any High Court shall be elected by and from amongst the advocates, vakils and pleaders who are on the date of the election entitled as of right to practise in the High Court.

(2) The terms of office of the nominated and elected members of any such first Bar Council shall be three years from the date of the first meeting of the Council.

Power to make rules regarding constitution and procedure of Bar Councils. 6. (1) Rules, consistent with this Act, may be made to provide for the following matters, namely:—

(a) the manner in which elections of members of the Bar Council shall be held; the method of determining; in accordance with the provisions of sub-sections (2) and (3) of section 4, the candidates who shall be declared to have been elected; the manner in which the result of elections shall be published; and the manner in which and the authority by which doubts and disputes as to the validity of an election shall be finally decided;

(b) the terms of office of nominated and elected members of the Council;

(c) the filling of casual vacancies in the Council;

(d) the convening of meetings of the Council, and the quorum necessary for the transaction of business thereat;

(e) the manner of election and the respective terms of office of the Chair-

SEC. 6 (1) (b) AND (4).—The powers conferred by this section to provide for retirement of members from office by rotation, relate to the first Bar Council also, and are not confined to its successors alone. 163 I.C. 510=A.I.R. 1936 Sind 75 (S.B.).

men, in cases where the Chairman is to be elected, and of the Vice-Chairman ; and ;

(f) any matter incidental or ancillary to any of the foregoing matters.

(2) The first rules under this section shall be made by the High Court, but the Bar Council may thereafter, with the previous sanction of the High Court, add to, amend or rescind any rules so made.

(3) No election of a member or members to the Council shall be called in question on the ground that due notice thereof has not been given to any person entitled to vote thereat, if notice of the date fixed for the election has, not less than thirty days before that date, been published in the Official Gazette of the Province, or of each province as the case may be, in which the High Court exercises jurisdiction.

(4) Rules made under clause (b) of sub-section (1) may provide for the retirement of members from office by rotation and for the manner in which the order of such retirement shall be determined.

Power of Bar Councils to make bye-laws. 7. The Bar Council may make bye-laws consistent with this Act and any rules made thereunder to provide for any of the following matters, namely :—

(a) the appointment of such ministerial officers and servants as the Bar Council may deem necessary, and the pay and allowances and other conditions of service of such officers and servants ; and

(b) the appointment and constitution of Committees of the Council, the procedure of such Committees, and the determination of the powers or duties of the Council which may be delegated to such Committees.

Admission and enrolment of advocates.

8. (1) No person shall be entitled as of right to practise in any High Court,

Enrolment of Advocates. unless his name is entered in the roll of the advocates of the High Court maintained under this Act :

Provided that nothing in this sub-section shall apply to any attorney of the High Court.

(2) The High Court shall prepare and maintain a roll of advocates of the High Court in which shall be entered the names of—

(a) all persons who were, as advocates, vakils or pleaders, entitled as of right to practise in the High Court immediately before the date on which this section comes into force in respect thereof ; and

(b) all other persons who have been admitted to be advocates of the High Court under this Act :

Provided that such persons shall have paid in respect of enrolment the stamp duty, if any, chargeable under the Indian Stamp Act, 1899, and a fee, payable to the Bar Council, which shall be ten rupees in the case of the persons referred to in clause (a) and in other cases such amount as may be prescribed.

[(3) Entries in the roll shall be made in the order of seniority, and such seniority shall be determined as follows, namely :—

(a) all such persons as are referred to in clause (a) of sub-section (2) shall be entered first in the order in which they were respectively entitled to seniority inter se immediately before the date on which this section comes into force in respect of the High Court ; and

SEC. 6 (2).—Where in framing the rules, there is substantial compliance with the provisions of the Act, the omission on the part of the Bar Council strictly to follow the procedure enjoyed in sec. 6 (2) does not amount to an illegality and it is no more than an irregularity. 157 I.C. 220=1935 A. 295.

SEC. 8 : PRACTICE—MEANING OF.—Advocates enrolled in the High Court of Madras are entitled not only to appear and plead but also to act in the insolvency jurisdiction of the High Court. 52 M. 92=55 M.L.J. 551=1928 M. 1182. An agent with a power-of-attorney to appear and conduct judicial proceedings has no right of audience in Court. Nor is he entitled to notice if his principal wants to appear and conduct the proceedings himself in person or appoints an advocate to appear for him. Such a power-of-attorney agent cannot carry on business as a solicitor or attorney against drafting, engrossing and filing plaint, Judge's summons, affidavits and generally issuing legal process and charge fees to the principal. 46 L.W. 734=1937 M.W. N. 1060.

(b) the seniority of any other person admitted to be an advocate of the High Court under this Act after the date shall be determined by the date of his admission, or, if he is a barrister, by the date of his admission or the date on which he was called to the Bar, whichever date is earlier :

Provided that, for the purposes of clause (b), the seniority of a person who before his admission to be an advocate was entitled as of right to practise in another High Court shall be determined by the date on which he became so entitled.

(4) The respective rights of pre-audience of advocates of the High Court shall be determined by seniority :

Provided that the Advocate-General shall have pre-audience over all other advocates and King's Counsel shall have pre-audience over all advocates except, the Advocate-General.]¹

¹(5) The High Court shall issue a certificate of enrolment to every person enrolled under this section.

SEC. 8 (4) : ACTING ADVOCATE-GENERAL—RIGHT OF PRE-AUDIENCE.—The Acting Advocate-General is entitled as much as the Advocate-General, to a right of pre-audience over all other advocates in respect of all business whether for the Crown or of a private nature. 196 I.C. 793=33 Bom.L.R. 1500 (F.B.).

SECS. 8 AND 9.—The petitioner, an advocate of the Rangoon High Court, who had obtained the law degree of the Rangoon University, was enrolled as an advocate of the Rangoon High Court long before the province of Burma was separated from British India under the Government of India Act of 1935. As a result of the invasion of Burma by the Japanese, the petitioner came over to Madras where he was born, and applied to the High Court at Madras for enrolment as an advocate of that High Court. The Bar Council of Madras passed a resolution under the proviso to R. 16 of the Madras Bar Council Rules, recommending exemption from strict compliance with the rules requiring study for one year as a pupil in the chambers of an advocate practising in Madras and the passing of the prescribed examination etc. The petitioner who had already paid the stamp fee under Art. 30 of the Indian Stamp Act to the Rangoon High Court for his enrolment there also applied for exemption from paying the stamp fee over again for his enrolment in the High Court at Madras. Held, (1) that the case was a fit one for granting an exemption from strict compliance with the Madras Bar Council Rules relating to enrolment; (2) that the petitioner, having once paid the stamp fee, as required by Art. 30 of the Stamp Act to the Rangoon High Court, which had the status of an "Indian High Court" at that time, came within the exemption contained in that Article, and was not therefore bound to pay fresh stamp fee on his enrolment in the High Court of Madras. I.L.R. (1942) Mad. 663=55 L.W. 327=A.I.R. 1942 Mad. 455=(1942) 1 M.L.J. 599 (F.B.). The applicant passed his law examination in 1919; he was enrolled as a pleader in 1920 and as a pleader of the first grade in 1922. He applied for admission as an advocate of the Chief Court, which application was objected to by the Bar Council. It was found from record that in a suit wherein he had appeared, even though he had received a payment of a sum which was due on a decree passed in favour of the decree-holder he had retained the money from August 1924 till April 1926, and had then paid to the decree-holder, under circumstances not free from suspicion. Held, that in this instance the Bar Council had not acted otherwise than honestly, fairly and without prejudice and therefore the applicant was refused admission as an advocate of the Chief Court. 6 O.W.N. 1080=1930 Oudh 121=5 Luck. 615.

If the Bar Council can establish that as fair-minded men, who have treated the application for admission as advocate on its merits and in a reasonable manner, they are convinced that a certain member of the profession does not deserve to be enrolled as an advocate and that his enrolment will be prejudicial to the credit of the body of advocates their objections should prevail. It may not be that the conduct in question deserves suspension or removal. Such conduct may not be such as to debar the applicant from practising in the Courts subordinate to the Chief Court. It may well be said that a man is not good enough to be an advocate, although he may be allowed to practise in such Courts. 6 O.W.N. 1080=1930 Oudh 121. See also 1930 A. 22=123 I.C. 683.

9. (1) The Bar Council may, with the previous sanction of the High Court, make rules to regulate the admission of persons to be advocates of the High Court :

Qualification and admission of advocates.

Provided that such rules shall not limit or in any way affect the power of the High Court to refuse admission to any person at its discretion.

(2) In particular and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power, such rules shall provide for the following matters, namely :—

(a) the qualifications to be possessed by persons applying for admission as advocates ;

(b) the form and manner in which applications shall be made to the High Court for admission ;

(c) the giving of notice by the High Court to the Bar Council of all such applications ;

(d) the hearing by the High Court of any objection preferred on behalf of the Bar Council to the admission of any applicant ; and

(e) the charging of fees payable to the Bar Council in respect of enrolment.

(3) Rules made under this section shall provide that no women shall be disqualified for admission to be an advocate by reason only of her sex.

(4) Nothing in this section or in any other provision of this Act shall be deemed to limit or in any way affect the powers of the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal and at Bombay to prescribe the qualifications to be possessed by persons applying to practise in those High Courts respectively in the exercise of their original jurisdiction or the powers of those High Courts to grant or refuse, as they think fit, any such application [or to prescribe the conditions under which such persons shall be entitled to practise or plead.]¹

Misconduct.

10. (1) The High Court may, in the manner hereinafter provided, reprimand, suspend or remove from practice any advocate of the High Court whom it finds guilty of professional or other misconduct.

Punishment of advocate for misconduct.

SEC. 9.—Under Rules framed by Karachi Bar Council, an application for enrolment will be dismissed in the absence of the receipt for the payment of fees attached to it. 158 I.C. 57=1935 Sind 180 (S.B.). Under Rules framed by Sind Court, the applicant should be accompanied by a certificate or other proof that the applicant has taken the degree; and a mere certificate from the District Court that he has been allowed to practise there is not sufficient. 158 I.C. 707=1935 Sind 196.

SEC. 9 (4).—"High Court" referred to in Bar Councils Act, R. 1 (All.) is a Chartered High Court. 1929 A.L.J. 1195=1930 A. 91 (1).

BENARES STATE CHIEF COURT is neither a High Court within the meaning of Bar Council, R. 1, nor is it subordinate to the Allahabad High Court, and hence, a legal practitioner who enrolls himself as a pleader in Allahabad District Court and practises in the Benares State Courts cannot be treated as having practised in any High Court or a Court subordinate to Allahabad High Court and as such he is not entitled to be enrolled as an advocate of the Allahabad High Court. 1929 A. L.J. 1195=1930 A. 91 (1). See also 1930 A.L.J. 899=1930 A. 887.

The Subordinate Courts referred to in the proviso to R. 1 (All.) are Courts within the province. Courts in Ajmera are not Courts subordinate to the Allahabad High Court. 1930 A.L.J. 899=128 I.C. 388=1930 A. 887.

Rule 10 of the Appellate Side Rules of the Bombay High Court is not ultra vires. Advocates on the Appellate Side did not come within the definition of "pleader" as defined in sec. 4 of the Cr. P. Code for the purposes of the Sessions Court because they are not authorised by law for the time being in force to practise in that Court. So, they have no right of audience in the Sessions side of that Court. 36 Bom.L.R. 1=1934 B. 70=58 B. 456 (F.B.).

SEC. 10.—Unprofessional conduct—Notice issued by High Court after the Act came into force—Ultra vires. See 51 A. 79. See also 1930 A. 225=52 A. 619 (F.B.).

The jurisdiction under the Bar Councils Act is one which ought to be circumspectly exercised. Though it is true that a deliberate fraud of a criminal character committed on a client must necessarily amount to professional misconduct in an advocate, it does not follow that the special tribunal created by the Bar Councils Act is one which ought necessarily to deal, at any rate in the first place, with every case in which an advocate is charged with committing a fraud or other crime in relation to his professional practice. A distinction should be drawn between misconduct which is of a purely professional character and misconduct which also lies within the ambit of the criminal law.

(2) Upon receipt of a complaint made to it by any Court or by the Bar Council, or by any other person that any such advocate has been guilty of misconduct, the High Court shall, if it does not summarily reject the complaint, refer the case for inquiry either to the Bar Council, or, after consultation with the Bar Council, to the Court of a District Judge (hereinafter referred to as a District Court) and may of its own motion so refer any case in which it has otherwise reason to believe that any such advocate has been so guilty.

In the former case the special tribunal contemplated by the Act is a proper one to deal exclusively with purely professional delinquencies. But in the latter class of misconduct, the special tribunal under the Act will not in all cases usurp the functions of a Civil or Criminal Court and simple cases such as a charge of misappropriation should be dealt with under S. 10 only, after the complainant has taken such steps, if any, as he may be advised to take to establish either the guilt of the practitioner in question in a Criminal Court or his liability in a Civil Court. Should either of those proceedings be taken and terminate in the framing of the charges levelled by the complainant against the advocate in question, then it will be possible for him to approach the High Court again under the Bar Councils Act. I.L.R. (1941) All. 592=1941 A.L.J. 390=A.I.R. 1941 All. 280 (S.B.) It is obligatory on the part of a District Judge who is directed by the High Court under S. 10 (2) to hold an inquiry into the conduct of an Advocate practising in the district, who has been accused of misappropriation of client's money, to hold the inquiry after framing a charge. The failure on the part of the District Judge to frame a charge vitiates the whole of the proceedings. 57 L.W. 97=I.L.R. (1944) Mad. 397=A.I.R. 1944 Mad. 247=(1944) 1 M.L.J. 124 (F.B.).

LOCUS STANDI TO MAKE COMPLAINT.—It is open to any person to complain to the Court as to the undesirability of certain remarks made by a Counsel during the course of a trial. Where a Mahamadan counsel made some communal remarks during the course of a trial, it is open to the Hindu Association to make a complaint to the High Court to take action in the matter. 162 I.C. 919=37 Cr.L.J. 783=1936 Sind 49.

CONTEMPT OF COURT.—In re Wallace (L.R. 1 P.C. 283) is no authority for holding that an advocate should never be punished professionally for contempt of Court committed by him in his personal capacity, however gross the offence may be. Each case must be dealt with according to the circumstances. Where a pleader in his capacity as a suitor in the Small Cause Court made a grossly improper remark reflecting upon the Judges of the High Court who at that stage had no concern whatever with the suit and a gratuitous hit at the Chief Justice without the slightest justification and was fined Rs. 75 for contempt of Court, held, that the fine was not under the circumstances sufficient and that he should be suspended from practice for six months. 55 A. 148=1933 A. 224. But see also 1932 A. 492 (S.B.). An Advocate deliberately making false allegations involving imputations upon the fairness and impartiality of judicial officers in proceedings connected with an execution case to which he was himself a party cannot be punished under the disciplinary side

WHAT IS MISCONDUCT—DISCRETION OF COURT.—The words "professional or other misconduct" in sec. 10 (1) should be read in their plain and natural meaning. The legislature intended by the aforesaid words to confer on the High Court jurisdiction to take action in all cases of misconduct in a professional or other capacity. 63 C. 867=37 Cr.L.J. 534=40 C.W.N. 366=1936 C. 158 (S.B.). The word "may" in sec. 10 (1) makes it plain that while the High Court has unrestricted jurisdiction in all cases of misconduct, a discretion is left to the Court to take action in suitable cases only. It is not possible to lay down any hard and fast rule or any general principles with regard to exercise of such discretion. It must be exercised judicially. Ibid. The test that the Court has to apply in considering whether an advocate should be struck off the roll is whether his proved misconduct is such that he must be regarded as unworthy to remain a member of the profession and unfit to be entrusted with the responsible duties that an advocate is called upon to perform. Ibid. See also 59 B. 57=36 Bom.L.R. 1136; 59 B. 676 (P.C.) Cl. 10 of the Letters Patent which empowers the High Court to remove or suspend from practice advocates, vakils, or attorneys on "reasonable cause" gives a wide discretion to the Court in regard to the exercise of this disciplinary authority. "Reasonable cause" in the clause means the same as professional or other misconduct under S. 10 of the Bar Councils Act. "Misconduct" is a sufficiently wide expression; it is not necessary that it should involve moral turpitude. Any conduct which in any way renders a man unfit for the exercise of his profession or is likely to hamper or embarrass the administration of justice by the High Court or any of the Courts subordinate thereto may be considered to be misconduct calling for disciplinary action. What the Court has to consider is the conduct of the Advocate or Attorney as it affects his position as an Advocate or Attorney and his relations to the Court. 43 Bom. L.R. 250. An advocate was convicted for submitting a false return of his income to the income-tax authorities and for taking up a false defence and maintaining it even up to the High Court, even though he knew such defence to be false. Held, that his conduct involved moral turpitude and that his name should be struck off the roll. 12 R. 110=1934 R. 33=149 I.C. 856. An advocate was guilty of misconduct involving moral turpitude by falsely verifying an application and endeavouring to deceive the Court and to deprive the decree-holder of money due to him. But the complainant did not file his complaint out of any high sense of public duty. A third person, who had been engaged in litigation with the advocate in his personal capacity, was behind the appli-

11. (1) Where any case is referred for inquiry to the Bar Council under cation and had paid the expenses. The application was made out of a desire further to harass the advocate. The advocate was not acting for a client in this matter but was engaged in his own litigation, and that in the end no one had suffered by his action. He was subjected to heavy expenses in defending himself upon all these charges. Held, that an order suspending the advocate from practice for the term of three calendar months would be sufficient in the peculiar circumstances. 1932 A.L.J. 773=1932 A. 492 (S.B.). It is extremely necessary that advocates having to withdraw money or to accept serious responsibility of the kind from and on behalf of a client should even if there be no apparent circumstances to justify a suspicion do everything in their power to verify the form of the Vakalatnama, and further more should not accept a Vakalatnama unless they have satisfied themselves of the bona fides of the person who offers it to them. 16 P. 488=17 P.L.T. 407=A.I.R. 1937 P. 493 (S.B.). Agreement with client to receive payment only in the event of success is professional misconduct. 50 L.W. 234=A.I.R. 1939 Mad. 772=(1939) 2 M.L.J. 320 (F.B.). As to being engaged in money-lending business, see 1939 A.W.R. (H.C.) 828=1939 A.L.J. 957 (F.B.).

ADVOCATE ENTERING INTO PARTNERSHIP.—An advocate entering into a partnership business or trade as partner is guilty of misconduct. 158 I.C. 278=1935 O.W.N. 1029; 159 I.C. 561=1935 A. 1023. See also I.L.R. (1940) All. 60=A.I.R. 1940 All. 1 (F.B.).

THE PURCHASE OF A SPECULATIVE INTEREST IN A CONTEMPLATED LITIGATION by an Advocate benami in the name of his mother, by concealing his identity as the real purchaser, denial of the fact of the benami purchase and assertion that the mother was the real purchaser and production of false evidence in support thereof amount to misconduct which upon a strict view of professional ethics renders him unfit to be a member of the legal profession. 1942 O.W.N. 756=1943 Oudh 159.

NEGLECT OF ADVOCATE.—Where negligence on the part of an advocate, however gross, does not amount to misconduct, professional or otherwise, when it is not accompanied by moral delinquency. 62 C. 158=157 I.C. 374=1935 C. 484. But it would constitute misconduct if negligence be accompanied by suppression of truth or by deliberate misrepresentation. Ibid. An advocate was engaged to file a suit. The advocate employed an unregistered clerk and left the plaint with him for presentation. The clerk failed to file the plaint and thus the suit was not filed. The advocate however did not take care to see whether the suit had been filed by looking into the cause list and thus allowed his clerk to cheat his client. Besides this the advocate did not return or account for the money he had taken from his client for stamps and other incidental purposes. Held, that the conduct of the advocate amounted to gross misconduct. 178 I.C. 398=A.I.R. 1938 Rang. 423 (S.B.). It is manifest that it is improper for an advocate to address a letter to a clerk in a Magistrate's office asking that an application filed by him should be dealt with urgently. The proper course for an advocate, if there was any delay, to bring the matter to the notice of the Magistrate himself. 1941 M.W.N. 56=53 L.W. 62=(1941) 1 M.L.J. 128 (F.B.)=I.L.R. (1941) Mad. 354=A.I.R. (1941) Mad. 230.

BREACH OF TRUST.—An advocate who was convicted for two offences of criminal breach of trust in respect of a large amount and of attempt to cheat and who dishonestly induced a lady to part with a security, is guilty of misconduct and his name should be removed from the rolls. 159 I.C. 1036=1935 R. 458.

ATTEMPT TO BRIBE JUDGE.—An advocate attempting to bribe a judge to obtain judgement in his client's favour is guilty of grossest misconduct. 19 R. 518=26 Cr.L.J. 961=156 I.C. 582=1935 R. 178 (S.B.).

When a complaint is made, the Court under the Act can only dismiss it summarily or else refer it to the Bar Tribunal to inquire into. The Court would not generally be justified in dismissing a petition summarily unless it was satisfied that, even if the allegations made in the petition be proved, there would be no case for taking action. 138 I.C. 543=34 Bom.L.R. 443=1932 B. 199. The question whether a particular advocate has violated the recognized canons of professional etiquette is primarily a matter that concerns the Bar Council and consequently the High Court ordinarily will accept findings on questions of fact recorded by the Bar Tribunal provided they are not perverse. 1939 A.L.J. 957 (F.B.).

PUNISHMENT.—(Per C. J. and Gentile, J.). An advocate who misappropriates his client's moneys is not fit to remain a member of an honourable profession of advocates of the High Court, and the High Court should be failing in its duty if it does not direct the advocate's name to be removed from the rolls. The advocate is guilty of a criminal offence and such conduct cannot be condoned as to do so would encourage crimes of that nature and might have a harmful effect on the profession as a whole. The fact that the misappropriation is only temporary does not lessen the offence or the gravity of the misconduct. Varadachariar, J.—Though the conduct of an advocate who misappropriates the moneys belonging to his client must be strongly disapproved and though the members of the profession should observe the highest standard of professional conduct, the Court when dealing with the question of punishment, cannot shut its eyes to the fact that those standards have not unfortunately yet come to be generally observed and the way that advocates and clients carry on their pecuniary dealings sometimes leads advocates to imagine that they can persuade their clients to condone the faults on their part in dealing with their client's money. the possibility or even the fact of condonation by the client is, however, no justification for such conduct. 1937 M.W.N. 1322 (F.B.).

SECS. 10 AND 11: "PROFESSIONAL OR OTHER MISCONDUCT".—Merely having been member, or assisted the operation or managed the affairs, of an unlawful association does not render an advocate unfit to exercise his profession. Nor does such conduct necessarily involve any moral turpitude, or any attack upon the system of which the Court forms part, or embarrass in section 10, the case shall be inquired into by a Committee of the Bar Council (hereinafter referred to as the Tribunal of Bar Council. Tribunal).

(2) The Tribunal shall consist of not less than three and not more than five members of the Bar Council appointed for the purpose of the inquiry by the Chief Justice or Chief Judge of the High Court, and one of the members so appointed shall be appointed to be the President of the Tribunal.

any way the administration of justice by the Court. No action is therefore called for in such a case. 59 B. 57=1935 B. 1=36 Bom.L.R. 1136 (F.B.). An advocate took a prominent part in Labour and Trade Union Movements and delivered a number of speeches advocating certain reforms. For some of these speeches he was bound over for one year under sec. 107, Cr. P. Code. For others, he was prosecuted under sec. 124-A, I. P. Code, and convicted thrice. There was no indication that he made any organised or persistent attempt to create a breach of the peace or to incite acts tending to subvert law and order. The general tenor of the speeches was inoffensive. Held, no further action was called for in the case. 63 C. 867=37 Cr.L.J. 534=40 C.W.N. 366=1936 C. 158 (S.B.). It is not part of the duty of the High Court to impose penalties for misconduct, unconnected with the exercise of the profession, which is either not punishable or has been, or can be, punished under the law of the land. The State imposes suitable penalties for the infringement of its laws, and provides proper sanctions for the enforcement of such penalties; and there is no reason why the Court's disciplinary jurisdiction should be employed merely in aid of the criminal law. 59 B. 57; 63 C. 867. In cases of misconduct involving moral turpitude, the Court has to see whether the advocate has shown himself to be unworthy of the confidence of the Court, or unfit to be entrusted with the business of his client or a person with whom his professional brethren cannot be expected to associate. But these are not the only cases in which the High Court may be called upon to take action. An advocate might engage in revolutionary activities designed to destroy the system of which the Court forms part, or activities likely to hamper or embarrass the administration of justice by the Courts. What has to be considered in such cases is the conduct of the advocate as it affects his position as an advocate and his relations to the Court. It will not tolerate on its rolls an advocate who is trying to undermine or destroy the authority of the Court. Anyone electing to engage in activities of that nature must do so without the authority and prestige attached to the position of an advocate. 36 Bom.L.R. 1136=59 B. 57=1935 B. 1 (F.B.). A conviction for the offence of sedition under sec. 124-A, I. P. Code, cannot be regarded as such misconduct as would, in all circumstances, require action to be taken under the Courts' disciplinary jurisdiction and as would demand the removal of the advocate from practice. 63 C. 867.

EVIDENCE OF MISCONDUCT.—The fact that an advocate has been convicted of a criminal offence is evidence of his misconduct within the meaning of this section. 59 B. 676=1935 P. C. 168=69 M.L.J. 431 (P.C.). It is not incumbent on the Advocate-General to adduce evidence of the grounds on which the conviction is based. It is for the Court to decide whether the conviction is evidence of such misconduct as to call for disciplinary action by it. Ibid. Where the High Court in its discretion proceeded to consider whether in the circumstances the misconduct proved called for any disciplinary action, the Privy Council will not interfere. Ibid. The judgment and evidence in a Civil suit are admissible as evidence in an inquiry under this section, but they are not conclusive proof. (Iqbal Ahmed, J., dissenting). 159 I.C. 561=1935 A. 1023.

SECS. 10 to 13.—Where a complaint has been made to the Chief Justice and the Judges of the High Court under sec. 10, and such complaint has been referred to the Bar Council to be enquired into by a tribunal, it is incumbent upon the tribunal to come to some finding or other and it cannot abandon the proceeding merely because the complainant withdrew the complaint. 1930 C. 574=57 C. 724. It is highly unsatisfactory from the point of view of advocates and of the public that any one should make a solemn complaint against one of them to the High Court and have the matter referred to the tribunal and that then, without any finding which could clear the advocate, the enquiry should be dropped. The complainant after the matter has been referred to the tribunal is not in any way a person who is like a plaintiff dominus lites and if such complainant withdraws the complaint, and if from circumstances and evidence the tribunal is of opinion that there is no need to investigate and the charge preferred has no substance it can so report. In other circumstances it is open to the tribunal to exercise its own discretion whether to employ its power to summon the complainant personally or other people. The Act requires that the tribunal should come to a finding. 57 C. 724=1930 C. 574 (Per Rankin C.J.). See also 1931 A. 580. The Bar Council is in the position of a trustee and guardian of the dignity and privileges of the Bar and the rights and duties of its members and it is to the interest of the profession that when a charge is made against an advocate it should either be cleared or brought home to him. The rules are so designed that on a charge of misconduct, there should be a finding one way or the other. 57 C. 724=1930 C. 574 (Per Buckland, J.).

SECS. 10 and 19.—A notice was issued on the 13th June, 1928, by the High Court against a pleader calling upon him to show cause why he should not be dealt with under the Legal Practitioners Act for professional misconduct. Objection was taken by the pleader in view of the Bar Councils Act which had come into force on 1st June, 1928. Held, that the provisions of the Letters Patent in so far as they may conflict with the provisions of the Act, were abrogated

12. (1) The High Court shall make rules to prescribe the procedure to be followed by Tribunals and by District Courts, respectively, in the conduct of inquiries referred under section 10.

(2) The finding of a Tribunal on an inquiry referred to the Bar Council under section 10 shall be forwarded to the High Court through the Bar Council, and the finding of a District Court on such an inquiry shall be forwarded direct to the High Court, which shall cause a copy thereof to be sent to the Bar Council.

(3) On receipt of the finding, the High Court shall fix a date for the hearing of the case and shall cause notice of the day so fixed to be given to the Advocate concerned and to the Bar Council and to the Advocate-General, and shall afford the advocate concerned and the Bar Council and the Advocate-General an opportunity of being heard before orders are passed in the case.

(4) The High Court may thereafter either pass such final orders in the case as it thinks fit or refer it back for further inquiry to the Tribunal through by sec. 19 (2), and therefore it was necessary for the case to be either referred to the Bar or at any rate for the Bar Council to be consulted. The Court was not properly seized of the case and that the notice issued to show cause was, as framed, ultra vires and a nullity. 51 A. 76=26 A.L.J. 1039=1928 A. 439 (F.B.).

SEC. 12.—Where the High Court refers to the District Judge an inquiry as to an advocate's alleged misconduct, he cannot delegate the same to one of his assistants. 168 I.C. 992=38 Cr.L.J. 664 (1)=1937 Sind 98. In order to prevent counsel appearing for the other party, he must have a definite retainer, with a fee paid, or he must have such confidential instructions from one of the parties as would make it improper for him to appear for the other party. In the absence of either, it cannot be said to be unprofessional on the part of the counsel, to appear for the other party. 147 I.C. 1080=11 O.W.N. 23=1934 Oudh 58 (S.B.). See also I.L.R. (1940) All. 262=1940 A.L.J. 170=A.I.R. 1940 All. 233.

The High Court in considering what orders ought to be passed in a case that falls within sec. 12, is not in any way fettered by the report of the tribunal or of the District Court, and although no doubt the greatest weight ought to be attached to the findings contained in such a report, it is competent to the Court to go into the facts for itself and to decide whether or not it agrees with those findings. 1935 A.L.J. 759=1935 A. 425; 35 C.W.N. 293=1931 C. 680; 155 I.C. 1054=1935 A. 503. See also 1939 A.L.J. 957=I.L.R. 1940 All. 60=1940 All. 1 (F.B.). The value of the report of the tribunal in a case is lessened where, in respect of the more serious charges, it is not unanimous and to some extent ambiguous. The finding of the Tribunal can be reversed by a Bench of the High Court even though all the judges constituting the Bench are not unanimous, and an order of the majority of the judges reversing such finding is not ultra vires. 159 I.C. 653=1935 A. 1037. The value of the report of the tribunal in a case is lessened where, in respect of the more serious charges, it is not unanimous and to some extent ambiguous. Where the report of the tribunal is ambiguous and not explicit on findings it is not necessary to send it back to the tribunal if after investigating the facts itself the Court is in no doubt as to the order that ought to be passed in the case. 1933 R. 10.

The Court's decision must rest not upon suspicion, but upon legal grounds established by legal testimony. [58 M.L.J. 635 (P.C.) rel. on.] 147 I.C. 1080=11 O.W.N. 23=1934 Oudh 58 (F.B.); 58 M.L.J. 635 (P.C.).

SEC. 12 (2).—The members of the Tribunal can record separate findings and make more than one report and the High Court is entitled to consider the report and findings of the minority as well as the majority of the Tribunal. 54 M. 857=61 M.L.J. 148=1932 M. 131 (F.B.). See also 42 C.W.N. 1111; 1939 A.L.J. 957 (F.B.).

The offence of perjury always involves moral turpitude in varying degree according to the particular facts of each case. Although the High Court in proceedings under sec. 12 against an Advocate convicted of perjury, cannot question the propriety of the conviction, it can, with a view to fix the quantum of punishment, look into the circumstances of the case and ascertain the degree of moral turpitude and extenuating circumstances if any. Thus, the absence of direct evidence can be taken into account as also testimonials speaking highly of the character of the Advocate. Advocate suspended for six months. 131 I.C. 67=8 O.W.N. 267=1931 Oudh 161.

SEC. 12 (3).—Sub-sec. (3) provides that on receipt of the finding of the Tribunal, the Court shall fix a date for hearing and cause notice of the day so fixed to the Advocate concerned and to the Advocate-General. It follows that the original petitioner is not entitled to be served with notice or to be heard on the hearing before the Court. The Bar Council is there in order to assist the Court in any way it can and the Advocate concerned is of course entitled to be heard. The correct course is for the Advocate-General to open by submitting the report of the tribunal to the Court. Then the Advocate is entitled to be heard and, if necessary, the Advocate-General will have a right of reply. 33 Bom.L.R. 1215=1931 B. 557. Sec. 12 (3) cannot be intended to exclude the right of the Court to hear any person other than the persons mentioned therein when the object of it is to ensure that certain people shall have notice. Where the finding of the tribunal is considered by the High Court, it is in the power of the High Court to hear the complainant. 35 C.W.N. 293=134 I.C. 1270=1931 C. 680 (S.B.); 42 C.W.N. 1111.

SEC. 12 (4).—It would need very good reasons to induce the High Court to throw over the findings of fact which have been arrived at by a Tribunal after a careful and elaborate enquiry.

the Bar Council or to the District Court, as the case may be, and, upon receipt of the finding after such further inquiry, deal with the case in the manner provided in sub-section (3) and pass final orders thereon.

(5) In passing final orders the High Court may pass such order as regards the payment of the costs of the inquiry and of the hearing in the High Court as it thinks fit.

(6) The High Court may, of its own motion or on application made to it in this behalf, review any order passed under sub-section (4) or sub-section (5) and maintain, vary or rescind the same, as it thinks fit.

(7) When any advocate is reprimanded or suspended under this Act, a record of the punishment shall be entered against his name in the roll of advocates of the High Court and when an advocate is removed from practice his name shall forthwith be struck off the roll; and the certificate of any advocate so suspended or removed shall be recalled.

13. (1) For the purposes of any such inquiry as aforesaid, a Tribunal or a District Court shall have the same powers as are vested in a Court under the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, in respect of the following matters, namely:—

- (a) enforcing the attendance of any person and examining him upon oath,
- (b) compelling the production of documents, and
- (c) issuing commissions for the examination of witnesses:

Provided that the Tribunal shall not have power to require the attendance of the presiding officer of any Court save with the previous sanction of the High Court, or, in the case of an officer of a Criminal or Revenue Court, of the Provincial Government.

(2) Every such inquiry shall be deemed to be a judicial proceeding within the meaning of sections 193 and 228 of the Indian Penal Code; and a Tribunal shall be deemed to be a Civil Court for the purposes of sections 480, 482 and 485 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898.

(3) For the purpose of enforcing the attendance of any person and examining him upon oath or of compelling the production of documents or of issuing commissions—

(a) the local limits of the jurisdiction of Tribunal shall be those of the jurisdiction of the High Court by which the tribunal has been constituted; and

(b) a Tribunal may send to any Civil Court having jurisdiction in the place where the Tribunal is sitting any summons or other process for the attendance of a witness or the production of a document required by the Tribunal, or any commission which it desires to issue, and the Civil Court shall serve such process or issue such commission, as the case may be, and may enforce any such process as if it were a process for attendance or production before itself.

SEC. 12 (5).—The Rules framed under the Act empower the High Court to assess the costs directed to be paid to the Advocate by the complainant. At the same time it is open to the Court to direct an enquiry by the Registrar as to what sums had been paid by the complainant and the Advocate and pass final orders after the amount spent has been ascertained. 35 C.W.N. 293=134 I.C. 1270=1931 C. 680 (S.B.). See also 54 M. 857 (F.B.). In a case where the complainant was unsuccessful before the tribunal whose findings were confirmed by the Court, the complainant was ordered to pay the costs of the Advocate both in the enquiry before the tribunal and in the hearing before the Court. He was also ordered to pay the fees of the shorthand writer and the interpreter in the inquiry before the Bar Council. The costs were directed to be taxed by the Registrar of the original side as of a hearing. 42 C.W.N. 1113=A.I.R. 1938 Cal. 766.

SEC. 12 (6).—The power of review conferred upon High Courts under sub-sec. (6) of sec. 12, cannot be extended to an order passed under sec. 41, Legal Practitioners Act. 148 I.C. 299=1934 Oudh 140=11 O.W.N. 368 (S.B.).

SEC. 13.—Inherent powers of the Supreme Court of Calcutta were not conferred on the Allahabad High Court by the Indian High Courts Act of 1861, and no power to exercise inherent disciplinary jurisdiction over legal practitioners independently of the Legal Practitioners Act and the Indian Bar Councils Act now exists in the Allahabad High Court in respect of their professional or other misconduct. 52 A. 619=1930 A.L.J. 402=1930 A. 225 (F.B.).

(4) Proceedings before a Tribunal or a District Court in any such inquiry shall be deemed to be civil proceedings for the purposes of section 132 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872, and the provisions of that section shall apply accordingly.

Miscellaneous.

Right of advocates to practise.

14. (1) An Advocate shall be entitled as of right to practise—

(a) subject to the provisions of sub-section (4) of section 9, in the High Court of which he is an advocate, and

(b) Save as otherwise provided by sub-section (2) or by or under any other law for the time being in force, in any other Court in British India and before any other Tribunal or person legally authorised to take evidence, and

(c) before any other authority or person before whom such advocate is by or under the law for the time being in force entitled to practise.

(2) Where rules have been made by any High Court within the meaning of clause (24) of section 3 of the General Clauses Act, 1897, or in the case of a High Court for which a Bar Council has been constituted under this Act, by such Bar Council under section 15, regulating the conditions subject to which advocates of other High Courts may be permitted to practise in the High Court, such advocates shall not be entitled to practise therein otherwise than subject to such conditions.

(3) Nothing in this section shall be deemed to limit or in any way affect the power of the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal or of the High Court of Judicature at Bombay to make rules determining the persons who shall be entitled respectively to plead and to act in the High Court in the exercise of its original jurisdiction.

15. A Bar Council may, with the previous sanction of the High Court for which it is constituted, make rules consistent with this Act to provide for and regulate any of the following matters, namely:—

(a) the rights and duties of the advocates of the High Court and their discipline and professional conduct;

(b) the conditions subject to which advocates of other High Courts may be permitted to practise in the High Court;

SEC. 14: ENTRY IN THE ROLL OF ADVOCATES—EFFECT OF.—An ex-judge of the Patna High Court, after his retirement as a Judge, applied to have his name entered on the roll of advocates. It was allowed with a condition refusing him the permission to appear in the Courts of the Province. Held, that the applicant's name being entered on the roll of advocates, he was entitled as of right to practise in the Courts of the Province. 58 I.A. 38=1931 P.C. 22 (2)=60 M.L.J. 179 (P.C.). Sec. 14 (1) (b) cannot be invoked to enable a Government servant in a departmental inquiry, the rules of which provide for his being "heard in person", to claim the right to be represented by Counsel. The question has to be determined not by the counsel's right of audience in inferior Courts, but by the right of the client to be represented by him. 46 L.W. 531=1937 M. 735=(1937) 2 M.L.J. 189.

SECS. 14 (2) AND 15 (b).—Where an application is made on behalf of an advocate of one High Court for permission to appear in case in another High Court under the rules framed under this Act, good reasons must be shown for the grant of such permission. The permission cannot be granted on mere application or as a matter of course, nor claimed as a matter of right. No question of reciprocity is involved in the matter. The Chief Justice will apply his mind to the circumstances of the application and see whether good reasons have been made out for the grant of permission in any particular case. 167 I.C. 486=38 Cr.L.J. 392=17 P.L.T. 861=A.I.R. 1937 P. 122. Nevertheless if investments by way of loan are made as a matter of regular business and for gain there can be no escape from the conclusion that such investments constitute engagement in money-lending business. It depends on the facts of each case and is a mixed question of fact and law, as to whether certain transactions amount to a money-lending business. 1939 A.L.J. 957 (F.B.).

1923	V	The Boilers' Act, 1923.	Rep. in part, Act XII of 1927; Act IX of 1929; Act XXXIV of 1939. Amended Act XI of 1937; Act V of 1942; Act XVII of 1943; Govt. of India (Adaptation of Indian Laws) Order, 1937.

N.B.—The amendments introduced by Act XI of 1937 has application to British India including British Baluchistan and the Sonthal Parganas, but excluding Burma. (Vide sec. 2 of Act XI of 1937.)

[23rd February, 1923.

An Act to consolidate and amend the law relating to steam-boilers.

WHEREAS it is expedient to consolidate and amend the law relating to steam-boilers; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Short title, extent, and commencement. 1. (1) This Act may be called ¹THE BOILERS ACT, 1923.

(2) It extends to the whole of British India, including British Baluchistan and the Sonthal Parganas.

(3) It shall come into force on such date as the Central Government may, by notification² in the Official Gazette, appoint.

Definitions.

2. In this Act, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,—

(a) “accident” means an explosion of a boiler or steam-pipe or any damage to a boiler, or steam-pipe which is calculated to weaken the strength thereof so as to render it liable to explode;

³[(aa) “Board” means the Central Boilers Board constituted under section 27-A.]

(b) “boiler” means any closed vessel exceeding five gallons in capacity which is used expressly for generating steam under pressure for use outside such vessel, and includes any mounting or other fitting attached to such vessel, which is wholly or partly under pressure when steam is shut off;

(c) “Chief Inspector” and “Inspector” mean, respectively, a person appointed to be a Chief Inspector and an Inspector under this Act;

⁴[(cc) “Feed pipe” means any pipe or connected fitting, wholly or partly under pressure through which feed water passes directly to a boiler.]

(d) “owner” includes any person using a boiler as agent of the owner thereof and any person using a boiler which he has hired or obtained on loan from the owner thereof;

(e) “prescribed” means prescribed by regulations or rules made under this Act;

LEG. REF.

¹For Statement of Objects and Reasons, see Gazette of India, 1922, Pt. V, p. 249; and for Report of Joint Committee, see ibid., 1923, Pt. V, p. 15.

²This Act came into force from 1st January, 1924, see Notification No. A. 61, dated 4th December, 1923, Gen. R. and O., Vol. V, p. 134.

³Clause (aa) of sec. 2 inserted by Act XI of 1937.

⁴Sec. 2, cl. (cc) inserted by Act XVII of 1943.

SEC. 2 (b).—The meaning of the definition of ‘boiler’ in S. 2 (b) is, that the definite and clear object of the contrivance should be to generate steam under pressure. The fact that in a particular contrivance though steam is generated under pressure, the steam is used only for sterilizing some vessels, cannot take it away from the definition of a ‘boiler’ for the use to which the steam is ultimately put is quite irrelevant to the issue. I.L.R. (1939) All. 883=1939 A.L.J. 806=A.I.R. 1939 All. 697.

(f) "steam-pipe" means any main pipe exceeding three inches in internal diameter through which steam passes directly from a boiler to a prime mover or other first user, and includes any connected fitting of a steam-pipe; and

(g) "structural alteration, addition or renewal" shall not be deemed to include any renewal or replacement of a petty nature when the part or fitting used for replacement is not inferior in strength, efficiency or otherwise to the replaced part or fitting.

is used in cl. (f) of sec. 2], to a steam pipe or steam pipes shall be deemed to include also a reference to a feed pipe or feed pipes respectively.]

Limitation of application.

3. (1) Nothing in this Act shall apply in the case of any boiler or steam-pipe—

(a) in any steam-ship as defined in section 3 of the ²Indian Steam-ships Act, 1884, or in any steam-vessel as defined in section 2 of the Inland Steam-vessels Act, 1917; or

(b) belonging to or under the control of His Majesty's Navy or the Royal Indian ³[Navy], [or

(c) appertaining to any sterilizer or disinfector of a type such as is commonly used in hospitals, if the boiler does not exceed twenty gallons in capacity].⁴

(2) The ⁵[safety Controlling Authority] may, by notification in the Official Gazette, declare that the provisions of this Act shall not apply in the case of boilers or steam-pipes or of any specified class of boilers or steam-pipes belonging to or under the control of any railway⁶ administered by the ⁷[Federal Railway Authority or by any Provincial Government] or by any railway company as defined in clause (5) of section 3 of the Indian Railways Act, 1890. ⁸[In this sub-section "safety Controlling Authority" has the same meaning as in the Indian Railways Act, 1890].

4. The ⁹[Provincial Government] may, by notification in the Official fit to be inspectors for the province for the purposes of this Act, and may define the local limits within which each Inspector shall exercise the powers and perform the duties conferred and imposed on Inspectors by or under this Act.

(2) The Provincial Government shall likewise appoint¹² a person to be Chief Inspector for the Province, who may, in addition to the powers and duties conferred or imposed on the Chief Inspector by or under this Act, exercise any power or perform any duty so conferred or imposed on Inspectors.

(3) Every Chief Inspector and every Inspector shall be deemed to be a public servant within the meaning of the Indian Penal Code.

Prohibition of use of unregistered or uncertificated boiler.

6. Save as otherwise expressly provided in this Act, no owner of a boiler shall use the boiler or permit it to be used—

(a) unless it has been registered in accordance with the provisions of this Act;

(b) in the case of any boiler which has been transferred from one province to another, until the transfer has been reported in the prescribed manner ;

(c) unless a certificate or provisional order authorising the use of the boiler is for the time being in force under this Act ;

(d) at a pressure higher than the maximum pressure recorded in such certificate or provisional order ;

(e) where the Provincial Government has made rules requiring that boiler shall be in charge of persons holding certificates of competency, unless the boiler is in charge of a person holding the certificate required by such rules :

Provided that any boiler registered, or any boiler certified or licensed, under any Act, hereby repealed shall be deemed to have been registered or certified, as the case may be, under this Act.

7. (1) The owner of any boiler which is not registered under the provisions of this Act may apply to the Inspector to have the boiler registered. Every such application shall be accompanied by the prescribed fee.

(2) On receipt of an application under sub-section (1), the Inspector shall fix a date, within thirty days or such shorter period as may be prescribed from the date of the receipt, for the examination of the boiler and shall give the owner thereof not less than ten days' notice of the date so fixed.

(3) On the said date the Inspector shall proceed to measure and examine the boiler and to determine in the prescribed manner the maximum pressure, if any, at which such boiler may be used, and shall report the result of the examination of the Chief Inspector in the prescribed form.

(4) The Chief Inspector, on receipt of the report, may—

(a) register the boiler and assign a register number thereto either forthwith or after satisfying himself that any structural alteration, addition or renewal which he may deem necessary has been made in or to the boiler or any steam-pipe attached thereto, or

(b) refuse to register the boiler :

Provided that where the Chief Inspector refuses to register a boiler, he shall forthwith communicate his refusal to the owner of the boiler together with the reasons therefor.

(5) The Chief Inspector shall, on registering the boiler, order the issue to the owner of a certificate in the prescribed form authorising the use of the boiler for a period not exceeding twelve months at a pressure not exceeding such maximum pressure as he thinks fit and as is in accordance with the regulations made under this Act.

(6) The Inspector shall forthwith convey to the owner of the boiler the orders of the Chief Inspector and shall in accordance therewith issue to the owner any certificate of which the issue has been ordered, and, where the boiler has been registered, the owner shall, within the prescribed period, cause the register number to be permanently marked thereon in the prescribed manner.

8. (1) A certificate authorising the use of a boiler shall cease to be in force—

(a) on the expiry of the period for which it was granted ; or

(b) when any accident occurs to the boiler ; or

(c) when the boiler is moved, the boiler not being a vertical boiler the heating surface of which is less than two hundred square feet, or a portable or vehicular boiler ; or

(d) when any structural alteration, addition or renewal is made in or to the boiler ; or

(e) if the Chief Inspector in any particular case so directs, when any structural alteration, addition, or renewal is made in or to any steam-pipe attached to the boiler ; or

(f) on the communication to the owner of the boiler of an order of the Chief Inspector or Inspector, prohibiting its use on the ground that it or any steam-pipe attached thereto is in a dangerous condition.

(2) Where an order is made under clause (f) of sub-section (1), the grounds on which the order is made shall be communicated to the owner with the order.

(3) When a certificate ceases to be in force, the owner of the boiler may apply to the Inspector for a renewal thereof for such period not exceeding twelve months as he may specify in the application.

(4) An application under sub-section (3) shall be accompanied by the prescribed fee and, on receipt thereof, the Inspector shall fix a date within thirty days or such shorter period as may be prescribed from the date of the receipt, for the examination of the boiler and shall give the owner thereof not less than ten days' notice of the date so fixed :

Provided that, where the certificate has ceased to be in force owing to the making of any structural alteration, addition or renewal, the Chief Inspector may dispense with the payment of any fee.

(5) On the said date the Inspector shall examine the boiler in the prescribed manner, and if he is satisfied that the boiler and the steam-pipe or steam-pipes attached thereto are in good condition shall issue a renewed certificate authorising the use of the boiler for such period not exceeding twelve months and at a pressure not exceeding such maximum pressure as he thinks fit and as is in accordance with the regulations made under this Act :

Provided that if the Inspector—

(a) proposes to issue any certificate—

(i) having validity for a less period than the period entered in the application, or

(ii) increasing or reducing the maximum pressure at which the boiler may be used, or

(b) proposes to order any structural alteration, addition or renewal to be made in or to the boiler or any steam-pipe attached thereto, or

(c) is of opinion that the boiler is not fit for use, the Inspector shall, within forty-eight hours of making the examination, inform the owner of the boiler in writing of his opinion and the reasons therefor, and shall forthwith report the case for orders to the Chief Inspector.

(6) The Chief Inspector, on receipt of a report under sub-section (5), may, subject to the provisions of this Act and of the regulations made hereunder, order the renewal of the certificate in such terms and on such conditions, if any, as he thinks fit, or may refuse to renew it :

Provided that where the Chief Inspector refuses to renew a certificate, he shall forthwith communicate his refusal to the owner of the boiler, together with the reasons therefor.

(7) Nothing in this section shall be deemed to prevent an owner of a boiler from applying for a renewed certificate therefor at any time during the currency of a certificate.

9. Where the Inspector reports the case of any boiler to the Chief Inspector under sub-section (3) of section 7 or sub-section (5) of section 8, he may, if the boiler is not a boiler the use of which has been prohibited under clause (f) of sub-section (1) of section 8, grant to the owner thereof a provisional order in writing permitting the boiler to be used at a pressure not exceeding such maximum pressure as he thinks fit and as is in accordance with the regulations made under this Act pending the receipt of the orders of the Chief Inspector. Such provisional order shall cease to be in force—

(a) on the expiry of six months from the date on which it is granted, or

(b) on receipt of the orders of the Chief Inspector, or

(c) in any of the cases referred to in clauses (b), (c), (d), (e) and (f) of sub-section (1) of section 8, and on so ceasing to be in force shall be surrendered to the Inspector.

10. (1) Notwithstanding anything hereinbefore contained, when the Use of boiler pending grant of certificate. period of a certificate relating to a boiler has expired the owner shall, provided that he has applied before the expiry of that period for a renewal of the certificate, be entitled to use the boiler at the maximum pressure entered in the former certificate pending the issue of orders on the application.

(2) Nothing in sub-section (1) shall be deemed to authorise the use of a boiler in any of the cases referred to in clauses (b), (c), (d), (e) and (f) of sub-section (1) of section 8 occurring after the expiry of the period of the certificate.

Revocation of certificate or provisional order. 11. The Chief Inspector may at any time withdraw or revoke any certificate or provisional order on the report of an Inspector or otherwise—

(a) if there is reason to believe that the certificate or provisional order has been fraudulently obtained or has been granted erroneously or without sufficient examination ; or

(b) if the boiler in respect of which it has been granted has sustained injury or has ceased to be in good condition ; or

(c) where the Provincial Government has made rules requiring that boilers shall be in charge of persons holding certificates of competency, if the boiler is in charge of a person not holding the certificate required by such rules ; or

(d) where no such rules have been made, if the boiler is in charge of a person who is not, having regard to the condition of the boiler in the opinion of the Chief Inspector competent to have charge thereof :

Provided that where the Chief Inspector withdraws or revokes a certificate or provisional order on the ground specified in clause (d), he shall communicate to the owner of the boiler his reasons in writing for the withdrawal or revocation, and the order shall not take effect until the expiry of thirty days from the receipt of such communication.

Alterations and renewals to boilers. 12. No structural alteration, addition or renewal shall be made in or to any boiler registered under this Act unless such alteration, addition or renewal has been sanctioned in writing by the Chief Inspector.

Alterations and renewals to steam-pipes. 13. Before the owner of any boiler registered under this Act makes any structural alteration, addition or renewal in or to any steam-pipe attached to the boiler, he shall transmit to the Chief Inspector a report in writing of his intention, and shall send therewith such particulars of the proposed alteration, addition or renewal as may be prescribed.

Duty of owner at examination. 14. (1) On any date fixed under this Act for the examination of a boiler, the owner thereof shall be bound—

(a) to afford to the Inspector all reasonable facilities for the examination and all such information as may reasonably be required of him ;

(b) to have the boiler properly prepared and ready for examination in the prescribed manner ; and

(c) in the case of an application for the registration of a boiler, to provide such drawings, specifications, certificates and other particulars as may be prescribed.

(2) If the owner fails, without reasonable cause, to comply with the provisions of sub-section (1), the Inspector shall refuse to make the examination and shall report the case to the Chief Inspector who shall, unless sufficient cause to the contrary is shown, require the owner to file a fresh application under section 7 or section 8, as the case may be and may forbid him to use the boiler notwithstanding anything contained in section 10.

Production of certificates, etc. 15. The owner of any boiler who holds a certificate or provisional order relating thereto, shall, at all reasonable times during the period for which the certificate or order is in force, be bound to produce the same when called upon to do so by a District Magistrate, Commissioner of Police or Magistrate of the first class having jurisdiction in the area in which the boiler is for the time being, or by the Chief Inspector or by an Inspector or by any Inspector appointed under the Indian Factories Act, 1911, or by any person specially authorised in writing by a District Magistrate or Commissioner of Police.

16. If any person becomes the owner of a boiler during the period for which a certificate, or provisional order relating thereto is in force, the preceding owner shall be bound to make over to him the certificate or provisional order.

17. An Inspector may, for the purpose of inspecting or examining a boiler or any steam-pipe attached thereto or of seeing that any provision of this Act or of any regulation or rule made hereunder has been or is being observed, at all reasonable times, enter any place or building within the limits of the area for which he has been appointed in which he has reason to believe that a boiler is in use.

18. (1) If any accident occurs to a boiler or steam-pipe, the owner or person in charge thereof shall, within twenty-four hours of the accident, report the same in writing to the Inspector. Every such report shall contain a true description of the nature of the accident and of the injury, if any, caused thereby to the boiler or to the steam-pipe or to any person, and shall be in sufficient detail to enable the Inspector to judge of the gravity of the accident.

(2) Every person shall be bound to answer truly to the best of his knowledge and ability every question put to him in writing by the Inspector as to the cause, nature or extent of the accident.

Appeals to Chief Inspector. 19. Any person considering himself aggrieved by—

(a) an order made or purporting to be made by an Inspector in the exercise of any power conferred by or under this Act, or

(b) a refusal of an Inspector to make any order or to issue any certificate which he is required or enabled by or under this Act to make or issue, may, within thirty days from the date on which such order or refusal is communicated to him, appeal against the order or refusal to the Chief Inspector.

Appeals to appellate authority. 20. Any person considering himself aggrieved by an original or appellate order of the Chief Inspector—

(a) refusing to register a boiler or to grant or renew a certificate in respect of a boiler; or

(b) refusing to grant a certificate having validity for the full period applied for; or

(c) refusing to grant a certificate authorising the use of a boiler at the maximum pressure desired; or

(d) withdrawing or revoking a certificate or provisional order; or

(e) reducing the amount of pressure specified in any certificate or the period for which such certificate has been granted; or

(f) ordering any structural alteration, addition or renewal to be made in or to a boiler or steam-pipe or refusing sanction to the making of any structural alteration, addition or renewal in or to a boiler, may, within thirty days of the communication to him of such order, lodge with the Chief Inspector an appeal to an appellate authority to be constituted by the Provincial Government under this Act.

21. An order of an appellate authority under section 20 and, save as otherwise provided in sections 19 and 20, an order of the Chief Inspector or of an Inspector shall be final and shall not be called in question in any Court.

Minor penalties.

22. Any owner of a boiler who refuses or without reasonable excuse neglects—

(i) to surrender a provisional order as required by section 9, or

(ii) to produce a certificate or provisional order when duly called upon to do so under section 15, or

(iii) to make over to the new owner of a boiler a certificate or provisional order as required by section 16, shall be punishable with fine which may extend to one hundred rupees.

23. Any owner of a boiler who, in any case in which a certificate or provisional order is required for the use of a boiler under this Act, uses the boiler either without any such certificate or order being in force or at a higher pressure than that allowed thereby, shall be punishable with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees, and, in the case of a continuing offence, with an additional fine which may extend to one hundred rupees for each day after the first day in regard to which he is convicted of having persisted in the offence.

Other penalties.

24. Any person who—

(a) uses or permits to be used a boiler of which he is the owner and which has been transferred from one province to another without such transfer having been reported as required by section 6, or

(b) being the owner of a boiler fails to cause the registered number allotted to the boiler under this Act to be marked on the boiler as required by sub-section (6) of section 7, or

(c) makes any structural alteration, addition or renewal in or to a boiler without first obtaining the sanction of the Chief Inspector when so required by section 12, or to a steam-pipe without first informing the Chief Inspector, when so required by section 13, or

(d) fails to report an accident to a boiler or steam-pipe when so required by section 18, or

(e) tampers with a safety valve of a boiler so as to render it inoperative at the maximum pressure at which the use of a boiler is authorised under this Act, shall be punishable with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees.

25. (1) Whoever removes, alters, defaces, renders invisible or otherwise tampers with the register number marked on a boiler in accordance with the provisions of this Act or any Act repealed hereby, shall be punishable with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees.

(2) Whoever fraudulently marks upon a boiler a register number which has not been allotted to it under this Act or any Act repealed hereby, shall be punishable with imprisonment which may extend to two years, or with fine, or with both.

26. No prosecution for an offence made punishable by or under this Act shall be instituted except within six months from the date of the commission of the offence, and no such prosecution shall be instituted without the previous sanction of the Chief Inspector.

27. No offence made punishable by or under this Act shall be tried by a Court inferior to that of a Presidency Magistrate or a Magistrate of the first class.

1[27-A. (1) A Board to be called the Central Boilers Board shall be constituted to exercise the powers conferred by section 28.

(2) The Board shall consist of fourteen members, namely:—

(a) a chairman to be nominated by the Central Government ;

Rep. in pt., Act XII of 1927.

An Act to consolidate and amend the law relating to the administration of cantonments.

WHEREAS it is expedient to consolidate and amend the law relating to the administration of cantonments; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

CHAPTER I.

PRELIMINARY.

Short title, extent and commencement. 1. (1) This Act may be called THE CANTONMENTS, ACT, 1924.

(2) It extends to the whole of British India, including British Baluchistan.

LEG. REF.

¹ For statement of objects and Reasons, see Gazette of India, 1923, Pt. V, p. 220, and for Report of Select Committee, see ibid., p. 270.

SEC. 1.—The Secretary of State is absolute owner of all Cantonment lands, unless it can be proved that he parted with it. There can be no adverse possession against him. A person occupying land in Cantonments not specifically transferred to him by the Secretary of State, can only hold it as a licensee from him, who could eject him at will by revoking his licence. 66 I.C. 582 = 1922 All. 57. The mere fact that certain lands are declared by Government to be within a Cantonment area does not vest their ownership in the Government unless it is shown that the lands were acquired by the Government for that purpose. 81 C.W.N. 1033 = 1927 Cal. 786. All land within Cantonment area does not necessarily belong to Government. (Ibid.) It is not the necessary implication of the second paragraph of cl. (6) of Ben. Cantonment Regulations, though the rules suggest that the greater part of the land was at that time Government property. 57 I.A. 339 = 58 C. 858 = 60 M.L.J. 142 (P.C.). Where subsequent to the establishment of a Cantonment the ownership of the land within it becomes vested in the Secretary of State and the prior owners of the land were compensated for the loss of such rights as they may have actually suffered, it is a fair presumption that the amount of compensation would vary according to whether the prior ownership was deprived wholly of ownership and possession or whether he was deprived only of ownership and allowed to remain in possession as licensee without the payment of any rent. 1930 All. 587 = 128 I.C. 441. The Peshawar Cantonment Board, as representing the Secretary of State who acquired the Peshawar Cantonment by purchase, is the owner of all the lands situate within the Cantonment and is entitled to eject a licensee in possession on payment of compensation in respect of structures or improvements, if any, made by him. 142 I.C. 657 = 1933 Pesh. 56. See also 1944 Pesh. 34. Subsequent to the establishment of Cantonment possession of one enclosed plot of land was found to be with original owner described as 'malick' in official records, who subsequently built on portion of land with permission of Cantonment authorities and let out buildings for shops. Permission to build is not licence with regard to site for shops only but original owner continued to be licensee of whole plot of land. 1930 All. 587. Where Army Regulations were in force by which a house could not be sold at all to Civilians and later on it was allowed to be sold with the sanction of the Commanding Officer, held, in the absence of evidence as to the actual terms, it must be presumed that the permission was subject to a reservation about sanction. 46 A. 427 = 1924 All. 415. Therefore every transfer made with the permission of the military authority must be treated as indicating an admission of a new licence upon the prevailing conditions. (Ibid.) A transfer without sanction furnishes a cause of action for a deas the Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, define, any person not subject to military or air-force law or any person subject to military or air-force law otherwise than as a military officer or a soldier knowingly barter, sells or supplies, or offers or attempts to barter, sell or supply, any spirituous liquor or intoxicating drug to or for the use of any soldier or follower or soldier's wife or minor child without the written permission of the ¹[Officer Commanding the station] or of some person authorised by the ¹[Officer Commanding the station] to grant such permission, he shall be punishable with fine which may extend to one hundred rupees, or with imprisonment for a term which may extend to three months, or with both.

Unauthorised possession of spirituous liquor.

57. If within a cantonment, or within any limits defined under section 56,—

(a) any person subject to military or air-force law or otherwise than as a military officer or a soldier, or

(b) the wife or servant of any such person or of a soldier, has in his or her possession, except on behalf of the ²[Central] Government or for the private use of a military officer, more than one quart of any spirituous liquor, other than fermented malt-liquor, without the written permission of the ¹[Officer Commanding the station] or of some person authorised by the ¹[Officer Commanding the station] to grant such permission, he or she shall be punishable, in the case of a first offence, with the fine which may extend to fifty rupees, and, in the case of a subsequent offence, with imprisonment for a term which may extend to three months, or with fine which may extend to one hundred rupees.

58. (1) Any police officer or excise officer may, without an order from a

Arrest of persons and seizure and confiscation of things for offences against the two last foregoing sections.

Magistrate and without a warrant, arrest any person whom he finds committing an offence under section 56 or section 57, and may seize and detain any spirituous liquor or intoxicating drug in respect of which such an offence has been committed and any vessels or coverings in which the liquor or drug is contained.

(2) Where a person accused of an offence under section 56 has been previously convicted of an offence under that section, an officer in charge of a police station may, with the written permission of a Magistrate, seize and detain any spirituous liquor or intoxicating drug within the cantonment or within any limits defined under that section which, at the time of the alleged commission of the subsequent offence, belonged to, or was in the possession of, such person.

CHAPTER XIV.

REMOVAL AND EXCLUSION FROM CANTONMENTS AND SUPPRESSION OF SEXUAL IMMORALITY.

235. The ²[Officer Commanding the station] may, on receiving information that any building in the cantonment is used as a brothel or for purposes of prostitution, by order in writing setting forth the substance of the information received, summon the owner, lessee, tenant or occupier of the building to appear before him either in person or by an authorised agent, and, if the ³[Officer Commanding the station], is then satisfied as to the truth of the information, he may, by order in writing, direct the owner, lessee, tenant or occupier, as the case may be, to discontinue such use of the building within such period as may be specified in the order.

236. (1) Whoever in a cantonment loiters for the purpose of prostitution or importunes any person to the commission of sexual immorality, shall be punishable with imprisonment which may extend to one month, or with fine which may extend to two hundred rupees.

Penalty for loitering and importuning for purposes of prostitution.

(2) No prosecution for an offence under this section shall be instituted except on the complaint of the person importuned, or of a military officer in whose presence the offence was committed, or of a member of the Military or Air Force Police, being employed in the cantonment and authorised in this behalf by the ³[Officer Commanding the station], in whose presence the offence was committed, or of a police officer not below the rank of a sub-inspector, ⁴[or a sergeant] who is employed in the cantonment and authorised in this behalf by the ³[Officer Commanding the station] ⁴[with the concurrence of the District Magistrate].

SEC. 236 (2): PROSECUTION BY EXECUTIVE OFFICER—LEGALITY OF.—In order that a person can be legally convicted under sec. 236, it is necessary that it should be instituted strictly in accordance with the provisions laid down in sub-sec. (2), sec. 236. An Executive Officer of a Cantonment launched a prosecution under sec. 236 against the accused and the accused was convicted under that section. The Executive Officer was not the person importuned, nor did the prosecution allege that the offence was committed in his presence or that he had been authorized in this behalf by the Officer Commanding the 237. If the ¹[Officer Commanding the station] is, after such inquiry as he thinks necessary, satisfied that any person residing in or frequenting the cantonment is a prostitute or has been convicted of an offence under section 236, or of the abatement of such an offence, he may cause to be served on such person an order in writing requiring such person to remove from the cantonment within such time as may be specified in the order and prohibiting such person from re-entering it without the permission in writing of the ¹[Officer Commanding the station].

Removal and exclusion from cantonments of disorderly persons.

238. (1) A Magistrate of the first class, having jurisdiction in a cantonment, on receiving information that any person residing in or frequenting the cantonment—

(a) is a disorderly person who has been convicted more than once of gaming or who keeps or frequents a common gaming house, a disorderly drinking shop or a disorderly house of any other description, or

(b) has been convicted more than once, either within the cantonment or elsewhere, of an offence punishable under Chapter XVII of the Indian Penal Code, or

(c) has been convicted, either within the cantonment or elsewhere; of any offence punishable under section 156 of the Army Act, or may record in writing the substance of the information received, and may issue a summons to such person requiring such person to appear and show cause why he should not be required to remove from the cantonment and be prohibited from re-entering it.

(d) has been ordered under Chapter VIII of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, either within the cantonment or elsewhere, to execute a bond for his good behaviour,

(2) Every summons issued under sub-section (1) shall be accompanied by a copy of the record aforesaid, and the copy shall be served along with the summons on the person against whom the summons is issued.

(3) The Magistrate shall, when the person so summoned appears before him, proceed to inquire into the truth of the information received and take such further evidence as he thinks fit, and if, upon such inquiry, it appears to him that such person is a person of any kind described in sub-section (1) and that it is necessary for the maintenance of good order in the cantonment that such person should be required to remove therefrom and be prohibited from re-entering the cantonment, the Magistrate shall report the matter to the ¹[Officer Commanding the station], and, if the ¹[Officer Commanding the station] so directs, shall cause to be served on such person an order in writing requiring him to remove from the cantonment within such time as may be specified in the order and prohibiting him from re-entering it without the permission in writing of the ¹[Officer Commanding the station].

239. (1) If any person in a cantonment causes or attempts to cause or does any act which he knows is likely to cause disloyalty, disaffection or breaches of discipline amongst any portion of His Majesty's forces or is a person who, the ¹[Officer Commanding the station] has reason to believe, is likely to do any such act, the ¹[Officer Commanding the station] may make an order in writing setting forth the reasons for the making of the same and requiring such person to remove from the cantonment within such time as may be specified in the order and prohibiting him from re-entering it without the permission in writing of the ¹[Officer Commanding the station]:

person unless he has had a reasonable opportunity of being informed of the grounds on which it is proposed to make the order and of showing cause why the order should not be made.

(2) Every order made under sub-section (1) shall be sent to the Superintendent of Police of the district, who shall cause a copy thereof to be served on the person concerned.

(3) Upon the making of any order under sub-section (1), the ¹[Officer Commanding the station] shall forthwith send a copy of the same to the Central Government.

(4) The Central Government may, of its own motion, and shall, on application made to it in this behalf within one month of the date of the order by the person against whom the order has been made, call upon the District Magistrate to make, after such inquiry as the Central Government may prescribe, a report regarding the justice of the order and the necessity therefor. At every such inquiry the person against whom the order has been made shall be given an opportunity of being heard in his own defence.

(5) The Central Government may, at any time after the receipt of a copy of an order sent under sub-section (3) or, where a report has been called for under sub-section (4), on receipt of that report, if it is of opinion that the order should be varied or rescinded, ²[make] such orders thereon as ³[it] thinks fit.

(6) Any person who has been excluded from a cantonment by an order made under this section may, at any time after the expiry of one month from the date thereof, apply to the Officer Commanding-in-Chief, the Command, for the rescission of the same and, on such application being made, the said Officer may, after making such inquiry, if any, as he thinks necessary, either reject the application or rescind the order.

Penalty. 240. Whoever—

(a) fails to comply with an order issued under this Chapter within the period specified therein, or, whilst an order prohibiting him from re-entering a cantonment without permission is in force, re-enters the cantonment without such permission, or

(b) knowing that any person has, under this Chapter, been required to remove from the cantonment and has not obtained the requisite permission to re-enter it, harbours or conceals such person in the cantonment, shall be punishable with fine which may extend to two hundred rupees, and, in the case of a continuing offence with an additional fine which may extend to twenty rupees for every day after the first during which he has persisted in the offence.

Provided that nothing in this section shall be deemed to confer upon any person any power such as is referred to in section 207 or section 215 or to authorise the conferment upon any person of any such power.

242. With the previous sanction of the President, any member of a Board Powers of inspection by member of a Board. may inspect any work or institution constructed or maintained, in whole or part, at the expense of the Board, and any register, book, accounts or other document belonging to, or in the possession of, the Board.

Power of inspection, etc. 243. (1) A Board may, by general or special order, authorise any person—

(a) to inspect any drain, privy, latrine, urinal, cesspool, pipe, sewer or channel in or on any building or land in the cantonment, and, in his discretion, to cause the ground to be opened for the purpose of preventing or removing any nuisance arising from the drain, privy, latrine, urinal, cesspool, pipe, sewer or channel, as the case may be;

(b) to examine works under construction in the cantonment, to take levels or to remove, test, examine, replace or read any meter.

(2) If, on such inspection, the opening of the ground is found to be necessary for the prevention or removal of a nuisance, the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by the owner or occupier of the land or building, but if it is found that no nuisance exists or but for such opening would have arisen, the ground or portion of any building, drain or other work opened, injured or removed for the purpose of such inspection shall be filled in, reinstated, or made good, as the case may be, by the Board.

244. (1) The Executive Officer of a cantonment may, with or without assistants or workmen, enter on any land within fifty yards of any work authorised by or under this Act for the purpose of depositing thereon any soil, gravel, stone or other materials, or of obtaining access to such work, or for any other purpose connected with the carrying on of the same.

(2) The Executive Officer shall, before entering on any land under subsection (1), give the occupier, or, if there is no occupier, the owner not less than three days' previous notice in writing of his intention to make such entry, and shall state the purpose thereof, and shall, if so required by the occupier or owner, fence off so much of the land as may be required for such purpose.

(3) The Executive Officer shall, in exercising any power conferred by this section, do as little damage as may be, and compensation shall be payable, by the Board to the owner or occupier of such land, or to both for any such damage whether permanent or temporary.

245. It shall be lawful for any person, authorised by or under this Act to Breaking into premises. make any entry into any place, to open or cause to be opened any door, gate or other barrier—

(a) if he considers the opening thereof necessary for the purpose of such entry; and

(b) if the owner occupier is absent, or being present refuses to open such door, gate or barrier.

246. Save as otherwise expressly provided in Entry to be made in the day time. this Act, no entry authorised by or under this Act shall be made except between the hours of sunrise and sunset.

247. Save as otherwise expressly provided in this Act, no building or land Provided that no such notice shall be necessary if the place to be inspected is a stable for horses or a shed for cattle, or a latrine, privy or urinal or a work under construction.

248. When any place used as a human dwelling is entered under this Act, due regard shall be paid to the social and religious customs and usages of the occupants of the place entered, and no apartment in the actual occupancy of a female shall be entered or broken open until she has been informed that she is at liberty to withdraw and every reasonable facility has been afforded to her for withdrawing.

249. Whoever obstructs or molests any person employed by a Board who is not a public servant within the meaning of section 21 of the Indian Penal Code or any person with whom the Board has lawfully contracted, in the execution of his duty or of anything which he is empowered or required to do by virtue or in consequence of any of the provisions of this Act or of any rule, by-law or order made thereunder, or in fulfilment of his contract, as the case may be, shall be punishable with fine which may extend to one hundred rupees.

Powers and Duties of Police Officers.

250. Any member of the police force employed in a cantonment may, without a warrant, arrest any person committing in his view a breach of any of the provisions of this Act which are specified in Schedule IV:

Provided that—

(a) in the case of the breach of any provision as is specified in Part B of Schedule IV, no person shall be so arrested who consents to give his name and address, unless there is reasonable ground for doubting the accuracy of the name or address so given, the burden of proof of which shall lie on the arresting officer, and no person so arrested shall be detained after his name and address have been ascertained; and

(b) no person shall be so arrested for an offence under section 236 except—

(i) at the request of the person importuned or of a military officer in whose presence the offence was committed; or

(ii) by or at the request of a member of the Military or Air Force Police, who is employed in the cantonment and authorised in this behalf by the ¹[Officer Commanding the station], and in whose presence the offence was committed or by or at the request of any police officer not below the rank of a Sub-Inspector who is employed in the cantonment and authorised in this behalf by the ¹[Officer Commanding the station].

251. It shall be the duty of all police officers to give immediate information to the Board of the commission of any offence against the provisions of this Act or of any rule or bye-law made thereunder, and to assist all cantonment officers and servants in the exercise of their lawful authority.

Notices.

252. Where any notice, order or requisition made under this Act or any rule or bye-law made thereunder requires anything to be done for the doing of which no time is fixed in this Act or in the rule or bye-law, the notice, order or requisition shall specify a reasonable time for doing the same.

Authentication and validity of notices issued by Board. 253. Every notice, order or requisition issued by a Board under this Act or any rule or bye-law made thereunder shall be signed—

(b) by the members of any committee especially authorised by the Board in this behalf.

254. (1) Every notice, order or requisition issued under this Act or any rule or bye-law made thereunder shall, save as otherwise expressly provided, be served or presented—

(a) by giving or tendering the notice, order or requisition, or sending it by post, to the person for whom it is intended; or

(b) if such person cannot be found, by affixing the notice, order or requisition on some conspicuous part of his last known place of abode or business, if within the cantonment, or by giving or tendering the notice, order or requisition to some adult male member or servant of his family, or by causing it to be affixed on some conspicuous part of the building or land, if any, to which it relates.

(2) When any such notice, order or requisition is required or permitted to be served upon an owner, lessee or occupier of any building or land, it shall not be necessary to name the owner, lessee or occupier therein, and the service thereof shall, save as otherwise expressly provided, be effected either—

(a) by giving or tendering the notice, order or requisition, or sending it by post, to the owner, lessee or occupier, or, if there are more owners, lessees or occupiers than one, [to any one of them]³, or

(b) if no such owner, lessee or occupier can be found, by giving or tendering the notice, order or requisition to the authorised agent, if any, of any such owner, lessee or occupier or to an adult male member of servant of the family of any such owner, lessee or occupier, or by causing it to be affixed on some conspicuous part of the building or land to which it relates.

(3) When the person on whom a notice, order or requisition is to be served is a minor, service upon his guardian or upon an adult male member or servant of his family shall be deemed to be service upon the minor.

255. Every notice which, by or under this Act, is to be given or served as a public notice or as notice which is not required to be given to any individual therein specified shall, save as otherwise expressly provided, be deemed to have been sufficiently given or served if a copy thereof is affixed in such conspicuous part of the office of the Board, or in such other public place, during such period or is published in such local newspaper or in such other manner, as the Board may direct.

256. In the event of non-compliance with the terms of any notice, order or requisition issued to any person under this Act, or any rule or bye-law made thereunder, requiring such person to execute any work or to do any act, it shall be lawful for the Board whether or not the person in default is liable to punishment for such default or has been prosecuted or sen-

Recovery of Money.

257. (1) If any such notice as is referred to in section 256 has been given

Liability of occupier to pay in default of owner. to any person in respect of property of which he is the owner, the Board may require any occupier of such property or of any part thereof to pay to it, instead of to the owner, any rent payable by him in respect of such property, as it falls due, up to the amount recoverable from the owner under section 256:

Provided that, if the occupier, on application made to him by the Board, refuses truly to disclose the amount of his rent or the name or address of the person to whom it is payable, the Board may recover from the occupier the whole amount recoverable under section 256.

(2) Any amount recovered from an occupier instead of from an owner under sub-section (1) shall, in the absence of any contract between the owner and the occupier to the contrary, be deemed to have been paid to the owner.

258. (1) Where any person, by reason of his receiving the rent of immovable property as an agent or trustee, or of his being as an agent or trustee the person who would receive the rent if the property were let to a tenant, would under this Act be bound to discharge any obligation imposed on the owner of the property for the discharge of which money is required, he shall not be bound to discharge the obligation unless he has, or but for his own improper act or default might have had, funds in his hands belonging to the owner sufficient for the purpose.

(2) The burden of proving any fact entitling an agent or trustee to relief under sub-section (1) shall lie upon him.

(3) Where any agent or trustee has claimed and established his right to relief under this section, the Board may, by notice in writing, require him to apply to the discharge of such obligation as aforesaid the first monies which may come to his hands on behalf, or for the use, of the owner, and, on failure to comply with the notice, he shall be deemed to be personally liable to discharge the obligation.

Where therefore the Cantonment Authority proceeds to recover arrears of rent due from a tenant by distress and sale of his immovable property its action is illegal and makes the Authority liable to pay damages to the tenant for its illegal action. 150 I.C. 682 =1933 Lah. 517. Committees of Arbitration.

260. In the event of any disagreement as to the liability of a Board to pay any compensation under this Act, or as to the amount of any compensation so payable, the person claiming such compensation may apply to the Board for the reference of the matter to a Committee of Arbitration, and the Board shall forthwith proceed to convene a Committee of Arbitration to determine the matter in dispute.

261. When a Committee of Arbitration is to be convened, the Board shall cause a public notice to be published stating the matter to be determined, and shall forthwith send copies of the order to the District Magistrate, and to the other party concerned, and shall, as soon as may be, nominate such members of the Committee as it is entitled to nominate under section 262, and, by notice in writing call upon the other persons who are entitled to nominate a member or members of the Committee to nominate such member or members in accordance with the provisions of that section.

262. (1) Every Committee of Arbitration shall consist of five members, namely:—

(c) two persons nominated by the other party concerned ³[* * *].

(2) If the Board or the other party concerned or the ²[Officer Commanding the station] fails within seven days of the date of issue of the notice referred to in section 261 to make any nomination which it or he is entitled to make or, if any member who has been so nominated neglects or refuses to act and the Board or other person by whom such member was nominated fails to nominate another member in his place within seven days from the date on which it or he may be called upon to do so by the District Magistrate, the District Magistrate shall forthwith appoint a member or members, as the case may be, to fill the vacancy or vacancies.

¹Sec. 266 renumbered as sub-sec. (1) of sec. 266 and sub-sec. (2) of sec. 266 inserted by Act XXIV of 1936.

SEC. 266: INTERPRETATION.—Sec. 266 only lays down that no Court shall proceed to the trial of any offence under the Act unless moved by the persons mentioned therein and if the persons mentioned therein initiate the proceedings as provided in the section, the Court must follow the procedure laid down in Cr. P. Code. 109 I.C. 607=29 Cr. L.J. 591 (Nag.). Where the prosecution of a person for an offence not specified in Sch. IV of this Act is instituted on a letter which is a personal application by the Executive Officer of the Cantonment Authority for his prosecution, and it is not shown that the Executive Officer is authorised by the Cantonment Authority by a general or special order to act on its behalf in such a proceeding, the complaint is not made in the manner required by sec. 266 of the Act and a conviction thereon is liable to be set aside. 158 I.C. 1010=36 Cr.L.J. 1493=1935 A. 905. A complaint was lodged by the Cantonment Board through a Sub-Overseer, signed by the Executive Officer of the Board. The Executive Officer never appeared before the Magistrate. Sub-Overseer did not hold any power of attorney on behalf of the Board. No power of authority was filed to show that the Executive Officer had any authority to lodge such a complaint. On conviction the accused filed a revision. The Executive Officer filed an affidavit that he had an authority to file the complaint. Held, that failure to file the authority is an omission curable under sec. 537, Cr. P. Code. 29 Cr.L.J. 822 =1928 Lah. 946.

267. (1) A Board, or any person authorised by it, by general or special order in this behalf, may, either before or after the institution of the proceedings, compound any offence made punishable by or under this Act other than an offence under Chapter XIV:

Provided that no offence shall be compoundable which is committed by failure to comply with a notice, order or requisition issued by or on behalf of the Board, unless and until the same has been complied with in so far as compliance is possible.

(2) Where an offence has been compounded, the offender, if in custody, shall be discharged and no further proceedings shall be taken against him in respect of the offence so compounded.

General Penalty Provisions.

268. Whoever, in any case in which a penalty is not expressly provided by this Act, fails to comply with any notice, order or requisition issued under any provision thereof, or otherwise contravenes any of the provisions of this Act, shall be punishable with fine which may extend to two hundred rupees, and, in the case of a continuing failure or contravention, with an additional fine which may extend to twenty rupees for every day after the first during which he has persisted in the failure or contravention.

269. Where any person to whom a licence has been granted under this Act or any agent or servant of such person commits a breach of any of the conditions thereof, or of any bye-law made under this Act for the purpose of regulating the manner or circumstances in, or the conditions subject to, which anything permitted by such licence is to be or may be done, the Board may, without prejudice to any other penalty which may have been incurred under this Act, by order in writing, cancel the licence or suspend it for such period as it thinks fit:

Provided that no such order shall be made until an opportunity has been given to the holder of the licence to show cause why it should not be made.

270. Where any person has incurred a penalty by reason of having caused any damage to the property of a Board, he shall be liable to make good such damage, and the amount payable in respect of the damage shall, in case of dispute, be determined by the Magistrate by whom the person incurring such penalty is convicted, and, on non-payment of such amount on demand, the same shall be recovered by distress and sale of the movable

SEC. 268.—The Executive Officer of the Cantonment is not a member of the "Cantonment Authority" as defined in sec. 2 (v) and a notice issued by him for the removal of an encroachment is invalid. Consequently a person cannot be convicted for disobeying a notice issued by the Executive Officer for removal of encroachment on Government land. Subsequent confirmation of the action of the Executive Officer by the Cantonment Board is of no avail as the notice disobeyed is the notice from the Executive Officer. 35 Cr.L.J. 612=1933 Lah. 545 (1). The Cantonment Authority gave a qualified sanction to A to proceed with the construction of his building at his own risk in that the site on which the construction was being built was claimed by the Government, but there was no "Municipal objection". As soon as A proceeded to build, the Cantonment Authority served him with a notice "to demolish the unauthorised construction." A having failed to comply with this notice, he was prosecuted under sec. 187 read with sec. 268. Held, that there was no unauthorized construction because A had sanction from the Board to build the room, that it was preposterous to suggest that when A had had the sanction of the Board in writing under sec. 181, he did not have the permission in writing of the Cantonment Authority, and that the question between the parties was a purely civil one and as a matter of fact A had not exceeded the authority given him by the Board in sanctioning his application for building. 146 I.C. 2=34 Cr.L.J. 1191=1933 All. 436. A merchant who is selling bamboos, rafters, wooden boards and beams within the limits of the Cantonment without any licence is liable to prosecution under sec. 268 for being a dealer in wood within the meaning of 'sec. 210 (f). 1934 All. 987 (1)=36 Cr.L.J. 261. property of such person, and the Magistrate shall issue a warrant for its recovery accordingly.

Limitation.

271. No Court shall try any person for an offence made punishable by or under this Act, after the expiry of six months from the date of the commission of the offence, unless complaint in respect of the offence has been made to a Magistrate within the six months aforesaid.

Suits.

272. No suit or prosecution shall be entertained in any Court against any Board ¹[* *] or against any ²[Officer Commanding a station], or against any member of a Board, or against any officer or servant of a Board, for anything in good faith done, or intended to be done, under this Act or any rule or bye-law made thereunder.

273. (1) No suit shall be instituted against any Board or against any member of a Board, or against any officer or servant of a Board, in respect of any act done, or purporting to have been done, in pursuance of this Act or of any rule or bye-law made thereunder, until the expiration of two months after notice in writing has been left at the office of the Board, and, in the case of such member, officer or servant, unless notice in writing has also been delivered to him or left at his office or place of abode, and unless such notice states explicitly the cause of action, the nature of the relief sought, the amount of compensation claimed, and the name and place of abode of the intending plaintiff, and unless the plaint contains a statement that such notice has been so delivered or left.

(2) If the Board, member, officer or servant has, before the suit is instituted, tendered sufficient amends to the plaintiff, the plaintiff shall not recover any sum in excess of the amount so tendered, and shall also pay all costs incurred by the defendant after such tender.

(3) No suit, such as is described in sub-section (1), shall, unless it is an action for the recovery of immovable property or for a declaration of title thereto, be instituted after the expiry of six months from the date on which the cause of action arises.

(4) Nothing in sub-section (1) shall be deemed to apply to a suit in which the only relief claimed is an injunction of which the object would be defeated by the giving of the notice or the postponement of the institution of the suit or proceeding.

Appeals and Revision.

274. (1) Any person aggrieved by any order described in the second column of Sch. V may appeal to the authority specified in that behalf in the third column thereof.

(2) No such appeal shall be admitted if it is made after the expiry of the

SEC. 273.—Sec. 273 (1) does not contemplate the class of suits of private contracts for which specific rules of evidence are prescribed by the Limitation Act. It contemplates actions brought against the Board in respect of acts done in pursuance of any rule or bye-law that has the force of law. Hence a suit against the Board for the price of goods supplied is not governed by sec. 273 but by Art. 52, Limitation Act. 149 I.C. 49=1934 A.L.J. 805=1934 All. 436. period specified in that behalf in the fourth column of the said Schedule.

(3) The period specified as aforesaid shall be computed in accordance with the provisions of the Indian Limitation Act, 1908, with respect to the computation of periods of limitation thereunder.

275. (1) Every appeal under section 274 shall be made by petition in writing accompanied by a copy of the order appealed against.

(2) Any such petition may be presented to the authority which made the order against which the appeal is made, and that authority shall be bound to forward it to the appellate authority, and may attach thereto any report which it may desire to make by way of explanation.

276. On the admission of an appeal from an order, other than an order contained in a notice issued under clause (a) of section 137, section 140, section 176, or section 238, all proceedings to enforce the order and all prosecutions for any contravention thereof shall be held in abeyance pending the decision of the appeal, and, if the order is set aside on appeal, disobedience thereof shall not be deemed to be an offence.

277. ¹[* * * * *].

²[(1)] Where an appeal from an order made by the Board has been disposed of by the District Magistrate, ³[either party to the proceedings] may, within thirty days from the date thereof, apply, through the ⁴[Officer Commanding-in-Chief, the Command], to the Central Government, or to such authority as the Central Government may appoint in this behalf, for a revision of the decision.

⁵[(2)] The provisions of this Chapter with respect to appeals shall apply, as far as may be, to applications for revision made under this section.

278. Save as otherwise provided in section 277, every order of an appellate authority shall be final.

279. No appeal shall be decided under this Chapter unless the appellant has been heard, or has had a reasonable opportunity of being heard in person or through a legal practitioner.

(38) the control of the use in the cantonment of mechanical whistles, syrens or trumpets; and

(39) generally for the regulation of the administration of the cantonment under this Act.

283. Any bye-law made by a Board under this Act may provide that a contravention thereof shall be punishable—

(a) with fine which may extend to one hundred rupees; or

(b) with fine which may extend to one hundred rupees and, in the case of a continuing contravention, with an additional fine which may extend to twenty rupees for every day during which such contravention continues after conviction for the first such contravention; or

(c) with fine which may extend to ten rupees for every day during which the contravention continues after the receipt of a notice from the Board by the person contravening the bye-law requiring such person to discontinue such contravention.

284. (1) Any power to make bye-laws conferred by this Act is conferred subject to the condition of the bye-laws being made after previous publication and of their not taking effect until they have been approved and confirmed by the Central Government and published in the Official Gazette.

(2) The Central Government in confirming a bye-law make any change therein which appears to it to be necessary.

(3) The Central Government may, after previous publication of its intention, cancel any bye-law which it has confirmed, and thereupon the bye-law shall cease to have effect.

285. (1) A copy of all rules and bye-laws made under this Act shall be kept at the office of the Board and shall, during office hours, be open free of charge to inspection by any inhabitant of the cantonment.

(2) Copies of all such rules and bye-laws shall be kept at the office of the Board ¹[and shall be sold to the public at cost price singly, or in collections at the option of the purchaser].

(3) It shall come into force on the first day of April, 1923, but it shall not become operative in any cantonment or part of a cantonment until the issue, or otherwise than in pursuance, of a notification as hereinafter provided by section 3 :

Provided that any notification made under section 3 of the ³Cantonments (House Accommodation) Act, 1902, which is in force at the commencement of this Act, shall be deemed to be a notification made under section 3 of this Act.

Definitions.

2. (1) In this Act, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,—

(a) "Brigade area" means one of the Brigade areas, whether occupied by a brigade or not, into which India is for military purposes for the time being divided, and includes any area which the Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, declare to be a Brigade area for all or any of the purposes of this Act;

⁵[(b) "Cantonment Board" means a Cantonment Board constituted under the Cantonments Act, 1924 ;]

(c) "Command" means one of the Commands into which India is for military purposes for the time being divided, and includes any area which the Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, declare to be a Command for all or any of the purposes of this Act ;

(d) ¹[" Officer Commanding the station "] means the officer for the time being in command of the forces in a cantonment ²[or if that officer is the Officer Commanding the District, the military officer who would be in command of those forces in the absence of the Officer Commanding the District].

(e) " District " means one of the Districts into which India is for military purposes for the time being divided ; it includes a Brigade area which does not form part of any such District and any area which the Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, declare to be a District for all or any of the purposes of this Act ;

(f) " house " means a house suitable for occupation by a military officer or a military mess, and includes the land and buildings appurtenant to a house ;

(g) " military officer " means a commissioned or warrant officer of His Majesty's military or air-forces on military or air-force duty in a cantonment, and includes a Chaplain on duty with troops in a cantonment, ³[an officer of the Cantonments Department] and any person in Army departmental employment whom the Officer Commanding the District may at any time, by an order in writing, place on the same footing as a military officer for the purposes of this Act ;

(h) " owner " includes the person who is receiving, or is entitled to receive, the rent of a house, whether on his own account or on behalf of himself and others or as an agent or trustee, or who would so receive the rent, or be entitled to receive it, if the house were let to a tenant ; and

(i) a house is said to be in a state of reasonable repair when—

(i) all floors, walls, pillars, and arches are sound and all roofs sound and watertight,

(ii) all doors and windows are intact, properly painted or oiled, and provided with proper locks or bolts or other secure fastenings, and

(iii) all rooms, out-houses and other appurtenant buildings are properly colour-washed or white-washed.

(2) If any question arises whether any land or building is appurtenant to a house, it shall be decided by the ⁴[Officer Commanding the station] whose decision thereon shall, subject to revision by the ⁵[Collector], be final.

APPROPRIATION OF HOUSES.

5. Every house situate in a cantonment or part of a cantonment in respect of which a notification under sub-section (1) of section 3 is for the time being in force shall be liable to appropriation by the ¹[Central] Government on a lease in the manner and subject to the conditions hereinafter provided.

Conditions on which houses may be appropriated. ²[6. (1) Where—

(a) a military officer who is stationed in or has been posted to the cantonment, or a President of a military mess in the cantonment, applies in writing to the Officer Commanding the Station stating that he is unable to secure suitable accommodation in the cantonment for himself or the mess on reasonable terms by private agreement, and that no suitable house or quarter belonging to ³[the Crown] is available for his occupation or for the occupation of the mess, and the Officer Commanding the Station is satisfied on inquiry of the truth of the facts so stated ; or

(b) the Officer Commanding the Station is satisfied on inquiry that there is not in the cantonment a sufficient and assured supply of houses available at reasonable rates of rent by private agreement to meet the requirements of the military officers and military messes whose accommodation in the cantonment is in his opinion necessary or expedient, the Officer Commanding the Station may, with a view to enforcing the liability under section 5, serve a notice on the owner of any house which appears to him to be suitable for occupation by a military officer or a military mess, as the case may be, within the cantonment, or, if this Act is in force in part only of the cantonment, within that part, requiring the owner to permit the house to be inspected, measured and surveyed by such person and on such date not being less than three clear days from the service of the notice, and at such time between sunrise and sunset, as may be specified in the notice.

(2) On the date and at the time so specified the owner shall be bound to afford all reasonable facilities to the person specified in the notice for the purpose of the inspection, measurement and survey of the house and, if he refuses or neglects to do so, such person may, subject to any rules made under this Act, enter on the premises and do all such things as may be reasonably necessary for the said purpose.]

²Section 6 is newly substituted for old S. 6 by Act IX of 1930.

³Substituted for 'Government' by Government of India (Adaptation of Indian Laws) Order, 1937.

⁴These words were substituted for the words "Commanding Officer of the Cantonment" by S. 6 of the Cantonments (House Accommodation) Amendment) Act, 1925 (X of 1925).

⁵In sub-section (1) to S. 7, the words "with the previous sanction of the Officer Commanding the District" have been omitted by Act IX of 1930.

SECS. 6 AND 11.—The Cantonments Act does not contain any prohibition against a transfer by an owner of his right to continue in occupation of the house. All that the Act says is that no notice shall be issued under sec. 6 if the house is occupied by the owner. The owner, therefore, may agree that if the house is required by the military authorities, he would deliver possession thereof to them. The Cantonment Magistrate is not prohibited from entering into any such agreement with an intending purchaser or even an owner in possession. Such an agreement would not defeat the provisions of the Cantonments Act. 25 Bom.L.R. 938=85 I.C. 442=1924 Bom. 258.

SEC. 7.—The best criterion for arriving at a reasonable figure of rent of a house is to find out the rent of bungalows in the locality. 182 I.C. 566=A.I.R. 1939 Pesh. 22.

(a) require the owner to execute a lease of the house to the ¹[Central] Government for a specified period which shall not be less than five years ;

(b) require the existing occupier, if any, to vacate the house ; and

(c) require the owner to execute within such time as may be specified in the notice such repairs as may, in the opinion of the ²[Officer Commanding the station], be necessary for the purpose of putting the house into a state of reasonable repair.

(2) Every notice issued under sub-section (1) shall state the amount of the annual rent proposed as reasonable for the house, calculated on the assumption that the owner will carry out the required repairs, if any. It shall also contain an estimate of the cost of such repairs.

(3) The following shall be deemed to be conditions of every lease executed under sub-section (1), namely :—

(a) that the house shall, on the expiration of the lease, be redelivered to the owner in a state of reasonable repair, and

(b) that the grounds and the garden, if any, appertaining to the house shall be maintained in the condition in which they are at the time at which the lease is executed :

⁴8: [Repealed by Act IX of 1930].

9. No house in any cantonment or part of a cantonment in which this Act is operative shall, unless it was so occupied at the date of the issue of the notification declaring this Act or the ⁵Cantonments (House Accommodation) Act, 1902, as the case may be, to be operative, be occupied for the purposes of a hospital, school, school hostel, bank, hotel, or shop, or by a railway administration, a company or firm engaged in trade or business or a club, without the previous sanction of the Officer Commanding the District given with the concurrence of the Commissioner, or, in a province where there are no Commissioners, of the Collector.

Sanction to be obtained before a house is occupied as a hospital, etc.

10. No notice shall be issued under section 7 if the house—

(a) was, at the date of the issue of the notification declaring this Act or the ⁵Cantonments (House Accommodation) Act, 1902, as the case may be, to be operative in the cantonment or part of the cantonment, or is, with such sanction as is required by section 9, occupied as a hospital, school, school hostel, bank, hotel or shop, and has been so occupied continuously during the three years immediately preceding the time when the occasion for issuing the notice arises, or

(b) was, at the date of such notification as is referred to in clause (a), or is, with such sanction as aforesaid, occupied by a railway administration or by a company or firm engaged in trade or business or by a club, or

(c) is occupied by the owner, or,

(d) has been appropriated by the Provincial Government with the concurrence of the Officer Commanding the District, or by the Central Government for use as a public office or for any other purpose.

11. (1) If a house is unoccupied, a notice issued under section 7 may require the owner to give possession of the same to the ²[Officer Commanding the station] within twenty-one days

Secd. 11.—See 1934 B. 258 cited under sec. 6 supra.

(2) If a house is occupied, a notice issued under section 7 shall not require its vacation in less than thirty days from the service of the notice.

(3) Where a notice has been issued under section 7 and the house has been vacated in pursuance thereof, the lease shall be deemed to have commenced on the date on which the house was so vacated.

12. If the owner fails to give possession of a house to the ¹[Officer Commanding the station] in pursuance of a notice issued under section 7, or if the existing occupier fails to vacate a house in pursuance of such a notice, the District Magistrate, by himself or by another person generally or specially authorised by him in this behalf, shall enter on the premises and enforce the surrender of the house.

Option in certain cases for owner on whom notice is issued under section 7 to call upon the Government to purchase.

13. (1) If a house, in respect of which a notice is issued under section 7, is shown to the satisfaction of the ²[Central Government], or is proved by a decree or order of a Court of competent jurisdiction to have been erected—

(a) under any conditions, rules, regulations or orders which were in force in Bengal prior to the eighth day of December, 1864, and conferred on the owner the option of offering the house for sale to the military officer applying for its appropriation for his occupation or to the East India Company or the Government, or

(b) under any conditions, rules, regulations, or orders which were in force in Bombay prior to the first day of June, 1875, and conferred such an option as is described in clause (a), then the owner shall have the option of either complying with the notice or offering the house for sale to the ³[Central] Government.

(2) If the owner elects to sell the house, and the ³[Central] Government is willing to purchase it, the question of the amount of the purchase-money to be paid shall, in the event of disagreement, be referred to ⁴[a Civil Court, in accordance with the provisions of chapter IV].

14. (1) If a house, in respect of which a notice is issued under section 7, is occupied by a tenant holding in good faith and for valuable consideration under a registered lease for any term exceeding one year, the ⁵[Central Government] shall, for the term of one year from the date on which the house is vacated in pursuance of the notice, or for the unexpired term of the lease whichever is the shorter, be liable to the owner for the rent fixed by the registered lease instead of for the rent payable under this Act if the rent so fixed exceeds the rent so payable.

(2) If a house, in respect of which a notice is issued under section 7, is occupied by a tenant holding in good faith and for valuable consideration under a registered lease from year to year, the ⁵[Central Government] shall be liable as aforesaid for the term of six months from the date on which the house is vacated in pursuance of the notice.

(3) Nothing in this section shall be deemed—

(a) to render the ⁶[Central Government] so liable unless an application in writing in this behalf is made by the owner to the ¹[Officer Commanding the station] within fifteen days from the service of the notice ; or

(b) to limit or otherwise affect any agreement between the ⁶[Crown] and the owner.

SCHEDULE.

[13th January, 1871]

An Act to consolidate and amend the law relating to Trespasses by Cattle.

WHEREAS it is expedient to consolidate and amend the law relating to trespasses by cattle; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

CHAPTER I.

PRELIMINARY.

Title and extent.

¹[1. (1) This Act may be called THE CATTLE-TRESPASS ACT, 1871; and

(2) It extends to the whole of British India,² except the presidency-

LEG. REF.

¹Substituted for the original sec. 1 by Act I of 1891.

²This Act has been declared in force in Upper Burma generally (except the Shan States), by the Burma Laws Act, 1898 (XIII of 1898), sec. 4 (1), and Sch. I, Bur. Code; in the Hill district of Arakan by the Arakan Hill District Laws Regulation, 1916 (I of 1916), ibid.; in British Baluchistan by the British Baluchistan Laws Regulation, 1913 (II of 1913), S. 3, Bal. Code; in the Santhal Parganas by the Santhal Parganas Settlement Regulation (III of 1872), as amended by the Santhal Parganas Justice and Laws Regulation, 1899 (III of 1899), S. 3, B. & O. Code; in angul and the Khondmals by the Angul Laws Regulation, 1913 (III of 1913), sec. 3, ibid.; in the Pargana of Manpur by the Manpur Laws Regulation, 1926 (II of 1926), S. 2; and in the Chittagong Hill Tracts by notification under S. 4 (2) of the Chittagong Hill Tracts Regulation, 1900 (I of 1900), see Bengal Code, Volume IV, pp. 84-85. It has been declared by notification under sec. 3 (a) of the Scheduled Districts Act, 1874 (XIV of 1874), to be in force in the following Scheduled Districts, namely:—

The Districts of Hazaribagh, Lohardaga and Manbhum, and Pargana Dhalbhum and the Kolhan in the District of Singhbhum [Gazette of India, 1881, Pt. I, p. 504]; the District of Lohardaga included at this time the present District of Palamau, which was separated in 1894; the District of Lohardaga is now called the Ranchi District, [see Calcutta Gazette, 1899, Pt. I, p. 44]; and the North-Western Provinces Tarai, Gazette of India, 1876, Pt. I, p. 505; the Scheduled Districts in Ganjam and Vizagapatam ibid., 1899, Pt. I, p. 720.

It has been extended, by notification under sec. 16 of the Burma Laws Act, 1898 (XIII 1898), to the Civil Station of Lashio in the State of North Hsenwi, Burma Gazette, 1898, Pt. I, p. 584.

It has been extended to the Civil Station of Taunggi in the State of Yawng Hwe, ibid., 1895, Pt. I, p. 550.

SEC. 1: CASE-LAW.—Where a prisoner was properly convicted on evidence of illegally seizing cattle, but was sentenced under the old law III of 1867, but that Act has been repealed by Act I of 1871, the High Court declined to interfere with the sentence as the latter Act was in force at the time of the conviction and sentence, and no injustice had been done. 16 W.R. (Cr.) 12. But where a conviction was not justified under the Act and especially where the fine was arbitrary, High Court interfered and set aside the conviction. 6 Luck. 26=31 Cr.L.J. 1015=1930 Oudh 250. Where a plaintiff complains of towns and such local areas as the Provincial Government, by notification¹ in the Official Gazette, may from time to time exclude from its operation.]

2[* * *]

Repeal of Acts.

2. [Rep. by Act I of 1938.]

Interpretation-clause.

3. In this Act,—

“officer of police” includes also village-watchmen, and

“cattle” includes also elephants, camels, buffaloes, horses, mares, geldings, ponies, colts, fillies, mules, asses, pigs, rams, ewes, sheep, lambs, goats, and kids,³ and

“local authority” means any body of persons for the time being invested by law with the control and administration of any matters within a specified local area, and “local fund” means any fund under the control or management of a local authority].

CHAPTER II.

POUNDS AND POUND-KEEPERS.

4. Pounds shall be established at such places as the Magistrate of the District, subject to the general control of the Provincial Government, from time to time directs.⁵

The village by which every pound is to be used shall be determined by the Magistrate of the District.⁶

LEG. REF.

¹ For notification issued by the Government of the United Provinces under this power, see U. P. R. & O.

² Sub-section (3) of sec. 1 was repealed by sec. 3 and Second Schedule of the Repealing and Amending Act, 1914 (X of 1914).

³ Added by Act I of 1891.

⁵ For rules and forms as to cattle-pounds in Sind, see Bom. R. & O.

⁶ In the Civil Station of Lashio in the Shan State of North Hsenwi, the jurisdiction, powers and duties of a District Magistrate or of a Sub-Divisional Magistrate, being a Magistrate of the first class, are exercised by the Superintendent of the Northern Shan States and every Assistant Superintendent of the Shan States, respectively—See Burma Gazette, 1898, Pt. I, p. 585.

damage to his crops by the cattle of different persons and there is nothing to show the extent of damage by each set of cattle, the plaintiff can only be awarded nominal damages. 1941 O.W.N. 1124=1941 A.W. R. (Rev.) 938=17 Luck. 284=1942 Oudh 73.

SEC. 4.—The maintenance of private cattle pounds is incompatible with the provisions of this Act and establishment and maintenance of cattle pounds under the superintendence and control of Government Officials assisted by the police may be considered essential for the maintenance of law and order and the peace and good Government of the country. It is an act of the Executive Government with which it is not competent for the Civil Courts to interfere. 39 C. 615=39 I.A. 31=16 C.W.N. 363=13 I.C. 965 (P.C.).

A person in exclusive possession of land is an occupier thereof under sec. 10. He can seize any cattle trespassing on his land. 3 P.R.Cr. 1916=17 Cr.L.J. 63=32 I.C. 655. See also 8 L.B.R. 217=17 Cr.L.J. 62=32 I.C. 654. Under sec. 10 the right to take hold of cattle trespassing on land and doing damage subsists only while the cattle are on the land. It does not continue after the cattle have left the land and so the owner of the land trespassed on cannot go to the owner of the errant cattle and demand their delivery in order that he may take them to the cattle pound. 25 Cr.L.J. 1004=81 I.C. 716=1925 N. 50. This case was however distinguished in a later case arising in Bombay, where it was held that for the purpose of seizing such cattle, the owner of the field trespassed upon by them had power to chase them and follow them into another person's land to which they ran and the latter could not treat the chasers as trespassers, whom he could attack and injure in the exercise of his right of private defence. 116 I.C. 403=30 Cr.L.J. 627=1928 L. 692. [In this case, the cattle when chased by the owners of the field trespassed upon by them ran towards the field of the accused to whom they belonged and on the owners chasing them thither, the accused inflicted mortal injuries on one of them, who died, for which the accused was put up for trial.] No doubt the right of capture of the cattle does not extend to following them to their sheds and seizing them there; but if the owner of a field attempts to seize them while actually trespassing, he is within his rights, in capturing them before they have definitely made their escape from the spot, even though they were not actually inside the field when captured. 36 Cr.L.J. 361=1934 N. 258. Unless the burgadar is shown to be a mere servant of lessor, the lessor is chargeable for cattle trespass on land under Burga lease. 23 C.W.N. 387=20 Cr.L.J. 398=50 I.C.

Control of pounds, Rates of charge for feeding impounded cattle.

Appointment of pound-keepers.

Pound-keepers may hold other offices.

Pound-keepers to be "public servants."

To keep registers and furnish returns.

To register seizures.

(a) the number and description of the animals,

(b) the day and hour on and at which they were so brought,

(c) the name and residence of the seizure, and

(d) the name and residence of the owner, if known, and shall give the seizer or his agent a copy of the entry.

To take charge of and feed cattle.

5. The pounds shall be under the control of the Magistrate, of the District; and he shall fix, and may from time to time alter, the rates of charge for feeding and watering impounded cattle.

6. ¹[The Provincial Government shall appoint a pound-keeper for every pound.

Any pound-keeper may hold simultaneously any other office under the Crown.

Every pound-keeper shall be deemed to be a public servant within the meaning of the Indian Penal Code.]

Duties of Pound-keepers.

7. Every pound-keeper shall keep such registers and furnish such returns as the Provincial Government from time to time directs.²

8. When cattle are brought to a pound, the pound-keeper shall enter in his register, —

9. The pound-keeper shall take charge of, feed and water the cattle until they are disposed of as hereinafter directed.

CHAPTER III.

IMPOUNDING CATTLE.

Cattle damaging land.

10. The cultivator or occupier of any land, or any person who has advanced cash for the cultivation of the crop or produce on any land, or the vendee or mortgagee of such crop or produce or any part thereof, may seize or cause to be seized any cattle trespassing on such land, and doing damage thereto or to any crop or produce thereon, and ³[send them or cause them to be sent within twenty-four hours] to the pound established for the village in which the land is situate.

All officers of police shall, when required, aid in preventing (a) resistance to such seizures, and (b) rescues from persons making such seizures.

Police to aid seizures.

1006. Seizure by the lessee without any intention to take the cattle to the pound for the purpose of coercing the owner of the cattle to pay the arrears of rent for grazing is illegal and amounts to an attempt to commit theft. 18 Cr.L.J. 849=41 C. 817; 22 C. 1017. Where the accused kept the cow in his custody for damages done over-night for the purpose of impounding unless he received compensation, held, he was legally entitled under this section to keep it in his own custody for 24 hours before lodging it in the pound. 23 Cr.L.J. 511=68 I.C. 47=1923 N. 64; 14 C.W.N. 238. Under sec. 10 a watchman watching crops on land on behalf of a cultivator or occupier is entitled to seize cattle trespassing on the land under his charge when he is given general instructions to seize them while so trespassing. 1922 P. 317; 16 Cr.L.J. 772=31 I.C. 372. A man in exclusive possession of a plot of land is an occupier under sec. 10 and is entitled to seize cattle and any resistance to the removal is punishable under sec. 24. 8 L.B.R. 217=17 Cr.L.J. 62=32 I.C. 654. As to extent of right of seizure, see 81 I.C. 716=25 Cr.L.J. 1004; 1934 N. 258.

SEC. 10. The proprietor of a private protected forest or of an embankment is an occupier of land within the meaning of sec. 10. There is no reason why he should

11. Persons in charge of public roads, pleasure-grounds, plantations, canals, drainage-works, embankments and the like and officers of police, may seize or cause to be seized any cattle doing damage to such roads, grounds, plantations, canals, drainage-works, embankments and the like, or the sides or slopes of such roads, canals, drainage-works or embankments or found straying thereon, and shall ²[send them or cause them to be sent within twenty-four hours] to the nearest pound.

³[12. For every head of cattle impounded as aforesaid, the pound-keepers shall levy a fine in accordance with the scale for the time being prescribed by the Provincial Government in this behalf by notification in the Official Gazette. Different scales may be prescribed for the different local areas.

All fines so levied shall be sent to the Magistrate of the District through such officer as the Provincial Government may direct.

A list of the fines and of the rates of charge for feeding and watering cattle shall be posted in a conspicuous place on or near to every pound.]

CHAPTER IV.

DELIVERY OR SALE OF CATTLE.

13. If the owner of the impounded cattle or his agent appear and claim the cattle, the pound-keeper shall deliver them to him on payment of the fines and charges incurred in respect of such cattle.

The owner or his agent, on taking back the cattle, shall sign a receipt for them in the register kept by the pound-keeper.

LEG. REF.

¹ As to the application of sec. 11 to forests, see the Indian Forest Act, 1927 (XVII of 1927), sec. 70; the Burma Forest Act, 1902 (Bur. Act IV of 1902), sec. 49; the Assam Forest Regulation, 1891 (VII of 1891), sec. 66, Assam Code; to railways, see Act IX of 1890, sec. 125 (4).

² Substituted for words "take them without unnecessary delay" by Act I of 1891.

³ Substituted by Act XVII of 1921.

In lieu of fines fixed under sec. 12, the Indian Forest Act, 1927 (XVII of 1927) fixed a different scale of fines for cattle impounded under sec. 70 of that Act; see sec. 71 of the Indian Forest Act, 1927 (XVII of 1927).

not be regarded as the occupier of land which he has reserved for afforestation. Similarly the occupier of land used as an embankment who builds or maintains an embankment. In either case, sec. 10 applies to cattle doing damage, whether in the forest or in the embankment. 1939 P.W.N. 295=20 P.L.T. 340. Before it can be held that an owner of a property was justified in seizing cattle and taking them to the pound, it must be shown that they were causing damage to land or crops thereon. Doing damage to crops would be implied in a finding that the cattle were found grazing the crops, for it is impossible for cattle to graze on crops without doing damage to them. Hence when there is evidence of such grazing and it is accepted, nothing further is necessary. 1944 O.W.N. 523=1944 O.A. (C.C.) 318=1944 A.W.R. (C.C.) 318=A.I.R. 1945 Oudh 116. For compensation to be given under sec. 22, there must be a finding that the seizure or detention of cattle was illegal (i.e.) not in accordance with sec. 10. 1939 O.W.N. 150=1939 O.A. 289. Sec. 10 is not inapplicable to grass land. Grass is produce of the land under the section. I.L.R. (1943) Kar. 112=1943 Sind 152.

SEC. 11: STRAYING CATTLE.—Seizure and conviction of person responsible—Actual damage if necessary. The legislature with a view to protect the person and property of the public in general has made it an offence to let cattle stray about without there being any one to look after them. The legality of the seizure of such cattle and the conviction of the persons responsible is not made dependent an actual damage being caused. (1930 O. 250, Ref.; 1920 P. 832, Dist.) 28 S.L.R. 73=35 Cr.L.J. 830=1934 S. 34. As to driving of cattle across the railway line at a place where there is no fence and where there is no regular track without causing any damage to the line, see 6 Luck. 26=31 Cr.L.J. 1015=1930 O. 250.

SEC. 13.—See 4 B.H.C. (Cr.) 14; ibid. 13; 8 B.H.C. (Cr.) 22.

14. If the cattle be not claimed within seven days from the date of their being impounded, the pound-keeper, shall report the fact to the officer in charge of the nearest police-station, or to such other officer as the Magistrate of the District appoints in this behalf.

Such officer shall thereupon stick up in a conspicuous part of his office a notice stating—

- (a) the number and description of the cattle,
- (b) the place where they were seized,
- (c) the place where they are impounded, and shall cause proclamation of the same to be made by beat of drum in the village and at the market-place nearest to the place of seizure.

If the cattle be not claimed within seven days from the date of the notice, they shall be sold by public auction by the said officer, or an officer of his establishment deputed for that purpose, at such place and time and subject to such conditions as the Magistrate of the District by general or special order from time to time directs:

Provided that, if any such cattle are, in the opinion of the Magistrate of the District, not likely to fetch a fair price if sold as aforesaid, they may be disposed of in such manner as he thinks fit.

15. If the owner or his agent appear and refuse to pay the said fines and expenses, on the ground that the seizure was illegal and that the owner is about to make a complaint under section 20, then, upon deposit of the fines and charges incurred in respect of the cattle, the cattle shall be delivered to him.

16. If the owner or his agent appear and refuse or omit to pay or (in the case mentioned in section 15) to deposit the said fines and expenses, the cattle, or as many of them as may be necessary, shall be sold by public auction by such officer at such place and time, and subject to such conditions, as are referred to in section 14.

The fines leviable and the expenses of feeding and watering, together with the expenses of sale, if any, shall be deducted from the proceeds of the sale.

The remaining cattle and the balance of the purchase-money, if any, shall be delivered to the owner or his agent, together with an account showing—

- (a) the number of cattle seized,
- (b) the time during which they have been impounded,
- (c) the amount of fines and charges incurred,
- (d) the number of cattle sold,
- (e) the proceeds of sale, and
- (f) the manner in which those proceeds have been disposed of.

The owner or his agent shall give a receipt for the cattle delivered to him and for the balance of the purchase-money (if any) paid to him according to such account.

Receipt.

17. The officer by whom the sale was made shall send to the Magistrate of the District the fines so deducted.

The charges for feeding and watering deducted under section 16 shall be paid over to the pound-keeper, who shall also retain and appropriate all sums received by him on account of such charges under section 13.

The surplus unclaimed proceeds of the sale of cattle shall be sent to the Magistrate of the District, who shall hold them in deposit for three months, and, if no claim thereto be preferred and established within that period, shall, at its expiry, ¹[be deemed to hold them as part of the revenues of the Province.]

18. [Application of fines and unclaimed proceeds of sale.] Repealed by the Govt. of India (Adaptation of Indian Laws) Order, 1937.

19. No officer of police or other officer or pound-keeper appointed under the provisions herein contained shall, directly or indirectly, purchase any cattle at a sale under this Act.

No pound-keeper shall release or deliver any impounded cattle otherwise, than in accordance with the former part of this Chapter, unless such release or delivery is ordered by a Magistrate or Civil Court.

Officers and pound-keepers not to purchase cattle at sales under Act.

Pound-keepers when not to release impounded cattle.

CHAPTER V.²

COMPLAINTS OF ILLEGAL SEIZURE OR DETENTION.

20. Any person whose cattle have been seized under this Act, or, having been so seized, have been detained in contravention of this Act, may, at any time within ten days from the date of the seizure, make a complaint³ to the Magistrate of the District or any Magistrate authorized to receive and try charges without reference by the Magistrate of the District.

21. The complaint shall be made by the complainant in person, or by an agent personally acquainted with the circumstances. It may be either in writing or verbal. If it be verbal, the substance of it shall be taken down in writing by the Magistrate.

Power to make complaints.

Procedure on complaint.

LEG. REF.

¹ Substituted for the words 'dispose of them as hereinafter provided' by A.O., 1937.

² This Chapter was substituted for the original Ch. V by Act I of 1891.

Offences under this section may be tried in a summary way, see Act V of 1898, sec. 260 (1) (m).

SEC. 20.—Although sec. 10, General Clauses Act, only applies to Acts made on or after 14th January, 1897, and does not cover in terms, an Act like Cattle Trespass Act passed in 1871, the principle underlying that section should be applied to complaints under this Act, sec. 20. 30 Cr.L.J. 125=113 I.C. 285=1929 Nag. 96. A Magistrate authorised under sec. 190, Cr. P. Code, to take cognizance of offences upon receiving complaints can take cognizance of an offence under sec. 20 of this Act though there is no special authorisation in that behalf. 44 Bom. 42=21 Bom.L.R. 1084=54 I.C. 495. See also 50 M. 841=52 M.L.J. 251=28 Cr.L.J. 301=1927 M. 396 (44 Bom. 42 and 34 C. 926, Foll.).

LIMITATION FOR COMPLAINT.—A complaint under sec. 20 to be valid, must be made to a Magistrate having jurisdiction within 10 days of the seizure of cattle. 29 Mys.H.C.R. 1023. See also 38 C.W.N. 1078.

SECS. 20 AND 21: SCOPE.—Compliance with—Invalid complaint within time—Valid complaint after—Not sufficient compliance.

An offence under the Act was committed on 6—10—1930. The persons whose cattle had been seized lodged informal complaint of theft in writing to the Amildar and head of the police on 10—10—1930. Subsequently on 30—10—1930, the police placed a charge-sheet for an offence under sec. 20 before a Magistrate. Held, this was not a sufficient compliance within secs. 20 and 21, and that the Court could not take cognizance of the offence. 39 Mys.H.C.R. 1023.

SEC. 21.—For a complaint by an agent to be valid, it is not necessary that the agent must know all about the matter from what he has seen himself and not from what he has been told by others. 26 Cr. L. J. 327=84 I.C. 551=1923 N. 156. The expression "an agent personally acquainted" means an agent who has some personal knowledge of the circumstances relating to the seizure of the cattle and not merely an agent who holds a general power of attorney. But personal acquaintance need not mean that a person having such acquaintance must have been an eye-witness. The word "agent" includes not only an agent in the ordinary sense, but also a servant, but does not include an agent, who lives at a distance and who has received information of the seizure at second hand. A servant actually present at the time of the seizure might make a complaint under sec. 20 when the owner himself is unable to do so, or when there was no agent who was able to make complaint for the owner; but where the owner himself is able to make a complaint or there is an agent, then a complaint should be made by the owner or such agent. 27 N.L.R. 167=32 Cr.L.J. 896=1931 N. 98. A complaint can only be made by one of two

If the Magistrate, on examining the complainant or his agent, sees reason to believe the complaint to be well founded, he shall summon the person complained against, and make an enquiry into the case.

22. If the seizure or detention be adjudged illegal, the Magistrate shall award to the complainant, for the loss caused by the seizure or detention, reasonable compensation, not exceeding one hundred rupees, to be paid by the person who made the seizure or detained the cattle together with all fines paid and expenses incurred by the complainant in procuring the release of the cattle, and, if the cattle have not been released, the Magistrate shall, besides awarding such compensation, order their release and direct that the fines and expenses leviable under this Act shall be paid by the person who made the seizure or detained the cattle.

23. The compensation, fines and expenses mentioned in section 22 may be recovered as if they were fines imposed by the Magistrate.¹ definite sets of persons, viz., either in person by the owner of the cattle seized or by an agent personally acquainted with the circumstances of the case. A complaint by any one else is unauthorised and is no complaint at all in law. Such a defect strikes at the very root of the matter and cannot be cured by sec. 537, Cr. P. Code. 39 Mys.H. C.R. 1023. Grasier of cattle is an agent of the owners personally acquainted with the circumstances within the meaning of this section. 116 I.C. 424=30 Cr.L.J. 633=1929 N. 152.

SEC. 22.—Sec. 326 (1) of the U. P. Municipalities Act relates only to suits of a civil nature in a Civil Court and has nothing to do with prosecutions under Cattle Trespass Act. The Magistrate found that cattle had done no damage to Municipal trees and that consequently the seizure of the cattle by the accused Municipal servants was bad, held, that the accused were rightly convicted under sec. 22. 16 A.L.J. 148=19 Cr.L.J. 368=44 I.C. 592. Where a complaint mainly under sec. 22 of this Act, though secs. 323 and 504 of the Penal Code were also mentioned, is presented to a panchayat Court within time, but which by reason of sec. 17 of the U. P. Village Panchayat Act was not competent to entertain it, and it was subsequently transferred to the proper Court, the presentation is not proper and cannot be cured by sec. 537, Cr. P. Code. 175 I.C. 662=1938 O.W.N. 596=1938 Oudh 183. For compensation to be given under sec. 22, there must be a finding that the seizure or detention of the cattle was illegal, that is to say, the seizure was not in accordance with sec. 10, Cattle Trespass Act. Where the question is whether the cattle were doing damage to the crop, the fact that the damage was likely to be small, cannot render the seizure illegal. If in law one is entitled to impound the cattle, the smallness of the damage or any consequent unreasonableness of the impounding is no ground awarding compensation. 1939 O.W.N. 150=1939 A.W.R. (C.C.) 56=1939 O.A. 289. The person under whose orders the cattle were seized is liable to compensate the complainant equally with those who directly seized them under his orders. 72 I.C. 71=24 Cr.L.J. 311=1923 P. 292. In a suit for damages for illegal seizure of cattle, the onus lies on defendant to prove that the seizure was justifiable in law. Such a suit is not barred by reason of Ch. V of this Act. 44 I.C. 237 (N.), following 15 W.R. 279; 16 C. 159. Where there was no allegation of loss in the petition and no compensation was claimed, order for payment of compensation cannot be sustained. 4 Pat.L.T. 231=1923 P. 292=24 Cr.L.J. 311. PENALTIES.

Penalty for forcibly opposing the seizure of cattle or rescuing the same.

24. Whoever forcibly opposes the seizure of cattle liable to be seized under this Act, and whoever rescues the same after seizure, either from a pound, or from any person taking or about to take them to a pound, such person being near at hand and acting under the powers conferred by this Act, shall, on conviction before a Magistrate, be punished with imprisonment for a period not exceeding six months, or with fine not exceeding five hundred rupees, or with both.

¹25. Any fine imposed ²[under the next following section or] for the Recovery of penalty for mischief committed by causing cattle to trespass.

offence of mischief by causing cattle to trespass on any land may be recovered by sale of all or any of the cattle by which the trespass was committed, whether they were seized in the act of trespassing or not, and whether they are the property of the person convicted of the offence, or were only in his charge when the trespass was committed.

26. Any owner or keeper of pigs who, through neglect or otherwise, damages or causes or permits to be damaged any land, or any crop or produce of land, or any public road³, by allowing such pigs to trespass thereon, shall, on conviction before a Magistrate, be punished with fine not exceeding ten rupees.

⁴[The Provincial Government, by notification in the Official Gazette, may from time to time, with respect to any local area specified in the notification, direct that the foregoing portion of this section shall be read as if it had reference to cattle generally, or to cattle of a kind described⁵ in the notification, instead of to pigs only, or as if the words "fifty rupees" were substituted for the words "ten rupees," or as if there were both such reference and such substitution.]

SEC. 24.—It cannot be said that a conviction under sec. 24, is essential before any offence under the Penal Code connected with such an offence can be taken into consideration. 1944 O.W.N. 523=1944 O.A. (C.C.) 318=1944 A.W.R. (C.C.) 318. It is essential to a conviction under sec. 24 that there should be a clear finding of damage done by the trespassing cattle. 186 I.C. 182=21 P.L.T. 627=A.I.R. 1940 Pat. 299. There can be no conviction under this section, unless it is proved and found that the cattle were liable to be seized within sec. 10, and that damage was caused. 1 Pat.L.T. 176=57 I.C. 464=21 Cr.L.J. 640. See also 24 A.L.J. 280=27 Cr.L.J. 313=1926 A. 276; 19 Cr.L.J. 202=43 I.C. 618; 19 Cr.L.J. 157=43 I.C. 445. In order that an offence may be established under sec. 24, the seizure of the cattle must be legal, and consequently driving herds of cattle across the railway line at a place where there is no fence and where there is a regular track does not constitute any offence under sec. 24 in the absence of any damage to the line. 6 Luck. 26=31 Cr.L.J. 1015=1930 O. 250. Persons claiming that they are the owners of the cattle and also of the land, are liable under sec. 24 if they do not remove the cattle. Their claim will not affect the title of the true owner. 3 P.R.Cr. 1916=16 Cr.L.J.

27. Any pound-keeper releasing or purchasing or delivering cattle contrary to the provisions of section 19, or omitting to provide any impounded cattle with sufficient food and water, or failing to perform any of the other duties imposed upon him by this Act, shall, over and above any other penalty to which he may be liable, be punished, on conviction before a Magistrate, with fine not exceeding fifty rupees.

Such fines may be recovered by deductions from the pound-keeper's salary.

Application of fines recovered under sections 25, 26 or 27.

28. All fines recovered under section 25, section 26 or section 27 may be appropriated in whole or in part as compensation for loss or damage proved to the satisfaction of the convicting Magistrate.

CHAPTER VII.

SUITS FOR COMPENSATION.

29. Nothing herein contained prohibits any person whose crops or other produce of land have been damaged by trespass of cattle from suing for compensation in any competent Court.

30. Any compensation paid to such person under this Act by order of the convicting Magistrate shall be set-off and deducted from any sum claimed by or awarded to him as compensation in such suit.

An Act to restrain the solemnisation of child marriages.

WHEREAS it is expedient to restrain the solemnisation of child marriages; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Short title, extent and commencement.

1. (1) This Act may be called THE CHILD MARRIAGE RESTRAINT ACT, 1929.

(2) It extends to the whole of British India, including British Baluchistan and the Sonthal Parganas.

LEG. REF.

SEC. 1: OBJECT OF THE AMENDMENT.—

There was a conflict of decisions as to whether the Act, as it originally stood, was applicable to child marriages celebrated in places outside British India, e.g., in any place within the French territory or a Native State where such marriages were not declared offences. [Vide (1937) 1 M.L.J. 388=1937 M. 203; 59 B. 745; 175 I.O. 615=1938 Nag. 205.] But this amendment makes this Act applicable to all British subjects and servants of the Crown in any part of India and to all British subjects who are domiciled in any part of India wherever they may be. Thus, at present, this Act can pursue every British subject, although he may celebrate the marriage outside British India, and the Legislature by this amendment has adopted the view of the Madras High Court; so the decision in 59 B. 745 would no longer be correct under the Act as amended. In an administration suit an application was made for liberty to spend out of the estate certain sum to meet the marriage expenses of the plaintiff who was a minor and had not reached the age of 16. Both the bridegroom and the bride were domiciled in Bikanir and the marriage ceremony was to be performed in Bikanir. The source of income was however in Calcutta. Held, that the application could not be granted as the Court should not facilitate conduct which the legislature in British India has made penal even if such marriage was not punishable according to law of Bikanir. A.I.R. 1941 Cal. 244=194 I.O. 730. See also 1941 N.L.J. 282 (marriage contrary to this Act, not "(necessity" to justify alienation).

OBJECT OF ACT NOT TO DECLARE MARRIAGE INVALID, BUT TO INFLICT PUNISHMENT.—

Although a marriage may have been celebrated in contravention of the provisions of this Act, the Act does not declare it to be an invalid marriage. The Act merely imposes certain penalties on the persons bringing about such marriages. 1936 A. 852=1936 A.L.J. 1097. The Child Marriage Restraint Act aims at the restraint of solemnization of child marriages. It does not affect validity of the marriages after they have

- (a) all British subjects and servants of the Crown in any part of India; and
 (b) all British subjects who are domiciled in any part of India wherever they may be].
 (3) It shall come into force on the 1st day of April, 1930.

been performed. There may no doubt be cases where the Court in the exercise of its discretion, may refuse to give a declaration in the case of a marriage performed in contravention of the Act. 182 I.C. 568=1939 A.L.J. 173=A.I.R. 1939 All. 340.

ACT, IF ULTRA VIRES.—The Act is not ultra vires at least so far as Hindus are concerned. It was contended that the previous sanction of the Governor-General in Council required by sec. 57 (2) (b) of the Government of India Act (5 and 6 Geo. V, ch. 61 and 9 and 10 Geo. V ch. 101) was not given to the introduction of the measure which became Act XIX of 1929. The argument was that the original Bill, which was introduced and for which sanction was given, was so altered and shaped by the Select Committee, that the Bill as it came out of the Select Committee bore no resemblance at all to the original Bill, and that therefore a fresh sanction should have been obtained for this. It was held that so far as Hindus are concerned, the changes introduced in the Select Committee did not affect the object and purpose of the Bill; and that the difference introduced was only with reference to the methods of achieving the purpose, viz., that the Bill provided for achieving it by creating civil disability whereas the Act provides for achieving it by inflicting punishments, and that the changes were not such as to render inadequate the "previous sanction" accorded, and that the Act, therefore, was valid and not ultra vires. 14 Pat.L.T. 438=33 Cr.L.J. 20=1933 Pat. 471.

APPLICABILITY OF ACT—JURISDICTION OF COURTS.—(a) To foreigners and Subjects of Native States.—The Act is a penal statute, and, under it whoever offends against its provisions commits a crime. It is applicable to all such crimes committed in British India, even though the persons accused are foreigners, i.e., subjects of a Native State. 39 C.W.N. 656. In the case of these persons, if the marriage takes place outside British India, it would not constitute an offence under this Act.

With reference to the question whether the celebration of child marriages by native British subjects outside British India can be punished under this Act, there was a conflict of opinion between the Bombay and Madras High Courts.

The Madras High Court held that this Act makes it an offence to celebrate a child marriage, and that the penal law, applies not only to the celebration of such marriages within British India by any one, but also to the celebration of such marriage even outside British India by native Indian subjects. (Vide sec. 3, I. P. C. and secs. 186 and 188, Criminal Procedure Code.) This Act is extra-territorial to this extent, viz., that if native Indian subjects commit offences punishable under this Act even outside British India, they are liable to be tried and punished when found in British India. The Act can pursue them even when they have broken it after going outside British India. (1937) 1 M.L.J. 388=1937 M. 237; see also 175 I.C. 615=A.I.R. 938 Nag. 235. In this case the marriage was in Frenchpet, about which there was dispute at the time whether it was in British India or whether it formed a part of the French Territory. But the Court held that this circumstance was immaterial for the case as the jurisdiction of the Court did not depend on that question. (Ibid). But the Bombay High Court has taken a different view, and has held that this Act is limited in its operation to British India and it only strikes at marriages contracted in British India. I.L.R. 59 B. 745=1935 B. 437. The accused in this case were charged under sec. 6 of this Act in that they permitted or failed to prevent the marriage of their son, who was under the age of 18 years. The marriage took place at Goa, outside British India, and the accused were tried by the District Magistrate of Kanara where the accused were residing at the time of the charge. It was held that marriage contracted outside British India was not an offence under the Act. See arguments of Counsel reported in I.L.R. 59 B. 745.

But now the amending Act VII of 1938 has set at rest this question. Under it the Act is made applicable to all British subjects wherever they may be in India. So now, the view of the Madras High Court would be the correct law on the point.

Court not to do anything in frustration of object of this Act, even in proceedings unconnected with this Act. The preamble to the Act states that it is "expedient to restrain the solemnization of child marriages", and therefore no Court would do anything which is calculated to facilitate the performance of any such act. So, where the Court was asked to sanction an amount for the marriage of a girl out of the funds in the hands of a Receiver appointed by the Court, the Court refused to do so, as the girl was below 14 years and as the legislature has expressed disapproval of such a marriage. It also repelled the suggestion that the marriage could be celebrated without any offence in a place outside British India and that the parties were domiciled in a Native State. 63 C. 1153. A charge in respect of an offence under the Child Marriage Restraint Act alleged to have been committed in French territory cannot be inquired into in British India except on the certificate of the Political Agent or the sanction of the Local Government, as required by the proviso to Sec. 188, Cr. P. Code. There is nothing to the contrary in the Child Marriage Restraint Act. 1939 M.W.N. 742=49 L.W. 656

Definitions.

2. In this Act, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context—

(a) “child” means a person who, if a male, is under eighteen years of age, and if a female, is under fourteen years of age;

(b) “child marriage” means a marriage to which either of the contracting parties is a child;

=A.I.R. 1939 Mad. 577. See also 1940 N. L.J. 304 cited under sec. 9 infra; also 1939 A.M.L.J. 130.

INTENTION TO GIVE CHILD IN MARRIAGE—UNLAWFUL PURPOSE WITHIN EXCEPTION TO SEC. 361, I. P. C.—An intention to give a child in marriage in contravention of this Act is an “unlawful purpose” within the exception to sec. 361, I. P. Code, on the ground that, if the purpose is carried out, the person giving the child in marriage is liable to conviction and punishment. 11 R. 213=34 Cr.L.J. 696=1933 R. 98 (F.B.).

TRIAL UNDER ACT MAY BE SUMMARY.—A trial under this Act may be summary, as it is permitted by sec. 260 (1) (a), Criminal Procedure Code, as the offences under the Act come under the heading “offences not punishable with imprisonment for a term exceeding 6 months”. Sec. 4 (1) (c), Criminal Procedure Code, states that “offence” means any act or omission made punishable by any law for the time being in force. Therefore, an offence against a law such as this Act will come under the provisions of sec. 260 (1) (a) of the Criminal Procedure Code. 35 Cr.L.J. 677=148 I.C. 351=1934 A. 331. Transfer of case under this Act by District Magistrate to subdivisional Magistrate for disposal without making any enquiry (under sec. 202 Cr. P. Code) is not legal. 48 L.W. 774.

SETTING ASIDE OF ACQUITTAL IN REVISION—PRACTICE OF HIGH COURT.—It was held in 12 Pat.L.T. 629 that, though the acquittal of an accused would be set aside only in very exceptional cases, it would not be proper to apply that strict rule in cases under this Act, on the grounds that the Police can take no action and the legislature has made the members of the public litigants. But now the Act has been amended and the Police also can take action.

SENTENCE UNDER ACT TO BE DETERRENT.—The Courts are not at liberty to treat this enactment as a legislative imposture and manifestly, if it is to be effective, the sentence upon the priest and other celebrants, without whose aid ordinarily no infringement of the Act is possible, should be such as to deter other avaricious members of his caste from following his example. 14 Pat.L.T. 438=33 Cr.L.J. 20=1933 Pat. 471.

SEC. 2: EVIDENCE OF AGE.—Register of Births and Deaths is a relevant document under sec. 35 of the Evidence Act, and further evidence may not be necessary to establish the date of birth. 16 Pat.L.T. 629. But opinion evidence from mere appearance is not sufficient to establish the age. I.L.R. (1937) Mad. 854=A.I.R. 1937 M. 490; nor certificate from any incompetent medical officer when more competent officer is available. 35 Cr.L.J. 677=148 I.C. 351=1934 A. 331.

SEC. 2 (b): MARRIAGE.—The word ‘marriage’ has not been defined in this Act. “The meaning of the word differs in different countries. In Christendom, it means a monogamous marriage, being the voluntary union for life of one man and one woman to the exclusion of all others. In India a marriage has a different meaning, in that, in the case of Hindus, it need not be voluntary and it may be polygamous, and if custom permits polyandrous; while in the case of the Mahomedans there is a marriage called mutah which need not be for life at all.” (Gour’s Hindu Law, 3rd Ed., p. 271).

However, marriage may be defined as an alliance between a man and a woman recognised by law. Such alliance may be formed in a number of ways which vary from the most complicated form prescribed in the Hindu Sastras to the free love which under the name of Sambandam is taken for a marriage in Malabar. The question of legal recognition is all in all.

SOLEMNIZATION OF MARRIAGE AMONG HINDUS—ESSENTIALS.—Hindu lawyers prescribed various ceremonies for the solemnization of a marriage. But these ceremonies in their entirety are seldom, if ever, performed. According to them the Vivaha Homa and Saptapadi are essential. But it is notorious that marriages are performed in many castes without them, and it is now settled that, if by caste usage any other form is considered as constituting a marriage, then the adoption of that form under the conditions prescribed by the caste, with the intention of thereby completing the marriage union, is sufficient. It is consequently clear that the essential and binding part of the marriage ceremony must necessarily vary in different localities. 33 M. 342=5 I.C. 42.

TILAK CEREMONY, IF CONSTITUTES MARRIAGE.—Tilak ceremony may be regarded as a necessary preliminary to the marriage ceremony; but the actual marriage is a ceremony quite different and distinct from it. Nor can a marriage be properly called a ‘consequence’ of the tilak ceremony. 1934 A.L.J. 681=35 Cr.L.J. 1175=1934 A. 829.

MARRIAGE BETWEEN PARTIES OF SAME GOTRA IF NOT WITHIN THE ACT.—The Act aims at and deals with the restraint of the performance of the marriage, and it has nothing to do with the validity or invalidity of the marriage; so even when the parties to the marriage belonged to the same gotra, it will nonetheless be marriage for the purposes of this Act. 58 A. 402=36 Cr.L.J. 1453=1936 A. 11.

MARRIAGE WHEN COMPLETE—GAUNA CERE-

(c) "contracting party" to a marriage means either of the parties whose marriage is ¹[or is about to be] thereby solemnised; and

(d) "minor" means a person of either sex who is under eighteen years of age.

Punishment for male adult below twenty-one years of age marrying a child.

3. Whoever, being a male above eighteen years of age and below twenty-one, contracts a child marriage shall be punishable with fine which may extend to one thousand rupees.

4. Whoever, being a male above twenty-one years of age, contracts a child marriage shall be punishable with simple imprisonment which may extend to one month, or with fine which may extend to one thousand rupees, or with both.

Punishment for male adult above twenty-one years of age marrying a child.

LEG. REF.

MONEY IF NECESSARY.—The marriage becomes complete as soon as the marriage ceremony which depends on the law and religion of the parties is performed. The fact that the Gauna ceremony has not been performed as yet does not affect the performance of the marriage. Consummation is not a part of the marriage ceremony. 58 A. 402=36 Cr. L.J. 1483=1936 A. 11.

SEC. 2 (c): CONTRACTING PARTY.—These words in this Act are defined to mean the parties whose marriage is or is about to be thereby celebrated. Generally in this country, child marriages are brought about by the parents or guardians of the children, and but for this definition, these words would naturally refer to the parents or guardians.

SEC. 2 (d): MINOR.—This Act fixes the age of minority at 18 years for the purposes of this Act. According to the Indian Majority Act, it is extended to 21 years when there is a certificated guardian appointed or declared by the Court under the Guardian and Wards Act, 1893.

SEC. 3: SCOPE OF.—This section fixes the penalty of a maximum fine of Rs. 1,000 on a male between the ages of 18 and 21, who contracts a child marriage. Note that no imprisonment can be awarded under this section. Imprisonment cannot be awarded under the provisions of sec. 25, General Clauses Act, 1897, or sec. 64 of the I. P. Code even in case of default in payment of the fine inflicted. (see sec. 7, infra.)

CONTRACTUAL CAPACITY FOR MARRIAGE UNDER ENGLISH LAW—EFFECT OF CHILD MARRIAGE.—Under the English law, a binding marriage can be contracted by an infant of either sex at the age of 16 years. [Vide age of Marriage Act (1929), 19 & 20 Geo. V, ch. 36, sec. 1], and a marriage between persons either of whom is under that age is void. (Halsbury, 2nd Ed., Vol. XVII, p. 597).

SECS. 3 AND 4: SCOPE OF.—Secs. 3 and 4 prescribe penalties for the male who contracts a child marriage for himself and these differ according to his age. If he is below the age of 18 years, he is not at all punishable. If he is between the ages of 18 and 21, the punishment prescribed under sec. 3 is only a maximum fine of Rs. 1,000. According to sec. 7 of the Act, the Court is not competent to award imprisonment for default in payment of the fine inflicted. If the male is above 21 years of age, it is open to the Court under sec. 4 not only to inflict a similar fine of Rs. 1,000 but also to award a month's simple imprisonment in addition, or in the alternative. Also, in this latter case it is open to the Court under sec. 25 of the General Clauses Act, 1897, or sec. 64 of the I. P. Code to award additional imprisonment on default of payment of the fine.

SEC. 3 OR 4 AND SEC. 12: DISTINCT OFFENCES.—A person may commit distinct offences both under sec. 3 or sec. 4 and sec. 12. Where a male has been restrained by means of an injunction order of the Court issued under sec. 12 from contracting a child marriage, and he has the same solemnized, then, he would be committing two offences (i) the offence of contracting the child marriage under sec. 3 or sec. 4 as the case may be, and (ii) the offence of contempt of Court for disobeying the injunction, and would render himself liable to two sentences and punishments.

It is to be noted that sec. 7 disables the Court from awarding punishment of imprisonment for default of payment of the fine inflicted, only in respect of a sentence under sec. 3. Therefore, where the male between the ages of 18 and 21 contracts a child marriage in disobedience to an injunction order issued by the Court against it, and he is fined under sec. 12, it is open to the Court to award imprisonment as an alternative punishment on default of payment of the fine inflicted on him.

SEC. 4.—See notes under sec. 3 supra.

SECS. 4 AND 5: VALUE OF CERTIFICATE AS TO AGE OF BRIDE FROM INCOMPETENT MEDICAL OFFICER.—In a case under this Act against the bridegroom under sec. 4 and the priest who officiated at the marriage under sec. 5, it was contended by them that they were misled by a certificate granted by the woman medical officer in charge of a hospital to the effect that the girl was not less than 14 years of age. But according to the Civil Surgeon the girl was only about 12 years of age, and no evidence was produced to contradict the Civil Surgeon. It was held that they should have gone to the Civil Surgeon punishable with simple imprisonment which may extend to one month, or with fine which may extend to one thousand rupees, or with both, unless he proves that he had reason to believe that the marriage was not a child marriage.

in order to obtain a certificate and that the fact of their having secured a certificate from the woman medical officer, was not sufficient. 35 Cr.L.J. 677=148 I.C. 351=1934 A. 331. But, the production of the medical certificate may be taken into account in the matter of awarding punishment. (Ibid.).

JUSTIFICATION CAN BE PLEADED ONLY IF ACT DONE IN GOOD FAITH.—A party pleading justification and claiming exemption from punishment for any offence should have, under sec. 79 of the Indian Penal Code, acted in good faith involving due care and caution. 35 Cr.L.J. 677=148 I.C. 351=1934 A. 331.

SEC. 5: 'PERFORMS, CONDUCTS OR DIRECTS'.—The words 'performing conducting', etc., refer to the actual marriage ceremony itself, and not of any negotiation, preparation or any other preliminary acts; and these are not covered by the section. 175 I.C. 615=1938 Nag. 235. See also 42 Bom.L.R. 857=1940 Bom. 363. These words would include the Priests or Purohits who officiate at the marriage ceremony. See 14 Pat.L.T. 438=146 I.C. 298=1933 Pat. 471. Do these words include also persons such as those who accommodate the offending parties by giving them premises, etc., for the celebration of the marriage, and the servants and dependants of the parties who do several acts in connection with and in furtherance of the marriage? It has been held that merely applying to the Municipal Board for permission to hold nautch, music, and fireworks on the occasion of marriage does not amount to an offence under this section. 1936 O.W. N. 480. But it has been held, in 16 Pat. L. T. 639, that, though a person may not be directly guilty of an offence under this Act, the provisions of the Indian Penal Code regarding the abetment of offences may be applied to him, and he may be convicted and sentenced for abetment of offences under this Act. So according to this section, it would be a question of fact in each case whether the acts alleged against any such person constitute an abetment of the offence under this Act read with the provisions of the Indian Penal Code. Sec. 5 of the Act is intended to punish the solemnising a child marriage. The words "perform, conduct or direct" in sec. 5 bear the same import and mean working towards the end, that is completing the union, and are used to indicate solemnization of the marriage. They do not suggest the arranging of marriage merely or attending a marriage ceremony with a view to assisting in the solemnization of the marriage. The words are used in relation to the ceremony. The performance of a marriage among Hindus means the solemnization thereof by conducting such ceremonies as would complete and validate the marriage that is, the performance of the sacramental or religious and not the secular ceremony. Mere participation in the latter ceremony would not offend against sec. 5. Sec. 5 is not intended to punish parents who arrange or assist in the performance of the marriage ceremony. The parents of a grown up bride who take part in the kanyadan ceremony cannot be made liable under sec. 5. I. L.R. (1940) Bom. 709=42 Bom.L.R. 857=A.I.R. 1940 Bom. 363.

MARRIAGE.—[See also notes under sec. 2 (b) supra.] For the purposes of this section, it is only the marriage ceremony that has to be considered, and it is quite immaterial where and when or by whom the Tilak ceremony was performed. 1934 A.L.J. 681=35 Cr.L.J. 1175=1934 A. 829. Where the accused are not charged with the commission of an offence by reason of having performed the Tilak ceremony, but are charged for the offence of performing, conducting or directing the child marriage under sec. 5 of this Act, secs. 179 and 182, Criminal Procedure Code, could not apply, as the marriage cannot be properly called a 'consequence' of the Tilak ceremony, and the case is, therefore, not triable in the place where the Tilak ceremony took place. 1934 A.L.J. 681=35 Cr.L.J. 1175=1934 A. 829. See also 175 I.C. 615=1938 Nag. 235.

'REASON TO BELIEVE'.—These words imply that there has been a bona fide inquiry and test as regards the age of the child concerned. It is a well-known fact in medical jurisprudence that the age of a person between the ages of 12 and 16 could not be ascertained satisfactorily by a mere personal inspection. So in a case where the husband and priest who were accused under this Act pleaded that they were satisfied by a personal inspection of the minor girl that she was above the age of 14 years while as a matter of fact she was below that age, it was held that the defence would not avail them. I.L.R. (1937) Mad. 854=45 L.W. 437. Further, mere production of a medical certificate as to the age would not be sufficient. It must have been issued by a competent medical officer. Where, therefore, a certificate as to the age of a girl was obtained from a subordinate woman medical officer while there was available in the station the District Civil Surgeon, and while the uncontradicted evidence of the Civil Surgeon showed that the girl was below the age of 14 years, it was held that the parties were guilty. 35 Cr.L.J. 677=148 I.C. 351=1934 A. 331. Production of the birth certificate or in any other capacity, lawful or unlawful, who does any act to promote the marriage or permits it to be solemnised, or negligently fails to prevent it from being solemnised, shall be punishable with simple imprisonment which may extend to one month, or with fine which may extend to one thousand rupees, or with both:

of the boy or girl may be satisfactory evidence.

SECS. 5 AND 6: SCOPE OF—CONFLICT OF RULINGS.—As to the question whether the parents are liable under sec. 5 or under sec. 6, or under both these sections, there is a difference of opinion among the High Courts. It was held by the Allahabad High Court that secs. 5 and 6 deal with different offences. Sec. 5 deals with the persons who perform, conduct or direct any child marriage. Sec. 6 provides for the offence in cases where a minor himself conducts a child marriage. It is only in the case where a minor contracts a child marriage that any person having charge of the minor, whether as parent or guardian or in any other capacity, lawful or unlawful, who does any act to promote the marriage or permits it to be solemnised, or negligently fails to prevent it from being solemnised shall be punishable. Sec. 5 deals with cases in which the marriage is not contracted by the minor. It is not the intention of the legislature to punish a person both under secs. 5 and 6 at the same time. 58 A. 402=36 Cr.L.J. 1483=A.I.R. 1936 A. 11.

The Madras High Court, on the other hand, holds that sec. 5 applies only to the solemnization of marriage by others than parents and that sec. 6 alone applies to parents who promote a child marriage or permit it or negligently fail to prevent it. I.L.R. (1937) Mad. 854=45 L.W. 437. The Nagpur Court also holds the same view as that of Madras. 1932 N. 174. In cases of complaints of offences under secs. 5 and 6 it is essential that trying Magistrate should find definitely that either or both of the contracting parties to the marriage were infants within the meaning of the Act, that is to say, that the bridegroom was under the age of 18 or that the bride was under the age of 14. 181 I.C. 916=40 Cr.L.J. 605=A.I.R. 1939 Cal. 288. Where it is alleged that the accused lived in British India and arranged for a marriage in contravention of the provisions of the Act, to take place out of British India, the offence is committed inside British India and hence no certificate under sec. 188, Cr. P. Code, is necessary, 1939 A. M.L.J. 130. See also 49 L.W. 656=A.I.R. 1939 M. 577.

SEC. 6: SCOPE AND OBJECT OF SECTION.—Unlike sec. 5 which constitutes only positive acts as an offence, this section constitutes not only certain acts but also certain omissions as offences under the Act. Further this section lays down a rule of presumption contrary to the ordinary rule of presumption under the criminal law, and throws on the accused the burden of proving that he did not negligently fail to prevent the child marriage. On this section, see 175 I.C. 615=A.I.R. 1938 Nag. 235.

PARENTS WHEN COMMIT OFFENCE UNDER THIS SECTION—FATHER AND MOTHER.—Sec. 6 is confined only to the person who had actual charge of the minor either as parent or guardian at the time of the marriage. I.L.R. (1937) Mad. 854=A.I.R. 1937 M. 490. See also 16 Pat.L.T. 629=1935 Pat. 475. In the case of Hindu marriages, it cannot be said that the father of the bridegroom or the bride does not perform or direct the marriage. It is generally the father or the guardian who arranges for the marriage of the boy and takes the marriage party to the house of the bride. It is the father of the bride who takes part actually in the performance of the marriage ceremonies, as it is he who gives his daughter in marriage. Therefore it cannot be said of either of them that he did not perform or direct the marriage. 58 A. 402=36 Cr.L.J. 1483=A.I.R. 1936 A. 11. The mother has no authority, when the father of the bridegroom who is below 18 years promotes and brings about the marriage, to prevent the marriage; and her mere participation in the marriage cannot be regarded as constituting an offence punishable under this section. I.L.R. (1937) Mad. 854=45 L.W. 437. Where the bridegroom who was below 18 years was in charge of the father, who promoted the marriage and got it performed, the mother of the bridegroom cannot be convicted under this section. I.L.R. (1937) M. 854=A.I.R. 1937 M. 490.

BRIDEGROOM AND BRIDE—ONE ONLY IS CHILD—WHETHER FATHER OF THE OTHER GUILTY UNDER THIS ACT—CONFLICT OF VIEWS—ABETMENT.—The Allahabad High Court holds that sec. 5 is wide enough to cover the case of the fathers of both the bridegroom and the bride. Even where one of them, i.e., the bride or the bridegroom is not of the age specified in the Act for her or him, the fathers of both of them would be liable under this section. 58 A. 402=36 Cr.L.J. 1483=A.I.R. 1936 A. 11. But a different view has been taken by the Madras High Court which holds that the parents of the bridegroom cannot be convicted under this section, merely because the bride was under 14 years, and they can be convicted, if at all under this section, only if the bridegroom, i.e., their own son who was in their charge, was under 18 years at the time of the marriage. I.L.R. (1937) M. 854=A.I.R. 1937 M. 490. But a reconciliation may be found in

Provided that no woman shall be punishable with imprisonment.

(2) For the purposes of this section, it shall be presumed unless and until the contrary is proved, that, where a minor has contracted a child marriage, the person having charge of such minor has negligently failed to prevent the marriage from being solemnised.

7. Notwithstanding anything contained in section 25 of the General Clauses Act, 1897, or section 64 of the Indian Penal Code, a Court sentencing an offender under section 3 shall not be competent to direct that, in default of payment of the fine imposed; he shall undergo any term of imprisonment.

8. Notwithstanding anything contained in section 190 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, no Court other than that of a Presidency Magistrate or a Magistrate of the first class shall take cognizance, of, or try, any offence under this Act.

9. No Court shall take cognizance of any offence under this Act after the the decision of the Patna High Court which has held that although the Act makes no mention of abetting, yet under the provisions of the Indian Penal Code, it is possible for them to be prosecuted for abetting an offence although the accused is not the father of one of the parties who is under age so long as the other party is below the prescribed age. So, even if the bridegroom is not under age, his father would be guilty of abetting the offence under this Act if the bride is of under age. 16 Pat.L.T. 629. It cannot be said from the words "where a minor contracts a child marriage" occurring in sec. 6, that the section applies only to cases where the child himself or herself entered into an agreement for the marriage. The liability rests on any parent or guardian who in any way is responsible for the marriage of his minor child, by whomsoever the agreement and arrangements for the marriage may be made. Further the responsibility is laid by sec. 6 on the person who has charge of the minor. Hence where a father is alive and the daughter is living with him, he alone can be made liable under the section and the grandfather would not be liable though he might have in fact made all the arrangements. 1945 A.W.R. (H.C.) 67.

NO IMPRISONMENT FOR WOMEN.—This provision in favour of woman offenders is due to the fact that very often they are not the principal offenders, but only happen to be a tool in the hands of some male relations. There is a similar exemption from imprisonment in the case of females, in respect of offences under sec. 12 of this Act.

SEC. 7.—This section does not affect the power of the Court to inflict an alternative punishment of imprisonment in default of payment of the fine imposed, where the offence and sentence are under sec. 12 of this Act; even though the accused is the male husband between the ages of 18 and 21. This section applies only where the sentence is under sec. 3.

SEC. 8.—The reason for the amendment introduced in this section is to confer upon a larger number of officers jurisdiction to take cognizance of offences and to entertain complaints, and try offences under the Act, so that cases may be disposed of with greater facility and quickness. In (1937) 1 M. L.J. 498=A.I.R. 1937 Mad. 637, it was held that an Additional District Magistrate who had been given all the powers of a District Magistrate was empowered to try cases under this Act. But in view of the amendment to the section which empowers every first class Magistrate to try them, there would not be any room for any such doubt arising. On this section, see also 1934 A. 331.

SEC. 9: OBJECT OF AMENDMENT.—The amendment of this section has been made with a view to permit the Court to take proceedings under the Act upon its own motion without the necessity of a formal complaint. The words "save upon a complaint made" have been deleted. The ruling in 1938 Rang. L.R. 150=A.I.R. 1938 Rang. 257 which held that a mere 'police report' did not constitute a 'complaint' as required by this section before it was amended, is no longer of any significance since the words relating to 'complaint' have been deleted in the amended section. The reason for this amendment has been stated as follows in the Statement of Objects and Reasons:—"It is known that one of the principal impediments to the enforcement of the Sarda Act at present lies in the obligation placed upon the complainant to incur the publicity of a formal complaint and, if required by the Court, to execute a bond, to incur also the risk of losing the sum mentioned in the bond. The proposed amendment would enable the Court to proceed upon information obtained privately after taking such steps as it might think necessary to satisfy itself of the correctness of the information."

10. The Court taking cognizance of an offence under this Act shall, unless it dismisses the complaint under section 203 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, either itself make an inquiry under section 202 of that Code, or direct a Magistrate of the first class subordinate to it to make

ONE YEAR—LIMITATION, REASON FOR.—As a general rule, in the absence of statutory limitation a prosecution for an offence may be instituted at any time however long after the commission of the criminal act. But several special Acts have enacted a time limit for the commencement of criminal proceedings. The general rule underlying these provisions is that in respect of minor offences, it is desirable that after the lapse of a long period no prosecution should be entertained. Every act that is prohibited by law and for which a penalty is imposed is not to be deemed a criminal offence. Actions for the violation of several Municipal Ordinances are treated as civil in their nature, the imprisonment or fine imposed for non-compliance with the order being looked upon not as a punishment but as compelling a compliance with the order. It is the policy of this Act more to restrain and prevent the performance of child marriages than to punish the offenders. Hence a time limit of one year has been fixed for taking cognizance of an offence under this Act, with a view to avoid vexatious and stale prosecutions. Sec. 14 of the Limitation Act is in terms restricted to civil proceedings and cannot be availed of in respect of proceedings under the Child Marriage Restraint Act. A complaint preferred beyond year of the solemnisation of the marriage cannot be taken cognizance of under sec. 7. The fact that another unsuccessful complaint had been made to another Magistrate within time would not help to make the second complaint filed beyond time a valid one. 49 L.W. 547 (1)=A.I.R. 1939 Mad. 512=(1939) 1 M.L.J. 775. Marriage in Native State—Complaint within one year but certificate obtained after one year—Trial would be legal. See also A.I.R. 1939 Mad. 577=49 L.W. 656; 1940 N.L.J. 304; 1939 A.M.L.J. 130.

SEC. 10: "TAKING COGNIZANCE".—Formerly the Court can take cognizance of an offence under the Act only on a complaint made to it, but now the Amending Act XIX of 1938 has removed the words "save upon a complaint" in sec. 9 with the result that the Court can take cognizance of the matter otherwise also.

PRELIMINARY INQUIRY NECESSARY BEFORE ISSUING SUMMONS.—Under this section, the Court taking cognizance of an offence under this Act is bound to hold a preliminary inquiry before taking further action unless it dismisses the complaint under sec. 203, Criminal Proceedings Code. 12 Lah. 383=32 Cr.L.J. 616=1931 Lah. 56 (1); 15 Lah. 63=35 Cr.L.J. 1436=1934 Lah. 155; 20 N.L.J. 115. See also 48 L.W. 774. Sec. 10 is mandatory and clearly prohibits a Court from taking cognizance of an offence under the Act without a preliminary inquiry being held. A process issued without holding an inquiry as required by sec. 10, is therefore unauthorised and illegal. A.I.R. 1939 Mad. 530=(1939) 1 M.L.J. 900. Sec. 10 contains provisions which are mandatory, and omission to conform with the procedure prescribed by the section would vitiate all subsequent proceedings. I.L.R. (1940) Kar. 442=A.I.R. 1940 Sind 213. Sec. 10 no doubt requires that a preliminary inquiry must be held. But where a Court finds that there is a prima facie case and also holds the offence established after a proper trial, it can not be held that the conviction must be set aside for the technical reason that no preliminary inquiry was held as required by sec. 10. This does not mean that Magistrates are entitled to disregard the provisions of sec. 10. But where the accused does not object to the trial, he cannot benefit by an objection which is entirely technical in its nature. 20 Pat.L.T. 495=A.I.R. 1939 Pat. 525. Where in respect of an offence under the Child Marriage Restraint Act the accused are tried and convicted without a preliminary enquiry being held as required by sec. 10 of the Act, and no prejudice had thereby been caused to the accused, the trial and conviction is not on that ground in any way vitiated and the defect is cured by sec. 537, Cr. P. Code. I.L.R. (1940) Nag. 488=A.I.R. 1940 Nag. 375=42 Cr.L.J. 37.

The mere fact that the security bond obtained from the complainant is defective, because the property offered by him did not belong to him, would not vitiate the trial of an offence under sec. 5, as it does not affect the merits of the case. 1936 O.W.N. 480=A.I.R. 1936 O. 311=37 Cr.L.J. 616.

PROCEDURE AT TRIAL.—Cases under this Act may be summarily tried. 36 Cr.L.J. 677=148 I.C. 351=1934 All. 331. Strictly speaking the accused should be re-examined after the prosecution witnesses are over. But omission to re-examine an accused after the prosecution evidence is completely recorded is not such an irregularity as vitiates the trial of an offence under this Act unless the irregularity is shown to have caused prejudice to the accused or a failure of justice. 1936 O.W.N. 480=A.I.R. 1936 O. 311=37 Cr.L.J. 616. Where, therefore in a case under sec. 6 of the Act, an accused is examined at length and given full opportunity to state his case, but is not examined again after some further prosecution witnesses are produced and no real prejudice or failure of justice has been caused, the omission to re-examine the accused was held not to have vitiated the trial. (Ibid.) But, where the upon a complaint made to it, it may for reasons to be recorded in writing, at any time after examining the complainant and before issuing process for compelling the attendance of the accused, require the complainant to execute a bond, with or without sureties, for a sum not exceeding one hundred rupees, as security for the payment of any compensation which the complainant may be directed to pay under section 250 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, and if such security is not furnished within such reasonable time as the Court may fix, the complaint shall be dismissed.

(2) A bond taken under this section shall be deemed to be a bond taken under the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, and Chapter XLII of that Code shall apply accordingly.

the Court may, if satisfied from information laid before it through a complaint or otherwise that a child marriage in contravention of this Act has been arranged or is about to be solemnized, issue an injunction against any of the persons mentioned in sections 3, 4, 5 and 6 of this Act prohibiting such marriage.

Court merely asked the accused, whether he pleaded 'guilty' or 'not guilty', and there was nothing on the record to show that he was questioned at any time with a view to enabling him to explain the circumstances appearing in evidence against him, the failure to examine the accused person was held to be an irregularity which went to the root of a fair trial and it was not to be regarded as a mere technical error of procedure, and that it would, therefore, be necessary to set aside the conviction and sentence on him. 1936 O.W.N. 480=37 Cr.L.J. 616=A.I.R. 1936 O. 311; 11 Luck. 461=A.I.R. 1936 O. 16, Expl.

SEC. 11 (1).—This sub-section applies only to cases where the Court takes cognizance of an offence under this Act upon a complaint and not where it takes cognizance otherwise. Generally security would be demanded from the complainant only in cases where the Court entertains a doubt as to the truth of the complainant's allegation, or opines that the complaint has not been bona fide. [20 N.L.J. 115 is not now good law.]

OBJECT AND SCOPE OF AMENDMENT.—As regards taking security, it was obligatory on the Court to do so under the old sub-sec. (1); and the words used were "shall require". If the Court did not want to take any security it was required to state its reasons therefor. But under the present substituted sub-sec. (1), the words used are "may require" and also the Court has to state its reasons not for waiving security but for requiring security. Under the old sub-sec. (1), it was held that the failure of a Magistrate to record any reason for not requiring the complainant to execute a bond was a material irregularity which could not be cured by sec. 537, Criminal Procedure Code. 37 C.W.N. 626=34 Cr.L.J. 554=1933 Cal. 433 (1). But this would be no longer correct under the amended sub-sec. (1), under which reason has to be given only for 'taking' security and not for

'not taking'. On this section see also 20 N. L.J. 115; 162 I.C. 389=37 Cr.L.J. 616=A.I.R. 1936 Oudh 311.

SEC. 12: OBJECT.—The reason for the insertion of sec. 12 has been stated as follows in the Statement of Objects and Reasons:—"For facilitating the more effective enforcement of the Act," it is necessary to put "beyond question that the Courts empowered to take proceedings under the Act may at their discretion issue an injunction prohibiting a marriage arranged in contravention of the Act. Already Civil Courts in Bombay Presidency are known in several cases to have issued injunction orders against marriages known to have been arranged in contravention of the Act. It is not known whether similar action has been taken in any other province. But since doubts have been thrown upon the legality or practicability of this method, it seems desirable to remove such doubts by providing for it directly through the proposed amendment. The draft bill proposes to impose a higher maximum penalty for the breach of such an injunction than the penalty provided in the Act in the case of prosecutions after the marriage had already taken place, on the ground that breach of a Court injunction involves contempt of Court." As interference of the Court in the matter of contemplated marriages by way of injunction orders is a serious matter and is likely to lead sometimes to irreparable damages, several safeguards have been provided in sub-secs. (2) to (4) of this section. Previous notice to be given and opportunity to be afforded to the party to show cause to the contrary before an injunction order can be issued; and further, power is reserved to the Court to dissolve the injunction order suo motu or on the application of any aggrieved party. Sub-sec. (4) also enjoins on the Court the duty of a speedy disposal of applications to dissolve the injunction orders passed by it,

(2) No injunction under sub-section (1) shall be issued against any person unless the Court has previously given notice to such person, and has afforded him an opportunity to show cause against the issue of the injunction.

(3) The Court may either on its own motion or on the application of any person aggrieved rescind or alter any order made under sub-section (1).

(4) Where such an application is received, the Court shall afford the applicant an early opportunity of appearing before it either in person or by pleader; and if the Court rejects the application wholly or in part, it shall record in writing its reasons for so doing.

(5) Whoever knowing that an injunction has been issued against him under sub-section (1) of this section disobeys such injunction shall be punished with imprisonment of either description for a term which may extend to three months, or with fine which may extend to one thousand rupees, or with both;

Provided that no woman shall be punishable with imprisonment.

THE CHILDREN (PLEDGIN OF LABOUR) ACT (II OF 1933).

[24th February, 1933.]

An Act to prohibit the pledging of the labour of children.

WHEREAS it is expedient to prohibit the making of agreement to pledge the labour of children, and the employment of children whose labour has been pledged; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Short title and extent.

1. (1) This Act may be called THE CHILDREN (PLEDGING OF LABOUR) ACT, 1933.

(2) It extends to the whole of British India, including British Baluchistan and the Sonthal Parganas.

(3) This section and sections 2 and 3 shall come into force at once, and the remaining sections of this Act shall come into force on the first day of July, 1933.

Definitions.

2. In this Act, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,—

“an agreement to pledge the labour of a child” means an agreement, written or oral, express or implied, whereby the parent or guardian of a child, in return for any payment or benefit received or to be received by him, undertakes to cause or allow the services of the child to be utilised in any employment:

Provided that an agreement made without detriment to a child, and not made in consideration of any benefit other than reasonable wages to be paid for the child's services, and terminable at not more than a week's notice, is not an agreement within the meaning of this definition;

“child” means a person who is under the age of fifteen years; and “guardian” includes any person having legal custody of or control over a child.

Agreements contrary to the Act to be void.

3. An agreement to pledge the labour of a child shall be void.

Penalty for parent or guardian making agreement to pledge the labour of a child.

4. Whoever, being the parent or guardian of a child, makes an agreement to pledge the labour of that child, shall be punished with fine which may extend to fifty rupees.

and the Court is required to state its reasons in writing if it happens to reject the application. This provision shows that the rejection of such an application is not a matter of mere discretion for the Court, but that it can be only for valid and sufficient grounds which have to be expressly stated so that the Court of revision may be in a position to judge about the sufficiency of the grounds.

PROVISO—NO IMPRISONMENT FOR WOMAN.—

5. Whoever makes with the parent or guardian of a child an agreement whereby such parent or guardian pledges the labour of the child shall be punished with fine which may extend to two hundred rupees.

Penalty for employing a child whose labour has been pledged.

6. Whoever, knowing or having reason to believe that an agreement has been made to pledge the labour of a child, in furtherance of such agreement employs such child, or permits such child to be employed in any premises or place under his control, shall be punished with fine which may extend to two hundred rupees.

THE CINEMATOGRAPH ACT (II OF 1918).

EFFECT OF LEGISLATION.

Year.	No.	Short title.	How repealed or otherwise affected by Legislation.
1918	II	The Cinematograph Act, 1928.	Am. XIII of 1931 : XXXVIII of 1920. Govt. of India Adaptation of Indian Laws Order, 1937.

LEG. REF.

¹ Added by Act II of 1891.

An Act to make provision for regulating exhibitions by means of cinematographs.

WHEREAS it is expedient to make provision for regulating exhibitions by means of cinematographs; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Short title, extent and commencement. 1. (1) This Act may be called THE CINEMATOGRAPH ACT, 1918.

(2) It extends to the whole of British India including British Baluchistan.

¹[(3) The Provincial Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, direct that the whole or any of its provisions shall come into force in any Province or part of a Province on such date as may be specified in the notification.]

Definitions.

2. In this Act, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,—

"Cinematograph" includes any apparatus for the representation of moving pictures or series of pictures;

"Place" includes also a house, building, tent or vessel; and

"Prescribed" means prescribed by rules made under this Act.

3. Save as otherwise provided in this Act, no person shall give an exhibition by means of a cinematograph elsewhere than in a place licensed under this Act, or otherwise than in compliance with any conditions and restrictions imposed by such licence.

Cinematograph exhibitions to be licensed.

4. The authority having power to grant licence under this Act (hereinafter referred to as the "licensing authority") shall be the District Magistrate, or in a Presidency-town

²[* * *] the Commissioner of Police:

Provided that the Provincial Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, constitute for the whole or any part of a Province such other authority as it may specify in the notification to be the licensing authority for the purposes of this Act.

Restrictions on powers of licensing authority.

5. (1) The licensing authority shall not grant a licence under this Act unless it is satisfied that—

(a) the rules made under the Act have been substantially complied with; and

(b) adequate precautions have been taken in the place in respect of which the licence is to be given to provide for the safety of persons attending exhibitions therein.

(2) A condition shall be inserted in every licence that the licensee will not exhibit, or permit to be exhibited, in such place any film other than a film which has been certified as suitable for public exhibition, by ³[an authority constituted under section 7] and which when exhibited, displays the prescribed mark of that authority and has not been altered or tampered with in any way since such mark was affixed thereto.

(3) Subject to the foregoing provisions of this section, and to the control of the Provincial Government, the licensing authority may grant licenses under this Act to such persons as it thinks fit, and on such terms and conditions and subject to such restrictions as it may determine.

(2) If any person is convicted of an offence punishable under this Act committed by him in respect of any film, the convicting Court may further direct that the film shall be forfeited to His Majesty.

¹[7. (1) Any Provincial Government ²[* *] may, by notification in the Certification of films.

Official Gazette, constitute as many authorities as it may think fit for the purposes of examining and certifying films as suitable for public exhibition, and declare the area (hereinafter referred to as the 'local area') within which each such authority shall exercise the powers conferred on it by this Act. Where an authority so constituted consists of a Board of two or more persons, not more than one-half of the members thereof shall be persons in the service of ³[the Crown].

(2) If any such authority after examination considers that a film is suitable for public exhibition, it shall grant a certificate to that effect to the person applying for the same, and shall cause the film to be marked in the prescribed manner. The certificate of any such authority shall, save as hereinafter provided, be valid throughout the territories in which this Act is in force.

(3) (a) If the authority is of opinion that a film is not suitable for public exhibition in the local area, it shall inform the person applying for the certificate of its decision and such person may, within thirty days from the date of such decision, appeal for a reconsideration of the matter by the Provincial Government by which the authority was constituted.

(b) If the Provincial Government rejects the appeal it shall by notification in the Official Gazette direct that the film shall be deemed to be an uncertified film in that local area, and such direction shall have effect notwithstanding the subsequent grant of a certificate in respect of the film by any other such authority.

(4) Any such authority may demand the exhibition before itself of any certified film which it has reason to believe is about to be publicly exhibited in its local area, and may by order suspend the certificate of any such film pending the orders of the Provincial Government, and during such suspension the film shall be deemed to be an uncertified film in that area.

(5) The District Magistrate, or, in a Presidency-town ⁴[* * * *] the Commissioner of Police, may by order suspend the certificate of any film pending the orders of the Provincial Government, and during such suspension the film shall be deemed to be an uncertified film in that district or town.

(6) A copy of any order of suspension made under sub-section (4) or (5), together with a statement of reasons therefor, shall forthwith be forwarded by the authority or the officer making the same to the Provincial Government by which the authority was constituted or to which the officer is subordinate, as the case may be, and such Provincial Government may ⁵[* *] either discharge

[8th March, 1926.

An Act to define and limit the powers of certain Courts in punishing contempts of Courts.

WHEREAS doubts have arisen as to the powers of a High Court of Judicature to punish contempts of ¹[* *] Courts;

AND WHEREAS it is expedient to resolve these doubts and to define and limit the powers exercisable by High Courts and Chief Courts in punishing contempts of court; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Short title, extent and commencement. 1. (1) This Act may be called THE CONTEMPT OF COURTS ACT, 1926.

LEG. REF.

SEC. 1: SCOPE OF ACT.—(Per Yorke, J.) Far from the enactment implying a recognition that no such power had in fact previously existed, the Contempt of Courts Act is an Act which creates no fresh powers at all but merely recognises the fact that such powers already do exist but seeks to define and limit them. 14 Luck. 492=A.I.R. 1939 O. 131 (F.B.). The proceedings for contempt of the High Court are in the exercise of the inherent jurisdiction of the Court and are of a criminal nature. When the matter is of a criminal nature, the Civil Procedure Code does not apply. 1941 O.W.N. 455=1941 O.A. (Supp.) 193=1941 A.W.R. (H.C.) 120. Proceedings for contempt of Court are of a summary nature. That being so such proceedings are not suitable for the decision of a hotly contested question of fact. A.I.R. 1944 Lah. 196 (S.B.). Contempt of Court proceedings are summary and a very arbitrary method of dealing with an offence. That being so, contempt proceedings should be sparingly instituted and a person should not be convicted unless his conviction is essential in the interests of justice. There must be a substantial contempt, that is something which tends in a substantial manner to interfere with the course of justice or to prejudice the public against one of the parties to a proceedings. A.I.R. 1943 Lah. 329 (F.B.). While it is true that proceedings for contempt are in the nature of criminal proceedings, it is not quite correct that the position of the alleged contemner is that of an accused person who cannot file an affidavit or make a statement on oath. A.I.R. 1943 Lah. 329 (F.B.). The principle that the summary proceedings for contempt of Court should not be instituted in respect of what amounts to a technical contempt after the proceedings in the Court have been disposed of and there is no possibility of interference with the due course of justice applies only to applications for proceedings in contempt made by private parties and not to institution of proceedings by Court. The jurisdiction of the Court exists not only to prevent the mischief in the particular case but also to prevent similar mischief arising in other cases. Consequently, even when the procedings before it have been disposed of, the Court can institute proceedings to see whether an article published in connexion with the proceedings before it was on the date of its publication calculated to interfere with the due course of justice and to prevent repetition of the same if it amounted to contempt. 45 Cr.L.J. 445=A.I.R. 1943 Lah. 329 (F.B.). There is no rule of law which prevents the Court from proceeding against a person who has been guilty of contempt without first obtaining an affidavit from some person. If doubtful questions of fact are involved, the Court may refuse to issue notice to the person charged with contempt without satisfying itself by means of an affidavit that there is reasonable ground for thinking that an offence of contempt has been committed. 1944 O.W.N. (H.C.) 287=1945 A.W.R. (H.C.) 15=1945 O.A. (H.C.) 15. Proceedings for contempt of Court though not criminal, are of a quasi-criminal nature and therefore where there is any reasonable doubt, the persons charged with contempt are entitled to the benefit of such doubt. A.I.R. 1944 Lah. 196 (S.B.).

CONTEMPT, WHAT IS.—Any act done or writing published calculated to bring a Court or a Judge of the Court in to contempt or to lower his authority, is a contempt of Court. That is one class of contempt. Further any act done or writing published calculated to obstruct or interfere with the due course of justice or the lawful process of the Courts is another class of contempt. The former class belongs to the category which is characterised as 'scandalising a Court or a Judge.' That description of that class of contempt is to be taken subject to one and an important qualification. Judges and Courts are alike open to criticism, and if reasonable argument or expostulation is offered against any judicial act as contrary to law or the public good, no Court could or would treat that as contempt. 40 C.W.N. 801=38 Bom.L.R. 681=A.I.R. 1936 P.C. 141=71 M.L.J. 665 (P.C.). See also 44 Cr.L.J. 93. Where the writer had written an article on the inequality of sentence under text, "The Human Element," held, that he was perfectly justified in pointing out what is obvious, that sentences do vary in apparently similar circumstances with the habit of mind of the particular Judge. It is quite inevitable. Some very conscientious Judges have thought it their duty to visit particular crimes with exemplary sentences; others equally conscientious have thought it their duty to view the same crimes with leniency. Hence, to say that the human element enters into the awarding of punishment is not contempt of Court. (Ibid.) Letter by manager of estate to Collector referring to decision of latter as District Magistrate dismissing a complaint and stating that opposite party had been emboldened by the view taken by the District Magistrate—Not contempt of Court. 38 Cr.L.J. 412=18 Pat.L. T. 113=A.I.R. 1937 Pat. 124. The publication of comments on a pending case amounts to contempt, if the comments are such as are likely to prejudice the administration of justice in the case. In the absence of an express provision allowing him to do so, no person can contract out of a responsibility imposed upon him by law in the case of a contempt of Court for publication of prejudicial comments on case pending trial and a printer as well as a publisher cannot escape responsibility for matter printed and published. 6 R. 39=1928 R. 115. A printer and publisher of an article amounting to contempt of Court is liable for contempt of Court even if the article is written by another and he has dissociated from it and disapproved it. A.I.R. 1940 Sind 239 (F.B.). The question in all cases of comment on pending proceedings is not whether the publication does interfere, but whether it tends to interfere with the due course of justice, and on the same principle it is a contempt of Court to make a speech tending to influence the result of a pending trial whether civil or criminal, or to deliver a speech at a meeting. 188 I.C. 408=41 Cr. L.J. 584=1940 A.W.R. (C.C.) 238. One kind of contempt of Court is scandalizing the Court itself. Any act done or writing published calculated to bring a Court or a Judge of the Court into contempt or to lower its or his authority is a contempt of Court. Further, any act done or writing published calculated to obstruct or interfere with the due course of justice or the lawful process of the Courts, is a contempt of Court. There may be likewise a contempt of the Court in abusing parties who are concerned in causes there or in prejudicing mankind against a party before the cause is heard. In the class of cases of contempt of Court where anything is done which is calculated to interfere with the due course of justice or is likely to prejudice the public for or against a party the essence of the matter is the tendency to interfere with the due course of justice. Any publication which is calculated to poison the minds of jurors, intimidate witnesses or parties or to create an atmosphere in which the administration of justice would be difficult or impossible, amounts to contempt. But before a Court will take notice of such a publication the Court must be satisfied that the matter published tended substantially to interfere with the due course of justice or was calculated substantially to create prejudice in the public mind. The Court will not take action where the offending matter amounts to what is sometimes referred to as a technical contempt, i.e., in a case involving a mere question of propriety where the tendency of the article to do harm is slight and the character and circumstances of the comment is otherwise such that it can properly be ignored. It is however of the very essence of the offence that proceedings should be pending when the offending publication appears. It is not necessary in the case of a criminal trial that the accused should have been committed for trial or even for him to have been brought before a Magistrate provided that he had been arrested and was in custody. Further, the offence of contempt may be committed even if there is no proceeding or cause actually pending provided that such a proceeding or cause is imminent and the writer of the offending publication either knew it to be imminent or should have known that it was imminent. A person may be guilty of contempt though there was no intention to commit contempt. It is sufficient if the effect of the article complained of is to create prejudice and to interfere with the due course of justice. A.I.R. 1943 Lah. 329 (F.B.). See also 56 L.W. 702=1943 P.C. 202=(1943) 2 M.L.J. 568 (P.C.); 1945 Nag. 33. In cases of contempt the question of motive is irrelevant; what the Court has to consider is the effect—the probable effect of the publication. Motive of the contemner cannot be considered in determining his guilt; it may, however, be a proper criterion for awarding punishment. 1942 O.W.N. 6. See also 1945 N.L.J. 30=1945 Nag. 33. Per Mitter, J.—It is not merely those acts which are calculated to affect the authority of the Court or to hamper the administration of justice that constitute a contempt of Court, but also acts which are calculated to affect the dignity of the Court. 47 O.W.N. 854. The fact that an act was done ignorantly or innocently would make no difference to the offence of contempt. It would only be relevant regarding the measure of punishment. 1945 N.L.J. 30=A.I.R. 1945 Nag. 33. The truth of the allegations is no defence in proceedings for contempt. Nobody is allowed to scandalise a Court and make allegations against it even if they are true. Every attempt to justify must constitute a new offence of contempt committed in the very face of the Court. 1945 A.W.R. (H.C.) 15=

1944 O.W.N. (H.C.) 287=1944 A.L.W. 606. Where during the pendency of a suit instituted for a declaration that certain land claimed by the defendant is a public pathway, a resolution is passed at a public meeting protesting against the attempts of the defendant to close the land in question which is being used by the general public from time immemorial, the effect and tendency of the resolution is to embarrass, if indeed not to imperil the defendant's cause and that being so, the passing of that resolution amounts to contempt. To the resolution itself, there is not so much objection in so far as it is, or purports to be, merely a resolution of the residents of the locality to support the cause of establishing the right of the public over the land in suit. But it is objectionable to put forward in the resolution of a public meeting a positive assertion of a public right of way, as it would predispose people to a belief, right or wrong, that the defendant is an invader of the public right. It undoubtedly conveys the impression of a public denunciation of the defendant's conduct which might well deter inhabitants of the locality from bearing testimony in support of his case. LL.R. (1938) 2 Cal. 447=42 C.W.N. 952=A.I.R. 1938 Cal. 772. Where the publication of a plaint is the publication of a document reflecting severely on the conduct of the defendant, a contempt of scandalous and serious nature is committed. 165 I.C. 813=1936 Lah. 917. Where the editors of newspapers publish copies or summary of pleadings and other similar documents in pending cases, they do so at considerable risk. Where however the abstract of the plaint published in the newspaper only represented the defendant as the victim of the wickedness of others, it contained no attack upon her personal character and there was no attempt to prejudge the issue or prejudice her defence. Held, that the publication did not amount to contempt of Court. 152 I.C. 900=38 C.W.N. 330=1934 C. 606. See also, 44 Bom.L.R. 95=1942 Bom. 86. The cases of contempt which consists of 'scandalising the Court itself' require to be treated with much discretion. Proceedings for this species of contempt is a weapon to be used sparingly and always with reference to the administration of justice. The test to be applied in such a case is to see whether the words complained of were in the circumstances calculated to obstruct or interfere with the course of justice and the due administration of the law. Where the printer and publisher and editor of a daily newspaper were charged in contempt proceedings for having published a news item and comment thereon, untruly alleging that the Chief Justice had committed an ill-advised act, namely, writing to the Subordinate Judges asking (as the news item said), enjoining (as the comment said) them to collect money for the war fund it was held that the words did not contain any criticism of any judicial act of the Chief Justice, or any imputation on him for anything done or omitted to be done by him in the administration of justice and that hence the proceedings in contempt were misconceived. 56 L.W. 702=1943 A.L.J. 527=48 C.W.N. 44=A.I.R. 1943 P.C. 202=(1943) 2 M.L.J. 568 (P.C.). Where the gravamen of an article published in a newspaper is that judgment after judgment is being given in the High Court arbitrarily and that neither law nor facts are discussed before judgment is delivered, and it further says that it is necessary "to restore the confidence of the public that law is discussed and facts are digested before cases are disposed off", there can be no doubt that the article is as gross a contempt of Court and misrepresentation of proceedings in Court as it is possible to imagine and nothing could be more calculated to bring the High Court into contempt and to lower its authority with the general public. 16 L. 266=155 I.C. 695=1935 Lah. 212 (S.B.). See also 1942 O.W.N. 6. It is not possible to lay down an exhaustive catalogue of cases which would amount to contempt of Court, but interference with the administration of justice is one of the well-recognised heads of contempt of Court. A notice was issued to the defendant in a pending suit by the plaintiff's counsel after the plaintiff's evidence closed and the defendant's evidence begun, threatening him with drastic action in case he did not withdraw a plea which he had taken in the suit, and offering to desist from taking any action in case the plea was withdrawn within a certain time. It was intended to put pressure on the defendant and to compel him to withdraw the plea. Held, that the action amounted to a direct interference with administration of justice and constituted contempt of Court. 57 A. 573=1935 A. 117=1935 A.L.J. 29. The editor of a newspaper, who was convicted of having published in his newspaper an obscene advertisement published a leading article in his newspaper in the course of which he said: "The prosecution clearly stated that the case was filed as the result of 'correspondence from Government,' but with the blessings of the magistrate, refused to produce the correspondence and the statement had to go uncontested. Without meaning any disrespect, we doubt whether in any case where opinions count and Subordinate Magistrate will give a judgment contrary to what he believes the Government of the day has decided. The fate of this case was sealed the minute the Police told the Magistrate that the Government was behind the prosecution." Held, that the passage suggested that there was not and there could not be any proper judicial trial, that the proceedings before the Magistrate were an empty formality, that the Magistrate had made up his mind to convict the accused even before the trial was over with a view to conform to what he believed to be the wishes of the Government; in other words, once the Magistrate knew that the Government had instituted the prosecution, there was bound to be a conviction, and the article amounted to a gross contempt of Court, and the contempt was so grave that the High Court could not allow attacks of this nature to be made against the subordinate Courts of the Province without taking serious action. 1942 M.W.N. 722=55 L.W. 799 (2)=A.I.R. 1942 Mad. 711 (1)=(1942) 2 M.L.J. 622 (S.B.)=I.L.R. (1943) Mad. 26; see also 1942 Bom. 331=44 Bom.L.R. 796. Per Munir J.—The editor of a newspaper is responsible for what is published in his newspaper and if he wishes to absolve himself from any liability that would otherwise attach to him by the publication, e.g., for contempt of Court, it is for him to show that he had nothing to do with the publication in question. The usual presumption of the editor being aware of the contents of publication is not rebutted by a vague and general statement that the editor was on leave on the day that the article was published. 45 Cr.L.J. 445=A.I.R. 1943 Lah. 329 (F.B.). In contempt of Court proceedings the fact that the item alleged to be contempt merely consists of quotations from other source would afford no defence if the article amounted to contempt because a person may be as much guilty of contempt by quoting from some source as writing the matter himself. 45 Cr.L.J. 445=A.I.R. 1943 Lah. 329 (F.B.). See also 16 Luck. 758 (newspaper article likely to deter witness from giving evidence). It must not be supposed that a Court of Justice has not the power to remove an Attorney if he is unfit to be entrusted with a professional status and character. If an Attorney be found guilty of moral delinquency in his private character, there is no doubt that he may be struck off the roll. Contempt of Court when committed by an Attorney in a private capacity can be of such a nature as to show professional unfitness. There can be no grosser contempt on the part of an Attorney than to allege that a Judge has acted with prejudice, bias and malice in the course of his judicial duties, that he decided a case not according to his own convictions but to please somebody else and that he abused his powers as a Judge and acted dishonestly and in bad faith. The fact that such allegations are contained in a notice sent by the Attorney under sec. 80, C. P. Code, to a Judge in respect of certain remarks made by the Judge in a judgment in a case in which the Attorney was a witness is no ground for holding that no offence is committed. No one by merely filing or threatening to file a suit and calling his communication a notice under sec. 80, C. P. Code, can insult and vilify a Judge in that manner. The fact that the scandalous allegations are contained in a notice under sec. 80, C. P. Code cannot therefore prevent them from being contempt of Court, and the Attorney who makes such allegations renders himself liable to be dealt with under the disciplinary powers of the High Court. 43 Bom.L.R. 250. It is not uncommon to attack abuses and to attack persons in an election manifesto whether the abuses exist or not and whether the persons deserve the attack. But to slander the whole judiciary of a province in an attempt to secure votes at a Bar Council election is not only contemptible but almost criminal. An advocate indulging in such attacks is guilty of contempt of Court. 57 A. 573=1935 A.L.J. 46=1935 A. 38. An article in a newspaper contained a passage as follows: "In this connection it is amusing to note that when a comparatively undeserving lawyer is raised to the Bench, which is a fairly frequent occurrence in our judicial history, it is generally claimed, etc." Held, the words "a comparatively undeserving lawyer," were particularly offensive, connoting as they did lack of capacity or character or of both, and that the passage in question amounted to an unwarranted defamation of the High Court, likely to injure and lower its prestige in the eyes of the public and to shake their confidence in its capacity to administer justice, and that it constituted a contempt of Court of which the High Court is bound to take cognizance. 57 A. 573=1935 A.L.J. 125=1935 A. 1. To constitute contempt it is not necessary that the Act or writing should be in respect of a case which has been heard or is pending. Judges and Courts are no doubt open to criticism and if reasonable argument or expostulation is offered against any judicial act as contrary to law or the public good, no Court would treat that as contempt of Court. A publication out of Court of a libel on one or more Judges of the Court will constitute contempt. 36 Cr.L.J. 1053=39 C.W.N. 770=1935 Cal. 419 (S.B.). An article published in a newspaper stated as follows: "It is so unfortunate and regrettable that at the present day the Chief Justice and the Judges find a peculiar delight in hobnobbing with the executive with the result the judiciary is robbed of its independence which at one time attracted the admiration of the whole country. The old order of things has vanished away. We wish the Chief Justice and the Judges appreciate the sentiments of the public. The generation that has gone by should be an ideal to them." Held, that it constituted contempt of the High Court; and that it was the duty of the High Court in the administration of justice, to deal with it in summary manner and not by way of indictment or criminal information, which was too dilatory and inconvenient to afford any satisfactory remedy. (Ibid.) (But see judgment of Mukerji, J.) Where the effect of certain newspaper articles was likely to be to deter witness from giving evidence in a pending case, it amounts to contempt of Court though not of a serious nature. 1941 O.A. 429. Where a complainant in a defamation case writes an article a couple of days after the complaint is filed asserting the truth of the statements contained in his paper and challenges the accused to prove their falsity, the article does not amount to contempt of Court. 1941 O.A. 429.

HEADLINES AMOUNTING TO COMMENT on a pending case are not permissible. Where a newspaper in publishing the proceedings of a pending case inserted headlines which in fact amounted to a criticism of the prosecution case under the guise of a summary of the day's proceedings and some of the headlines were mere arguments of the defence and it appeared that their publication might have an effect on the minds of witnesses to be examined or cross-examined and amounted to conduct calculated to produce an atmosphere of prejudice, held, that the publication of the headlines amounted to contempt. (Limits to press comment on pending criminal cases pointed out.) 87 C.W.N. 276=60 C. 603=1933 C. 118. Where a newspaper published with scare headlines portions of a complaint against the respondent in which gross allegations were made against him four months after the complaint had been filed, while proceedings were actually pending in the trial Court and also in the High Court for quashing the complaint, and further the paper published above the complaint its own comments. Held, that nothing could be more in the nature of contempt than action of that character. 40 P. L.R. 791=A.I.R. 1938 Lah. 815. Although the danger or absence of danger of actual prejudice is an important consideration it is not the only consideration. The jurisdiction of the Court exists not only to prevent mischief in the particular case but to prevent similar mischief arising in other cases. 37 C.W.N. 276=1933 C. 118=60 C. 603. The misuse of the process of the Court for obtaining a warrant against a person against whom the complainant has no intention of proceeding, merely to use it as a lever for blackmailing him, amounts to contempt of Court. 41 P.L.R. 130=A.I.R. 1939 Lah. 143.

JURISDICTION.—A contempt of the High Court is an "act made punishable under a law for the time being in force" within the meaning of sec. 4 (c) of the Code of Criminal Procedure and such offence can be inquired into according to the provisions of the Code as set out in sec. 5 (2)—Hence where a contempt has been committed within the territorial Jurisdiction of a High Court in India, such Court is competent to issue process to secure the attendance of the offender wherever he may be residing in British India as in the case of an offence under the Penal Code or under any other Act for the time being in force. 1944 A.L.J. 459. See also 1944 Bom. 127.

JURISDICTION TO PUNISH FOR CONTEMPT.—The jurisdiction to punish for contempt of itself is inherently vested in every High Court in India including the non-Presidency High Court, which is also a superior Court of record. This inherent power of the High Courts has not been taken away or in anywise limited by Act XII of 1926. Consequently the High Courts in India continue to have power to deal with contempt of themselves in the same manner as a Court of record has under the common law of England. There is no limitation imposed on the High Courts in the matter of punishment of offenders for contempt. A sentence passed on an offender committing him to custody in jail until such time as he apologised to the Court and further purged his contempt by paying into the Court the sums of money received in defiance of the Court's injunction, is in accordance with law. 18 Lah. 69=38 Cr.L.J. 863=A.I.R. 1937 Lah. 497 (S.B.); 40 C.W.N. 1285; 156 I.O. 1055=39 C.W.N. 770. See also I.L.R. (1944) Bom. 333=46 Bom.L.R. 94=1944 Bom. 127; 44 Bom.L.R. 249=1942 Bom. 154; 1943 Nag. 334=1943 N.L.J. 505; 1944 Bom. 127. The idea underlying the Act is that if a person can be sufficiently punished by some other tribunal, then the High Court should not entertain summary proceedings for contempt. 1943 Nag. 334=1943 N.L.J. 505. A Court subordinate to the High Court has no jurisdiction to entertain contempt proceedings if the contempt is not committed in its presence. 1943 Nag. 334=1943 N.L.J. 505. An order made by the Chief Judge of the Bombay Small Cause Court, directing a mutawalli of a wakf to furnish within a specified period a statement of accounts and particulars, is an order directing him to do a specific thing within a limited time. An order of such a nature, if disobeyed, can be enforced by proceedings for contempt by the High Court under the Contempt of Courts Act of 1926. 43 Cr.L.J. 667=44 Bom.L.R. 249=A.I.R. 1942 Bom. 154 (1). Chief Court of Sind has power to punish for contempt. I.L.R. (1944) Kar. 396. Apart from the inherent jurisdiction of the High Court, such jurisdiction has been expressly conferred on the High Court by the Contempt of Courts Act (1926), in all cases of contempt except those which amount to offences under the Indian Penal Code. 57 A. 573=1935 A. 117=1935 A.L.J. 29. The Judicial Commissioner's Court although it is the highest Court of Judicature in the Provinces and has general superintendence over other Subordinate Courts in the Province, cannot be held to derive its authority from the Court of King's Bench, nor has it been established by Royal Charter. The Judicial Commissioner's Court, hence, is not a Court of record and has no power either by statute or otherwise to punish contempt of Subordinate Courts either in civil or criminal cases. 1935 N. 46=31 N.L.R. 154=156 I.O. 666. But see also 18 Lah. 69=A.I.R. 1937 Lah. 497=40 C.W.N. 1285; A.I.R. 1940 Sind 239; A.I.R. 1939 Oudh 131 (F.B.). If the Official Receiver considers that members of his staff have been obstructed to an extent which amounts to a contempt of Court, it is entirely within his discretion either to take proceedings for contempt or to initiate criminal proceedings. It is, however, a salutary principle that where the contempt is some form of physical violence or obstruction and is as such punishable by a Criminal Court, it should be dealt with there. 41 C. W.N. 1325. The High Court in insolvency has jurisdiction to commit to prison for contempt not, only the insolvent, but other persons who deliberately aid the insolvent in defying an order of the Court deliberately passed in the exercise of insolvency jurisdiction. The Court's powers are not limited by sec. 58 of the Presidency Towns Insolvency Act. The wife and son of the insolvent, though they are not parties to the proceedings, can be proceeded against, if they at the instigation of the insolvent refuse to vacate possession of the properties of the insolvent as ordered by the Court. 48 L. W. 462=(1938) 2 M.L.J. 609. The power to commit for contempt is not to be lightly used and should be reserved for cases where the contempt is deliberate and of such a nature that committal is called for. 49 L. W. 29=I.L.R. (1939) Mad. 466=A.I.R. 1939 Mad. 257=(1939) 2 M.L.J. 843 (F.B.). The Court's jurisdiction in contempt is not to be invoked unless there is real prejudice which can be regarded as a substantial interference with the course of justice. It is not every theoretical tendency that will attract the attention of the Court to its very special jurisdiction. Where in the course of a newspaper article it was suggested that a political party was in sympathy with a terrorist gang against whom criminal proceeding was pending, held, that the comments were improper but did not amount to contempt. (Essentials for prosecution for contempt stated.) 58 C. 884=35 C.W.N. 189=1931 C. 257. The Chief Court of Sind has a right to punish in a summary way contempt of itself. A.I.R. 1940 Sind 239 (F.B.). It is a duty of a Court, not so much to itself but to the public in whose interest it administers justice, that it should preserve its proceedings from misrepresentation. There is no distinction between a misrepresentation of the action of a Chief Court when it exercises its undoubted powers of superintendence of Magisterial Courts under sec. 224, Government of India Act, 1935, and sec. 17, Sind Courts Act, 1926, and the misrepresentation of the action of the Court or a Judge in a judicial as distinct from an administrative capacity, provided always that that action relates to the administration of justice. A.I.R. 1940 Sind 239 (F.B.). See also A.I.R. 1939 Oudh 181 (F.B.).

JURISDICTION OF COURT—RESIDENCE OF ACCUSED IF MATERIAL.—Contempt of Court is not an offence within the ambit of the Penal Code, but yet it conforms to the ordinary rule that the jurisdiction of the Court is determined by the place where the offence is committed and not by the place where the offender may happen to reside. If the offender removes himself beyond the territorial jurisdiction there might be difficulty in securing his appearance and executing the sentence but that would not deprive the Court of jurisdiction over the offence. This is especially so where the accused has appeared and has submitted to the Court's jurisdiction. 57 M. 831=1934 M. 423=66 M.L.J. 650. The High Court has jurisdiction to hear a notice of motion for contempt of Court against a party who, though not resident within the limits of its ordinary original jurisdiction, is yet a resident of British India, because as a subject of British India, he is governed by and bound to obey the laws of British India and to recognise the authority of Courts established by laws prevailing in British India. 36 Bom. L.R. 992=1934 B. 452=59 B. 10. Persons who are not parties to the proceedings can be proceeded against in contempt if they at their investigation the insolvent refuses to vacate possession of the properties as ordered by the Court. 48 L.W. 462=(1938) 2 M. L.J. 609. [Reversing 46 L.W. 900=1937 M. W. N. 125.] Where a person is restrained by a judicial order of one High Court from proceeding with certain action and the person commits contempt of that High Court by defying the order in the jurisdiction of other High Court, the former High Court has jurisdiction to commit the person for contempt. [I.L.R. (1937) 1 Cal. 345, Foll.] A.I.R. 1937 Cal. 601. See also 40 C.W.N. 1285. As to jurisdiction of Oudh Chief Court in respect of contempt of subordinate Courts, see 1939 O.W.N. 296=A.I.R. 1939 Oudh 181 (F.B.).

INHERENT POWER TO PUNISH.—The power to punish for contempt of Court is a power inherent in superior Courts of Record, which in India are the High Courts. Each High Court has inherent power to punish contempt of itself; but no other Court has any power to deal with contempt of Court. If a High Court considers that a person has committed contempt of that Court although the contempt may have been committed outside the jurisdiction of that Court, it can deal with that person if he were within its jurisdiction. But there is no power in any High Court to arrest for contempt of Court a man outside the jurisdiction of that Court. 46 Bom.L.R. 94=A.I.R. 1944 Bom. 127. See also 1944 A.L.J. 459. The fact that criminal proceedings under sec. 194, Cr. P. Code, may be directed against a person who has defamed the Court generally is no bar to his being proceeded against for contempt of Court as well. The inherent power of a Court to punish for contempt of Courts is essential in the interests of the administration of justice and that power is not restricted in any degree by the provisions of the Cr. P. Code, relating to proceedings which may be instituted with the sanction of the Government in case of defamation of the Courts or His Majesty's Judges. 1935 A. 1=154 I.C. 955.

SOME ILLUSTRATIVE CASES—COMMENT ON PENDING CASES.—All proceedings in suits pending in a Court of Justice are privileged, and any comment on the subject-matter of the suits and any abuse of the parties or holding them up to ridicule and contempt in the eyes of the public, whilst the suit is pending are not allowed. The object of proceedings in contempt in such cases is not so much to vindicate the dignity of the Court or of the person of the Judge, as to ensure that every litigant in a Court of justice has a fair and unprejudiced hearing at the trial on the merits of his case. Whether an article in a newspaper will in fact prejudice a party or not, or scare away his witnesses, or lead him to compromise the suit, is not the real and proper test in such a case. The Court has to read the article and see whether the article may have that effect, and thereby tend to interfere with the proper course of justice. If it has that tendency it constitutes contempt of Court justifying the Court in taking action. 39 Bom.L.R. 471=38 Cr.L.J. 942=A.I.R. 1937 Bom. 305. See also 1943 Lah. 329 F. B. A libel on the parties to a suit which does not amount to an interference with the course of administration of justice is not a matter in respect of which contempt proceedings can be taken. The aggrieved party has his remedies elsewhere, namely, he can either prosecute the offender in a Criminal Court or sue him for damages in a Civil Court. (Ibid.) It is well settled that any act done or writing published which is calculated to interfere with or obstruct the due course of justice or the legal process of the Court is contempt of Court, although the Court will not take action for contempt unless it thinks that the conduct of the party in question is calculated seriously to interfere with the course of justice. Proceedings in contempt are not taken merely in respect of technical offences. To suggest in a newspaper article that evidence intended to be used in a prosecution which is either proceeding or is plainly contemplated, has been obtained by improper means and is unreliable or to suggest that admissions by the accused have been improperly obtained is such as is calculated to interfere with the due course of justice, and amounts to contempt of Court, as such allegations introduce at once into the trial an element of prejudice against the prosecution evidence. 40 Bom.L.R. 73. It is of the very essence of contempt of Court that proceedings should be pending, when the article alleged to constitute contempt is published. It is not necessary that the accused in a criminal case which is the subject of comment should have been committed for trial or even for him to have been brought before a committing Magistrate provided he has been arrested and is in custody when the article is published. 21 Pat.L.T. 980.

Dhavia, J.—It is contempt of Court to publish a newspaper article containing comments on the facts of a case which is pending before a Court or is about to come before a Court, if the comments are calculated to obstruct or interfere with the course of justice. In such cases the contempt takes the form of prejudicing mankind against persons who are on their trial raising an atmosphere of prejudice against them by comment which is addressed to the public at large. 21 Pat.L.T. 980=1940 P.W.N. 902. As to what are pending proceedings, see 185 I.C. 86=41 Cr.L.J. 148. Any publication which tends to excite prejudice against the parties to a pending litigation or their litigation while it is pending constitutes contempt of Court. Attacks on or abuse of a party, his witnesses or solicitor constitute contempt, but a mere libel on a party, not amounting to an interference with the course of justice, does not the party being left to his remedy by action. To publish injurious misrepresentations directed against a party to the action, especially when they are holding that party to hatred or contempt is liable to affect the course of justice, because it may, in the case of a plaintiff, cause him to discontinue the action from fear of public dislike, or it may cause the defendant to come to a compromise which he otherwise would not come to, for a like reason. The fact that the trial Judge would not be affected by the article has no bearing in the matter. I.L.R. (1938) Mad. 545=A.I.R. 1938 Mad. 248=(1938) 3 M.L.J. 81. The comment on a case which is sub judice or to suggest that the Court should take a certain course in respect of a matter before it undoubtedly constitutes contempt and honesty of motive cannot remove it from this category. If this were to be allowed persons in a position to assist the Court by their evidence might be prevented from coming forward, and persons appearing as witnesses might be influenced in their testimony. The criterion is not whether the Court will be influenced, but whether the action complained of is calculated to prejudice the course of justice. Good intention is not the deciding factor in a matter of contempt, though the intention and bona fide nature of the action constituting contempt have an important bearing on the question whether the Court should take action. To comment on a case which is about to come before the Court with knowledge of that fact is just as much contempt as comment on a case actually launched. A discussion in a newspaper of the rights and wrongs of a case when pending before a Court is improper and constitutes contempt of Court. This does not mean that reference cannot be made to pending cases or that items of news which are concerned with pending cases should not be published. What cannot be permitted is a discussion of the attitude which the Court should adopt when considering the case. 49 L.W. 29=I.L.R. (1939) Mad. 466=A.I.R. 1939 Mad. 257=(1939) 2 M.L.J. 843 (F.B.). A pamphlet which assumes the truth of certain facts which are connected directly or indirectly with the matters under consideration and awaiting decision in a pending litigation, amounts to contempt of Court. So also a document containing reflections of the gravest possible nature upon the conduct and the character of certain of the persons concerned in a pending proceeding and predicting that a certain party will win and thereby justice will be defeated. 43 C.W.N. 333 = I.L.R. (1939) 1 Cal. 394. Where a member of the Legislative Assembly wrote a letter to a Magistrate making certain suggestions with reference to proceedings under sec. 107, Cr. P. Code, pending before him, it was held that it grossly offended against the law of contempt of Court and that no member of the Legislative Assembly had any right to interfere in such a manner in the course of administration of criminal justice. 185 I.C. 754 = A.I.R. 1940 Oudh 178. A pamphlet published during the pendency of proceeding comes within the definition of "contempt of Court" if (1) it assumes the truth of certain facts which are connected directly or indirectly with the matters under consideration and awaiting decision in the proceeding itself, (2) if the document contains reflections of the gravest possible nature upon the conduct and the character of certain of the persons in the proceedings, and (3) if the pamphlet purports to predict that certain party will be or is likely to be successful in the proceeding and adds the comment in effect that if he is successful, law and justice will be defeated. 43 C.W.N. 333 = A.I.R. 1939 Cal. 672 = I.L.R. (1939) I.C. 399. Writing of letters to a Magistrate in respect of a matter pending before him grossly offends against the law of contempt It is in the clearest terms an attempt to prejudice the mind of the Magistrate in regard to the trial of the case before him. 181 I.C. 714 = 1939 O.W.N. 525 = A.I.R. 1939 Oudh 180. See also 14 Luck. 649; 14 Luck. 653. Every private communication to a Judge for the purpose of influencing his decision upon a pending matter, is contempt of Court as tending to interfere with the course of justice. On the facts of the case it was held that a letter addressed to a Magistrate at a time when no proceedings were pending before him did not amount to contempt, as it was not the intention of the writer to influence the Magistrate by means of that letter. 181 I.C. 466 = 1939 O.W.N. 522 = A.I.R. 1939 Oudh 182. Where a party to a pending case wrote a letter to the Judge seized of the case containing the following statement 'you have on your responsibility caused all these proceedings against law to be taken with a view to cause loss to me. In case I succeed in appeal, you yourself shall be responsible for the property or the value thereof due to the above-mentioned unlawful acts,' it was held that it amounted to contempt of a serious nature and that it contained a threat and an imputation against the Judge's impartiality and that it was a serious matter which could not be treated lightly. 1940 N.L.J. 425 = A.I.R. 1940 Nag. 407. Where a member of the Legislative Assembly writes letters to a District Magistrate about certain pending criminal cases he is attempting to interfere with the administration of criminal justice which nobody is entitled to. 1939 A.W.R. A. 247. Though a printed article may not have any effect on the mind of the Magistrate or Judge, the essence of contempt of Court being conduct calculated to produce an atmosphere of prejudice in the midst of which the proceedings must go on, publications with such a tendency will be punished as contempts. Where the respondent, the editor of a newspaper, after reproducing an accurate statement of a criminal complaint lodged against the accused, added in big headlines that "thousands of rupees were missing" as a fact, instead of "as alleged," held, the respondent was guilty of contempt. 1931 M.W.N. 1058 = 34 L.W. 727 = 61 M.L.J. 848. Where during the pendency of a suit relating to the genuineness of a will the editor of a newspaper published a copy of the will in the paid advertisement column and it appeared that the publication was likely to prejudice the mind of the public, held, that the act of the persons responsible for the paper amounted to contempt of Court. 1931 A.L.J. 647 = 1931 A. 420. The special privilege of the press is a time-worn fallacy, and the sooner the misconception that the press is not accountable to the law is removed the better it will be. No editor has a right to assume the role of investigator or try to prejudice the Court against any person. Writing and publishing an article in a newspaper likely to prejudice the course of justice relating to a pending case amounts to a contempt of Court. 15 Luck. 268 = 41 Cr.L.J. 169 = 1939 O.W.N. 1132 = A.I.R. 1940 Oudh 137. See also A.I.R. 1940 Rang. 70 = 41 Cr.L.J. 445. Far from there being any special privilege of the press, there is on the other hand a special responsibility affecting the editor of a newspaper, namely that he is in duty bound always to bear in mind the danger of prejudicing the course of justice by the publication of articles in his newspaper which though innocent in appearance may easily be so read by members of the public as to prejudice the course of litigation. 1940 O.W.N. 1197. It is not possible to say that criticism of Court is protected and can be justified where there is no good faith, where there are misstatements and misrepresentations and where necessarily the Court is brought into contempt and disrepute. The writer cannot claim to act in good faith when he ignores the sources of the truth which were open to him. A.I.R. 1940 Sind 239 (F.B.). Where a person is restrained by a judicial order from proceeding with certain action, the person so ordered is not justified in disobeying the order merely because he is advised or thinks that the order is wrong in law. A.I.R. 1937 Cal. 601. See also 44 Bom.L.R. 231 = 1942 Bom. 154. Where in the course of a series of newspaper articles the editor alleged that the Judges had convicted a person after having expressed a doubt of his guilt, that the conduct of cases before the Chief Justice was such that arguments and authorities were ignored and that the life and liberty of the subject brought before him was in peril, and further that the Chief Justice passed monstrous sentences and unjustifiably convicted persons on the uncorroborated testimony of an approver and accused the people of the province as habitual liars thus prostituting the position of a Judge. Held, that the articles were intended to lower the prestige of the High Court and the dignity of the Judge and that the editor could be punished for contempt. 8 P. 323=117 I.C. 180 (2)=30 Cr.L.J. 741 (F.B.). It is indeed difficult and well nigh impossible to frame a comprehensive and complete definition of 'contempt of Court'. Anything that tends to curtail or impair the freedom of the limits of the judicial proceeding must of necessity result in hampering the due administration of law and in interfering with the course of justice. It must therefore be held to constitute contempt of Court. Where a party sends threatening letters to the opposite party and his advocate demanding the withdrawal of certain allegations in the pleadings it is calculated to interfere with and obstruct or divert the course of justice and hence the party sending such communications is therefore clearly guilty of a contempt of Court. I.L.R. (1940) Nag. 69=1939 N.L.J. 461. Where a person accused of an offence under secs. 420 and 406, I. P. Code, files a complaint for defamation against a witness in that case and during its pendency, in respect of certain statements made by that witness it was held that inasmuch as the complaint was made more than 6 months after the examination of all the witnesses and not straightaway as soon as the particular witness was examined, it was a bona fide act intended for the protection of the complainant's own good name and not an act aimed at putting pressure to bear on witnesses and as such there was not even a technical offence of contempt committed. 181 I.C. 575=40 Cr.L.J. 569=A.I.R. 1939 Oudh 225. The essence of an offence of contempt of Court lies in the fact that the person complained against has done something which might have the effect of prejudicing the fair trial of a pending case; inasmuch as it is of great importance to the administration of justice that it should be allowed to take an unfettered course and not be sullied and besmirched in any manner: Where a person files a complaint for defamation in respect of various allegations against him contained in a petition to adjudicate him an insolvent and also says that he had told the other party that if insolvency proceedings are started, he would take counter proceedings, there is nothing done from which an inference could be drawn that if the allegations in the insolvency proceedings are withdrawn, the criminal proceedings for defamation would also be dropped. There is a distinction between a threat before proceedings are instituted and a threat after proceedings have been instituted. If when the earlier proceedings have been taken a threat is held out then to the person who institutes the proceedings by the opposite party to the effect that unless the proceedings are withdrawn drastic action would be taken, the holder of the threat would be guilty of contempt of Court; but where the threat is held out before the institution of the proceedings it amounts only to a warning so that an unguarded action may not be taken. There may well be action in the nature of a blackmail and it would be dangerous to hold that if the person attempted to be blackmailed were to hold out a counter threat, he would be guilty of contempt of Court. 1940 A.L.J. 798. Where during the course of a guardianship proceedings, one of the parties files an affidavit containing aspersions on the other party and he thereupon files an applications under sec. 476, Cr.P. Code, for enquiry into the falsity of the allegations in the affidavit and for necessary action and also files a complaint against the other under sec. 500, I.P. Code, neither the application under sec. 476, Cr. P. Code, nor the complaint under sec. 500, I.P. Code, constitutes contempt of Court. 1940 A.L.J. 579=1940 All. 497. Where a person not a party to the suit sends a registered notice to the defendant, demanding the withdrawal of an abusive epithet used in the written statement with reference to him, and threatening to file a suit for damages, if it was not withdrawn, it is merely the formal preliminary notice for a suit for damages for libel and does not constitute contempt of Court. This is quite different from putting pressure on a party to withdraw a plea in a civil suit, which may amount to contempt of Court. 187 I.C. 65=1939 A.L.J. 1157=1940 All. 114. See also I.L.R. (1942) Nag. 506=43 Cr.L.J. 98. Where A aids and abets B in his disobedience of an injunction, it is a wrong remedy to petition the Court to issue notice upon A to show cause why he should not be committed for contempt for disobedience of the injunction. The petition should ask the Court that A be committed for aiding and abetting B in his disobedience. In the first case the Court might dismiss the application and ask the petitioner to apply again in proper form. 1938 P.W.N. 895=19 Pat. L.T. 867=1938 P.C. 295. The Government granted certain lease of quarrying rights to A. A took possession of the quarries. In a dispute concerning lease the Government and its servants were restrained by an injunction from disturbing possession of A, B, who was not a party to the injunction proceedings, but who derived his supposed interest from the Government, continued to work the quarries. A brought an action for contempt proceedings against the Government for disobedience of the injunction, and against B for aiding and abetting the disobedience. Held, that Government could not be said to have disobeyed the injunction. It was for A, who had the immediate right to possession or was in possession under the order of the Court, and not for the Government, who was not in actual possession to eject B. The duty of the Government was to leave those who claimed entitled to the possession of the soil to take the appropriate measures. Held, further, as Government was not liable, B, who derived his interest through it, could also not be held liable for disobedience. Any act done or writing published which is calculated to bring a Court or a Judge into contempt or to lower his authority is contempt of Court. It is a class of contempt usually known as "scandalising the Court"; the principle on which the Court proceeds in taking notice of this class of contempt is based on the interest of the public and not on the interest of the particular Court or Judge who is attacked. Where attacks are made on the personal character of a Judge, or where base or improper motives in the decision of a case are attributed to a Judge, the process of the Court should be used; but the process of contempt for scandalising the Court is one which should be sparingly used. A general expression of opinion hostile to the utility of Courts of Justice, without any attack on any particular Judge or comment on any particular case, is not likely to affect the public and need not disturb the equanimity of Judges, and does not amount to such a contempt of Court as should be dealt with by the process of contempt. I.L.R. (1938) Bom. 179=40 Bom.L.R. 75=1938 Bom. 197. Scandalizing the Court amounts to contempt of Court. It is immaterial whether the attack on the Judge is with reference to a case about to be tried or actually under trial or recently adjudged. And the offence is in no way mitigated when the attack is not upon a particular Judge but upon the Court as a whole, indeed, upon all the Judges. Contempt is not only committed when there is a detailed discussion of the facts and merits, but when, for instance, some presumptuous person states that the case of the party is sound in law and fact before such case is heard and decided. An article suggesting abuse by Chief Court of its powers, a desire on the part of that Court to enter into a conflict with the executive Government and containing a plain invitation to Magistrates to disregard the authority of that Court and to subordinate themselves to the alleged wishes of the executive Government, is an article tending to embarrass the administration of justice and calculated to create in the minds of the general public grave apprehension that the Chief Court is not entitled to public confidence in its discharge of its duties. Such article amounts to contempt of Court. 1940 Sind 229 (F.B.). Where a suit was concluded by a decree of Court embodying the terms of settlement between the parties one of which was an undertaking given by the defendant not to dispose of his properties until the decree was fully satisfied, and the defendant mortgaged the properties before the satisfaction of the decree. Held, that the breach of the undertaking given to the Court amounted to contempt of Court and that the breach was not so trivial a matter as to be beneath the dignity of the Court to notice or punish it. 42 O. PRACTICE AND PROCEDURE—Summary proceedings taken by the High Court for contempt of itself are proceedings derived from the Common Law of England. There is inherent right to take such proceedings in the High Court by virtue of its position as a superior Court of record. The power to punish for contempt is a power sui generis and not a power which is or can be exercised under the ordinary criminal jurisdiction of the Court. 39 C.W.N. 823. A rule for contempt can be issued by any single Judge or any number of Judges of a Court of record. It is not necessary that the rule should be issued by the High Court as an entire body after consultation with all its members. 8 P. 323=117 I.C. 180 (2)=80 Cr.L.J. 741 (F.B.). See also 7 E. 844=122 I.C. 282=31 Cr.L.J. 397. Where an application is made to the High Court on behalf of the Legal Remembrancer for taking proceedings against a person for contempt of Court, it is not proper that the affidavit in support of the application should be that of a clerk. It should be the affidavit of some responsible officer. 21 Pat.L.T. 980=1940 P.W.N. 902. The Legal Remembrancer of Bihar is competent to represent the Government or the Governor in proceedings for contempt in Bihar and can move the Court to take proceedings. His functions and duties are wide enough to empower him to move on behalf of the Government or the Governor and to instruct the Advocate-General to carry on proceedings for contempt in the High Court. 1940 P.W.N. 902=21 Pat.L.T. 980. Summary jurisdiction in contempt is a powerful weapon in the hands of the Court and is to be used sparingly. But its use must in large part depend upon those who by their misconduct invite its application. 1940 Sind 239 (F.B.). There can be no doubt that a Court need not and should not interfere in all cases of contempt. It is a very arbitrary method of dealing with an offence and contempt proceedings should be sparingly insti- tuted, and a person should not be convicted unless it is essential in the interests of justice that he should be. Where the matter complained of tends to prejudice and tends to cause substantial prejudice, it does call for action, as it cannot be said to be a mere technical contempt. A mere technical contempt of Court is not sufficient to warrant the High Court interfering and convicting the offender. There must be a substantial contempt, that is, something which tends in a substantial manner to interfere with the due course of justice or tends substantially to prejudice the public against the accused in a pending criminal case. If the Court is satisfied that there is a danger of grave prejudice and a danger of substantial and real interference with the due course of justice, the Court will take action and commit the offender for contempt. 1940 P.W.N. 902 = 21 Pat.L.T. 980.

INTENTION.—Any act done or writing published, which is calculated to interfere with the due course of justice is a contempt of Court, and writings prejudicing the public for or against a party are similarly contempts. No intent to interfere with the due course of justice or to prejudice the public need be proved if the effect of the article or matter alleged to constitute contempt is to create prejudice or to interfere with the due course of justice. The writer of an article can be guilty of contempt without intending to interfere with the due course of justice. The test is not what the writer intends but what effect the words would have. An article written with the deliberate intention of interfering with the due course of justice would be an extremely serious matter meriting very severe punishment. Once it is held that the words are likely to cause substantial interference with the due course of justice or likely substantially to prejudice the hearing of a case or the trial of an accused person, then the writer is guilty of contempt whether or not he intended such results. The question of intention is irrelevant in considering whether the offence has been committed, though, of course, it is a most important matter in considering the appropriate punishment to be awarded. 1940 P.W.N. 902 = 21 Pat.L.T. 980. See also 49 L.W. 29; 1943 Lah. 329 (F.B.); 47 C.W.N. 854; 1945 Nag. 83 = 1945 N.L.J. 30. When the High Court as a Court of record thinks fit to exercise summary jurisdiction and under that jurisdiction punishes for a contempt of Court, it is not open to the person concerned to ask the High Court for leave to appeal to His Majesty in Council. Summary proceedings for contempt of Court are not only competent, but the decision, that is to say judgment, order and sentence must be taken to be final and not open to appeal. A Court of record is the sole judge of what constitutes a contempt. 39 C.W.N. 823.

SEC. 2.—The Chief Court of Sind is also a Court of Record and has power to punish in a summary way contempt of itself. I.L.R. (1944) Kar. 396. The words "Subordinate Court" in the Contempt of Courts Act are used in a wide sense as including any Court over which the High Court has superintendence for the purposes of s. 85, Government of Burma Act. 1935, that is to say, all Courts subject for the time being to its appellate jurisdiction. Sub-Divisional Magistrate when holding an inquiry under sec. 176, Cr. P. Code, is acting as a Court subordinate to the High Court for the purposes of the Contempt of Courts Act. 1940 Rang. L.R. 188 = 41 Cr.L.J. 470 = A.I.R. 1940 Rang. 68. The High Court of its own motion can issue a rule calling upon a person to show cause why he should not be committed for contempt of the High Court or for contempt of a Subordinate Court. The powers of the High Court with regard to contempt of Subordinate Courts are precisely the same as its powers with regard to contempt of itself. Under sec. 2 (1) of the Contempt of Courts Act of 1926, the High Court can do in the case of contempt of a Subordinate Court whatever it can do in the case of contempt of the High Court itself. Therefore even if an application for taking proceedings is not competent, as being taken out by a person not competent to represent the Executive Government, the High Court can take notice of the contempt alleged of its own motion and issue a rule. 1940 P.W.N. 902 = 21 Pat.L.T. 980. Comment upon an Advocate which has reference to the conduct of his cases may amount to contempt of Court. 58 C. 884 = 35 C.W.N. 189 = 1931 C. 257.

legal justification. There must be something in the nature of mala fides, that is, an intention directly or indirectly to interfere with the due course of justice. The arrest must have been intended to interfere with the due course of justice or calculated to interfere with the due course of justice. An honest, though mistaken arrest, though it might interfere with the due course of justice, cannot amount to contempt. The arrest of a counsel by the police in order to prevent him from filing an application to the High Court under sec. 491, Cr. P. Code, for the release of a detainee and appearing on behalf of the detainee or to prevent other counsel from so appearing and to prevent the counsel from obtaining an order from the High Court for an interview with the detainee in jail amounts to interference with the due course of justice and constitutes contempt of Court. A.I.R. 1944 Lah. 196 (S.B.).

WITHHOLDING PETITION (HABEAS CORPUS) FROM PERSON DETAINED IN JAIL.—Petitions addressed by detained persons to the High Court under sec. 491, Cr. P. Code, must be forwarded without any delay. Whether the petition has in the events that have happened become infructuous is a matter in every case for the High Court to decide and no one has the right to take upon himself that responsibility. It is no business at all of any official to form any conclusion about an application addressed to the High Court. Withholding any application addressed to the High Court under sec. 491, Cr. P. Code, does amount to a technical contempt even when such withholding does not tend substantially to interfere with the due course of justice. In order to amount to a punishable or serious contempt of Court the withholding of the application must tend substantially to interfere with the due course of justice. A.I.R. 1944 Lah. 196 (S.B.). See also 1945 Nag. 33. Where the jail Superintendent deliberately and intentionally withheld the application from the High Court and declined to forward it, held, he interfered with the administration of justice and was guilty of a criminal contempt. 1945 N.L.J. 30=A.I.R. 1945 Nag. 33.

PERSON RELEASED BY COURT ON HABEAS CORPUS WRIT RE-ARRESTED UNDER REGULATION III OF 1818 WITHIN COURT PRECINCTS.—Per Curiam.—A person who is directed by Court to be released from illegal detention in habeas corpus proceedings of proceedings under sec. 491, Cr. P. Code, is only free from arrest on civil process until he reaches home from Court, but not free from arrest on criminal process. As a warrant of commitment under Regulation III of 1818 is akin to criminal process, the re-arrest of that person under such a warrant in the Court room when the Court is not sitting or within the precincts of the Court even when the Court is sitting will not amount to contempt unless it is a fraudulent proceeding for evading the order of the Court which is made in habeas corpus proceedings or proceedings under sec. 491, Cr. P. Code, or the arrest is made in the face of the Court so as to create a disturbance of the Court's business. 48 C.W.N. 854. Per Mitter, J.—It would amount to contempt if the person holding the warrant says to the face of the Court that he would not release the person ordered to be released by it. Such a warrant issued by the Governor-General or by the Governor of a province does not amount to a decision of a Court but is only an executive act and as such it cannot be set up against the order of the Court directing the release. 47 C.W.N. 854. When an application addressed to the High Court has been written on the 22nd but is not handed over to the jail authorities till the 23rd, the latter figure should not be added. Such tampering with a document addressed to the High Court is improper and is in itself a contempt. The jail authorities can endorse the date of receipt by them separately if they so desire but they have no business to alter or add to or tamper with any portion of a document intended for and addressed to the High Court. It is most objectionable to add a figure to the date so as to make it appear that the document bears a different date to the one which it originally bore. 1945 N.L.J. 30=A.I.R. 1945 Nag. 33. In cases of contempt of mofussil Courts the aggrieved person should make his application direct to the High Court. Where the alleged contempt is in the form of obstruction to the receiver appointed by the Court, the application may be made either by the party or by the receiver himself or by the Court which appointed him. Ordinarily however it is for the parties who are damaged to prefer the complaint. In contempt applications the same procedure should be followed as in applications in contempt to the High Court on the original side. (Application made to lower Court converted into one made to High Court.) 35 C.W.N.

1265. See also 36 C.W.N. 645. The Court of Commissioners appointed under the Bengal Criminal Law Amendment Act is a subordinate Court and the High Court can entertain proceedings for contempt committed before the Commissioners. 37 C.W.N. 276 = 1933 C. 118 = 60 C. 603 = 34 Cr.L.J. 662. The expression "man in the street has lost confidence in the administration of justice in the province" used by a lawyer in a meeting of the Bar Association within the premises of the Court is contempt of Court. 144 I.C. 63 = 34 Cr.L.J. 726 = 1933 O. 118. During the course of a trial the counsel for the accused observed in reply to a suggestion that the accused was proposing to leaving the jurisdiction of the Court, that he would not be appearing if that were so. The accused in fact left during the trial. Held, that the accused cannot be proceeded against for contempt. 35 C.W.N. 1082. A statement made by a counsel before the Judge of a Full Bench to the effect that his instructions are that his client does not wish the matter to be argued before the bench as constituted is a deliberate and intentional insult to the Court. It is highly improper on the part of the counsel to make such a statement and the statement amounts to a contempt of Court. 1932 L. 485 (F.B.). Where a contempt of Court committed by a counsel is due to his erroneous view of law and not to any improper intention on his part, the ends of justice can be met by the Judges of the Full Bench recording grave disapproval of his action. 138 I.C. 878 = 33 Cr.L.J. 675 = 1932 L. 502 (F.B.). Where a leading advocate commits the offence of contempt of Court unconsciously and tenders a written apology to the Court, such apology can be accepted as sufficient amends. 1933 O. 118. See also notes under sec. 3, infra. Attempts to interfere with the possession of a receiver (appointed by Court) and to intercept the rents properly payable by the tenants to the receiver undoubtedly amount to contempt of Court. (20 Beav. 332 and 18 C.W.N. 289, Ref.) 140 I.C. 140 = 36 C.W.N. 645 = 1932 C. 705. See also 35 C.W.N. 1265; 159 I.C. 180 = 1935 C. 684. The case of interference with or obstruction to a receiver appointed by the Court is treated as a contempt of a criminal nature. It is not necessary in such a case that the order appointing receiver should be served on the respondent as a condition precedent to a motion for contempt. It is enough if the applicant shows that the respondent was aware of the appointment of the receiver. The act of interference or obstruction is not a matter of infringement of any order, but amounts to interference with the administration of justice and with its officers. 36 Bom. L.R. 992 = 1934 Bom. 452. Interference with receiver may amount to contempt. That the person guilty of contempt is no party to the suit in which the receiver is appointed is no bar to jurisdiction. 59 B. 10 = 36 Bom.L.R. 992 = 1934 Bom. 452. But

Court would act with caution and reluctance when outsiders are concerned, (Ibid.) It is well settled that when receivers are appointed by a Court, interference with them and obstruction to them will amount to contempt of Court, and that the forcible taking of the rents and profits for which the receiver has been appointed or of chattels in his possession as receiver will amount to such interference and obstruction. 44 C.W.N. 925 = A.I.R. 1940 Cal. 487. The jurisdiction to deal with people for contempt of Court is quasi-criminal and the Court has no right to punish people merely because it might disapprove of what they do, if their conduct does not clearly bring them within the four walls of some offence known to law. Where the Court comes to a decision that it will appoint a Receiver but does not name any officer or individual as receiver, it is not a contempt of Court for a person who knows that that decision has been arrived at even if he is a party to the proceedings who knows—to collect and disburse moneys which it is intended are to fall within the powers of the Receiver. It cannot be said that for a party bound by a judgment to do anything which will make that judgment ineffective, is in itself a contempt of Court. The equitable rule of deeming that to be done which ought to be done could not apply to such case, for it could not be imported into the realms of criminal or quasi-criminal law. 1941 Rang.L.R. 747. The publication of a proceeding in Chamber in the High Court is not permitted without the express leave of the Judge, and if a newspaper does so, it amounts to contempt of Court. Proceedings relating to the appointment of a guardian ad litem of a minor are proceedings relating to a ward of Court, and if they are published in a newspaper without the express leave of the Judge that would amount to contempt. I.L.R. (1942) Bom. 151 = 44 Bom.L.R. 95 = A.I.R. 1942 Bom. 86. Obstruction offered to a public servant in the discharge of his public function is an offence by itself though the public servant may not be acting under the orders of a Court of justice so long as he was performing a legal function. But if that public servant is carrying out an order of a Court the offender commits another offence, namely, the offence of contempt of the Court whose order the public servant is carrying out. Sec. 186, I. P. Code, does not take note of this second offence which can be the subject of contempt proceedings. 12 P. 172 = 1933 P. 204 = 14 Pat.L.T. 77. Where the Sheriff's officer who, accompanied by the plaintiff's men, went to serve the defendant with a writ of summons in a suit which had been instituted against him was prevented from doing so because of the threats and the apprehensions into which he was put by the conduct of the defendant who made offensive remarks against him and called his employees who assaulted one of the plaintiff's men. Held, that the defendant was in contempt and that the powers of the High Court could rightly be invoked. 48 C.W.N. 825. A criticism of an executive officer, no matter how severe, cannot amount to contempt of Court unless such criticism contains a matter calculated substantially to interfere with the due course of justice. It is one thing to say during the pendency of proceedings that an executive officer should not have taken a certain course. It is quite a different thing to say that the course he took was wholly illegal. A.I.R. 1943 Lah. 329 (F.B.). In so far as criminal contempts are concerned, the offence is committed if among other things, the acts complained of either obstruct, or have a tendency to obstruct, the administration of justice. It is not necessary to establish an actual obstruction or interference. It is enough to show that the acts have a tendency to interfere. 1945 N. L.J. 30=A.I.R. 1945 Nag. 33. The necessity for personal service of an order of the Court (appointing the receiver) does not exist when the contempt complained of is obstruction of the Court's officers. 140 I.O. 140=36 C.W.N. 645=1932 C. 705. Where the accused were convicted by the trial Court but were released on bail the same day by the Sessions Court which later on confirmed the conviction and issued warrants of arrest against them and the accused evaded those warrants of arrest and applied to the High Court, in revision, making it appear to the High Court that they were in jail, while in fact they were at no time in jail, it was held that both their evasion and misrepresentation amounted to contempt of Court. I. L.R. (1940) All. 507=1940 A.L.J. 309=A.I.R. 1940 All. 386. The widowed mother of a minor girl had re-married and thereupon her sister applied to the Court stating that the minor girl should be removed from the custody of the mother. The applicant was directed to take charge of the minor and she undertook not to marry the minor without the permission of the Court. Subsequently the mother under whose custody the minor continued got the minor married without the permission of the Court. Held, (1) that the mother was not guilty of an offence under sec. 228, I. P. Code, the insult or interruption of a public servant while sitting in a judicial proceeding is not a phrase which applies to mere disobedience of an order of the Court; (2) that the accused might be proceeded against under the Contempt of Courts Act. 12 P. 1=1933 P. 142=34 Cr. L.J. 770. Contempt of Court is either (1) criminal contempt consisting of words or acts obstructing or intending to obstruct the administration of justice or (2) contempt in procedure, consisting of disobedience to the judgments, orders or other process of the Court and involving private injury. Ordinarily a party to an action who disobeys a prohibitory order, such disobedience though wilful is contempt in procedure, whereas persons who aid and abet such disobedience and are not parties to the action are guilty of criminal contempt. Where in spite of an order of prohibition a father performs the marriage of his minor daughter he is guilty of contempt along with the person who married the girl knowing of the prohibition. 189 I.O. 813=A.I.R. 1940 Nag. 203. See also I.L.R. (1942) Nag. 45; 31 Bom.L. R. 1120. A Guzerati person applied for restoration of his minor boy from an Anglo-Indian lady who looked after him for a long time with the father's concurrence. In a previous proceedings the father was appointed as the guardian of the boy and the father was ordered to have the custody of his boy and was to arrange to take the child for a change. The father made the arrangement but the lady refused to deliver the child to its father in spite of many requests. Held, that the lady was guilty of contempt. A.I. R. 1938 Cal. 38=174 I.O. 785. The meaning of sec. 2 (3) is that where under the I. P. Code there is already a provision for punishing a contempt of Court as a contempt of Court the Contempt of Courts Act itself shall have no application. It does not mean that when the Act which has constituted the contempt of Court also constitutes an offence under the Penal Code it may not be punished under the Contempt of Courts Act. A single act may be both an offence under the Penal Code and may also be a contempt of Court and may be punishable in either or both capacities. 12 P. 1=1933 P. 142=144 I.O. 351. See also 1940 180=1935 C. 684; 1938 A.L.J. 430. Where an application under sec. 100, Cr. P. Code, an application under sec. 100 Cr. P. Code, directed against a particular individual has terminated, the filing of complaints under sec. 500, I. P. Code and sec. 195 Cr. P. Code, by the individual against whom the disposed off application was directed does not in any way affect the trial of any pending proceedings and hence an application under sec. 2 of the Contempt of Courts Act on the basis of such complaints would not be maintainable. 1943 O. 14=1943 O.W.N. 331=1943 O.A. (G.C.) 212=45 Cr.L.J. 108.

SECS. 2 (2) AND (3): CHIEF COURT OF OUDH—JURISDICTION AS REGARDS CONTEMPT OF SUBORDINATE COURTS.—The Chief Court of Oudh is by virtue of the Oudh Courts Act and secs. 219 and 220 of the Government of India Act, the High Court of Oudh and the one and only Court of record and by virtue of its position akin to that of the Court of King's Bench. It has its power of superintendence over all inferior Civil and Criminal Courts and it has power to protect its subordinate Courts from improper interference in the administration of Justice. It would be absurd to think that such a Court, which is the custodian and protector of public Justice throughout the province of Oudh, has no power to deal with the contempt of Courts subordinate to it. Its powers in that respect are defined and limited by the Contempt of Courts Act of 1926. The Act is silent as to the powers of the Chief Court to deal with contempts of Court subordinate to it, but such power cannot be negatived by silence and is to be inferred from the wording of sub-cl. (2) of sec. 2 in which the words "subject to the provisions of sub-cl. (3)" would be otherwise meaningless and in fact unnecessary. 14 Luck. 492=A.I.R. 1939 Oudh 181 (F.B.). As to Jurisdiction of Sind Chief Court, see I.L.R. (1944) Kar. 396.

PRACTICE AND PROCEDURE.—The fact that the rule for contempt is unsigned is by itself no ground for discharge of the rule. 37 C.W.N. 276=1933 C. 118=80 C. 603. When signing a petition for launching contempt proceedings a Secretary to Government should be presumed to be acting within the scope of the authority conferred on him until the contrary is shown (Ibid.) The legal remembrancer is ex officio public prosecutor on the Appellate Side of the High Court and as such has the power to instruct counsel, his authority to act for the local Government being in no way dependant on anything in the nature of a vakalatnama or warrant of attorney. (Ibid.) Applications for contempt cannot be subject-matter of reference by the lower Court to the High Court. Such applications cannot be heard by a Bench of the High Court hearing criminal appeals unless they are specially referred by the Chief Justice. 35 C.W.N. 1266. When the contempt is committed in the face of a Court it is that Court which is the proper tribunal to decide the whole matter. 138 I.C. 878=1932 L. 502 (F.B.). In a case where a party is required to do something by order of Court, it is necessary before an application is made for committal of a person to jail for disobedience of the Court's order, that he should have been personally served with notice of the order. Service upon his attorney is not sufficient nor is personal service after notice of motion for contempt. 34 Bom.L.R. 1416=1932 B. 638. The precise breach or breaches of the order complained of should be set out in the notice of motion itself and the other party should not be left to ascertain, if he can, from the affidavit relied upon in support what the charges are. (Ibid.) In cases of contempt the parties charged with contempt cannot be called upon to answer to anything which is not set out specifically in the grounds used before the Court at the time when the rule was issued; where the grounds are insufficient the only course open to the Court is to discharge the rule. To such a case allegations set out in an affidavit cannot be taken notice of unless the source of the deponent's information is disclosed. 35 C.W.N. 1267. There can be no justification of contempt of Court even if the writer or speaker believes all that he states to be true; and a person guilty of contempt is not entitled to lead evidence to establish the truth of his allegations. 36 Cr.L.J. 620=1935 A.L.J. 46=1935 All. 88. The general rule is a party in contempt is not entitled to be heard but the rule has never been applied to a case in which the order, for the breach of which contempt is alleged, is challenged on the ground of want of jurisdiction. 55 B. 803=33 Bom.L.R. 725=1931 B. 402. In an enquiry by the Court for contempt consisting of alleged disobedience of the order of Court, it is unnecessary to go into the previous history of the matters which led to the passing of the order. (7 B. 5, Ref.) 34 Bom. L.R. 1416=1932 B. 638. Where the breach of an order of Court complained of is a failure to pay a sum of money, the Court has no power to commit a private party for contempt. But a receiver is an officer of Court and on his failure to comply with an order of Court—even though it be only an order for the payment of money—he may be committed for contempt. (19 B. 152, Dist.; 4 C. 655 Foll.) 34 Bom.L.R. 1416=1932 B. 638. Sec. 556, Cr.P. Code, does not apply to summary proceedings taken for punishing a contempt. In such a case the practice has been for the Judges who have been defamed to hear the case and to state in their judgment the facts within their knowledge or their reasons for taking a particular course of action. While it is unpleasant for any Judge to have to sit in judgment in a case in which he has been personally attacked, it is his duty to do so where he has been the subject of a malicious and impudent publication containing imputations which are obviously false and of the falsity of which he himself has the best knowledge. In fact he has no alternative but to sit as it is impossible to vindicate the reputation of the Court which has been attacked by taking proceedings in any Court for libel or otherwise. The sole object of these summary proceedings is to vindicate the prestige of the Court. They are not to establish the position of an individual Judge. I.L.R. (1942) Lah. 411=44 P.L.R. 206=1942 Lah. 105 (F.B.). In a proceeding for contempt of Court, it is not open to a contemner to show that the allegations are true. Any attempt to justify a libel on a Judge by attempting to show that the libel was justified would itself be a fresh contempt. A contemner who has been called upon to show cause why he should not be punished for an attack on the Court or its judges does not occupy the position of a defendant in a libel action, where he may plead or prove justification or the position of an accused person in a prosecution for defamation. I.L.R. (1942) Lah. 411=44 P.L.R. 206=1942 Lah. 105 (F.B.). The provisions of the Code of Criminal Procedure are not applicable to summary proceedings taken for punishing a contempt. But even if sec. 344 of the Code be applicable, the Court will not be disposed to adjourn the proceedings in a case where the Court is scandalised and an attempt is made by a scurrilous publication to undermine and impair the authoforce, a contempt of Court may be punished with simple imprisonment for a term which may extend to six months, or with fine, which may extend to two thousand rupees, or with both:

Provided that the accused may be discharged or the punishment awarded may be remitted on apology being made to the satisfaction of the Court:

ity of the Court, as immediate action is necessary with a view to vindicate the authority of the Court. I.L.R. (1942) Lah. 411=44 P.L.R. 206=1942 Lah. 105 (F.B.). See also 1944 A.L.J. 459.

SEC. 2 (3).—The prohibition contained in sec. 2 (3) of the Act, refers to offences punishable as contempt of Court by the Indian Penal Code and not to offences punishable there otherwise than as contempt. 1940 N.L.J. 425=1940 Nag. 407. See also 1938 A. L. J. 480; 1935 Cal. 684. Where in answer to interrogatories, a party to a proceeding in a Magistrate's Court stated that the Chief Reader of that Court had friendly relations with and influence over the Court which acted dishonestly and imposed a fine, the statement is clearly defamatory of the presiding officer and a criminal offence under the Penal Code. But the appropriate procedure is for the officer to file a complaint under the Penal Code and the High Court will not take cognisance under the Contempt of Courts Acts. 36 C.L.J. 967=1935 A. L.J. 950 (1)=1935 All. 896.

Sub-sec. (3), sec. 2, means that the contempt must be punishable as a contempt under the Penal Code and not punishable only because it otherwise is an offence. 165 I.C. 813=1936 Lah. 917. The true interpretation of cl. (3) to sec. 2 of the Contempt of Courts Act is that where there is already a provision in the Penal Code for publishing a contempt of Court as such the Contempt of Courts Act itself shall have no application. But where an act amounts to an offence under the Penal Code and also under the Contempt of Courts Act, it will be punishable under both Acts. I.L.R. (1938) All. 548=1938 A.L.J. 430=1938 All. 358.

SECS. 2 AND 3.—Where a leading advocate commits the offence of contempt of Court unconsciously and tenders a written apology to the Court, such apology can be accepted as sufficient amends. 144 I.C. 63 (2)=1933 O. 118.

SEC. 3.—An allegation that a Judge hearing a case has prejudged on issue of fact, before any evidence whatever has been called on either side, is to charge the Judge with grossly improper conduct. It means that the Judge has some outside knowledge. When a solicitor makes such an allegation in a letter written by him to another solicitor, the inevitable result would be that public confidence in the judiciary would be shaken. That is always the basis of contempt proceedings of the nature known as scandalizing the Court. 44 Bom. L.R. 796=1942 Bom. 331. Threat used by Advocate to judge an offence. Where an Advocate wrote a letter to a Judge informing him that steps were being taken to put a certain decree in execution while a revision was pending in the High Court and further stated that in case further action in execution was taken his client would constitute a suit for damages against him, held, that the intention of the Advocate was to influence the mind of the Judge by the threat held out to him and that the Advocate was liable to be convicted under sec. 3. 147 I.C. 330=1934 A.L.J. 145=1934 A. 317. See also 1939 N.L.J. 461. But see 18 Lah. 69 noted under sec. 1, as regards the extent of punishment that can be given under inherent power of High Court. The Court has jurisdiction to direct the payment of costs of the Crown by the person punished under the Contempt of Courts Act. The proper method by which these costs should be recovered should be on the lines on which decrees are executed by the Civil Court. 36 Cr. L. J. 1365=1935 A. L. J. 1153=1935 All. 1013. Where the contempt is of a very grave nature, the party is contempt may be punished in spite of apology tendered. (1938) 2 M.L.J. 520=1938 Mad. 975. The proviso to sec. 3 no doubt, seems to contemplate an apology at a late stage. But where the accused takes such action as any reasonable man must realise to be likely to prejudice the trial of a case and where instead of apologising at the earliest possible opportunity he or his counsel contends most strenuously that no contempt has been committed, his apology thereafter can only be regarded as an after-thought put forward in the hope of avoiding the wrath to come. 1940 O.W.N. 1197. Except in scandalous and outrageous cases an unconditional apology is ordinarily considered to purge the contempt. Where, however, in spite of several opportunities instead of apologising the person persists in justifying his action the contempt is aggravated. 1945 N.L.J. 30=1945 Nag. 33. Where a contemner states that he is 'extremely sorry, it may amount to an expression of regret, but it is certainly not an apology—which is the word used in the Contempt of Courts Act. 1942 O.W.N. 6=1942 A. Cr. C. 28. See the same case reversed on appeal to P.C. (1943) 2 M.L.J. 568 (P.C.). An apology is not a weapon of defence forged to purge the guilty of their offences. Nor is it intended to operate as a universal panacea. It is intended to be evidence of real contriteness. Only then is it of any avail in a Court of Justice. It must be tendered at the earliest opportunity unreservedly and unconditionally. Everything depends on the circumstances as well as upon the nature of the apology and the manner in which it is tendered. 1940 N.L.J. 425=1940 Nag. 407. See also 1940 O.W.N. 1197=1940 O. A. 1137. It does not follow that because an apology is offered the Court must accept it and is disarmed. A Court can refuse to accept an apology which it does not believe is genuine; it can even when it accepts the apology, commit an offender to prison or otherwise punish him. Furthermore, there cannot be both justification and apology. The two things are incompatible. 1940 Sind 239 (F.B.). The principle underlying the case in which persons have been punished for attacks upon Courts and interferences with the due execution of their orders is not the protecting of either the Court as a whole or the individual Judges of the Court from a repetition of them, but the protecting of the public and especially those who either voluntarily or by compulsion are subject to its jurisdiction, from the mischief they will incur if the authority of the tribunal be undermined or impaired. An article in newspaper containing comments on the finding of the Magistrate in an inquest under sec. 176, Cr. P. Code, into the death of certain person amounts to contempt of Court if the comments impute deliberate perversity, incapability and partiality to the police on the part of the Magistrate in question. For the publication of this article, the publisher and editor are liable to be dealt with for contempt of Court and they cannot be allowed to go unpunished merely because they have tendered an apology. 187 I.C. 308=41 Cr.L.J. 445=1940 Rang. 70. Copyright Act, 1911, in its application to British India; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

CHAPTER I.

PRELIMINARY.

Short title and extent.

1. (1) This Act may be called THE INDIAN COPYRIGHT ACT, 1914.

(2) It extends to the whole of British India including British Baluchistan, the District of Angul and the Sonthal Parganas.

Definitions.

2. In this Act, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,—

(1) “the Copyright Act” means the Act of Parliament entitled the Copyright Act, 1911; and

(2) words and expressions defined in the Copyright Act have the same meanings as in that Act.

CHAPTER II.

CONSTRUCTION AND MODIFICATION OF THE COPYRIGHT ACT.

3. In the application to British India of the Copyright Act (a copy of which Act, except such of the provisions thereof as are expressly restricted to the United Kingdom, is set out in the First Schedule), the following modifications shall be made, namely:—

(1) the powers of the Board of Trade under section 3 shall, in the case of works first published in British India, be exercised by the Governor-General in Council;

(2) the powers of the Board of Trade under section 19 shall, as regards records, perforated rolls and other contrivances, the original plate of which was

SEC. 1.—Distinction between ‘copyright’ and ‘patent’, 1938 A.L.J. 390. In a case relating to infringement of copyright, it is not only proper but essential that the case should be tried with the help of experts who might be appointed commissioners to investigate and report similarities. (Ibid.) The compiler of a work in which absolute originality is by the very nature of the work excluded is entitled, without exposing himself to a charge of piracy, to make use of preceding works upon the subject, where he bestows such mental labour upon what he has taken, and subjects it to such revision and correction as to produce an original result. But no one is entitled to convey the same information, merely with some additions. (Ibid.)

ASSIGNMENT OF COPYRIGHT—DIRECT WORDS NOT USED—EVIDENCE OF PARTIES—IF A GUIDE. Where direct words are not used to convey a right and the matter is one of inference by implication from the phrases used, then the evidence of the parties, if they are not interested one way or the other in the matter, is the surest of all guides as to the meaning of the phrases used. A.I.R. 1939 Lah. 433.

ASSIGNMENT—FUTURE WORK.—There cannot possibly be a transfer of copyright or assignment of copyright in a non-existing work. Where there is no proof that the work was substantially completed at the time when document transferring copyright was drawn up and on the face of it the document refers to a future work copyright cannot be transferred by it. 41 P.L.R. 879=

INFRINGEMENT—BURDEN OF PROOF.—In an action for infringement of a copyright, it is not for the defendant to prove that there has been no infringement. It is for the plaintiff, on whom the onus lies, to prove that in fact there has been an infringement. I.L.R. (1939) Bom. 295=41 Bom.L.R. 530=A.I.R. 1939 Bom. 347. Author agreeing to grant to publishers sole and exclusive licence to print, publish and sell his work—Agreement is merely a publishing arrangement and does not amount to an assignment of copyright. See I.L.R. (1938) Lah. 84=40 P.L.R. 622=A.I.R. 1938 Lah. 173. Where a person produces and publishes a picture of an idol with several variations and points of difference and embellishments which are the result of his own imagination, he acquires a copyright in the reproduction, as it is an original work containing skill and artistic merit. If another person brings out a picture of the same idol with the same variations and points of difference and embellishments, he infringes the copyright of the former in the picture. The test and the best way of detecting the piracy in an alleged infringing work is to make a careful examination of it to see whether any of the deviations and mistakes which artistic licence permits in the original have been reproduced in the alleged infringing copy. 46 Bom.L.R. 679.

made in British India, be exercised by the Central Government; and the confirmation of Parliament shall not be necessary to the exercise of any of these powers;

(3) the references in section 19, sub-section (4) and in section 24, sub-section (1), to arbitration shall be read as references to arbitration in accordance with the law for the time being in force in that part of British India in which the dispute occurs;

(4) as regards works the authors whereof were at the time of the making of the works resident in British India, and as regards works first published in British India, the reference in section 22 to the Patents and Designs Act, 1907, shall be construed as a reference to the Indian Patents and Designs Act, 1911, and the reference in the said section to section 86 of the Patents and Designs Act, 1907, shall be construed as a reference to section 77 of the Indian Patents and Designs Act, 1911;

(5) as regards works first published in British India, the reference in section 24, sub-section (1), proviso (a), to the London Gazette and two London newspapers shall be construed as a reference to the Gazette of India and two newspapers published in British India; and the reference in proviso (b) of the same sub-section of the same section to the 26th day of July, 1910, shall, as regards works the authors whereof were at the time of making of the works resident in British India, and as regards works first published in British India, be construed as a reference to the 30th day of October, 1912.

4. (1) In the case of works first published in British India, copyright shall be subject to this limitation that the sole right to produce, reproduce, perform or publish a translation of the work shall subsist only for a period of ten years from the date of the first publication of the work:

Modification of copyright as regards translation of works first published in British India.

Provided that if within the said period the author, or any person to whom he has granted permission so to do, publishes a translation of any such work in any language, copyright in such work as regards the sole right to produce, reproduce, perform or publish a translation in that language shall not be subject to the limitation prescribed in this sub-section.

(2) For the purposes of sub-section (1) the expression "author" includes the legal representative of a deceased author.

5. In the application of the Copyright Act to musical works the authors whereof were at the time of the making of the works resident in British India, or to musical works first published in British India, the term "musical work" shall, save as otherwise expressly provided by the Copyright Act, mean "any combination of melody and harmony, or either of them, which has been reduced to writing."

Musical works made by resident of, or first published in British India.

6. (1) Copies made out of British India of any work in which copyright subsists, which if made in British India would infringe copyright, and as to which the owner of the copyright gives notice in writing by himself or his agent to the Chief Customs officer, as defined in the Sea Customs Act, 1878, that he is desirous that such copies should not be imported into British India, shall not be so imported, and shall, subject to the provisions of this section, be deemed to be prohibited imports within the meaning of section 18 of the Sea Customs Act, 1878.

Importation of copies.

SEC. 5.—There cannot be an infringement of performing right in a musical composition (assuming it to exist) unless there has been a public performance of the musical composition by the defendant. A musical composition is performed by audible reproduction, by the voice or by musical instruments or by mechanical methods of reproduction. Where not a word of a song is repeated in any form in a talkie film except that the title of the song is thrown on the film at the outset this does not constitute infringement of performing right in musical composition. 187 I.C. 449=21 P.L.T. 355 =A.I.R. 1940 P.C. 55 (P.C.).

(2) Before detaining any such copies, or taking any further proceedings with a view to the confiscation thereof, such Chief Customs officer, or any other officer appointed by ¹[the Chief Customs authority] in this behalf, may require the regulations under this section, whether as to information, security, conditions or other matters, to be complied with, and may satisfy himself, in accordance with these regulations, that the copies are such as are prohibited by this section to be imported.

(3) The Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette make regulations, either general or special, respecting the detention and confiscation of copies the importation of which is prohibited by this section, and the conditions, if any, to be fulfilled before such detention and confiscation; and may, by such regulations, determine the information, notices and security to be given, and the evidence requisite for any of the purposes of this section, and the mode of verification of such evidence.

(4) Such regulations may apply to copies of all works the importation of copies of which is prohibited by this section, or different regulations may be made respecting different classes of such works.

(5) The regulations may provide for the informant reimbursing the ²[Central Government] all expenses and damages incurred in respect of any detention made on his information, and of any proceedings consequent on such detention, and may provide that notices given under the Copyright Act to the Commissioners of Customs and Excise of the United Kingdom, and communicated by that authority to any authority in British India, shall be deemed to have been given by the owner to the said Chief Customs officer.

(6) This section shall have effect as the necessary modification of section 14 of the Copyright Act.

SEC. 7.—The mere failure of an author to make the payment prescribed by sec. 5 of Act XX of 1847 does not deprive him of his copyright in his book. On the other hand, the proviso to sec. 14 of the Act definitely states the contrary. It is only the right to sue under that Act that is prohibited if the registration fee has not been paid. 53 M.L.J. 529=105 I.C. 669=1927 M. 981. The procedure about payment of fees prescribed by Act XX of 1847 has no place in the present Act III of 1914, and therefore a complaint under sec. 7 of the new Act cannot be thrown out on the ground of non-payment of fees. (Ibid.) An acquittal will be set aside in revision in a case where the Court below has proceeded on a wrong view of the law, and where the matter is of great importance to the complainant in his position as author of a book, which, if the acquittal stands, will be pirated by the accused who will secure for himself the gains that ought legitimately to go to the complainant. (Ibid.) Under the old Act "copyright" did not include the exclusive right of translation but the author of a book who made a translation of it was entitled to a copyright in it as if it were an original work. 13 A.L.J. 636=16 Cr.L.J. 656=30 I.C. 480; offence when complete. 28 P.R. 1916 (Cr.). On this section, see also 51 M. 180.

COLOURABLE IMITATION—QUESTION OF FACT.

—The question whether there has been an infringement of copyright depends on whether a colourable imitation has been made. Whether a work is a colourable imitation of another is a question of fact. Similarity is a great point to be considered but mere similarity is not enough. A conglomeration of similarities which cannot be mere coincidence is evidence of infringement. 126 I.C. 197=51 C.L.J. 243=34 C.W.N. 540. But see also 142 I.C. 815=1933 P.C. 26=64 M.L.J. 193 (P.C.). Infringement of copyright of pictures—Offending pictures must be copies of substantial portion of copyright pictures. 112 I.C. 784=30 Cr.L.J. 16=33 C.W.N. 172. As to infringement of right in a musical composition, see 52 L.W. 10=1940 P.C. 55 (P.C.). In a criminal proceeding started for infringement of copyright of books the order was "summon the accused under sec. 7, Act III of 1914." From the order it did not appear under which clause of sec. 7 the accused was being summoned nor was it clear from the order sheet that the accused knew under what clause of sec. 7 he was going to be tried. Held, that the accused had not had a fair trial. 152 I.C. 248=1934 P. 522.

(a) makes for sale or hire any infringing copy of a work in which copyright subsists; or

(b) sells or lets for hire, or by way of trade exposes or offers for sale or hire, any infringing copy of any such work; or

(c) distributes infringing copies of any such work, either for the purposes of trade or to such an extent as to affect prejudicially the owner of the copyright; or

(d) by way of trade exhibits in public any infringing copy of any such work; or

(e) imports for sale or hire into British India any infringing copy of any such work;

he shall be punishable with fine which may extend to twenty rupees for every copy dealt with in contravention of this section, but not exceeding five hundred rupees in respect of the same transaction.

8. If any person knowingly makes, or has in his possession, any plate for the purpose of making infringing copies of any work in which copyright subsists, or knowingly and for his private profit causes any such work to be performed in public without the consent of the owner of the copyright, he shall be punishable with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees.

9. If any person, after having been previously convicted of an offence punishable under section 7 or section 8, is subsequently convicted of an offence punishable under either of these sections, he shall be punishable with simple imprisonment which may extend to one month, or with fine which may extend to one thousand rupees, or with both.

10. (1) The Court before which any offence under this Chapter is tried may, whether the alleged offender is convicted or not, order that all copies of the work or all plates in the possession of the alleged offender, which appear to it to be infringing copies, or plates for the purpose of making infringing copies, be destroyed or delivered up to the owner of the copyright, or otherwise dealt with as the Court may think fit.

(2) Any person affected by an order under sub-section (1) may, within thirty days of the date of such order, appeal to the Court to which appeals from the Court making the order ordinarily lie; and such appellate Court may direct that execution of the order be stayed pending consideration of the appeal.

11. No Court inferior to that of a Presidency Magistrate or a Magistrate of the first class shall try any offence against this Act.

12. The provisions of this Chapter shall not apply to any case to which section 9 of the Copyright Act, regarding the restrictions on remedies in the case of a work of architecture applies.

An Act to amend and consolidate the law relating to copyright.

Be it enacted by the King's Most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:—

clearly restricts jurisdiction to hear a suit or proceeding relating to copyright to the High Court and the District Courts. A.I.R.

PART I.
IMPERIAL COPYRIGHT.
Rights.

1. (1) Subject to the provisions of this Act, copyright shall subsist throughout the parts of His Majesty's dominions to which this Act extends for the term hereinafter mentioned in every original literary, dramatic, musical and artistic work, if—

SECS. 1 AND 2, GEO. V., c. 46—LAW BEFORE—EXTENT OF COPYRIGHT.—Even under the Copyright Act, XX of 1847, copyright is infringed not merely by printing and publication but also by performance of the works. 38 C.W.N. 611=1934 C. 671. The Imperial Copyright Act of 1911 is applicable to India under the Indian Copyright Act except in so far as it has been modified by the latter Act. The sole right to offer for sale the copyright in certain dramas belongs to the owner of the copyright and hence an advertisement by another claiming that he had the right to sell the same, clearly comes under the definition of the word "Infringement" of "copyright". The language of sec. 2 of the Imperial Copyright Act is wide enough to include not only a sale of the copyright by a person not entitled to sell the same but also an attempted sale, and the owner can in such a case claim a declaration and if necessary an injunction. Wherever the advertisements circulated, there is a cause of action for the plaintiff and jurisdiction for the Courts. 1944 A.L.J. 496.

CONSTRUCTION OF ACT.—All laws which put a restraint upon human activity and enterprise, must be construed in a reasonable and generous spirit. Under the guise of a copyright a plaintiff cannot ask the Court to close all the avenues of research and scholarship and all frontiers of human knowledge. 1934 L. 777.

SEC. 1 (1).—"Original" does not relate to ideas. 46 M.L.J. 637=51 I.A. 109=48 B. 308=28 C.W.N. 613=1938 A.L.J. 390. The laws of copyright do not protect ideas. Its protection falls within the patent laws. While a patentee has the sole right to use his invention within certain limits and if anybody uses the patent, though on independent investigations, there is infringement of the patent. In the case of an infringement of copyright, it must be shown that the defendant has derived his work from the plaintiffs. I.L.R. (1938) All. 370=1938 A.L.J. 390=A.I.R. 1938 All. 266. The compiler of a work in which absolute originality is by the very nature of the work excluded is entitled, without exposing himself to a charge of piracy, to make use of preceding works upon the subject, where he bestows such mental labour upon what he has taken, and subjects it to such revision and correction as to produce an original result. But no one is entitled to convey the same information, merely with some additions. I.L.R. 1938 All. 370=1938 A.L.J. 390=1938 All. 266. Where certain tables (for instances list of dates and abridgement from post office guide) inserted in the plaintiff's diary are original in the sense that the tables were arranged by somebody, and are not to be found elsewhere, copyright may well subsist in them. The collection of such tablets is a compilation which is entitled to copyright. (1943) 1 All. E. R. 322 (C.A.).

ORIGINAL WORKS include photographs taken from paintings, drawings or other photographs, or from engravings from pictures. (1868) L.R. 3 Q.B. 387; 37 L.J.Q.B. 161; (1869) L.R. 4 Q.B. 715; 39 L.J.Q.B. 31. If current traditional poems embodying the main incidents of legend are given a literary form demanding considerable powers of adaptation and polishing, the result is an original literary work within the meaning of sec. 1. 42 C.W.N. 541=1938 Cal. 594. A man who gets another to sing or recite traditional poems for the express purpose of recording the words and then publishes the record, is entitled to a copyright. 178 I.C. 106=42 C.W.N. 541=1938 Cal. 594.

"ARTISTIC WORK".—Means not merely the suggestion of the subject of a painting as executed by another. (1890) 25 Q.B.D. 99; or the employer of a photographer, (1853) 11 Q.B.D. 627; 52 L.J.Q.B. 767; distinguished in (1895) 2 Ch. 531; 65 L.J. Ch. 41. In Kenrick, v. Lawrence, (1890) 25 Q.B.D. 99, cards with a hand holding a pencil in the act of completing a cross in a ballot paper were held unprotected. It would appear that the work must be something—apart from work specifically included in the definitions in sec. 35—that is capable of being printed and published. See (1908) 1 K.B. 821; 77 L.J. K.B. 577; (1921) 1 Ch. 503; 90 L.J. Ch. 318.

ARCHITECT'S COPYRIGHT.—In or about 1912 H & Sons employed the firm S & B as architects in connection with buildings which shortly afterwards were erected on part of the premises of H & Sons. In 1935 H & Sons employed M as their architect in connection with as extension of the original building. The claim in the action was made by the sequels in title of S & B, who alleged that the buildings put up in accordance with M's plans, and the plans themselves, infringed the copyright vested in the plaintiffs both in the artistic design of the buildings for which S & B were responsible and in the relative plans. The main defence was that it was implicit in the transaction between H & Sons and S & B that H & Sons and any architect employed by them should stand authorised to do what in fact had been done.

Held, that (i) no such term can be implied in the original transaction on the facts of this case. (ii) An architectural plan finds its meaning and purpose in the use to which it is put and the copyright vests in the archi-

(a) in the case of a published work, the work was first published within such parts of His Majesty's dominions as aforesaid; and

(b) in the case of an unpublished work, the author was at the date of the making of the work a British subject or resident within such parts of His Majesty's dominions as aforesaid;

but in no other works, except so far as the protection conferred by this Act is extended by Orders in Council thereunder relating to self-governing dominions to which this Act does not extend and to foreign countries.

(2) For the purposes of this Act, "copyright" means the sole right to produce or reproduce the work or any substantial part thereof in any material form whatsoever, to perform, or in the case of a lecture to deliver, the work or any substantial part thereof in public; if the work is unpublished, to publish the work or any substantial part thereof; and shall include the sole right—

(a) to produce, reproduce, perform, or publish any translation of the work;

(b) in the case of a dramatic work, to convert it into a novel or other non-dramatic work;

tection in regard to the building as well as the plans. The builder is only part of the machinery employed in the production of the structure which embodies the design and ideas of the architect. For copyright purposes, the author of the architectural work of art is the author of the plans and not the builder. (iii) 'In'ough the damages are presumably at large to a certain extent, the Court should proceed in fixing the same on the basis of considering what sum might fairly have been charged for a licence to use the copyright for the purpose for which it was used and one is entitled to take into account all the surrounding circumstances in exactly the same way as one is entitled to do in the case of the invasion of a common law right of property. (1941) 3 All. E.R. 144 (Ch. D.).

SEC. 1 (1) (b).—The Act does not define "the date of the making." It is submitted that such date does not mean the completion of the work, but it must be in so advanced a state that some more or less permanent record of it exists. Thus a mere idea or artistic conception cannot claim copyright. See (1887) 19 Q.B.D. 629, 636; 56 L.J. Q.B. 553; and as to proving the commencement of writing a play, see (1893) 2 Q.B. 308.

TITLE OF A WORK.—In general a title is not by itself a proper subject-matter of copyright. As a rule a title does not involve literary composition and is not sufficiently substantial to justify a claim to protection. That statement does not mean that in particular cases a title may not be on so extensive a scale and of so important a character as to be a proper subject of protection against being copied. Where theme of a film is different from that of a song the use for the film of a title of song is too unsubstantial to constitute infringement of literary copyright. 187 I.C. 449=21 P.L.T. 355=52 L.W. 10=A.L.R. 1940 P.C. 55 (P.C.). Musical composition, see 52 L.W. 10=1940 P.C. 55 (P.C.).

sentation of a musical work by means of wireless so that the musical work is heard many miles away from the transmitting studio or place of actual performance, is a performance (public or private) of the work within the meaning of sec. 19 of the Copyright Act. Here it is necessary to remember that the sole right of the owner of the musical work is to perform it in public, and that any one may perform the work in private. The original performance in the studio may be, and generally will be, a performance in private. In such a case the broadcasted performance at the receiving end, if in public and unlicensed, will be an infringement of copyright at that place. If there is merely a broadcast from the studio where the piece is performed in studio, there is obviously no performance in public at all. A broadcast per se is not an acoustic representation of the work. If the broadcast is picked up only by listeners in private it might be difficult to establish that there is a public performance; for each performance would be separate and each would be private. But a broadcast to all and sundry listeners will include hotels and other places of entertainment or refreshment where, if not forbidden, will perform the piece to a number of members of the public, and such a performance will be a public performance within the meaning of the Act by the owners or occupiers of those places; for their actions in connection with the receivers which have been installed there and which they control have caused the public performances to take place. Whether the studio performance is public or private, if the persons who are responsible for that performance are also responsible for the broadcasting of the piece, there is no doubt that they have facilitated the performance of the work in public by any listener who is in a position to use a loud-speaker and thus to perform the piece in public. The question as to the position of the broadcasters in such a case, so far as regards infringement, is answered by the language of sec. 1 (2) of the Act. It is sufficient to show that they have "authori-

(c) in the case of a novel or other non-dramatic work, or of an artistic work, to convert it into a dramatic work, by way of performance in public or otherwise;

(d) in the case of a literary, dramatic, or musical work, to make any record, perforated roll, cinematograph film, or other contrivance by means of which the work may be mechanically performed or delivered;

and to authorise any such acts as aforesaid.

(3) For the purposes of this Act, publication, in relation to any work, means the issue of copies of the work to the public, and does not include the performance in public of a dramatic or musical work, the delivery in public of a lecture, the exhibition in public of an artistic work, or the construction of an architectural work of art, but, for the purposes of this provision, the issue of photographs and engravings of works of sculpture and architectural works of art shall not be deemed to be publication of such works.

2. (1) Copyright in a work shall be deemed to be infringed by any person sed" the performance in public of the works; and this will generally be established by proving that listeners with a licence were entitled to tune in their receivers and thus to perform the musical works in question in public as well as in private. 188 I.C. 237 = A.I.R. 1940 P.C. 111 (P.C.). The principal object of the Copyright Act, 1911 is to safeguard the property of authors or their transferees in their copyright; and if employers of labour were entitled to cause compositions to be performed before their employees merely by buying a piece of music or gramophone record or paying for the ordinary licence for a broadcasting set, an author would very soon have his public seriously diminished and the protection of the Act would be to a great extent illusory. Accordingly the diffusion of music by broadcast and gramophone records with loudspeakers in a factory to the workmen amounts to a performance in public and an infringement of copyright. [(1943) 1 All.E.R. 388, affirmed.] (1943) Ch. 167 = 112 L.J. (Ch.) 148 = (1943) 1 All.E.R. 413 (C.A.).

LECTURE.—A reporter of a speech may have copyright in the report. (1900) A.C. 539; 69 L.J. Ch. 699.

SEC. 1 (2) (a): "REPRODUCE".—These words do not include the representation of a picture by a tableau vivant, formed by grouping in the same way as the figures in the picture living persons dressed in the same way and placed in the same attitudes as the figures in the picture. (1894) 2 Ch. 1; 63 L.J. Ch. 417.

SEC. 1 (2) (c).—A person who employs another to adapt a foreign play is not the "author" of the adaptation. (1856) 25 L.J. C.P. 127.

SEC. 1 (2) (d).—The term "musical work" is not defined in the Act; but see the partially repealed definition in sec. 3 of the (English) Musical Copyright Act, 1906. An arrangement for the pianoforte of the score of an opera by a person other than the composer of the opera is an independent musical composition, of which the person who arranges the score for the pianoforte, and not the composer of the original opera, is the "author or composer." (1867) L.R. 3 Q.B. 223; 37 L.J.Q.B. 84. See also 52 L.W. 10 = A.I.R. 1940 P.C. 55 (P.C.).

"AND TO AUTHORIZE ANY SUCH ACTS AFORESAID."—In the absence of any stipulation to the contrary, the vendor of a copyright may, after the sale of the copyright sell any copies which were printed before such sale. (1869) L.R. 7 Eq. 418. The word "authorise" in sec. 1 (2) of the Act covers anything done with the knowledge and connivance of a person. 1939 Rang.L.R. 121 = A.I.R. 1939 Rang. 266.

SEC. 1 (3): "COPIES".—No definition is given in the Act as to what will constitute a "copy". But see (1905) 1 Ch. 519; 74 L.J. Ch. 304; (1898) 14 T.L.R. 550; 55 Sol. J. 272.

"ISSUE OF COPIES OF THE WORK TO THE PUBLIC".—Under the Copyright Act, 1842, the legislature only contemplated publication within the country. (1868) L.R. 3 H.L. 100; 37 L.J. Ch. 454; but this was altered by the International Copyright Act, 1886, and the Orders in Council thereunder. Even gratuitous circulation would seem to amount to a publication. See (1852) 12 C.B. 177; 2 V. & B. 23.

SEC. 2: COPYRIGHT IN COMPILATION.—Though a book is a compilation from other works and is not original, the fact that its contents have been arranged on a new plan will give the compiler a copyright in the book. 43 A. 412 = 61 I.C. 394 = 19 A.L.J. 180. Where in an action for breach of copyright of a book much stress was laid by the plaintiff upon similarities with regard to the plan of the book, the scheme, upon phrasal identities and certain mistakes. Held, that the evidence was fantastic, and such actual coincidences as do exist were quite explicable; and should be explained that both the authors had to rely upon the accumulation of information which had been made by many authors before them and to which they have had to have recourse in writing their books. 1933 A.L.J. 393 = 1933 P.C. 26 = 64 M.L.J. 193 (P.C.); 39 C.W.N. 945 = 61 C.L.J. 573. ment of an author's copyright is frequently one of great difficulty, and is one which must depend upon the circumstances of each

BOOK PRODUCED BY AUTHOR AFTER FURTHER STUDIES AND RESEARCH.—Every man can take what is useful from the original work, improve, add and give to the public the whole, compromising the original work, with the additions and improvements; and in such a case there is no invasion of any right. But a copy, much less a servile copy of a work cannot be allowed. Where in a case of infringement of copyright, the new book is a work which the author has produced after further studies, and represents the result of ten years of research work, and represents a mature art and a greater wealth of details in depicting the various incidents, and the imagery is of a superior type and there are fresh incidents and details, which are the result of researches made by the author into works which had existed before as well as those which came into existence after the first work had been written and published; the two works are substantially different and there is no infringement of copyright. 1934 L. 777.

LAW REPORTS.—EXTRACTS BY REPORTER.—A plaintiff's copyright is infringed when the defendant reproduced not only the judgments but also part of the plaintiff's reports not forming parts of judgments and facts collected by the plaintiff from the records of cases. The reporter has no copyright in the reports of judgment, but he has protection of the law in selecting and reporting cases which he obtains by expenditure of time, labour and money. 26 I.C. 30=18 C.W.N. 1078.

INJUNCTION.—In a suit for a perpetual injunction against the defendants who, it was alleged, had infringed the plaintiff's copyright by copying a large number of judgments from the plaintiffs' journal "Lahore Law Times" and compiling and publishing a book called "Consolidated Revenue Rulings," it appeared that the allegation referred to the rulings portion only of the "Law Times" and that of past years; secondly, the defendants' publication consisted not merely of Lahore rulings, but those of other places as well; thirdly, the plaintiffs had, by bringing out a similar book at a cheaper price, substantially reduced the chance of a loss to themselves; lastly, the trial Court had, by directing the defendant to keep a separate account of their sales, amply safeguarded their interests. Held, in the circumstances, a temporary injunction was not necessary. 1933 L. 448=34 P.L.R. 249. But see also 1931 L. 624. The power of the Court to grant a temporary injunction is not limited by the absence of any finding on the question of jurisdiction which has been raised in the case. Prima facie until such a question is decided in the negative, a Court has jurisdiction to do all acts and take any action that may be sanctioned by law in connection with the case. 132 I.C. 586=1931 L. 624.

ABBREVIATION—MERELY SELECTING PASSAGES AND KNITTING THEM TOGETHER NO INFRINGEMENT—RAW MATERIAL OR THE ORIGINAL WORKS ARE OPEN FOR CONSULTATION FOR ALL.—USE OF ANOTHER'S LABOUR AND SKILL ONLY IS PROHIBITED.—48 B. 308=51 I.A. 109=1924 P.C. 75=46 M.L.J. 637 (P.C.). On appeal from 23 Bom.L.R. 1299 the word "original" does not mean that the work must be the expression or original or inventive thought. Copyright Acts are not concerned with the origin of ideas, but with the expression of thought; and in the case of "literary work with the expression of thought in print or writing", (Ibid.) The originality which is required relates to the expression, which must be in an original or novel form, but the work must not be copied from another work, that is, it should not originate from another. (Ibid.) See also 1934 All. 922.

EVIDENCE.—In an action for breach of copyright the plaintiff relied upon the intrinsic evidence to be derived from a comparison of the two works; and urged that on comparison between the two works it would be found that there was such an accumulation of similarities, of like omissions, of plan, of phrases, of mistakes, that the inference was irresistible that defendant did in fact have her work before him before he composed his work. Held, that the Board were not prepared to say that in the case of two literary works intrinsic evidence of that kind might not be sufficient to establish a case of copying even if the direct evidence was all the other way and appeared to be evidence that could be accepted; but such evidence must be of the most cogent force before it could be accepted as against the oath of respectable and responsible people whose evidence otherwise would be believed by the Court. 1933 A.L.J. 393=1933 P.C. 26=64 M.L.J. 193 (P.C.). See also 126 I.C. 197=34 C.W.N. 540.

PRESUMPTION—BURDEN OF PROOF.—Where the defendants in an action for damages for infringement of copyright in respect of a work do not put into issue the existence of the copyright in the work, there is an irrebuttable presumption that the alleged work was a work in which copyright existed and that the plaintiff was the owner of the copy-drawings, engravings or photographs (which are not in the nature of architectural drawings or plans) of any architectural work of art;

(iv) The publication in a collection, mainly composed of non-copyright matter, bona fide intended for the use of schools, and so described in the title and in any advertisements issued by the publisher, of short passages from published literary works not themselves published for the use of schools in which copyright subsists: provided that not more than two of such passages from works by the same author are published by the same publisher within five years, and that the source from which such passages are taken is acknowledged;

(v) The publication in a newspaper of a report of a lecture delivered in public, unless the report is prohibited by conspicuous written or printed notice affixed before and maintained during the lecture at or about the main entrance of the building in which the lecture is given, and, except whilst the building is being used for public worship, in a position near the lecturer; but nothing in this paragraph shall affect the provisions in paragraph (i) as to newspaper summaries;

(vi) The reading or recitation in public by one person of any reasonable extract from any published work.

(2) Copyright in a work shall also be deemed to be infringed by any person who—

(a) sells or lets for hire, or by way of trade exposes or offers for sale or hire; or

(b) distributes either for the purposes of trade or to such an extent as to affect prejudicially the owner of the copyright; or

(c) by way of trade exhibits in public; or

(d) imports for sale or hire into any part of His Majesty's dominions to which this Act extends, any work which to his knowledge infringes copyright or would infringe copyright if it had been made within the part of His Majesty's dominions in or into which the sale or hiring, exposure, offering for sale or hire, distribution, exhibition, or importation took place.

right. In this class of cases, the Court should be reluctant to sit as experts and to decide the question of infringement of copyright without the aid of expert evidence. The proper course, in such cases, is to get the opinion of experts who might be appointed Commissioners to investigate and report on the matters in issue. The opinion and findings of experts are not conclusive on the Court, but may be reviewed on exceptions. 39 C.L.J. 134=81 I.C. 754=1924 C. 595. The defence of having had no reasonable ground for suspecting that the performances of a musical piece would be infringement of copyright should be proved by the defendants affirmatively. 1930 A.C. 377=124 I.C. 894=1930 P.C. 314 (P.C.). Where a person complaining of infringement of his copyright produces the book and the certificate of registration of the copyright, the burden of proving that the portion of the book which had been copied by the accused was also contained in a previous book published by the accused's father and that the complainant had, therefore, no subsisting copyright at the time of the infringement, is on the defence. 131 I.C. 865=1931 A.L.J. 304=1931 A. 353.

SEC. 2 (1) PROVISIO: CONSTRUCTION.—The proviso does not say that not more than two passages from each work of the same author are published, but says "not more than two passages from work by the same author". Obviously, the proviso is not intended to protect a man who brings out an unauthorized edition of a poet's poems by taking out two poems out of each of many works published by him separately. Quære.—Whether when a number of poems are brought out in one volume the whole volume is to be considered a literary work of the author or whether each separate poem in that volume is to be considered as separate literary work. 55 All. 564=1933 A.L.J. 791=1933 All. 474.

COPYRIGHT—ASSIGNMENT—WHAT AMOUNTS TO—SALE OF FIRST EDITION OF CERTAIN NUMBER OF COPIES, EFFECT OF.—A sale of a first edition of 1,100 copies of a certain book, to be published in a particular form, amounts to an assignment of an interest in the copyright until the last copy is sold. Until then the purchaser has the right exclusively to the copyright, at any rate as far as the right to publish the book in any form is concerned. It is not merely a sale of a right to print and sell 1,100 copies in the particular form. 62 Cal. 57=39 C.W.N. 224.

(3) Copyright in a work shall also be deemed to be infringed by any person who for his private profit permits a theatre or other place of entertainment to be used for the performance in public of the work without the consent of the owner of the copyright, unless he was not aware, and had no reasonable ground for suspecting, that the performance would be an infringement of copyright.

3. The term for which copyright shall subsist shall, except as otherwise expressly provided by this Act, be the life of the author and a period of fifty years after his death:

Term of copyright. Provided that at any time after the expiration of twenty-five years, or in the case of a work in which copyright subsists at the passing of this Act thirty years, from the death of the author of a published work, copyright in the work shall not be deemed to be infringed by the reproduction of the work for sale if the person reproducing the work proves that he has given the prescribed notice in writing of his intention to reproduce the work and that he has paid in the prescribed manner to, or for the benefit of, the owner of the copyright royalties in respect of all copies of the work sold by him calculated at the rate of ten per cent. on the price at which he publishes the work; and, for the purposes of this proviso, the Board of Trade may make regulations prescribing the mode in which notices are to be given, and the particulars to be given in such notices, and the mode, time, and frequency of the payment of royalties, including (if they think fit) regulations requiring payment in advance or otherwise securing the payment of royalties.

4. If, at any time after the death of the author of a literary, dramatic, or musical work which has been published or performed in public, a complaint is made to the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council that the owner of the copyright in the work has refused to republish or to allow the republication of the work or has refused to allow the performance in public of the work, and that by reason of such refusal the work is withheld from the public, the owner of the copyright may be ordered to grant a licence to reproduce the work or perform the work in public, as the case may be, on such terms and subject to such conditions as the Judicial Committee may think fit.

5. (1) Subject to the provisions of this Act, the author of a work shall be the first owner of the copyright therein:

Ownership of copyright, etc.

Provided that—

SEC. 3.—If a copyright is shown to have subsisted when Act III of 1914 came into force, the period of copyright substituted by that Act would be 50 years from the death of the author. (2) The owner of the copyright in any work may assign the right, either wholly or partially, and either generally or subject to limitations, to the United Kingdom or any self-governing dominion or other part of His Majesty's dominions to which this Act extends, and either for the whole term of the copyright or for any part thereof, and may grant any interest in the right by licence, but no such assignment or grant shall be valid unless it is in writing signed by the owner of the right in respect of which the assignment or grant is made, or by his duly authorized agent:

SEC. 5 (1) (b).—In order to give the proprietor of a periodical a copyright in articles composed for him by others, it is not necessary that there should be an express contract that he should have the property in the copyright. of his estate, and any agreement entered into by him as to the disposition of such reversionary interest shall be null and void, but nothing in this proviso shall be construed as applying to the assignment of the copyright in a collective work or a licence to publish a work or part of a work as part of a collective work.

(3) Where, under any partial assignment of copyright, the assignee becomes entitled to any right, comprised in copyright, the assignee, as respects the rights so assigned, and the assignor as respects the rights not assigned, shall be treated for the purposes of this Act as the owner of the copyright, and the provisions of this Act shall have effect accordingly.

Civil Remedies.

6. (1) Where copyright in any work has been infringed, the owner of the copyright shall, except as otherwise provided by this Act, be entitled to all such remedies by way of injunction or interdict, damages, accounts, and otherwise, as are or may be conferred by law for the infringement of a right.

(2) The costs of all parties in any proceedings in respect of the infringement of copyright shall be in the absolute discretion of the Court.

(3) In any action for infringement of copyright in any work, the work shall be presumed to be a work in which copyright subsists and the plaintiff shall be presumed to be the owner of the copyright, unless the defendant puts in issue the existence of the copyright, or, as the case may be, the title of the plaintiff, and where any such question is in issue, then—

(a) if a name purporting to be that of the author of the work is printed or otherwise indicated thereon in the usual manner, the person whose name is so printed or indicated shall, unless the contrary is proved, be presumed to be the author of the work;

(b) if no name is so printed or indicated, or if the name so printed or

SEC. 6.—A book containing selections from the works of different authors can be the subject-matter of copyright. The principle applicable to such cases is that one person is not at liberty to use or avail himself of the labour which another has been at for the purpose of producing his work, and so take away the result of that other's labour, i.e., his property. 156 I.C. 841=A.I.R. 1935 Lah. 282. Where the legal right of the plaintiff, namely, his copyright in a particular book, was admitted and only its violation by the threatened publication of an alleged similar book was not denied and it further appeared that if the injunction was not issued irreparable injury or inconvenience might result to the plaintiff. Held, that it was a proper case in which a temporary injunction should be issued. Principles applicable to grant of interlocutory injunctions considered. 132 I.C. 586=1931 L. 624. See also 34 P.L.R. 249. In a case of infringement of copyright the application for temporary injunction is governed by sec. 6 of the Copyright Act and not by sec. 56 (f) of the Specific Relief Act. 132 I.C. 586=1931 Lah. 624. As to measure of damages, see (1898) 1 Ch. 58; 67 L.J. Ch. 6; and as to when damages are recoverable, see (1899) 1 Ir. R. 386. The owner of a copyright in any book has no right in a Court of equity to more than the usual account of the net profits of all copies of the book. He has no right to an account of the gross proceeds. (1857) 3 K. & J. 581.

SECS. 6 AND 7.—Where in a case of infringement of copyright the plaintiff asked for damages under sec. 6 on the footing of the loss sustained and in the alternative under sec. 7 for the delivery of the unsold infringing copies and damages on the footing of conversion in respect of the infringing copies sold, and the Court awarded damages under sec. 6 and also decreed delivery of the unsold copies, held, that the plaintiff could not claim damages under sec. 7 also. Quære, whether the Court was justified in awarding damages under sec. 6 and also ordering delivery of the unsold copies when the prayers had been cast in the alternative. 126 I.C. 197=51 C.L.J. 243=34 C.W.N. 540. Though the remedies given by sec. 6, are not alternative to those given by sec. 7, yet when an owner of a copyright obtains damages under sec. 6, it often happens that he can recover nothing further in respect of damages under sec. 7. Where the amount of damages awarded under sec. 6 covers the price for permission to publish the work in question, the author is not entitled to damages also under sec. 7. A.I.R. 1938 Lah. 173=40 P.L.R. 622.

indicated is not the author's true name or the name by which he is commonly known, and a name purporting to be that of the publisher or proprietor of the work is printed or otherwise indicated thereon in the usual manner, the person whose name is so printed or indicated shall, unless the contrary is proved, be presumed to be the owner of the copyright in the work for the purposes of proceedings in respect of the infringement of copyright therein.

7. All infringing copies of any work in which copyright subsists, or of any substantial part thereof, and all plates used or intended to be used for the production of such infringing copies shall be deemed to be the property of the owner of the copyright, who accordingly may take proceedings for the recovery of the possession thereof or in respect of the conversion thereof.

8. Where proceedings are taken in respect of the infringement of the copyright in any work and the defendant in his defence alleges that he was not aware of the existence of the copyright in the work, the plaintiff shall not be entitled to any remedy other than an injunction or interdict in respect of the infringement if the defendant proves that at the date of the infringement he was not aware, and had not reasonable ground for suspecting, that copyright subsisted in the work.

9. (1) Where the construction of a building or other structure which infringes or which, if completed, would infringe the copyright in some other work has been commenced, the owner of the copyright shall not be entitled to obtain an injunction or interdict to restrain the construction of such building or structure or to order its demolition.

(2) Such of the other provisions of this Act as provide that an infringing copy of a work shall be deemed to be the property of the owner of the copyright, or as impose summary penalties, shall not apply in any case to which this section applies.

10. An action in respect of infringement of copyright shall not be commenced after the expiration of three years next after the infringement.

Importation of Copies.

14. (1) Copies made out of the United Kingdom of any work in which copyright subsists which if made in the United Kingdom would infringe copyright, and as to which the owner of the copyright gives notice in writing by himself or his agent to the Commissioners of Customs and Excise, that he is desirous that such copies should not be imported into the United Kingdom, shall not be so imported, and shall subject to the provisions of this section, be deemed to be included in the

SEC. 8.—Where in an action for infringement of a copyright, the defendant alleges that he was not aware of the existence of the alleged copyright, in order to come within the provisions of sec. 8 of the English Copyright Act which has been incorporated in the Indian Act (III of 1914), it is for the defendant to allege and prove that the infringement was innocent. table of prohibitions and restrictions contained in section forty-two of the Customs Consolidation Act, 1876, and that section shall apply accordingly.

(2) Before detaining any such copies or taking any further proceedings with a view to the forfeiture thereof under the law relating to the Customs, the Commissioners of Customs and Excise may require the regulations under this section, whether as to information, conditions, or other matters, to be complied with, and may satisfy themselves in accordance with those regulations that the copies are such as are prohibited by this section to be imported.

(3) The Commissioners of Customs and Excise may make regulations, either general or special, respecting the detention and forfeiture of copies, the importation of which is prohibited by this section, and the conditions, if any, to be fulfilled before such detention and forfeiture, and may, by such regulations, determine the information, notices, and security to be given, and the evidence requisite for any of the purposes of this section, and the mode of verification of such evidence.

(4) The regulations may apply to copies of all works, the importation of copies of which is prohibited by this section, or different regulations may be made respecting different classes of such works.

(5) The regulations may provide for the informant reimbursing the Commissioners of Customs and Excise all expenses and damages incurred in respect of any detention made on his information, and of any proceedings consequent on such detention; and may provide for notices under any enactment repealed by this Act being treated as notices given under this section.

(6) The foregoing provisions of this section shall have effect as if they were part of the Customs Consolidation Act, 1876: Provided that, notwithstanding anything in that Act, the Isle of Man shall not be treated as part of the United Kingdom for the purposes of this section.

(7) The section shall, with the necessary modifications, apply to the importation into a British possession to which this Act extends of copies of works made out of that possession.

Delivery of Books to Libraries.

15. (1) The publisher of every book published in the United Kingdom shall, within one month after the publication, deliver, at his own expense, a copy of the book to the trustees of the British Museum, who shall give a written receipt for it.

(2) He shall also, if written demand is made before the expiration of twelve months after publication, deliver within one month after receipt of that written demand or, if the demand was made before publication, within one month after publication, to some depot in London named in the demand a copy of the book for, or in accordance with the directions of the authority having the control of each of the following libraries, namely, the Bodleian Library, Oxford, the University Library, Cambridge, the Library of the Faculty of Advocates at Edinburgh and the Library of Trinity College, Dublin; and, subject to the provisions of this section, the National Library of Wales. In the case of an encyclopædia, newspaper, review, magazine, or work published in a series of numbers or parts, the written demand may include all numbers or parts of the work which may be subsequently published.

(3) The copy delivered to the trustees of the British Museum shall be a copy of the whole book with all maps and illustrations belonging thereto, finished and coloured in the same manner as the best copies of the book are published, and shall be bound, sewed, or stitched together, and on the best paper on which the book is printed.

(4) The copy delivered for the other authorities mentioned in this section shall be on the paper on which the largest number of copies of the book is printed for sale, and shall be in the like condition as the books prepared for sale.

(5) The books of which copies are to be delivered to the National Library of Wales shall not include books of such classes as may be specified in regulations to be made by the Board of Trade.

(6) If a publisher fails to comply with this section, he shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding five pounds and the value of the book, and the fine shall be paid to the trustees or authority to whom the book ought to have been delivered.

(7) For the purposes of this section, the expression "book" includes every part or division of book, pamphlet, sheet of letter-press, sheet of music, map, plan, chart or table separately published, but shall not include any second or subsequent edition of a book unless such edition contains additions or alterations either in the letter-press or in the maps, prints, or other engravings belonging thereto.

Special Provisions as to certain Works.

16. (1) In the case of a work of joint authorship, copyright shall subsist during the life of the author who first dies and for a term of fifty years after his death, or during the life of the author who dies last, whichever period is the longer, and references in this Act to the period after the expiration of any specified number of years from the death of the author shall be construed as references to the period after the expiration of the like number of years from the death of the author who dies first or after the death of the author who dies last, whichever period may be the shorter, and in the provisions of this Act with respect to the grant of compulsory licences a reference to the date of the death of the author who dies last shall be substituted for the reference to the date of the death of the author.

(2) Where, in the case of a work of joint authorship, some one or more of the joint authors do not satisfy the conditions conferring copyright laid down by this Act, the work shall be treated for the purposes of this Act as if the other author or authors had been the sole author or authors thereof:

Provided that the term of the copyright shall be the same as it would have been if all the authors had satisfied such conditions as aforesaid.

(3) For the purposes of this Act, "a work of joint authorship" means a work produced by the collaboration of two or more authors in which the contribution of one author is not distinct from the contribution of the other author or authors.

(4) Where a married woman and her husband are joint authors of a work the interest of such married woman therein shall be her separate property.

17. (1) In the case of a literary, dramatic or musical work, or an engraving, in which copyright subsists at the date of the death of the author or, in the case of a work of joint authorship at or immediately before the date of the death of the author who dies last, but which has not been published, nor, in the case of a dramatic or musical work, been performed in public nor, in the case of a lecture, been delivered in public, before that date, copyright shall subsist till publication, or performance or delivery in public, whichever may first happen, and for a term of fifty years thereafter and the proviso to section 3 of this Act, shall, in the case of such a work, apply as if the author had died at the date of such publication or performance or delivery in public as aforesaid.

(2) The ownership of an author's manuscript after his death, where such ownership has been acquired under a testamentary disposition made by the author and the manuscript is of a work which has not been published nor performed in public nor delivered in public, shall be prima facie proof of the copyright being with the owner of the manuscript.

18. Without prejudice to any rights or privileges of the Crown, where any work has, whether before or after the commencement of this Act, been prepared or published by or under the direction or control of His Majesty or any Government department, the copyright in the work shall, subject to any agreement with the author, belong to His Majesty, and in such case shall continue for a period of fifty years from the date of the first publication of the work.

19. (1) Copyright shall subsist in regards perforated rolls, and other contrivances by means of which sounds may be mechanically reproduced, in like manner as if such contrivances were musical works, but the term of copyright shall be fifty years from the making of the original plate from which the contrivance was directly or indirectly derived, and the person who was the owner of such original plate at the time when such plate was made shall be deemed to be the author of the work, and, where such owner is a body corporate, the body corporate shall be deemed for the purposes of this Act to reside within the parts of His Majesty's dominions to which this Act extends if it has established a place of business within such parts.

Provisions as to mechanical instruments.

(2) It shall not be deemed to be an infringement of copyright in any musical work for any person to make, within the parts of His Majesty's dominions to which this Act extends, records, perforated rolls or other contrivances by means of which the work may be mechanically performed, if such person proves—

(a) that such contrivances have previously been made by, or with the consent or acquiescence of, the owner of the copyright in the work; and

(b) that he has given the prescribed notice of his intention to make the contrivances, and has paid in the prescribed manner to or for the benefit of, the owner of the copyright in the work royalties in respect of all such contrivances sold by him, calculated at the rate hereinafter mentioned:

Provided that

(i) nothing in this provision shall authorise any alterations in, or omissions from, the work reproduced, unless contrivances reproducing the work subject to similar alterations and omissions have been previously made by, or with the consent or acquiescence of, the owner of the copyright, or unless such alterations or omissions are reasonably necessary for the adaptation of the work to the contrivances in question; and

(ii) for the purposes of this provision, a musical work shall be deemed to include any words so closely associated therewith as to form part of the same work, but shall not be deemed to include a contrivance by means of which sounds may be mechanically reproduced.

(3) The rate at which such royalties as aforesaid are to be calculated shall—

(a) in the case of contrivances sold within two years after the commencement of this Act by the person making the same, be two and one-half per cent.; and on the ordinary retail selling price of the contrivance calculated in the prescribed manner, so however that the royalty payable in respect of a contrivance

(b) in the case of contrivances sold as aforesaid after the expiration of that period, be five per cent.

SEC. 19 does not in terms provide that the making of the record must be a lawful act or with the consent of the owner of the copyright in the original work, if such a person exists. But the section must be limited to a lawful making of the record. The copyright conferred by the section on the owner of the plate from which the record is made presupposes, therefore, that that plate came into existence lawfully. I.L.R. (1937) Bom. 724=39 Bom.L.R. 654=A.I.R. 1937 Bom. 472. Where the original work is the subject-matter of the copyright, it necessarily follows that the consent of the owner of that copyright must be obtained to the making of the plate. Obviously it would be lawful for the owner to refuse his consent. It would also be legitimate for him to give his consent subject to certain conditions and those conditions may involve restricting the copyright which the owner of the plate would otherwise acquire under sec. 19. Such copyright might be restricted in various ways, amongst others, by restricting the public performance of records made from the plate. (Ibid.) Quære.—Whether the rights which accrue to the maker of a record or plate under sec. 19, are subject or subsidiary to the rights of the owner of copyright in the original work? (Ibid.) shall, in no case, be less than a half-penny for each separate musical work in which copyright subsists reproduced thereon, and, where the royalty calculated as aforesaid includes a fraction of a farthing, such fraction shall be reckoned as a farthing:

Provided that, if, at any time after the expiration of seven years from the commencement of this Act, it appears to the Board of Trade that such rate as aforesaid is no longer equitable, the Board of Trade may, after holding a public inquiry, make an order either decreasing or increasing that rate to such extent as under the circumstances may seem just, but any order so made shall be provisional only and shall not have any effect unless and until confirmed by parliament; but, where an order revising the rate has been so made and confirmed, no further revision shall be made before the expiration of fourteen years from the date of the last revision.

(4) If any such contrivance is made reproducing two or more different works in which copyright subsists and the owners of the copyright therein are different persons, the sums payable by way of royalties under this section shall be apportioned amongst the several owners of the copyright in such proportions as, failing agreement, may be determined by arbitration.

(5) When any such contrivances by means of which a musical work may be mechanically performed have been made, then, for the purposes of this section, the owner of the copyright in the work shall, in relation to any person who makes the prescribed inquiries, be deemed to have given his consent to the making of such contrivances if he fails to reply to such inquiries within the prescribed time.

(6) For the purposes of this section, the Board of Trade may make regulations prescribing anything which under this section is to be prescribed, and prescribing the mode in which notices are to be given and the particulars to be given in such notices, and the mode, time, and frequency of the payment of royalties, and any such regulations may, if the Board think fit, include regulations requiring payment in advance or otherwise securing the payment of royalties.

(7) In the case of musical works published before the commencement of this Act, the foregoing provisions shall have effect, subject to the following modifications and additions:

(a) The conditions as to the previous making by, or with the consent or acquiescence of, the owner of the copyright in the work, and the restrictions as to alterations in or omissions from the work shall not apply;

(b) The rate of two and one-half per cent. shall be substituted for the rate of five per cent. as the rate at which royalties are to be calculated, but no royalties shall be payable in respect of contrivances sold before the first day of July, nineteen hundred and thirteen, if contrivances reproducing the same work had been lawfully made, or placed on sale, within the parts of His Majesty's dominions to which this Act extends before the first day of July, nineteen hundred and ten;

(c) Notwithstanding any assignment made before the passing of this Act of the copyright in a musical work, any rights conferred by this Act in respect of the making, or authorising the making, of contrivances by means of which the work may be mechanically performed shall belong to the author or his legal personal representatives and not to the assignees, and the royalties aforesaid shall be payable to, and for the benefit of, the author of the work or his legal personal representatives;

(d) The saving contained in this Act of the rights and interests arising from, or in connexion with, action taken before the commencement of this Act shall not be construed as authorising any person who has made contrivances by means of which the work may be mechanically performed to sell any such contrivances, whether made before or after the passing of this Act, except on the terms and subject to the conditions laid down in this section;

(e) Where the work is a work on which copyright is conferred by an Order in Council relating to a foreign country, the copyright so conferred shall not, except to such extent as may be provided by the Order, include any rights with respect to the making of records, perforated rolls, or other contrivances by means of which the work may be mechanically performed.

(8) Notwithstanding anything in this Act where a record, perforated roll, or other contrivance by means of which sounds may be mechanically reproduced has been made before the commencement of this Act, copyright shall, as from the commencement of this Act, subsist therein in like manner and for the like term as if this Act had been in force at the date of the making of the original plate from which the contrivance was directly or indirectly derived:

Provided that—

(i) the person who, at the commencement of this Act, is the owner of such original plate shall be the first owner of such copyright; and

(ii) nothing in this provision shall be construed as conferring copyright in any such contrivance if the making thereof would have infringed copyright in some other such contrivance, if this provision had been in force at the time of the making of the first-mentioned contrivance.

20. Notwithstanding anything in this Act, it shall not be an infringement of copyright in an address of a political nature delivered at a public meeting to publish a report thereof in a newspaper.

Provisions as to political speeches.

21. The term for which copyright shall subsist in photographs shall be fifty years from the making of the original negative from which the photograph was directly or indirectly derived, and the person who was owner of such negative at the time when such negative was made shall be deemed to be the author of the work, and, where such owner is a body corporate, the body corporate shall be deemed for the purposes of this Act to reside within the parts of His Majesty's dominions to which this Act extends if it has established a place of business within such parts.

Provisions as to photographs.

22. (1) This Act shall not apply to designs capable of being registered under the Patents and Designs Act, 1907, except designs which, though capable of being so registered, are not used or intended to be used as models or patterns to be multiplied by any industrial process.

Provisions as to designs registrable under 7 Edw. VII, c. 29.

(2) General rules under section 86 of the Patents and Designs Act, 1907, may be made for determining the conditions under which a design shall be deemed to be used for such purposes as aforesaid.

23. If it appears to His Majesty that a foreign country does not give, or has not undertaken to give, adequate protection to the works of British authors, it shall be lawful for His Majesty by Order in Council to direct that such of the provisions of this Act as confer copyright on works first published within the parts of His Majesty's dominions to which this Act extends, shall not apply to works published after the date specified in the Order, the authors whereof are subjects or citizens of such foreign country, and are not resident in His Majesty's dominions and thereupon those provisions shall not apply to such works.

Works of foreign authors first published in parts of His Majesty's dominions to which Act extends.

Provided that—

(a) if the author of any work in which any such right as is specified in the first column of the First Schedule to this Act subsists at the commencement of this Act has, before that date, assigned the right or granted any interest therein for the whole term of the right, then at the date when, but for the passing of this Act, the right would have expired the substituted right conferred by this section shall, in the absence of express agreement, pass to the author of the work, and any interest therein created before the commencement of this Act and then subsisting shall determine; but the person who immediately before the date at which the right would so have expired was the owner of the right or interest shall be entitled at his option either—

(i) on giving such notice as hereinafter mentioned, to an assignment of the right or the grant of a similar interest therein for the remainder of the term of the right for such consideration as, failing agreement, may be determined by arbitration; or

(ii) without any such assignment or grant, to continue to reproduce or perform the work in like manner as theretofore subject to the payment, if demanded by the author within three years after the date at which the right would have so expired, of such royalties to the author as, failing agreement, may be determined by arbitration, or where the work is incorporated in a collective work and the owner of the right or interest is the proprietor of that collective work, without any such payment;

The notice above referred to must be given not more than one year nor less than six months before the date at which the right would have so expired, and must be sent by registered post to the author, or, if he cannot with reasonable diligence be found advertised in the London Gazette and in two London newspapers;

(b) where any person has, before the twenty-sixth day of July nineteen hundred and ten, taken any action whereby he has incurred any expenditure or liability in connexion with the reproduction or performance of any work in a manner which at the time was lawful, or for the purpose of or with a view to the reproduction or performance of a work at a time when such reproduction or performance would, but for the passing of this Act, have been lawful, nothing in this section shall diminish or produce any rights or interests arising from or in connexion with such action which are subsisting and valuable at the said date unless the person who by virtue of this section becomes entitled to restrain such reproduction or performance agrees to pay such compensation as failing agreement, may be determined by arbitration.

of the person mentioned therein, but the absence of that provision from the new Copyright Act does not make it any the less evidence when the new Act grants to the owners of existing copyrights, rights at least as valuable as the rights given under the repealed Act. Sec. 14 of the Indian Evidence Act can, therefore, be invoked to make such evidence admissible. A High Court can in such cases interfere under sec. 15 of the Charter Act. 30 I.C. 721=16 Cr.L.J. 678. If a copyright is shown to have subsisted when Act III of 1914 came into force the period of copyright substituted by that Act would be 50 years from the death of the author. Where the complaint for infringement is made after the new Act the question to be considered is whether the copyright was subsisting under the new Act and not whether it was subsisting under the old Act XX. 131 I.C. 865=1931 A.L.J. 304=1931 All. 353.

(2) For the purposes of this section, the expression "author" includes the legal personal representatives of a deceased author.

(3) Subject to the provisions of section 19, sub-sections (7) and (8) and of section 33 of this Act, copyright shall not subsist in any work made before the commencement of this Act, otherwise than under, and in accordance with the provisions of this section.

Application to British Possessions.

25. (1) This Act, except such of the provisions thereof as are expressly restricted to the United Kingdom, shall extend throughout His Majesty's dominions: Provided that it shall not extend to a self-governing dominion, unless declared by the Legislature of that dominion to be in force therein either without any modifications or additions, or with such modifications and additions relating exclusively to procedure and remedies, or necessary to adapt this Act to the circumstances of the dominion, as may be enacted by such Legislature.

(2) If the Secretary of State certifies by notice published in the London Gazette that any self-governing dominion has passed legislation under which works, the authors whereof were at the date of the making of the works British subjects resident elsewhere than in the dominion or (not being British subjects) were resident in the parts of His Majesty's dominions to which this Act extends, enjoy within the dominion rights substantially identical with those conferred by this Act, then, whilst such legislation continues in force, the dominion shall, for the purposes of the rights conferred by this Act, be treated as if it were a dominion to which this Act extends; and it shall be lawful for the Secretary of State to give such a certificate as aforesaid, notwithstanding that the remedies for enforcing the rights, or the restrictions on the importation of copies of works, manufactured in a foreign country, under the law of the dominion, differ from those under this Act.

26. (1) The legislature of any self-governing dominion may, at any time, repeal all or any of the enactments relating to copyright passed by Parliament (including this Act) so far as they are operative within that dominion: Provided that no such repeal shall prejudicially effect any legal rights existing at the time of the repeal, and that, on this Act or any part thereof being so repealed by the Legislature of self-governing dominion, that dominion shall cease to be a dominion to which this Act extends.

(2) In any self-governing dominion to which this Act does not extend the enactments repealed by this Act shall, so far as they are operative in that dominion, continue in force, until repealed by the Legislature of that dominion.

(3) Where His Majesty in Council is satisfied that the law of a self-governing dominion to which this Act does not extend provides adequate protection

SEC. 25.—The certificate by the Secretary of State, under sec. 25 (2), (English) Copyright Act, has merely the effect of bringing into operation the provision that the Dominion in respect of which the certificate is issued should, for the purposes of the rights conferred by the (English) Act (but for those purposes only), be treated as if it were a Dominion to which the Act extended. Thus although under sec. 1, (English) Act, an author writing in a Dominion would not, when the (English) Act was passed, have any copyright under the (English) Act, the effect of the certificate would be that such an author would become a person entitled to "the rights conferred" by the (English) Act. Hence the authors in that Dominion will have the same rights under the (English) Act, within the area to which that Act extends as they would have if the Act extended to the Dominion. But the certificate does not and cannot extend the (English) Act to the Dominion, if it is not in force there. 171 L.C. 406=A.I.R. 1937 P.C. 326 (P.C.).

within the dominion for the works (whether published or unpublished) of authors who at the time of the making of the work were British subjects resident elsewhere than in that dominion, His Majesty in Council may, for the purpose of giving reciprocal protection, direct that this Act, except such parts (if any) thereof as may be specified in the Order, and subject to any conditions contained therein shall, within the parts of His Majesty's dominions to which this Act extends, apply to works the authors whereof were, at the time of the making of the work, resident within the first-mentioned dominion, and to works first published in that dominion; but, save as provided by such an Order, works the authors whereof were resident in a dominion to which this Act does not extend shall not, whether they are British subjects or not, be entitled, to any protection under this Act except such protection as is by this Act conferred on works first published within the parts of His Majesty's dominions to which this Act extends:

Provided that no such Order shall confer any rights within a self-governing dominion, but the Governor in Council of any self-governing dominion to which this Act extends, may, by Order, confer within that dominion the like rights as His Majesty in Council is, under the foregoing provisions of this subsection, authorized to confer within other parts of His Majesty's dominions.

For the purposes of this sub-section, the expression "a dominion to which this Act extends" includes a dominion which is for the purposes of this Act to be treated as if it were a dominion to which this Act extends.

27. The Legislature of any British possession to which this Act extends may modify or add to any of the provisions of this Act in its application to the possession, but, except so far as such modifications and additions relate to procedure and remedies, they shall apply only to works the authors whereof were, at the time of the making of the work, resident in the possession, and to works first published in the possession.

28. His Majesty may, by Order in Council, extend this Act to any territories under His protection and to Cyprus, and, on the making of any such Order, this Act shall, subject to the provisions of the Order, have effect as if the territories to which it applies or Cyprus were part of His Majesty's dominions to which this Act extends.

PART II.

INTERNATIONAL COPYRIGHT.

29. (1) His Majesty may, by Order in Council, direct that this Act (except such parts, if any, thereof as may be specified in the Order) shall apply—

(a) to works first published in a foreign country to which the Order relates, in like manner as if they were first published within the parts of His Majesty's dominions to which this Act extends;

(b) to literary, dramatic, musical, and artistic works, or any class thereof, the authors whereof were, at the time of the making of the works, subjects or citizens of a foreign country to which the Order relates, in like manner as if the authors were British subjects;

(c) in respect of residence in a foreign country to which the Order relates, in like manner as if such residence were residence in the parts of His Majesty's dominions to which this Act extends:

and thereupon, subject to the provisions of this Part of this Act and of the Order this Act shall apply accordingly:

Provided that—

(i) before making an Order in Council under this section in respect of any foreign country (other than a country which His Majesty has entered into a convention relating to copyright), His Majesty shall be satisfied that that foreign country has made, or has undertaken to make, such provisions, if any, as it appears to His Majesty expedient to require for the protection of words entitled to copyright under the provisions of Part I of this Act;

(ii) the Order in Council may provide that the term of copyright within such parts of His Majesty's dominions as aforesaid shall not exceed that conferred by the law of the country to which the Order relates;

(iii) the provisions of this Act as to the delivery of copies of books shall not apply to works first published in such country, except so far as is provided by the Order;

(iv) the Order in Council may provide that the enjoyment of the rights conferred by this Act shall be subject to the accomplishment of such conditions and formalities (if any) as may be prescribed by the Order;

(v) in applying the provisions of this Act as to ownership of copyright, the Order in Council may make such modifications as appear necessary having regard to the law of the foreign country;

(vi) in applying the provisions of this Act as to existing works, the Order in Council may make such modifications as appear necessary, and may provide that nothing in those provisions as so applied shall be construed as reviving any right of preventing the production or importation of any translation in any case where the right has ceased by virtue of section five of the International Copyright Act, 1886.

(2) An Order in Council under this section may extend to all the several countries named or described therein.

30. (1) An Order in Council under this Part of this Act shall apply to all His Majesty's dominions to which this Act extends except self-governing dominions and any other possession specified in the Order with respect to which it appears to His Majesty expedient that the Order should not apply.

(2) The Governor in Council of any self-governing dominion to which this Act extends may, as respects that dominion, make the like Orders as under this Part of this Act His Majesty in Council is authorized to make with respect to His Majesty's dominions other than self-governing dominions, and the provisions of this Part of this Act shall, with the necessary modifications, apply accordingly.

(3) Where it appears to His Majesty expedient to except from the provisions of any Order any part of his dominions, not being a self-governing dominion, it shall be lawful for His Majesty by the same or any other Order in Council to declare that such Order and this Part of this Act shall not, and the same shall not, apply to such part, except so far as is necessary for preventing any prejudice to any rights acquired previously to the date of such Order.

PART III.

SUPPLEMENTAL PROVISIONS.

31. No person shall be entitled to copyright or any similar right in any literary, dramatic, musical, or artistic work, whether published or unpublished, otherwise than under and in accordance with the provisions of this Act, or of any other statutory enactment for the time being in force, but nothing in this section shall be construed as abrogating any right or jurisdiction to restrain a breach of trust or confidence.

SEC. 30 (3).—This provision will not re- which under the previously existing law had vived a right of preventing unauthorised expired before the passing of the Act. See translations of a foreign work in England (1892) 3 Ch. 402; 61 L.J. Ch. 580.

32. (1) His Majesty in Council may make orders for altering, revoking or varying any Order in Council made under this Act, or under any enactments repealed by this Act, but any Order made under this section shall not affect prejudicially any rights or interests acquired or accrued at the date when the Order comes into operation, and shall provide for the protection of such rights and interests.

(2) Every Order in Council made under this Act shall be published in the London Gazette and shall be laid before both Houses of Parliament as soon as may be after it is made, and shall have effect as if enacted in this Act.

33. Nothing in this Act shall deprive any of the universities and colleges mentioned in the Copyright Act, 1775, of any copyright they already possess under that Act, but the remedies and penalties for infringement of any such copyright shall be under this Act and not under that Act.

34. There shall continue to be charged on, and paid out of, the Consolidated Fund of the United Kingdom such annual compensation as was immediately before the commencement of this Act payable in pursuance of any Act as compensation to a library for the loss of the right to receive gratuitous copies of books:

Provided that this compensation shall not be paid to a library in any year unless the Treasury are satisfied that the compensation for the previous year has been applied in the purchase of books for the use of and to be preserved in the library.

35. (1) In this Act, unless the context otherwise requires,— “Literary work” includes maps, charts, plans, tables, and compilations;

“Dramatic work” includes any piece for recitation, choreographic work or entertainment in dumb show, the scenic arrangement or acting form of which is fixed in writing or otherwise, and any cinematograph production where the arrangement or acting form or the combination of incidents represented give the work an original character;

“Artistic work” includes works of painting, drawing, sculpture and artistic craftsmanship, and architectural works of art and engravings and photographs;

“Work of sculpture” includes casts and models;

“Architectural work of art” means any building or structure having an artistic character or design, in respect of such character or design, or any model for such building or structure, provided that the protection afforded by this Act shall be confined to the artistic character and design, and shall not extend to processes or methods of construction;

SEC. 35: “LITERARY WORK”.—It is to be noted that this definition as well as ones which follow it do not purport to be exclusive and that the ordinary and popular meaning must be given to the words interpreted as well as making them inclusive of those things specifically mentioned. The word “book” does not appear in this section, but the definition of “book” given in the Copyright Act (1842), 5 & 6 Vic., c. 45, was held to include wood engravings. (1852) 5 De G. & Sm. 267; 21 L.J. Ch. 470; maps, (1871) L.R. 6 Ch. 346; 40 L.J. Ch. 489; and newspapers. (1881) 17 Ch. D. 708; 50 L.J. Ch. 621; (1899) 40 Ch. D. 425; 58 L.J. Ch. 293 (C.A.), overruling (1869) L.R. 9 Eq. 324; 39 L.J. Ch. (52) which have no right to copy from each other, (1892) 3 Ch. 489; 61 L.J.

Ch. 521; but not the title of a book in the ordinary sense, (1881) 18 Ch. D. 76; 50 L.J. Ch. 809.

“ENGRAVINGS”.—Copyright was extended to lithographs by sec. 14 of the International Copyright Act 1852 (15 & 16 Vic., c. 12).

“PHOTOGRAPHY”.—This will include, it is submitted, Copying by a process discovered after the passing of the Act. (1863) 14 C.B. (N.S.) 306; 32 L.J.C.P. 166; (1867) L.R. 2 C.P. 410; 36 L.J.C.P. 139.

"Engravings," include etchings, lithographs, wood-cuts, prints, and other similar works, not being photographs;

"Photograph" includes photo-lithograph and any work produced by any process analogous to photography;

"Cinematograph" includes any work produced by any process analogous to cinematography;

"Collective work" means—

(a) an encyclopædia, dictionary, year book, or similar work;

(b) a newspaper, review, magazine, or similar periodical; and

(c) any work written in distinct parts by different authors, or in which works or parts of works of different authors are incorporated;

"Infringing" when applied to a copy of a work in which copyright subsists means any copy, including any colourable imitation, made, or imported in contravention of the provisions of this Act;

"Performance" means any acoustic representation of a work and any visual representation of any dramatic action in a work, including such a representation made by means of any mechanical instrument;

"Delivery", in relation to a lecture, includes delivery by means of any mechanical instrument;

"Plate" includes any stereotype or other plate, stone, block, mould, matrix, transfer, or negative used or intended to be used for printing or reproducing copies of any work, and any matrix or other appliance by which records, perforated rolls or other contrivances for the acoustic representation of the work are intended to be made;

"Lecture" includes address, speech, and sermon;

"Self-governing dominion" means the dominion of Canada, the Commonwealth of Australia, the dominion of New Zealand, the Union of South Africa, and Newfoundland.

(2) For the purposes of this Act (other than those relating to infringements of copyright), a work shall not be deemed to be published or performed in public, and a lecture shall not be deemed to be delivered in public, if published, performed in public, or delivered in public, without the consent or acquiescence of the author, his executors, administrators or assigns.

(3) For the purposes of this Act, a work shall be deemed to be first published within the parts of His Majesty's dominions to which this Act extends, notwithstanding that it has been published simultaneously in some other place unless the publication in such parts of His Majesty's dominions as aforesaid is colourable only and is not intended to satisfy the reasonable requirements of the public, and a work shall be deemed to be published simultaneously in two places if the time between the publication in one such place and the publication in the other place does not exceed fourteen days, or such longer period as may, for the time being, be fixed by Order in Council.

(4) Where, in the case of an unpublished work, the making of a work has extended over a considerable period, the conditions of this Act conferring copyright shall be deemed to have been complied with, if the author was during any substantial part of that period, a British subject or a resident within the parts of His Majesty's dominions to which this Act extends.

(5) For the purposes of the provisions of this Act as to residence, an author of a work shall be deemed to be a resident in the parts of His Majesty's dominions to which this Act extends if he is domiciled within any such part.

36. Subject to the provisions of this Act, enactments mentioned in the Second Schedule to this Act are hereby repealed to the extent specified in the third column of that schedule:

Repeal.

Provided that this repeal shall not take effect in any part of His Majesty's dominions until this Act comes into operation in that part.

Short title and commencement.

37. (1) This Act may be cited as THE COPYRIGHT ACT, 1911.

(2) This Act shall come into operation—

(a) in the United Kingdom, on the first day of July, nineteen hundred and twelve or such earlier date as may be fixed by Order in Council;

(b) in a self-governing dominion to which this Act extends, at such date as may be fixed by the Legislature of that dominion;

(c) in the Channel Islands, at such date as may be fixed by the States of those islands respectively;

(d) in any other British possession to which this Act extends on the proclamation thereof within the possession by the Governor.

CHAPTER III.

DUTIES AND POWERS OF CORONERS.

8. When a Coroner ⁴[has reason to believe] that the death of any person has been caused by accident, homicide, suicide or suddenly by means unknown, or that any person being a prisoner had died in prison, and that the body is lying within the place for which the Coroner is so appointed, the Coroner shall enquire into the cause of death.

Every such enquiry shall be deemed a judicial proceeding within the meaning of section 193 of the Indian Penal Code.

9. Whenever a prisoner dies in a prison situate within the place for which a Coroner is so appointed, the Superintendent of the prison shall send for the Coroner before the body is ⁵[disposed of]. Any Superintendent failing herein shall, on conviction before a Magistrate, be punished with fine not exceeding five hundred rupees.

Nothing in the former part of this section applies to cases in which the death has been caused by cholera or other epidemic disease.

10. Whenever an inquest ought to be holden on any body lying dead within the local limits of the jurisdiction of any Coroner, he shall hold such inquest, whether or not the cause of death arose within his jurisdiction.

11. A Coroner may order a body to be disinterred within a reasonable time after the death of the deceased person, either for the purpose of taking an original inquisition where none has been taken, or a further inquisition ⁶[where the

There is no analogy between a Coroner's inquest and an inquiry by a Magistrate under Cr. P. Code, sec. 176. 3 C. 742 (752); 3 O.L. R. 59. On this section, see also 31 C. 1; 16 B. 159; 7 C.W.N. 889.

Coroner considers it necessary or desirable in the interests of justice to take a further inquisition].

12. On receiving notice of any death mentioned in section 8, the Coroner shall summon five, seven, nine, eleven, thirteen or fifteen respectable persons to appear before him at a time and place to be specified in the summons, for the purpose of enquiring when, how and by what means the deceased came by his death.

Inquest may be on Sunday. Any inquest under this Act may be held on a Sunday.

13. When the time arrives, the Coroner shall proceed to the place so specified, open the Court by proclamation, and call over the names of the jurors.

14. When a sufficient jury is in attendance, he shall administer an oath to each juror to give a true verdict according to the evidence, and shall then proceed with the jury to view the body.

15. The Coroner and the jury shall view and examine the body at the first sitting of the inquest, and the Coroner shall make such observations to the jury as the appearance of the body requires:

¹[Provided that the Coroner may, with the concurrence of a majority of the jury, dispense with a view of the body, if he is satisfied from medical evidence or medical certificates, that no advantage would result from such viewing.]

16. The Coroner shall then make proclamation for the attendance of witnesses, or, where the enquiry is conducted in secret, shall call in separately such as know anything concerning the death.

17. ²[It shall be the duty of all persons acquainted with the circumstances attending the death to appear before the inquest as witnesses; the Coroner shall enquire of such circumstances and the cause of death; and if before or during the enquiry he is informed that any person, whether within or without the local limits of his jurisdiction, can give evidence or produce any document material thereto, may issue a summons requiring him to attend and give evidence or produce such document on the inquest.

Any person disobeying such summons shall be deemed to have committed an offence under section 174, section 175, or section 176 of the Indian Penal Code, as the case may be.]

For the purpose of causing prisoners to be brought up to give evidence, the Coroner shall be deemed a Criminal Court within the meaning of ³[Part IX of the Prisoners' Act, 1900].

18. The Coroner may direct the performance of a post-mortem examination with or without an analysis of the contents of the stomach or intestines, by any medical witness summoned to attend the inquest; and every medical witness, other than the Chemical Examiner to Government, shall be entitled to such reasonable remuneration as the Coroner thinks fit.

SEC. 24.—An inquisition drawn up by a Coroner, though it may have the effect of valid commitment upon which the High Court, in the exercise of its Original Criminal Jurisdiction, may act, has not that effect, until it has been accepted by the High Court, and the Officers of the Crown have drawn up a charge in accordance with it. Therefore the mere drawing up of an inquisition by the Coroner does not of itself oust the jurisdiction of a Presidency Magistrate to enquire into or try the case of an accused person. Any order of acquittal or discharge made by him will be operative, subject to the discretion of the High Court, when the times comes for it to consider whether it should take action upon the Coroner's inquisition as an effective commitment. If in any case, the accused person objects to the Magistrate proceeding with the case on the ground of his being already committed to the High Court, in the exercise of its Original Criminal Jurisdiction by virtue of the inquisition drawn up by Coroner, an inquisition which has the chance of being accepted as a valid commitment and which if so accepted might subject him to a second trial notwithstanding that the Magistrate might try and acquit him, the difficulty raised would be one that could be solved only by a proper application to the High Court, which having regard to the circumstances of the individual case, will make such order as it thinks fit, as to whether the commitment by the Coroner is to be acted upon or whether it is proper for the Magistrate to proceed with the case. (16 B. 159, Ref.) After a Coroner has drawn up an inquisition and committed a person to jail refusing bail, the only Court which has power to grant bail is the High Court. 31 C. 1=7 C.W.N. 889.

SEC. 25.—A Presidency Magistrate is not ousted of his jurisdiction to hold a preliminary enquiry into a charge of murder, because the Coroner has held an enquiry into the cause of death and has committed the accused to the High Court under Act IV of 1871, sec. 25. 16 B. 159=31 C. 1=7 C.W.N. 889. 28. When the proceedings are closed, or before, if it be necessary to adjourn the inquest, the Coroner shall give his warrant for the disposal of the body on which the inquest has been taken.

Inquisitions not to be quashed for want of form.

29. No inquisition found upon or by any inquest shall be quashed for any technical defect.

Amendment of inquisition.

In any case of technical defect, a Judge of the High Court may, if he thinks fit, order the inquisition to be amended, and the same shall forthwith be amended accordingly.

30. It shall no longer be the duty of the Coroner to enquire whether any person dying by his own act was or was not felo de se, to enquire of treasure trove or wrecks, to seize any fugitive's goods, to execute process, or to exercise as Coroner any jurisdiction not expressly conferred by this Act.

Felo de se.

Deodands.

A felo de se shall not forfeit his goods.

Deodands are hereby abolished.

CHAPTER IV.

CORONERS' JURIES.

31. Whenever any person has been duly summoned to appear as a juror by a Coroner, and fails or neglects to attend at the time and place specified in the summons, the Coroner may cause him to be openly called in his Court three times to appear and serve as a juror; and upon the non-appearance of such person, and proof that such summons has been served upon him, or left at his usual place of abode, may impose such fine upon the defaulter, not exceeding fifty rupees, as to the Coroner seems fit.

32. The Coroner shall make out and sign a certificate, containing the name and surname, the residence and trade or calling of every person so making default, together with the amount of the fine so imposed, and the cause of such fine, and shall send such certificate to one of the Magistrates of the place of which he is the Coroner, and shall cause a copy of such certificate to be served upon the person so fined, by having it left at his usual place of residence, or by sending the same through the Post Office, addressed as aforesaid and registered.

Service of copy of certificate.

Levy of fine.

33. Thereupon such Magistrate shall cause the fine to be levied in the same manner as if it had been imposed by himself.

34. Unless in case of necessity, no person who has appeared, or has been summoned to appear, as a juror on an inquest, and has not made default, shall, within one year after such appearance of summons, be summoned to appear as a juror under this Act.

Jurors not to be twice summoned within the year.

35. When an inquest is held on the body of a prisoner dying within a prison, no officer of the prison and no prisoner confined therein shall be a juror on such inquest.

Jurors on inquest on prisoner.

RIGHTS AND LIABILITIES OF CORONERS.

36. Every Coroner shall be entitled to such salary for the performance of the duty of his office as is prescribed in that behalf by the Provincial Government.

37. All disbursements duly made by a Coroner for fees to medical witness, Disbursements to be re- hire of rooms for the jury and the like, shall be repaid to him by the Provincial Government.

38. Every Coroner may from time to time, with the previous sanction of the Provincial Government, appoint by writing under his hand, a proper person to act for him as his deputy in the holding of inquests. ¹[* * * *]

All inquests taken and other acts done by any such deputy, under or by virtue of any such appointment, shall be deemed to be the acts of the Coroner appointing him:

Provided that no such deputy shall act for any such Coroner except during the illness of the said Coroner, or during his absence for any lawful and reasonable cause.

Revocation of appointment. Every such appointment may at any time be cancelled and revoked by the Coroner by whom it was made.

Exemption from serving on juries. — 39. No Coroner or Deputy Coroner shall be liable to serve as a juror.

Privilege from arrest. 40. Coroners and Deputy Coroners shall be privileged from arrest while engaged in the discharge of their official duty.

41. Any Coroner or Deputy Coroner failing to comply with the provisions of this Act, or otherwise misconducting himself in the execution of his office, shall be liable to such fine as the Chief Justice of the High Court, upon summary examination and proof of the failure or misconduct, thinks fit to impose.

42. No proceedings for anything done under this Act, or for any failure to comply with its provisions, shall be commenced or prosecuted, ²[* * * *] after tender of sufficient amends.

THE COTTON GINNING AND PRESSING FACTORIES ACT (XII OF 1925).

[AMENDED BY ACT XIV OF 1939 AND ACT IX OF 1942.]

[18th March, 1925.]

An Act to provide for the better regulation of cotton ginning and pressing factories.

WHEREAS it is expedient to provide for the better regulation of cotton ginning and pressing factories; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Short title, extent and commencement. 1. (1) This Act may be called THE COTTON GINNING AND PRESSING FACTORIES ACT, 1925.

(2) It extends to the whole of British India¹ [* *], including British Baluchistan and the Sonthal Parganas.

(3) It shall come into force on such date as the Governor-General in Council may, by notification in the Gazette of India, appoint.

Definitions. 2. In this Act, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,—

(a) “bale” means any pressed package of cotton of whatever size or density;

(b) “cotton” means ginned or unginned cotton, or cotton waste;

(c) “cotton ginning factory” means any place where cotton is ginned or where cotton fibre is separated from cotton seed by any process whatever involving the use of steam, water or other mechanical power or of electrical power;

(d) “cotton pressing factory” means any factory as defined in the Indian Factories Act, 1911, in which cotton is pressed into bales;

(e) “cotton waste” means droppings, strippings, fly and other waste products of a cotton mill or of a cotton ginning factory or of a cotton pressing factory, but does not include yarn waste;

(f) “Indian Central Cotton Committee” means the Indian Central Cotton Committee constituted under the Indian Cotton Cess Act, 1923 and includes any sub-committee appointed by it to perform any function of the Indian Central Cotton Committee under this Act; and

(g) “Occupier” includes a managing agent or other person authorized to represent the occupier;

(h) “prescribed” means prescribed by or under rules made under this Act.

3. (1) The owner of every cotton ginning factory shall cause to be main-

Maintenance of registers. tained at the factory in such form, if any, as may be prescribed, a ginning register containing a record of all cotton ginned in the factory and of the names of the persons for whom and the dates on which the cotton has been ginned and of the amount ginned for each person.

¹ The words [“Except Burma”] omitted by Adaptation of Indian Laws Order in S. 2 (c) AND (d).—“Factory”, mean- of. See 1937 M.W.N. 1355.

(2) The owner of every cotton pressing factory shall cause to be maintained at the factory in such form, if any, as may be prescribed, a press register containing a daily record of the number of bales pressed in the factory, the serial number of each bale, and the name of the person for whom it has been pressed.

(3) The owner or the person in charge of a cotton ginning or cotton pressing factory shall be bound to produce any ginning register or press register maintained under this section when required to do so by any person appointed by the Local Government in this behalf, and the owner or person in charge of any cotton pressing factory shall be bound to furnish to the Indian Central Cotton Committee, if so required by it in writing, a copy, certified as correct by the owner or person in charge of the factory, of the entry in any press register maintained at the factory relating to any specified bale.

(4) No register required to be maintained by this section shall be destroyed until after the expiration of three years from the date of the last entry therein.

(5) If—

(a) in any factory any register required by this section to be maintained is not maintained or is maintained in any form other than the form, if any, prescribed for the purpose, or

(b) any entry in any such register is proved to be false in any material particular, or

(c) any such register is destroyed before the expiration of the period referred to in sub-section (4), the owner of the factory shall be punished with fine which may extend to fifty rupees or, if he has previously been convicted of any offence under this sub-section to five hundred rupees.

(6) If the owner or the person in charge of any factory fails to produce any register, or to furnish a certified copy of any entry, when required to do so under sub-section (3), or furnishes a certified copy of an entry knowing or having reason to believe such copy to be false, he shall be punished with fine which may extend to fifty rupees or, if he has previously been convicted of any offence under this sub-section, to five hundred rupees.

4. (1) The owner of every cotton pressing factory shall cause every bale pressed in the factory to be marked in such manner as may be prescribed, before it is removed from the press hours, with a serial number and with the mark prescribed for the factory.

(2) If any bale is removed from the press house of any cotton pressing factory without having been marked as required by sub-section (1), the owner of the factory shall be punished with fine which may extend to fifty rupees.

5. (1) The owner of every cotton pressing factory shall submit to the prescribed authority, within such time and in such form as may be prescribed, weekly returns showing the total number of bales of cotton pressed during the preceding week and from the commencement of the season to the end of that week, and the approximate average net weight of the bales pressed in that week.

(2) The Provincial Government shall compile from the weekly returns, and shall publish in such manner as ¹[it thinks fit direct a statement showing the total number of bales pressed in the province during the week and from the commencement of the season to the end of the week, to which the returns relate:

Provided that the number of bales pressed in any individual factory shall not be published.

(3) If default is made in submitting any return as required by sub-section (1), the owner of the factory shall be punished with fine which may extend to fifty rupees.

(4) Where the owner of a cotton pressing factory has notified to the prescribed authority that the work of pressing bales in that factory has been suspended, it shall not be necessary for the owner to submit returns under sub-section (1) until such work has been resumed.

Explanation.—In this section “season” means the period notified in this behalf by the Provincial Government in the local Official Gazette.

¹[5-A. (1) This section shall be in force in Chief Commissioners’ Provinces only; but the Provincial Government of any other Province may, by notification in the official Gazette, bring this section into force in the Province.

(2) The owner of every cotton ginning factory shall submit to the prescribed authority, within such time and in such form as may be prescribed, weekly returns showing the quantity of cotton ginned in the factory during the preceding week and from the commencement of the season to the end of that week.

(3) The Provincial Government shall compile from the weekly returns so submitted and shall publish in such manner as it thinks fit, a statement showing the total quantity of cotton ginned in the Province during the week and from the commencement of the season to the end of the week, to which the returns relate:

Provided that the quantity of cotton ginned in any individual factory shall not be published.

(4) If default is made in submitting any return as required by sub-section (2), the owner of the factory shall be punished with fine which may extend to fifty rupees.

(5) The provisions of sub-section (4) of section 5 apply to cotton ginning factories and the returns referred to in sub-section (2) of this section as they apply to cotton pressing factories and the returns referred to in sub-section (1) of section 5, and “season” in this section means the season as notified for the purposes of section 5.]

6. (1) No scales or weights shall be used in any cotton ginning or cotton pressing factory other than the scales or weights, if any, prescribed by the ²[Central Government] as standard for the district in which factory is situated.

(2) If in any factory any scale or weight is used in contravention of the provisions of sub-section (1), the owner of the factory shall be punished with fine which may extend to fifty rupees or, if he has been previously convicted of any offence under this sub-section, to five hundred rupees.

7. (1) Where the owner of a cotton ginning or pressing factory has leased the factory for a period of not less than one month, in the case of a cotton ginning factory or three months, in the case of a cotton pressing factory, and the lessor retains no interest in the management or profits of the factory and notice of the lease has been given by the lessor and the lessee to the prescribed authority, the lessee shall be deemed to be the owner of the factory, from the date of the notice and for the period of the continuance of the lease, for the purposes of section 3, in respect of the registers maintained or to be maintained from that date and for that period, and for the purposes of sections 4, 5, ³[5-A] and 6.

(2) On the termination of the lease the lessee shall hand over to the lessor the registers maintained under section 3, and the lessor shall forthwith report to the prescribed authority any default of the lessee in complying with the provisions of this sub-section or in maintaining the registers in accordance with the provisions of section 3.

(3) If default is made in handing over any register or making any report as required by this section, the lessor or the lessee, as the case may be, shall be punished with fine which may extend to fifty rupees.

8. (1) On a transfer of the ownership of a cotton ginning or pressing factory, the transferor shall hand over to the transferee the registers maintained under section 3, and the transferee shall forthwith report to the prescribed authority any default of the transferor in complying with the provisions of this sub-section or in maintaining the registers in accordance with the provisions of section 3.

(2) If default is made in handing over any register or making any report as required by sub-section (1), the transferor or the transferee, as the case may be, shall be punished with fine which may extend to fifty rupees.

9. (1) In the case of cotton ginning factories the construction of which is commenced after the commencement of this Act—

(a) gin-houses shall be provided with separate entrances and exits for the bringing in of unginned and the taking out of ginned cotton respectively, and

(b) the factories shall be constructed in accordance with plans and specifications approved by the prescribed authority:

Provided that nothing in this sub-section shall apply to any factory in which only roller gins are used where the number of such gins is not more than four.

¹[(1-A) In any cotton ginning factory, whether erected before or after the commencement of this Act—

(a) no structural alterations or additions, the construction of which commenced after the 27th day of February, 1939, shall be made so as to minimise the degree of compliance of the factory as a whole with the requirements set forth in clauses (a) and (b) of sub-section (1), and

(b) every structural addition (whether actually attached to any existing structure in the factory or not), the construction of which commenced after the last mentioned date, shall be constructed in accordance with plans and specifications approved by the prescribed authority:

Provided that nothing in this sub-section shall apply to any factory in which, after any alteration or addition has been made, only roller gins are used where the number of such gins is not more than four.]

(2) Within such period after the commencement of this Act as may be prescribed, the owner of every cotton pressing factory in which cotton is handled on the ground-floor shall cause the press-house to be paved or provided with other suitable flooring to the satisfaction of the prescribed authority.

(3) If the owner of any factory fails to comply with any provision of this section which is applicable to the factory, he shall be punished with fine which may extend to one hundred rupees.

(4) (a) Where the owner of a factory has been convicted under sub-section (3), the prescribed authority may serve on the owner of the factory an order in writing directing that such alterations shall be made in the factory before a specified date, as in the opinion of the said authority are necessary to secure compliance with the provisions of sub-section (1), ²[sub-section (1-A)] or sub-section (2), as the case may be.

(b) Where the alterations are not made in accordance with the order served under clause (a) of this sub-section, the prescribed authority may serve on the owner and on the occupier, if any, of the factory an order in writing directing that the work of ginning or pressing cotton in such factory shall be suspended until the alterations have been made in accordance with the order served under clause (a) of this sub-section and the owner and the occupier, if any, shall be jointly and severally liable to fine which may extend to fifty rupees for each day on which cotton is ginned or pressed in the factory in contravention of the order served under this clause.

10. Where the person guilty of an offence under this Act is a company, every director, manager, secretary and other officer thereof who is knowingly a party to the default shall also be guilty of the like offence and liable to the like punishment.

11. (1) No prosecution under this Act shall be instituted except by or with the previous sanction of the District Magistrate or a Chief Presidency Magistrate or a Magistrate of the first class specially empowered in this behalf by the Provincial Government.

(2) No offence punishable under this Act shall be tried by any Court inferior to that of a Presidency Magistrate or of a Magistrate of the first class.

12. The Central Government may make rules to provide for—

(a) the allotment of a special mark to be used by each pressing factory for the purpose of the marking of bales;

(b) the manner in which bales shall be marked; and

¹[(c) the standard weights and scales to be used in cotton ginning and cotton pressing factories in any part of British India and the inspection of the same.]

13. The Provincial Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, make rules consistent with this Act to provide for all or any of the following matters, namely:—

(a) the forms in which registers, records and returns are to be maintained or submitted, and the inspection of records and registers;

(b) the appointment of the authority to whom and the time within which the returns required by ²[sections 5 and 5-A] shall be made;

(c) [Omitted by Adaptation of Indian Laws Order in Council];

(d) the appointment of authorities for the purposes of sections 7, 8 and 9;

(e) the manner of service of orders made under section 9;

(f) the powers of entry and inspection which may be exercised by District Magistrates or by any officer specially empowered in this behalf by the Provincial Government;

(g) any other matter which is to be or may be prescribed or for which provision is necessary in order to carry out the purposes of this Act.

14. ³[(1)] After the expiration of one year from the commencement of this Act, any person who has made a contract for the purchase of baled cotton may require that no bales other than bales marked ³[with the mark prescribed under section 4 for the factory in which they were pressed] shall be supplied in fulfilment of such contract, and, if he does so require, no bale not so marked shall be tenderable in fulfilment of the contract:

¹[(2) Any bale marked in accordance with the provisions of section 4 shall, within the meaning of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872, be presumed for all purposes as between the parties to a contract for the purchase of baled cotton, to have been so marked before leaving the factory in which it was pressed.]

[Proviso. Omitted by Act XIV of 1939.]

15. No suit or other legal proceeding shall be instituted against any person in respect of anything which is in good faith done or intended to be done under this Act.

to be used so as to make people liable to penalties for having been members of associations at a time when they were lawful and not unlawful. 55 B. 484=33 Bom.L.R. 90=1931 B. 129.

"NOTIFICATION"—MEANING OF.—"Notification" is the act of making known and not merely insertion in the Gazette. In order to prove that an association has been declared unlawful under the Act, the Government must not only insert the declaration in the Official Gazette, but must publish the Gazette in the manner usually adopted for publishing it and allow a reasonable opportunity to people concerned to see the Gazette. So in the absence of evidence to show when the Gazette, dated the 14th October, was published, the arrest of an alleged member of an assembly so declared unlawful on the early hours of the 15th October and his conviction cannot be sustained. 55 B. 356=33 Bom.L.R. 82=1931 B. 132. Where an association has been declared unlawful by the Governor-General in Council under sec. 16, it is imperative for the prosecution to prove some overt act or conduct on the part of the persons proceeded against, which establishes his connexion with the association at some time subsequent to such declaration. Also the ordinary rules of justice and common sense require that those who were connected with the association at the time when it was declared unlawful should be given a locus penitentiae to withdraw from its membership within a reasonable time of its notification as such. 131 I.C. 353=32 Cr.L.J. 700=1931 L. 145. See also 134 I.C. 782=32 Cr.L.J. 1233=1934 L. 36.

SEC. 17: ESSENTIALS OF OFFENCE.—EXISTENCE OF ASSOCIATION.—The offence under the Act consists in promoting, or assisting in promoting, not an unlawful association, but a meeting of such an association and therefore the association must exist before a meeting of it can be promoted. It cannot therefore be said that a person by urging his hearers to form themselves into "Jathas" promotes or assists in promoting meetings of the "Jathas" when the "Jathas" themselves had not come into existence. The person alleged to have promoted such meetings on behalf of an unlawful association must be proved to have authority from that association to convene the meetings. 88 I.C. 367=6 L. 349=1925 L. 522.

ASSISTING THE OPERATION.—There is a distinction between assisting the operation and promoting or carrying out of the same or similar objects. Therefore, a person, preaching a boycott of foreign cloth and belonging to a Sabha, whose connexion with the Congress Committee is not affirmative established, cannot be said to be assisting the operation of the objects of the Committee, although he may be promoting or carrying out the boycott preached by the Committee. 140 I.C. 608=1932 L. 578. The word "assists" in sec. 17 (1) means intentionally assists. The accused painted on the surface of the road the words "boycott British goods" and thereby intended to assist the operations of an unlawful association, namely, the working committee of the Indian National Congress, held, that the accused were liable to be convicted under sec. 17 (1). 140 I.C. 767=63 M.L.J. 906. The words "in any way assists the operations of any such association" are not limited to acts which assist the operations of such associations with the co-operation of such association and they cover acts which may assist the operations of the association, but which are done without any co-operation of the association. 131 I.C. 889=33 Bom.L.R. 314=1931 B. 206. The question whether particular acts amounts to assisting the operations of an unlawful association within the meaning of sec. 17 (1) must always be one of fact to be determined in the circumstances of each case. There must be sufficient connection between the acts of the accused and the operations of the unlawful association to enable the Court to infer an intention to assist in those operations. The mere existence of a common aim between the person accused and the unlawful association is not enough to involve assistance. 55 B. 442=131 I.C. 470=33 Bom.L.R. 319=1931 B. 200. A person cannot be said to assist an association unless he has its operations in his mind and intends to help them. Identity of objects with no other connection does not amount to assisting the operations of an unlawful association. 144 I.C. 765=1933 M.V.N. 265=1933 M. 369.

ASSISTING VOLUNTEERS BY GIVING SHELTER.—The case against petitioners originated on a police report which was in these words: "I beg to report that Srijiut Permanand Agarwala has been assisting the volunteers by giving them shelter in a house belonging to him in the Tejjur town. I, therefore, request that action under the Criminal Law Amendment Act may be taken against him". Upon this, the Deputy Commissioner ordered "Issue warrant with bail under sec. 17 (2) of the Act." Held, this report failed to make out a prima facie case in respect of the offence, described in this section with the result that the proceedings based on the report were liable to be quashed. 71 I.C. 49=36 C.L.J. 179=1922 C. 538. See also 89 I.C. 392=5 L. 1=1924 L. 440.

ASSISTING IN ORGANISING MEETING.—A person who takes an active part in organising or assisting to organize a meeting must tion, shall be punished with imprisonment for a term which may extend to six months, or with fine, or with both.

clearly be regarded as promoting or assisting to promote it. 7 L. 357=1926 L. 405. Where the accused was shown to have assisted in the management of an association the objects of which were unlawful. Held, that he was liable to be convicted under sec. 17. 37 C.W.N. 964=1934 C. 161.

ILLUSTRATIVE CASES.—While the hoisting of the national flag is not in itself an offence, doing so on a day and time prescribed by an unlawful association together with refusal to take it down when requested to do so by a responsible Police Officer clearly amounts to conduct assisting the operations of the association and is punishable under sec. 17 (1). 145 I.C. 240=37 C.W.N. 992=1933 C. 695. See also 144 I.C. 765=1933 M. 369. The display of Congress flag over his shop by a shopkeeper is not in itself a criminal offence. A notification by the District Magistrate that by setting up such flags they are assisting the operations of the Congress is not equivalent to an order forbidding their use and the display or the refusal of the shopkeeper to pull it down when asked by the police so to do, does not constitute "assisting the operations" of an unlawful association. 140 I.C. 497=1933 A. 95. The mere fact that people are asked to join the Congress and the boycott of British goods is preached and also the civil disobedience movement is promoted does not make a conference identical with the associations declared to be unlawful and the speaker cannot be convicted under sec. 17 (1) or (2). If however he resists being apprehended by not allowing police to remove him he is guilty under sec. 224, Penal Code. 140 I.C. 442=1932 L. 615. An association called "Akhil Bharat Prabhat Feri Singh" was declared unlawful, but it still continued to function and conducted a procession, the members singing political songs. Persons taking part in such a procession could be said to assist the operations of the said unlawful association and be convicted under sec. 17 (1). 131 I.C. 477=33 Bom.L.R. 325=1931 B. 202. The publication of a notice in a paper circulating in Bombay stating that a meeting of an unlawful association is to take place and giving the time and place of the meeting although followed by publication of the Police Commissioner's ban of the meeting amounts to an offence under sec. 17 (1). 33 Bom.L.R. 314=1931 Bom. 206 (2). The accused reproduced in his newspaper an appeal to stop trading in foreign cloth, made by a person describing himself as the President of the War Council; he was charged under sec. 17 (1) with assisting the operations of an unlawful association. Held, (i) There was no evidence that the person described was in fact the president of the War Council or that he authorised the publication. (ii) Even so, the article did not advocate any unlawful action; it only expressed his view on the economic question which anybody was free to do. So no offence was made out under sec. 17 (1). 134 I.C. 357=33 Bom.L.R. 652=1931 Bom. 413. The accused was charged and convicted with having printed and published an article entitled 'helping outlaws' in his paper the "Free Press Journal" and thereby assisted the War Council of the Bombay Provincial Congress Committee in its operations and committed an offence under sec. 17 (1). The article was reproduced from the Congress Bulletin which was alleged to be an organ of the War Council. Held, (i) The War Council was an unlawful association. (ii) But the prosecution had failed to prove that the Congress Bulletin was in fact an operation of the War Council. (iii) Further the article was merely a criticism—not of a profound character—upon a letter addressed by the Commissioner of Police to newspapers in Bombay and the mere reproduction of a criticism upon a letter which had been generally circulated—a criticism of a harmless character cannot possibly assist the operations of an unlawful association. 33 Bom.L.R. 652=1931 B. 413. The accused was found with two boxes containing contraband salt and belonging to an association declared unlawful by the Government of Bombay. He was convicted under sec. 47 (c) of the Bombay Salt Act of being in possession of contraband salt and also of an offence under sec. 17 (1) of this Act for assisting the operations of an unlawful association. Held, the accused could not be convicted under two different enactments for the same act. 33 Bom.L.R. 648=1931 B. 409. See also 1933 M. 337=67 M.L.J. 351. Persons who commit the offence of being members of an unlawful assembly even though they commit the offence of rioting are not necessarily guilty of being members of an unlawful association for purposes of sec. 17. 26 S.L.R. 345=140 I.C. 697=1932 Sind 211. Disobedience of a command to disperse is not an ingredient of an offence under sec. 17. An admission of not having dispersed in spite of the orders of the police is therefore not an admission for purposes of sec. 17. 26 S.L.R. 345. Exhorting the Sikhs in a meeting to enlist themselves for shahidi jathas for the purpose of going to a certain place and collecting funds for a committee which was declared as unlawful by the Government, is not an offence under sec. 17 (1) and sec. 17 (2) of the Act, but is an offence under sec. 117, Penal Code, as the accused instigated people to become members of a jatha under the orders of the said committee which jatha would be an unlawful association within the meaning of sec. 16. 26 Cr.L.J. 1374=89 I.C. 462=1926

(2) Whoever manages or assists in the management of an unlawful association, or promotes or assists in promoting a meeting of any such association, or of any members thereof as such members, shall be punished with imprisonment for a term which may extend to three years, or with fine, or with both.

18. An association shall not be deemed to have ceased to exist by reason only of any formal act of dissolution or change of title, but shall be deemed to continue so long as any actual combination for the purposes of such association continues between any members thereof.

THE SCHEDULE.

[Repealed by S. 3 of Act V of 1922.]

N.B.—Temporary amendments made by Act XXIII of 1932 have not been incorporated in this Act. For such temporary amendments, see Criminal Law Amendment Act, 1932, infra.

L. 115.

KNOWLEDGE OF ASSEMBLY BEING UNLAWFUL NOT NECESSARY.—Proof of knowledge in the accused that the association is unlawful is not a condition precedent to a prosecution under the section. But where an association heretofore lawful is made unlawful, it is but just to require some notice of the illegality to be given to the members of the association so that they may regulate their conduct accordingly. 55 B. 356=33 Bom.L.R. 82=1931 B. 132.

NOTIFICATION NOT PUBLISHED IN GAZETTE.—NO OFFENCE.—No association can be considered an unlawful association till the date of publication of the notification in the official Gazette declaring it to be unlawful, and no member of that association arrested in pursuance of the order of the Local Government before the date of publication of that order in the Gazette can be held guilty of an offence under sec. 17 although the fact that it has been so declared may have been known to accused prior to the publication. 12 L. 471=131 I.C. 108=1931 L. 107. See also 55 B. 356=1931 B. 132. But see 1931 B. 203. Where everybody knew that the Act has been extended to the United Provinces and the Court convicted the accused under the said Act on the basis of a newspaper extract publishing the Government Notification and the statement of the Police Officer, held, that the conviction was bad in law because the Act had not been extended by means of a notification in the Gazette. 129 I.C. 443=1930 A.L.J. 1535=1931 A. 12. But it would be different whether the Gazette had been issued to the public or not, if a copy of the Gazette notifying an association unlawful, was actually shown to the accused before their arrest under sec. 17 (1). 131 I.C. 479=33 Bom.L.R. 333=1931 B. 203.

ADMISSION, EFFECT OF.—MANAGING AN UNLAWFUL ASSOCIATION.—An accused person does not plead to a section of a criminal statute. He pleads guilty or not guilty to the facts alleged to disclose an offence under that section. Where the charge stated that the accused was the jathadar of the Akali

Dal and as such addressed meetings of the Akalis and appealed to the Sikhs to organize themselves into jathas, and he admits himself to be a jathadar of that organization, he is admitting that he is a member of an unlawful association, therefore pleading guilty to an offence under sec. 17 (1). The word "jathadar" means a person who leads or controls a jatha, and if it is proved that there was any jatha being at that time led or controlled by the accused, he would obviously be guilty of managing an unlawful association. 7 L. 359=96 I.C. 219=1926 L. 406. See also 26 S.L.R. 345=140 I.C. 697=1932 Sind 211.

PROSECUTION UNDER.—BURDEN OF PROOF.—PRESUMPTION.—Where a person is charged under sec. 17 (1) as having been a member of an assembly declared unlawful, it is for the prosecution to prove not merely that the accused was a member thereof prior to the Government Notification but that he continued as a member subsequent to the notification. The Act imposes no obligation on the members of the association to do anything specific to terminate their membership, and unless some act or conduct showing his continued membership of the same is proved, it cannot be presumed in law. 55 B. 484=33 Bom.L.R. 90=1931 B. 129: 131 I.C. 479=33 Bom.L.R. 333=1931 B. 203. The mere fact that a certain person was a delegate to the Indian National Congress held in December, 1929, cannot prove his membership of the Congress Committee of a certain place after the declaration of 3rd July, 1930, that it was an unlawful association had been notified. Where none of the witnesses for the prosecution has any personal knowledge of the factum of the convict being a member of the Congress Committee and their statements are based on mere conjectures and inferences and the remaining evidence is worthless and irrelevant, the conviction of the accused for being a member of an unlawful association should be set aside. 131 I.C. 360=1931 L. 153.

[19th December, 1932.

An Act to supplement the Criminal Law.

WHEREAS it is expedient to supplement the Criminal Law and to that end to amend the Indian Press (Emergency Powers) Act, 1931, and further to amend temporarily the Indian Criminal Law Amendment Act, 1908, for the purposes hereinafter appearing;

It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Short title, extent, duration and commencement. 1. (1) This Act may be called THE CRIMINAL LAW AMENDMENT ACT, 1932.

(2) It extends to the whole of British India, including British Baluchistan and the Sonthal Parganas.

(3) [* * * * *].¹

(4) The whole of the Act except [* * *]² section 7 shall come into force at once, and the Provincial Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, direct that section 4 or section 7 shall come into force in any area on such date as may be specified in the notification.

2. [Dissuasion from enlistment.] Repealed by Criminal Law Amendment Act, 1935, S. 2.

LEG. REF.

ment of a specific offence which offence is a summons case. Then the abetment is also a summons case. An offence under sec. 117 of Penal Code and sec. 17 (1) of this Act can therefore be tried as a summons case. 131 I.C. 472=33 Bom.L.R. 353=1931 Bom. 199.

CONVICTION UNDER SEC. 17 (1)—DOUBLE SENTENCE—LEGALITY OF.—Where the two accused, one of them President and the other a member of the Congress Committee, were charged with and found guilty of the offence of picketing foreign cloth shops, punishable alike under sec. 17 (1) of the Criminal Law Amendment Act (1908) and sec. 4 of Ordinance V of 1932 and were awarded separate sentences under each count. Held, that the reference to their membership of the Congress Committee was only by way of description and was not intended to add a separate charge of their having been members of an unlawful association; that the only offence involved was picketing though punishable under two separate provisions of law and that the awarding of two separate sentences for the same offence under each count was not legal. 142 I.C. 21=1933 Mad. 337=67 M.L.J. 351. See also 134 I.C. 345=33.

Bom.L.R. 348=1931 Bom. 409.

SEC. 17 (2): LIABILITY UNDER—LEADER OF PARTY.—The leader of the party which induce boys to take out and publicly exhibit Congress flags and for which those boys are given clothes and some cash in lieu of services to be rendered by them is guilty under sec. 17 (2). 146 I.C. 25=1933 Lah. 387 (2). Where a person is in charge of an office he is necessarily the person who manages or assists in managing the association which owns that office. Sec. 17 (1) renders a person liable to punishment, if he is proved to be a member of an unlawful association, without any proof being required of any active participation in its operations. It also makes it an offence to take part in its meetings or to help it in any way and it is immaterial whether the person who renders such help has been authorised to do so or whether he acts purely on his own initiative. Sec. 17, cl. (2) is directed against the ring-leaders, i.e., the persons who actually control or direct the activities of the association or who organize or help to organize any of its meetings. The word "management" conveys the idea of conduct and direction of an institution and a person cannot assist in the management of an association who has no hand in the conduct or direction of its affairs, though as an employee of that association he may carry out the orders of his managing bodies. 7 Lah. 340=96 I.C. 257=1926 Lah. 307.

3. [Tampering with public servants.] Repealed by Criminal Law Amendment Act, 1935, S. 2.

4. [Boycotting a public servant.] Repealed by Criminal Law Amendment Act, 1935, S. 2.

5. (1) Whoever publishes, circulates or repeats in public any passage from a newspaper, book or other document copies whereof have been declared to be forfeited to His Majesty under any law for the time being in force, Dissemination of contents of prescribed documents. shall be punished with imprisonment for a term which may extend to six months or with fine or with both.

(2) No Court shall take cognizance of an offence punishable under this section unless the Provincial Government has certified that the passage published, circulated or repeated contains, in the opinion of the Provincial Government, seditious or other matter of the nature referred to in sub-section (1) of section 99-A of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, or sub-section (1) of section 4 of the Indian Press (Emergency Powers) Act, 1931.

6. [Dissemination of false rumours.] Repealed by Criminal Law Amendment Act, 1935, S. 2.

Molesting a person to prejudice of employment or business.

7. (1) Whoever—

(a) with intent to cause any person to abstain from doing or to do any act which such person has a right to do or to abstain from doing, obstructs or uses violence to or intimidates such person or any member of his family or person in his employ, or loiters at or near a place where such person or member or employed person resides or works or carries on business or happens to be, or persistently follows him from place to place, or interferes with any property owned or used by him or deprives him of or hinders him in the use thereof, or

(b) loiters or does any similar act at or near the place where a person carries on business, in such a way and with intent that any person may thereby be deterred from entering or approaching or dealing at such place, shall be punished with imprisonment for a term which may extend to six months, or with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees, or with both.

Explanation.—Encouragement of indigenous industries or advocacy of temperance, without the commission of any of the acts prohibited by this section is not an offence under this section.

(2) No Court shall take cognizance of an offence punishable under this section except upon a report in writing of facts which constitute such offence

SEC. 7.—The Criminal Law Amendment Act of 1932 has not been repealed in its entirety by the Repealing and Amending Act XX of 1937. The effect of sec. 4 of the latter Act and sec. 6-A of the General Clauses Act (XIX of 1936) is to leave the Criminal Law Amendment Act of 1932 intact so far as sec. 7 is concerned. I.L.R. (1939) Mad. 87=A.I.R. 1939 Mad. 21=(1938) 2 M.L.J. 863. Abetment of offence under sec. 7 not punishable. (1938) 2 M.L.J. 863. There is no justification for the contention that the offence contemplated by sec. 7 (1) (a) of the Criminal Law Amendment Act of 1932 should go unpunished when it is committed in respect of a public official. (1938) 2 M.L.J. 863. This section is not in conflict with Trade Unions Act. Apart from immunity from criminal conspiracy, the T. U. Act does not allow immunity from any criminal offence. 31 N.L.B. 318=157 I.C. 618=1935 Nag. 149. This section can be applied even in cases of picketing in the course of trade disputes. (Ibid.) But where the offence is committed in the course of a bona fide trade dispute for the first time, the sentence need not be severe. (Ibid.)

SEC. 7 (1) (b): SCOPE AND INTENTION.—“LOITERING”.—A procession through a locality with halts at times for the purpose of distributing handbills does not amount to loitering, so as to amount to an offence under sec. 7 (1) (b). A petrol passing and repassing a certain street or a certain shop at intervals may amount to loitering but a procession cannot. Loitering, to be an offence, must be done with the intention of deterring any person from entering or approaching or dealing at the particular place near which the loitering occurs. 158 I.C. 1008=1935 Nag. 19. See also 56 L.W. 222=1943 Mad. 572=(1943) 1 M.L.J. 315. (As to jurisdiction to try offences and the necessity for a report of facts constituting a particular offence).

Procedure in offences under the Act.

9. Notwithstanding anything contained in the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898,—

(i) no Court inferior to that of a Presidency Magistrate or Magistrate of the first class shall try any offence under this Act;

(ii) an offence punishable under section [5, or 7]¹ shall be cognizable by the police;

(iii) an offence punishable under section 4 shall be an offence in which a warrant shall ordinarily issue in the first instance; and

(iv) an offence punishable under section 7 shall be non-bailable.

cedure, 1898, be cognizable, and thereupon, the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, shall, while such notification remains in force, be deemed to be amended accordingly.

(2) The Provincial Government may, in like manner and subject to the like conditions, and with the like effect, declare that an offence punishable under section 188 or section 506 of the Indian Penal Code shall be non-bailable.

THE CRIMINAL LAW AMENDMENT ACT (XX OF 1938).

[14th September, 1938.]

An Act to amend the criminal law.

WHEREAS it is expedient to supplement the criminal law by providing for the punishment of certain acts prejudicial to the recruitment of persons to serve in, and to the discipline of, His Majesty's Forces; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Short title, extent and commencement. 1. (1) This Act may be called THE CRIMINAL LAW AMENDMENT ACT, 1938.

(2) It extends to the whole of British India.

(3) It shall come into force in a Province on such date as the Provincial Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, appoint in this behalf for such Province.

Dissuasion from enlistment and instigation to mutiny or insubordination after enlistment.

2. Whoever—

(a) With intent to affect adversely the recruitment of persons to serve in the Military, Naval or Air forces of His Majesty, wilfully dissuades or attempts to dissuade the public or any person from entering any such Forces, or

(b) without dissuading or attempting to dissuade any person from entering such Forces, instigates the public or any person to do, after entering any such Force, anything which is an offence punishable as mutiny or insubordination under section 27 of the Indian Army Act, 1911, or sections 10 to 12 and 14 to 17 inclusive of the Naval Discipline Act as applied to the Indian Navy (Discipline) Act, 1934, or sections 35 to 37 inclusive of the Indian Air Force Act, 1932, as the case may be, shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to one year, or fine, or with both.

No person shall be prosecuted for any offence under this Act except with the previous sanction of the Provincial Government.

Exception 1.—The provisions of clause (a) of this section do not extend to comments on or criticism of the policy of Government in connection with the Military, Naval or Air Forces, made in good faith without any intention of dissuading from enlistment.

Exception 2.—The provisions of clause (a) of this section do not extend to the case in which advice is given in good faith for the benefit of the individual to whom it is given, or for the benefit of any member of his family or of any of his dependants.

SEC. 20: OFFENCE UNDER SEC. 17 OF ORDINANCE X OF 1932.—The ordinary rule which makes it impossible to convict a person under a section of an Ordinance of a temporary Act which has expired, prevails as regards sections not specified in sec. 20, Criminal Law Amendment Act. A person cannot therefore be charged under sec. 17 of Ordinance X of 1932 read with sec. 21 of Ordinance II of 1932 after the expiry of the Ordinances. 145 I.C. 683=1933 A.L.J. 875=1932 A. 669 (F. B.). See also 1931 B. 129.

Notification of Criminal Tribes.

3. If the Provincial Government has reason to believe that any tribe, gang or class, of persons, or any part of a tribe, gang, or class, is addicted to the systematic commission of non-bailable offences, it may, by notification in the Official Gazette, declare that such tribe, gang or class or, as the case may be, that such part of the tribe, gang or class is a criminal tribe for the purposes of this Act.

Registration of Members of Criminal Tribes.

4. The Provincial Government may direct the District Magistrate to make or to cause to be made a register of the numbers of any criminal tribe, or part of a criminal tribe, within his district.

5. Upon receiving such direction, the District Magistrate shall publish notice in the prescribed manner at the place where the register is to be made and at such other places as he may think fit, calling upon all the members of the criminal tribe or part, as the case may be,—

(a) to appear at a time and place therein specified before a person appointed by him in this behalf;

(b) to give to that person such information as may be necessary to enable him to make the register; and

(c) to allow their finger-impressions to be recorded:

Provided that the District Magistrate may exempt any member from registration and may cancel any such exemption.

6. The register, when made, shall be placed in the keeping of the Superintendent of Police, who shall, from time to time, report to the District Magistrate any alterations which ought in his opinion to be made therein, either by way of addition or erasure.

7. (1) After the register has been placed in the keeping of the Superintendent of Police, no person's name shall be added to the register, and no registration shall be cancelled, except by, or under an order in writing of, the District Magistrate.

(2) Before the name of any person is added to the register under this section, the Magistrate shall give notice in the prescribed manner to the person concerned—

(a) to appear before him or an authority appointed by him in this behalf at a time and place therein specified;

(b) to give to him or such authority such information as may be necessary to enable the entry to be made; and

(c) to allow his finger-impressions to be recorded.

8. Any person deeming himself aggrieved by any entry made, or proposed to be made, in such register, either when the register is first made or subsequently, may complain to the District Magistrate against such entry, and the Magistrate shall retain such person's name on the register, or enter it therein or erase it therefrom, as he may think fit.

9. The District Magistrate or any officer empowered by him in this behalf

Power to take finger impressions at any time. registered member of a criminal tribe to be taken.

10. ¹[(1)] The Provincial Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, issue in respect of any criminal tribe either or both of the following directions, namely, that every registered member thereof shall, in the prescribed manner,

(a) report himself at fixed intervals;

(b) notify his place of residence and any change or intended change of residence, and any absence or intended absence from his residence.

²[(2)] Where a registered member of a criminal tribe in respect of which the Provincial Government has issued a notification under sub-section (1) changes his place of residence to a district other than that in which he has been registered (whether in the same Province or not), or is for the time being in a district of a province other than that by the Provincial Government of which the said notification was issued, the provisions of this Act and of the rules made thereunder shall apply to him as if in pursuance of a direction made under section 4 he had been registered in that district; and where that district is in a province other than that by the Provincial Government of which the notifications under section 3 and sub-section (1), of this section were issued in respect of such criminal tribe, as if the said notifications had been issued by the Provincial Government of such other province.

(3) Where any such registered member changes his place of residence to a district other than that in which he has been registered (whether in the same province or not), the relevant entry in the register shall be transferred to the Superintendent of Police of that district.]

Restriction of Movements of Criminal Tribes.

Power to restrict movements of, or settle, criminal tribes.

11. (1) If the Provincial Government considers that it is expedient that any criminal tribe, or any part or member of a criminal tribe, should be—

(a) restricted in its or his movements to any specified area, or

(b) settled in any place of residence, the Provincial Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, declare that such criminal tribe, part or ¹Sec. 10 was renumbered as 10 (1) by sec. 2 of the Criminal Tribes (Amendment) Act (XXXIII of 1925).

²Sub-secs. (2) & (3) were added by ibid.

SEC. 10.—Registered member of criminal tribe need not notify all temporary changes of residence, as for one or two days, 16 A.L. J. 510. Registered person should not absent himself from his village without permission. Such absence is an offence under the Act, 9 Cr.L.J. 1=20 P.L.R. 1908 (Cr.); 3 Cr.L.J. 77 =166 P.L.R. 1905.

The effect of sec. 10 (2) of the Act is that where a member of a criminal tribe goes from one district of one Province to another district of another Province, the provisions of the Act and rules apply to him in the new district of the new province as if he had been registered in pursuance of a direction, made under sec. 4 of the Local Government of the new Province, and the notifications issued affecting him, issued by the Government of the Province he has left, are deemed to have been issued under sec. 3 and sec. 10 (1) of the Act by the Local Government of the new Province to which he has gone. Before such a person can be convicted of the offence of failure to give daily hazuri, it must be proved that the notification issued by the Local Government of his old Province under sec. 10 (1) required him to give daily hazuri. If that is not proved, he cannot be convicted of the offence under sec. 22 (2) (a) of the Act even if he pleads guilty. His plea of guilty should not be accepted in such a case, and the plea will not render the conviction legal. I.L.R. (1941) Kar. 551=199 I.C. 126=43 Cr.L.J. 476=A.I.R. 1942 Sind 51.

member, as the case may be, shall be restricted in its or his movements to the area specified in the notification, or shall be settled in the place of residence so specified, as the case may be.

(2) Before making any such declaration, the Provincial Government shall consider the following matters, namely:—

(i) the nature and the circumstances of the offences in which the members of the criminal tribe or part or the individual member, as the case may be, are or is believed to have been concerned;

(ii) whether the criminal tribe, part or member follows any lawful occupation, and whether such occupation is a real occupation or merely a pretence for the purpose of facilitating the commission of crimes;

(iii) the suitability of the restriction area, or of the place of residence, as the case may be, which it is proposed to specify in the notification; and

(iv) The manner in which it is proposed that the persons to be restricted or settled shall earn their living within the restriction area or in the place of residence, and the adequacy of the arrangements which are proposed therefor.

12. The Provincial Government may by a like notification vary the terms of any notification issued by it under section 11 for the purpose of specifying another restriction area or another place of residence, as the case may be, and any officer empowered in this behalf by the Provincial Government may, by order in writing, vary any notification made under section 11 or under this section for the purpose of specifying another restriction area, or, as the case may be, another place of residence in the same district.

13. Any notification made by the Provincial Government under section 11 or section 12 may specify, as the restriction area or as the place of residence, an area or place situated in any other province, provided that the consent of the Provincial Government of that province shall first have been obtained.

Power of Provincial Government to restrict or settle criminal tribe in another province.

14. Every registered member of a criminal tribe, whose movements have been restricted or who has been settled in a place of residence in pursuance of any notification under section 11 or section 12, shall attend at such place and at such time and before such person as may be prescribed in this behalf.

Verification of presence of members of tribe within prescribed area or place of residence.

15. (1) Where, in pursuance of any such notification, any member of a criminal tribe is restricted in his movements to an area, or is settled in a place of residence, situated in a province other than that by the Provincial Government of which the notification under section 3 relating to the criminal tribe was issued, all the provisions of this Act and the rules made thereunder shall apply to him as if the notification under section 3 had been issued by the Provincial Government of such other province.

Application of Act when criminal tribe is transferred from one province or district to another.

(2) If any criminal tribe, or any part of a criminal tribe, which has been registered under section 4 in any district, or any member of such tribe or part, is restricted in its or his movements to an area, or is settled in a place of residence, situated in another district (whether in the same province or not), the register or, as the case may be, the relevant entries or entry therein shall be transferred to the Superintendent of Police of the last mentioned district, and all the provisions of this Act and the rules made thereunder shall apply as if the criminal tribe or part had been registered in that district, and the District Magistrate of that district shall have power to cancel any exemption granted under section 5.

Settlements and Schools.

16. The Provincial Government may establish industrial, agricultural or

Power to place tribe in settlement. reformatory settlements and may order to be placed in any such settlement any criminal tribe, or any part or member of a criminal tribe, in respect of which or of whom a notification has been issued under section 11:

Provided that no such order shall be made unless the necessity for making it has been established to the satisfaction of the Provincial Government, after an inquiry held by such authority and in such manner as may be prescribed.

17. (1) The Provincial Government may establish industrial, agricultural or reformatory schools for children, and may order to be separated and removed from their parents or guardians and to be placed in any such school or schools the children of members of any criminal tribe or part of a criminal tribe, in respect of which a notification has been issued under section 11.

Power to place children in schools and to apprentice them.

(2) For every school established under sub-section (1), a Superintendent shall be appointed by the Provincial Government.

(3) The provisions of sections 18 to 22 of the Reformatory Schools Act, 1897, shall, so far as may be, apply in the case of every school for children established under this section as if the Superintendent of such school were a Superintendent and the children placed in such school were youthful offenders within the meaning of that Act.

(4) For the purposes of this section the term "children" includes all persons under the age of eighteen and above the age of six years.

(5) The decision of the District Magistrate as to the age of any person for the purposes of this section shall be final.

18. The Provincial Government or any officer authorised by it in this behalf may at any time, by general or special order, direct any person who may be in any industrial, agricultural or reformatory settlement or school in the province,—

(a) to be discharged, or

(b) to be transferred to some other settlement or school in the province.

19. Any order made under section 16, section 17 or section 18 may specify as the settlement or school in which any person is to be placed or to which he is to be transferred, as the case may be, any industrial, agricultural or reformatory settlement or school in any other province, provided that the consent of the Provincial Government of that province shall first have been obtained.

Power to direct use of any settlement or school in British India for reception of persons.

Rules.

20. (1) The Provincial Government may make Rules to carry out the purposes and objects of this Act.

Power to make rules.

(2) In particular and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power, such rules may provide for or regulate—

(a) the form and contents of the register referred to in section 4;

(b) the manner in which the notice referred to in section 5 shall be published and the means by which the persons whom it concerns, and the village-headmen, village-watchmen and landowners and occupiers of the village in which such persons reside, and the agents of such landowners or occupiers, shall be informed of its publication;

(c) the addition of names to the register and the erasure of names there-

SECS. 20 AND 22.—The failure of a registered member of a criminal tribe to send his children to a specified school as directed by the manager of a settlement does not amount to a contravention of any rule made under sec. 20 and is not an offence punishable under sec. 22. 56 L.W. 404—1943 Mad. 649—(1943) 2 M.L.J. 175.

in, and the mode in which the notice referred to in sub-section (2) of section 7 shall be given;

(d) the manner in which persons mentioned in section 10 shall report themselves, or notify their residence or any change or intended change of residence, or any absence or intended absence;

(e) the nature of the restrictions to be observed by persons whose movements have been restricted by notifications under section 11 or section 12;

(f) the circumstances in which members of a criminal tribe shall be required to possess and produce for inspection certificates of identity, and the manner in which such certificates shall be granted;

(g) the conditions as to holding passes under which persons may be permitted to leave the place in which they are settled or confined, or the area to which their movements are restricted;

(h) the conditions to be inserted in any such pass in regard to—

(i) the places where the holder of the pass may go or reside;

(ii) the persons before whom, from time to time, he shall be bound to present himself; and

(iii) the time during which he may absent himself;

(i) the place and time at which, and the persons before whom, members of a criminal tribe shall attend in accordance with the provisions of section 14;

(j) the authority by whom and the manner in which the inquiry referred to in section 16 shall be held;

(k) the inspection of the residences and villages of any criminal tribe;

(l) the terms upon which registered members of criminal tribes may be discharged from the operation of this Act;

(m) the management, control and supervision of industrial, agricultural or reformatory settlements and schools;

(n) the works on which, and the hours during which, persons placed in an industrial, agricultural or reformatory settlement shall be employed, the rate at which they shall be paid, and the disposal, for the benefit of such persons, of the surplus proceeds of their labour; and

(o) the discipline to which persons endeavouring to escape from any industrial, agricultural or reformatory settlement or school or otherwise offending against the rules for the time being in force, shall be subject, the periodical visitation of such settlement or school and the removal from it of such persons as it shall seem expedient to remove.

Penalties and Procedure.

Penalties for failure to comply with terms of notice under section 5 or section 7.

21. Whoever, being a member of a criminal tribe, without lawful excuse, the burden of proving which shall lie upon him,—

(a) fails to appear in compliance with a notice issued under section 5 or section 7, or

(b) intentionally omits to furnish any information required under either of those sections, or

(c) when required to furnish information under either of those sections, furnishes as true any information which he knows or has reason to believe to be false, or

(d) refuses to allow his finger-impressions to be taken by any person acting under an order passed under section 9, may be arrested without warrant, and shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to six months, or with fine which may extend to two hundred rupees, or with both.

22. (1) Whoever, being a registered member of a criminal tribe, contra-

SRC. 22: CHARGE—FRAMING OF—NECESSITY OF.—Accused was convicted under this Act without framing any charge and without being given an opportunity for cross-examining the prosecution witnesses and without any evidence that he was a registered member of Criminal Tribe. Held, that the accused was prejudiced and his trial was bad in law, 32 I.O. 662=17 Cr.L.J. 70 (All.) A charge can be framed against an accused prosecuted under this Act on his mere statement before a Magistrate if it shows that he has no real defence and he can be convicted under sec. 22 if not under sec. 24. (Ibid.)

CHANGE OF RESIDENCE—OMISSION TO REPORT—PREVIOUS CONVICTION.—The previous convictions referred to in sec. 22 are convictions for breach of rules made under the Act and hence prior convictions for offences under the Penal Code cannot affect the question of punishment under that Act. 203 I.C. 499=1942 O.A. 565=1942 O.W.N. 682=18 Luck. 617. See also (1943) 2 M.L.J. 175 cited under sec. 20 supra. If a member of a criminal tribe notified under sec. 10 fails to report himself and to give information of his residence or intended change of residence he is liable to conviction under sec. 22 (2). If he has been previously convicted he is liable to conviction under sec. 22 (2) (b). 56 I.C. 226; 21 Cr.L.J. 434 (All.). See also I.L.R. (1941) Kar. 551=1942 Sind 51; (1943) 2 M.L.J. 175. A registered member leaving his village after reporting about his departure to the chaukidar of his village and omitting to report about his arrival in the village of his destination commits an offence, which is punishable with the maximum sentence of six months' imprisonment and is triable summarily by a Magistrate 50 A. 718=1928 A. 719. A clear distinction is drawn in the Criminal Tribes Act and in the rules framed under the Act between 'residence' and 'place of residence'. The word 'residence' means the place where an individual eats, drinks and sleeps or where his family or his servants eat, drink or sleep. An accused who is a registered member under this Act can be convicted under sec. 22 on the mere proof of his absence from his house in the night without having reported in accordance with rules framed under the Act, without further proof of his absence from his place of residence, that is, the district within which by law he is confined. 1934 A. L.J. 843=151 I.C. 359 (2)=1934 A. 767.

CONVICTION UNDER—SOLITARY CONFINEMENT IF CAN BE ORDERED.—A person having been convicted under this Act the Court cannot order a portion of the punishment to be solitary confinement as sec. 73, I. P. Code, allows it only in cases of convictions under the Penal Code. 21 A.L.J. 914=46 All. 114.

SEC. 23: SCOPE OF SECTION.—The section does not lay down any substantive offence and all that it provides is minimum sentences in certain contingencies unless there are special reasons to the contrary. 116 I.C. 750=26 A.L.J. 653=1928 All. 551. It is enough for the purposes of the section, if the convict has been previously convicted whether before or after his registration as criminal. 53 I.C. 612=20 Cr.L.J. 772 (All.). Notification of the tribe as criminal at the time of the previous conviction not necessary. 17 Cr.L.J. 392=35 I.C. 824. Sec. 23 (1) of the Act relates to the time of conviction and not to the time of the occurrence which is the subject-matter of the case which ends in his conviction. 51 L.W. 484=1940 Mad. 298=(1940) 1 M.L.J. 775. See also A.I.R. 1936 Sind 91. Evidence of conviction before passing of the Act is admissible. See 14 A.L.J. 687=17 Cr.L.J. 463=56 I.C. 143.

APPLICABILITY OF THE SECTION.—Sec. 23 refers only to convictions for offences specified in Sch. I of the Act and has no application to a conviction for an offence which is not contained in that Schedule. Sec. 23 (1) of the Act has in mind not only the previous convictions of the accused but also the offence for which he is being tried. 1938 O.W.N. 1053=A.I.R. 1939 Oudh 16=39 Cr. L.J. 1002. Sec. 23 is not applicable to the case of a person convicted under sec. 451, I. P. Code, who has been previously convicted of an offence under sec. 380, I. P. Code. Neither sec. 380 nor sec. 451, I. P. Code, is an offence mentioned in Sch. I of the Criminal Tribes Act. In such a case no enhanced sentence is called for as required by sec. 23. A.I.R. 1940 Pat. 14=40 Cr.L.J. 833 (2)=20 Pat.L.T. 879. The section refers only to conviction for offences specified in Sch. I, and sec. 454, I. P. Code, not being one of them a person convicted under sec. 457, I. P. Code, and again under sec. 454 can only be dealt with as an old offender but not under this Act. 146 I.C. 189=1932 A.L.J. 1070=1933 All. 115. So also a person previously convicted under sec. 411, I. P. Code. 40 P.L.R. 54.

SECOND AND THIRD CONVICTION.—The second conviction as under sec. 23 (1) (a) need not be second conviction under the Act, nor should it be second in fact. Taking all convictions prior to the Act as one by virtue of the proviso, the first after the Act is the second and the second after the Act is the third. 45 B. 1082=60 I.C. 1005=23 B. L.R. 347. See also 86 I.C. 715=26 Cr.L.J. 859=1925 Mad. 466; 40 M. 923=32 M.L.J. 212=33 I.C. 629; 17 Cr.L.J. 392=35 I.C. 824. This section does not require that the two previous convictions should have been convictions under this section. It only requires that the member of a criminal tribe should have been previously convicted of any of the offences in the Penal Code specified in Sch. I and should again be convicted of the same or of any other such offence. 116 I.C. 750=26 A.L.J. 727=1928 A. 551. (In this case though the section was applicable and the accused could be punished with transportation for life, a sentence of 7 years' rigorous imprisonment was considered sufficient as the subject-matter of the last offence was only a bundle of paddy). What sec. 23 (1) (b) means is that both the second and third convictions should be after the tribe to which the accused belongs had been declared a criminal tribe or after the accused is registered a member of the criminal tribe. 50 M. 474=1926 M. 1165=51 M.L.J.

- (a) on a first conviction, to one year,
- (b) on a second conviction, to two years, and
- (c) on any subsequent conviction, to three years, or with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees, or with both.

(2) Whoever, being a registered member of a criminal tribe, contravenes any other rule made under section 20 shall be punishable,—

(a) on a first conviction, with imprisonment for a term which may extend to six months, or with fine which may extend to two hundred rupees, or with both; and

(b) on any subsequent conviction, with imprisonment for a term which may extend to one year, or with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees or with both.

(3) Any person who commits or is reasonably suspected of having committed an offence made punishable by this section which is not a cognizable offence as defined in the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, may be arrested without a warrant by any officer in charge of a police-station or by any police-officer not below the rank of a Sub-Inspector.

495. See also 86 I.C. 715=26 Cr.L.J. 859=1925 M. 466; 30 S.L.R. 100=164 I.C. 95=A.I.R. 1936 Sind 91. The three convictions required before the provisions of sec. 23 (1) (b) come into operation need not be convictions after the accused has become a member of a criminal tribe, and if the accused is convicted of scheduled offences before he has become a member of a criminal tribe, these must be counted against him. 30 S.L.R. 100=37 Cr.L.J. 948=A.I.R. 1936 Sind 91.

VIEW FAVOURABLE TO ACCUSED TO BE TAKEN.—Where accused's previous convictions were under secs. 457 and 380 or 441, I. P. Code, held, that the view most favourable to the accused should be taken and for purposes of enhanced punishment, the previous convictions should be assumed to be under sec. 441 and therefore sec. 23 (1) (b) did not apply. 105 I.C. 464=28 Cr.L.J. 944=1927 M. 973. Where the accused who had confessed his guilt had adhered to his confession throughout and had given material assistance to the police was convicted and sentenced to ten years' rigorous imprisonment, held, that the conduct of the accused after committing the offence afforded some extenuation and that it should be reduced to seven years' rigorous imprisonment. 146 I.C. 479=1933 Oudh 429.

GROUND FOR REDUCTION OF SENTENCE.—The circumstance that a long interval of time has passed between the last conviction and the commission of the present offence is a special reason to the contrary within the meaning of sec. 23 (1) of the Act for awarding a reduced sentence. 49 L.W. 457=1939 M.W.N. 314=(1939) 1 M.L.J. 617. Where there is an interval of about 5 years between the date when a member of a criminal tribe came out of prison after serving a sentence of 7 years' rigorous imprisonment, and the commission of the next offence for which he is being tried; that is a special reason to the contrary within the meaning of sec. 23 (1) of the Criminal Tribes Act for awarding a lesser sentence than transportation for life. 1941 M.W.N. 875=54 L.W. 562=

1942 Mad. 81; where the appellant, a member of a criminal tribe, had been out of jail for about 7 years after his last conviction, that may very well be considered to be a reason to the contrary under sec. 23 (1) of the Criminal Tribes Act. 1941 M.W.N. 876=43 Cr.L.J. 212=1942 Mad. 33. There is no reason for holding that the "special reasons to the contrary" in sec. 23 (1) must be something apart from the nature of the offence, such as youth, illness, age or sex. The fact that the offence is not of a very serious nature may form a "special reason to the contrary" within the meaning of sec. 23 (1) for reducing the sentence. The Court must in every case consider all the circumstances in determining whether there are special reasons for not inflicting the minimum sentence. That the previous conviction took place a long time ago, the nature of the offence of which the accused is convicted, and the seriousness of the previous offence, to be judged generally from the sentence imposed, are all circumstances which the Court must consider in determining whether there are "special reasons." I.L.R. (1939) Bom. 169=41 Bom.L.R. 284=A.I.R. 1939 Bom. 153. See also 26 A.L.J. 727=1928 All. 551. In considering either the enhancement or reduction of sentence the mere fact that an offence is not of a serious nature cannot form a special reason. It must be something apart from the nature of the offence such as youth, age, illness or sex and the interval of time which has lapsed between the accused person coming out of prison after serving the last sentence and the commission of the offence. 53 M. 80=57 M.L.J. 743=1929 M. 841; 50 M. 474=51 M.L.J. 495=1926 M. 1165. But see 116 I. C. 750=26 A.L.J. 727=1928 All. 551 in which the sentence was reduced as the subject-matter of the previous offence was only a bundle of paddy. Where a period of about eight years had lapsed between serving the last punishment and commission of offence, the punishment was reduced from transportation to seven years. 53 M. 80=57 M.L.J. 743=122 I.C. 655=1929 M. 841, See

23. (1) Whoever, being a member of any criminal tribe and having been convicted of any of the offences under the Indian Penal Code specified in Schedule I, is convicted of the same or of any other such offence, shall, in the absence of special reasons to the contrary which shall be stated in the judgment of the Court, be punished,—

(a) on a second conviction, with imprisonment for a term of not less than seven years, and

(b) on a third or any subsequent conviction, with transportation for life:

Provided that not more than one of any such convictions which may have occurred before the first day of March, 1911, shall be taken into account for the purposes of this sub-section.

(2) Nothing in this section shall affect the liability of such person to any further or other punishment to which he may be liable under the Indian Penal Code or any other law.

Punishment for registered members of criminal tribe found under suspicious circumstances.

24. Whoever, being a registered member of any criminal tribe, is found in any place under such circumstances as to satisfy the Court,—

(a) that he was about to commit or aid in the commission of, theft or robbery, or

(b) that he was waiting for an opportunity to commit theft or robbery, shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to three years, and shall also be liable to fine which may extend to one thousand rupees.

Arrest of registered person found beyond prescribed limits.

25. (1) Whoever, being a registered member of a criminal tribe,—

(a) is found in any part of British India, beyond the area or place of residence, if any, to which his movements have been restricted or in which he has been settled without the prescribed pass, or in a place or at a time not permitted by the conditions of his pass, or

(b) escapes from an industrial, agricultural or reformatory settlement or school, may be arrested without warrant by any police-officer, village-headman or village-watchman, and may be taken before a Magistrate, who, on proof of the facts, shall order him to be removed to such area or place or to such settlement or school, as the case may be, there to be dealt with in accordance with this Act or any rules made thereunder.

(2) The rules for the time being in force for the removal of prisoners shall apply to all persons removed under this section or under any other provision of this Act:

Provided that an order from the Provincial Government or from the Inspector-General of Prisons shall not be necessary for the removal of such persons.

SEC. 25.—The accused who was registered as a member of a criminal tribe and was kept in the Sholapore Settlement was subsequently released on probation and allowed to leave the Settlement. During the period of probation the Criminal Tribes Settlement Officer ordered accused's probation to be cancelled for misconduct, and the accused was ordered to be returned to the Settlement. This order was communicated to the accused, but he refused to go to Sholapore and was arrested. Held, that the Settlement officer had power under R. 17 (1) (a) to pass the order and the accused was properly dealt with under sec. 25. 51 Bom. 409 = 29 Bom. Duties of village-headmen, village-watchmen and owners or occupiers of land to give information in certain cases.

26. (1) Every village-headman and village-watchman in a village in which any members of a criminal tribe reside, and every owner or occupier of land on which any such persons reside, and the agent of any such owner or occupier, shall forthwith communicate to the officer in charge of the nearest police-station any information which he may obtain of—

(a) the failure of any such person to appear and give information when required to do so by a notice issued under section 5; or

(b) the departure of any registered member of a criminal tribe from such village or from such land, as the case may be.

(2) Every village-headman and village-watchman in a village, and every owner or occupier of land and the agent of any such owner or occupier, shall forthwith communicate to the officer in charge of the nearest police-station any information which he may obtain of the arrival at such village or on such land, as the case may be, of any persons who may reasonably be suspected of being members of any criminal tribe.

27. Any village-headman, village-watchman, owner, or occupier of land, and the agent of any such owner or occupier, who fails to comply with the requirements of section 26, shall be deemed to have committed an offence punishable under the first part of section 176 of the Indian Penal Code.

28. The Provincial Government, if it is satisfied that adequate provision has been made by the law of any State in India for the restriction of the movements or the settlement in a place of residence of persons such as are referred to in section 3, and for securing the welfare of persons so restricted or settled, may, with the consent of the Prince or Chief of that State, direct the removal to that State of any criminal tribe, or part of a criminal tribe, for the time being in the province, and may authorise the taking of all measures necessary to effect such removal:

Provided that no person shall be so removed if the Provincial Government is satisfied that he is a subject of His Majesty.

Supplemental.

29. No Court shall question the validity of any notification issued under section 3, section 11 or section 12, on the ground that the provisions hereinbefore contained or any of them have not been complied with, or shall entertain in any form whatever the question whether they have been complied with; but every such notification shall be conclusive proof that it has been issued in accordance with law.

THE CRIMINAL TRIBES (MADRAS AMENDMENT) ACT (XXIX OF 1943).*

[23rd December, 1943.]

An Act further to amend the Criminal Tribes Act, 1924, in its application to the Province of Madras.

WHEREAS it is expedient further to amend the Criminal Tribes Act, 1924, in its application to the Province of Madras, for the purposes hereinafter appearing;

AND WHEREAS the Governor of Madras has, by a Proclamation under section 93 of the Government of India Act, 1935, assumed to himself all

LEG. REF.

The following Statement of the reasons which have moved His Excellency the Governor to enact the Criminal Tribes (Madras Amendment) Act, 1943, in exercise of the powers of the Provincial Legislature assumed by him under the Proclamation issued under sec. 93 of the Government of India Act, 1935, is published for general information:—

STATEMENT.—Experience in the working of the Criminal Tribes Act, 1924, has revealed the necessity for certain amendments to the Act. A Bill embodying the necessary amendments was published for criticism. After considering the objections and suggestions received, His Excellency the Governor has enacted the Criminal Tribes (Madras Amendment) Act, 1943. The amendments liberalise the provisions of the main Act in certain respects. The principal changes made by the amending Act are briefly explained below.

The expression "notified tribe" has been substituted in the Act for "criminal tribe" as the latter expression was considered inappropriate when applied collectively to a large number of persons.

powers vested by or under the said Act in the Provincial Legislature;

NOW, THEREFORE, in exercise of the powers so assumed to himself, the Governor is pleased to enact as follows:—

Short title.

1. This Act may be called THE CRIMINAL TRIBES (MADRAS AMENDMENT) ACT, 1943.

2. In section 2 of the Criminal Tribes Act, 1924 (hereinafter referred to as the said Act), clauses (3) and (4) shall be renumbered as clauses (4) and (5) respectively, and the following shall be inserted as clause (3), namely:—

“(3) ‘notified tribe’ means any tribe, community, group or class of persons, or a part thereof, in respect of which a notification has been issued under section 3.”

Substitution of new heading and section for section 3, Act VI of 1924.

3. For section 3 of the said Act and the heading therto, the following heading and section shall be substituted, namely:—

“Application of Act.

3. If the Provincial Government have reason to believe that any tribe, community, group, or class of persons, or a substantial number of persons belonging thereto, is addicted to the commission of non-bailable offences, they may, by notification in the Official Gazette, declare that such tribe, community, group, or class or as the case may be, a part thereof, shall be subject to all or any of the remaining provisions of this Act as specified in the notification:

LEG. REF.

NEW SEC. 3.—This enables the Government to issue a notification applying certain specified provisions of the main Act and not necessarily all its provisions, to a tribe, community, group or class of persons addicted to the commission of non-bailable offences. Such a notification can issue only after the members of the tribe, community, etc., have had an opportunity of showing cause against the action proposed.

SECS. 6 (iii) AND 7.—These sections provide that before any member of a notified tribe is registered under sec. 5 or 7 of the main Act an opportunity should be given to him to show cause against his registration. As a consequence sec. 8 of the main Act which enabled a person to make a complaint against his registration has become unnecessary and it has therefore been omitted. (Sec. 8.)

SEC. 10.—This gives the District Magistrate discretion to hold in abeyance any direction requiring a registered member of a notified tribe to report himself at fixed intervals. The object is to relax the control in respect of persons whose conduct justifies such consideration.

SEC. 15.—This enlarges the scope of sec. 17 of the main Act by enabling the Government to place the children removed from the baneful influence of their parents, in a certified school established under the Madras Children Act, 1920 or in an educational institution established or approved by the Government which need not be an industrial, agricultural or reformatory school.

Sec. 18 provides for the making of rules in regard to the following matters among others:—

(1) the periodical review of the cases of all members of notified tribes whose names have been entered in the registers prepared under the Act;

(2) the working of the “abeyance system”; and

(3) the periodical review of the cases of all persons who have been placed in a settlement under the Act.

SEC. 20.—Sec. 22 of the main Act provided for a higher punishment for a breach of any rule under clauses (e), (g) and (h) of sec. 20 (2) and a lower punishment for a breach of any other rule. New sec. 22 substituted by the amending Act removes this distinction and prescribes the lower punishment for a breach of any of the rules.

SEC. 21.—This provides that no conviction more than ten years old shall be taken into account for purposes of the enhanced punishment under sec. 23 of the main Act. A Magistrate of the First Class or a Presidency Magistrate is made competent to try a second offence if he could have tried the offence had it been the first offence. Such Magistrate is also empowered to try a third or subsequent offence committed in respect of property not exceeding fifty rupees in value if such offence could have been tried by him had it been the first offence. The maximum punishment in such cases has been reduced to imprisonment for two years.

NEW SEC. 23-A.—This section empowers the Government to place in a settlement a member of a notified tribe who is undergoing a sentence of imprisonment for an offence or any member of such tribe who is accused of an offence in lieu of prosecution therefor.

The other amendments made by the Act are formal or consequential.

Provided that before any such notification is issued, a reasonable opportunity shall be given to the tribe, community, group or class, or part thereof, which will be affected by the notification to show cause against its issue."

Amendment of the heading before section 4, Act VI of 1924.

4. In the heading before section 4 of the said Act, the words "of Members of Criminal Tribes" shall be omitted.

Amendment of section 4, Act VI of 1924.

5. In section 4 of the said Act, for the words "criminal tribe" in both the places where they occur, the words "notified tribe" shall be substituted.

Amendment of section 5, Act VI of 1924.

6. In section 5 of the said Act—

(i) in the opening paragraph, for the words "criminal tribe" the words "notified tribe" shall be substituted;

(ii) in the proviso, after the word "Provided" the word "further" shall be inserted;

(iii) before the proviso the following proviso shall be inserted, namely:—

"Provided that before registering any member in pursuance of this section, the District Magistrate shall give him a reasonable opportunity to show cause against such registration."

Amendment of section 7, Act VI of 1924.

7. To sub-section (2) of section 7 of the said Act, the following proviso shall be added, namely:—

"Provided that before adding the name of any person to such register, the Magistrate shall give him a reasonable opportunity to show cause against such addition."

Repeal of section 8, Act VI of 1924.

8. Section 8 of the said Act shall be omitted.

Amendment of section 9, Act VI of 1924.

9. In section 9 of the said Act, for the words "criminal tribe" the words "notified tribe" shall be substituted.

Amendment of section 10, Act VI of 1924.

10. In section 10 of the said Act—

(i) in sub-section (1), for the words "criminal tribe" the words "notified tribe" shall be substituted;

(ii) to the same sub-section, the following proviso shall be added, namely:—

"Provided that the District Magistrate may, in accordance with such rules as may be prescribed, hold in abeyance the direction issued under clause (a) in respect of any registered member";

(iii) in sub-section (2), for the words "criminal tribe" in both the places where they occur, the words "notified tribe" and for the words "has issued" the words "have issued" shall be substituted.

Amendment of heading before section 11, Act VI of 1924.

11. In the heading before section 11, the words "of Criminal Tribes" shall be omitted.

12. In section 11 of the said Act, for the word "considers" in the opening paragraph the word "consider" and for the words "criminal tribe" wherever they occur, the words "notified tribe" shall be substituted.

Amendment of section 11, Act VI of 1924.

Amendment of section 12, Act VI of 1924.

13. In section 12 of the said Act, for the words "issued by it" the words "issued by them" shall be substituted.

Amendment of sections 14, 15 and 16, Act VI of 1924.

14. In sections 14, 15 and 16 of the said Act, for the words "criminal tribe" wherever they occur, the words "notified tribe" shall be substituted.

Amendment of section 17, Act VI of 1924.

15. In section 17 of the said Act—

(i) for sub-section (1), the following sub-section shall be substituted, namely:—

“(1) The Provincial Government may order that the children of members of any notified tribe or part of a notified tribe, or of any member of a notified tribe, in respect of which tribe, part, or member, a notification has been issued under section 11, shall be separated and removed from their parents or guardians and placed in—

(a) a certified school established under the Madras Children Act, 1920; or
(b) an industrial, agricultural or reformatory school or other educational institution for children established or approved by the Provincial Government”:

(ii) in sub-section (2), for the words, brackets and figure “school established under sub-section (1)” the words, brackets, figure and letter “school or educational institution established or approved under clause (b) of sub-section (1)” shall be substituted;

(iii) sub-sections (4) and (5) shall be renumbered as sub-sections (5) and (6) respectively, and for sub-section (3) the following sub-sections shall be substituted, namely:—

“(3) The provisions of the Madras Children Act, 1920, shall, so far as may be, apply to children sent to a certified school under sub-section (1) as if they were children, or as the case may be, youthful offenders, sent to such school under that Act.

(4) The provisions of sub-sections (1), (2) and (3) of section 33 of the Madras Children Act, 1920, shall, so far as may be, apply in the case of every school or other educational institution established or approved under clause (b) of sub-section (1) as if the Superintendent of such school or institution had all the powers of the managers of a certified school established under the Act aforesaid and the children placed in such school or institution were children, or as the case may be, youthful offenders sent to a certified school under that Act.”;

(iv) to sub-section (5) as so renumbered, the following proviso shall be added, namely:—

“Provided that children shall not be sent to a certified school under sub-section (1) unless they are under the age of sixteen years.”

Amendment of section 18,
Act VI of 1924.

16. In section 18 of the said Act—

(i) in the opening paragraph, for the words “authorised by it” the words “authorised by them” shall be substituted and after the words “reformatory settlement or school” the words and figures “or any certified school established under the Madras Children Act, 1920, or other educational institution” shall be inserted;

(ii) in clause (b), for the words “some other settlement or school” the words “any other such settlement, school or educational institution” shall be substituted.

Amendment of section 19,
Act VI of 1924.

17. In section 19 of the said Act—

(i) for the words “the settlement or school” the words “the settlement, school or educational institution” shall be substituted;

(ii) after the words “reformatory settlement or school” the words “or any certified school or other educational institution” shall be inserted.

Amendment of section 20,
Act VI of 1924.

18. In sub-section (2) of section 20 of the said Act—

(i) for the words “criminal tribe” and “criminal tribes” wherever they occur, the words “notified tribe” and “notified tribes” shall respectively be substituted;

(ii) after clause (c), the following clause shall be inserted, namely:—

“(cc) the periodical review of the cases of all persons whose names are entered in the register for ascertaining their suitability for exemption from registration.”;

(iii) after clause (d), the following clause shall be inserted, namely:—

“(dd) the circumstances in which, and the conditions, restrictions and limitations subject to which, any direction issued under clause (a) of sub-section (1) of section 10 may be held in abeyance;”;

(iv) in clause (m), after the words “settlements and schools” the words “and other educational institutions established or approved under this Act” shall be added;

(v) the word “and” at the end of clause (n) shall be omitted;

(vi) in clause (o), after the words “reformatory settlement or school” the words “or other educational institution established or approved under this Act” shall be inserted and for the words “such settlement or school” the words “such settlement, school or educational institution” shall be substituted;

(vii) after clause (o), the following clause shall be added, namely:—

“(p) the periodical review of the cases of all persons who have been placed in an industrial, agricultural or reformatory settlement, for ascertaining the desirability of removing or modifying the restrictions imposed on them.”

19. In section 21 of the said Act, for the words “criminal tribe” the words “notified tribe” shall be substituted.

Amendment of section 21,
Act VI of 1924.

20. In section 22 of the said Act, sub-section (3) shall be renumbered as sub-section (2) and for sub-sections (1) and (2), the following sub-section shall be substituted, namely:—

Amendment of section 22,
Act VI of 1924.

“22. (1) Whoever, being a registered member of a notified tribe, contravenes any rule made under section 20 shall be punishable—

(a) on a first conviction, with imprisonment for a term which may extend to six months or with fine which may extend to two hundred rupees or with both; and

Amendment of section 23,
Act VI of 1924.

21. In sub-section (1) of section 23 of the said Act—

(i) in the opening paragraph, for the words “criminal tribe” the words “notified tribe” shall be substituted;

(ii) for the proviso, the following provisos shall be substituted, namely:— “Provided that no conviction which may have occurred more than ten years previously shall be taken into account for the purposes of this sub-section:

Provided further that notwithstanding anything contained in the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, a Presidency Magistrate or a Magistrate of the first class may try (i) a second offence if it could have been tried by him, had it been a first offence, and (ii) a third or subsequent offence if it is against property not exceeding fifty rupees in value and could have been tried by him, had it been a first offence; and the offender, if convicted by the Magistrate, shall be punished with imprisonment not exceeding two years.”

Insertion of new section
23-A in Act VI of 1924.

22. After section 23 of the said Act, the following section shall be inserted, namely:—

Power to place members of notified tribes accused or convicted of offences in settlements.

“23-A. (1) The Provincial Government may direct that any member of a notified tribe who is accused of an offence shall, in lieu of prosecution therefor, be placed in a settlement established under section 16.

- SCHEDULE I.—Form of bond to abstain from the commission of offences under the Dangerous Drugs Act, 1930.
- SCHEDULE II.—Amendments of local Acts.

[1st March, 1930.]

An Act to centralise and vest in the Governor-General in Council the control over certain operations relating to dangerous drugs and to increase and render uniform throughout British India the penalties for offences relating to such operations.

WHEREAS India participated in the second International Opium Conference, which was convoked in accordance with the resolution of the Assembly of the League of Nations dated the 27th day of September, 1923, met at Geneva on the 17th day of November, 1924, and on the 19th day of February, 1925, adopted the Convention relating to Dangerous Drugs (hereinafter referred to as the Geneva Convention):

AND WHEREAS India was a State signatory to the said Geneva Convention:

AND WHEREAS the Contracting Parties to the said Geneva Convention resolved to take further measures to suppress the contraband traffic in and abuse of Dangerous Drugs, especially those derived from opium, Indian hemp and coca leaf, such measures being more particularly set forth in the Articles of the said Geneva Convention;

AND WHEREAS for the effective carrying out of the said measures it is expedient that the control of certain operations relating to Dangerous Drugs should be centralised and vested in the Governor-General in Council;

AND WHEREAS it is also expedient that the penalties for certain offences relating to Dangerous Drugs should be increased, and that all penalties relating to certain operations should be rendered uniform throughout British India; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

CHAPTER I.

PRELIMINARY.

Short title, extent and commencement.

1. (1) This Act may be called THE DANGEROUS DRUGS ACT, 1930.

(2) It extends to the whole of British India, including British Baluchistan and the Sonthal Parganas.

(3) It shall come into force on such date as the Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, appoint.

Definitions.

2. In this Act, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,—

(a) "coca leaf" means—

(i) the leaf and young twigs of any coca plant, that is, of the Erythroxylon coca (Lamk.) and the Erythroxylon novogranatense (Hiern.) and their varieties, and of any other species of this genus which the Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, declare to be coca plants for the purposes of this Act; and

(ii) any mixture thereof, with or, without neutral materials; but does not include any preparation containing not more than 0.1 per cent. of cocaine.

(b) "coca derivative" means—

(i) crude cocaine, that is, any extract of coca leaf which can be used, directly or indirectly, for the manufacture of cocaine;

(ii) ecgonine, that is laevo-ecgonine having the chemical formula $C^9H^{15}NO^3H^3O$, and all the derivatives of laevo-ecgonine from which it can be recovered;

(iii) cocaine, that is, methyl-benzoyl-laevo-ecgonine having the chemical formula $C^{17}H^{21}NO^4$, and its salts;

(iv) all preparations, officinal and non-officinal, containing more than 0.1 per cent. of cocaine;

(c) "hemp" means—

(i) the leaves, small stalks and flowering or fruiting tops of the Indian hemp plant (Cannabis sativa L.) including all forms known as bhanga, siddhi, or ganja;

(ii) charas, that is, the resin obtained from the Indian hemp plant, which has not been submitted to any manipulations other than those necessary for packing and transport; and

(iii) any mixture, with or without neutral materials, of any of the above forms of hemp or any drink prepared therefrom;

(d) "medicinal hemp" means any extract or tincture of hemp;

(e) "opium" means—

(i) the capsules of the poppy (Papaver Somniferum L.);

(ii) the spontaneously coagulated juice of such capsules which has not been submitted to any manipulations other than those necessary for packing and

Code, and Opium Act is formed before Act of 1930 but continues to exist even subsequent to the coming into force of the Act and a prosecution is launched, reference to Act of 1930 can be made in the charge and sections of the Act can be applied. 62 C. 749—1935 Cr.C. 467—1935 Cal. 316.

TRIAL OF OFFENCE UNDER—DUTY TO AVOID DELAY.—In a case under the Dangerous Drugs Act, it is essential in the interest of justice that there should be as little delay as possible in the trial. 19 Pat.L.T. 845—1939 Pat. 172.

SEC. 2 (b) AND (g).—The expression "manufactured drug" is not exhaustively defined in the Act. Sec. 2 (g) merely provides as to what "manufactured drug" includes. Among other things it includes all "coca derivatives" which expression is defined in sec. 2 (b). The expression "coca derivatives" also includes "crude cocaine." 155 I.C. 406—1934 All. 374.

SEC. 2 (c) (iii).—The Act does not say what percentage of ganja will make a mixture a dangerous drug within the meaning of sec. 2. So whatever may be the percentage in any mixture, it will be a dangerous drug, unless the case may be brought within the general maxim that the law takes no notice of trifles. $\frac{1}{2}$ per cent. ganja in a preparation was held to constitute it a dangerous drug. 1937 M.W.N. 174.

transport; and

(iii) any mixture, with or without neutral materials, of any of the above forms of opium; but does not include any preparation containing not more than 0.2 per cent. of morphine;

(f) "opium derivative" means—

(i) medicinal opium, that is, opium which has undergone the processes necessary to adapt it for medicinal use in accordance with the requirements of the British Pharmacopoeia, whether in powder form or granulated or otherwise or mixed with neutral materials;

(ii) prepared opium, that is, any product of opium obtained by any series of operations designed to transform opium into an extract suitable for smoking, and the dross or other residue remaining after opium is smoked;

(iii) morphine, that is, the principal alkaloid of opium having the chemical formula $C^{17}H^{16}NO^3$, and its salts;

(iv) diacetylmorphine, that is the alkaloid, also known as diamorphine or heroin, having the chemical formula $C^{21}H^{23}NO^5$, and salts; and

(v) all preparations, officinal and non-official, containing more than 0.2 per cent. of morphine, or containing any diacetylmorphine;

(g) "manufactured drug" includes—

(i) all coca-derivatives, medicinal hemp and opium derivatives; and

(ii) any other narcotic substance which the Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, made in pursuance of a recommendation under Article 10 of the Geneva Convention, ¹[or in pursuance of any international convention supplementing the Geneva Convention], declare to be a manufactured drug;

but does not include any preparation which the Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette made in pursuance of a finding under Article 8 of the Geneva Convention, declare not to be a manufactured drug;

(h) "dangerous drug" includes coca leaf, hemp and opium and all manufactured drugs;

²[(i) "to import into British India" means to bring into British India by land, sea or air across any of the customs frontiers defined by the Central Government; ³(and includes the bringing into any port or place in British India of a dangerous drug intended to be taken out of British India without being removed from the ship or conveyance in which it is being carried);

(j) "to import inter-provincially" means to bring into a Province otherwise than across any of the said customs frontiers;

(k) "to export from British India" means to take out of British India by land, sea or air across any of the said customs frontiers;

(l) "to export inter-provincially" means to take out of a Province otherwise than across any of the said customs frontiers;

(ll) "British India" includes Berar; and]

(m) "to transport" means to take from one place to another in the same province, ⁴[*]

PROHIBITION AND CONTROL.

Prohibition of certain operations.

4. ¹[(1)] No one shall—

- (a) cultivate any coca plant, or gather any portion of a coca plant,
- (b) manufacture or possess prepared opium, unless it is prepared from opium lawfully possessed for the consumption of the person so possessing it, or
- (c) import into British India, export from British India, tranship or sell prepared opium:

Provided that this section shall not apply to the cultivation of any coca plant or to the gathering of any portion thereof on behalf of ²[the Crown].

¹[(2) The Provincial Government may make rules restricting and regulating the manufacture and possession of prepared opium from opium which is lawfully possessed under clause (b) of sub-section (1)].

Control of Central Government over production and supply of opium.

5. (1) No one shall—

- (a) cultivate the poppy (Papaver somniferum L.) or
 - (b) manufacture opium,
- save in accordance with rules made under sub-section (2) and with the conditions of any licence for that purpose which he may be required to obtain under those rules.

(2) The Central Government may make rules permitting and regulating the cultivation of the poppy (Papaver somniferum L.), and the manufacture of opium, and such rules may prescribe the form and conditions of licences for such cultivation and manufacture, the authorities by which such licences may be granted, the fees that may be charged therefor, and any other matter requisite to render effective the control of the Central Government over such cultivation and manufacture.

(3) The Central Government may also make rules permitting and regulating the sale of opium from Government factories for export or to Provincial Governments or to manufacturing chemists.

6. (1) No one shall manufacture any manufactured drug, other than prepared opium, save in accordance with rules made under sub-section (2) and with the conditions of any licence for that purpose which he may be required to obtain under those rules.

Control of Central Government over manufacture of manufactured drugs.

(2) The Central Government may make rules permitting and regulating the manufacture of manufactured drugs, other than prepared opium, and such rules may prescribe the form and conditions of licences for such manufacture, the authorities by which such licences may be granted and the fees that may be charged therefor, and any other matter requisite to render effective the control of the Central Government over such manufacture.

(3) Nothing in this section shall apply to the manufacture of medicinal opium or of preparations containing morphine, diacetylmorphine or cocaine from materials which the maker is lawfully entitled to possess.

Control of Central Government over operations at land and sea frontiers.

8. (1) No one shall—

(a) import or export inter-provincially, transport, possess or sell any manufactured drug, other than prepared opium, or coca leaf, or

(b) manufacture medicinal opium or any preparation containing morphine, diacetylmorphine or cocaine, save in accordance with rules made under sub-section (2) and with the conditions of any licence for that purpose which he may be required to obtain under those rules.

(2) The Provincial Government may ¹[* * * *] make rules permitting and regulating—

(a) the inter-provincial import and export into and from the territories under its administration, the transport, possession and sale of manufactured drugs, other than prepared opium, and of coca leaf; and

(b) the manufacture of medicinal opium or of any preparation containing morphine, diacetylmorphine or cocaine from materials which the maker is lawfully entitled to possess.

Such rules may prescribe the form and conditions of licences for such import, export, transport, possession, sale and manufacture, the authorities by which such licences may be granted and the fees that may be charged therefor, and any other matters requisite to render effective the control of the Provincial Government over such import, export, transport, possession, sale and manufacture.

(3) Save in so far as may be expressly provided in rules made under sub-section (2), nothing in this section shall apply to manufactured drugs which are the property and in the possession of Government:

Provided that such drugs shall not be sold or otherwise delivered to any person who, under the rules made by the Provincial Government under this section, is not entitled to their possession.

OFFENCES AND PENALTIES.

Punishment for contravention of S. 4.

10. Whoever—

- (a) cultivates any coca plant or gathers any portion of a coca plant,
 - (b) manufactures or possesses prepared opium otherwise than as permitted under section 4, or
 - (c) imports into British India, exports from British India, tranships or sells prepared opium,
- shall be punished with imprisonment which may extend to two years, or with fine, or with both:

Provided that this section shall not apply to the cultivation of any coca plant or to the gathering of any portion thereof on behalf of ¹[the Crown].

Punishment for contravention of S. 5.

11. Whoever, in contravention of section 5, or any rule made under that section, or of any condition of a licence granted thereunder,

- (a) cultivates the poppy, or
 - (b) manufactures opium,
- shall be punished with imprisonment which may extend to two years, or with fine, or with both.

12. Whoever, in contravention of section 6, or any rule made under that section, or any condition of a licence granted thereunder, manufactures any manufactured drug, shall be punished with imprisonment which may extend to two years, or with fine, or with both.

Hence in the absence of evidence that it was not prepared from the opium which he lawfully possessed, he cannot be convicted under sec. 10 (b). 171 I.C. 619 = 38 Cr.L.J. 1092 = 1937 Rang. 346.

SEC. 13 (b).—See 1937 M.W.N. 174.

SECS. 13 AND 32.—Mere import of opium is not an offence under sec. 13 (a) of the Act. The offence consists in importing contrary to the provisions of the Act. All that sec. 32 of the Act amounts to is that all imports, if proved, will be regarded as imports contrary to the Act until the presumption is rebutted by the accused. But the fact of import cannot be presumed from mere possession of the dangerous drug. Where all that is proved that a certain amount of crude opium was found in the possession of the accused, but there is no evidence to show that he actually imported the thing from anywhere else, it cannot be presumed that the accused has committed any offence in respect of a dangerous drug and he cannot be convicted under sec. 13 (a) of the Dangerous Drugs Act. Presumption cannot be substituted for the proof of facts which go to make up an offence. 21 Pat.L.T. 976 = 1941 P.W.N. 239 = 1941 Pat. 177.

The object of the buyer is not material, and so the mere fact that the transaction was brought about to entrap the seller will not render it any the less sale. 1936 A.L.J. 275 = 1936 A. 361.

Punishment for allowing premises to be used for the commission of an offence.

16. Whoever, having been convicted of an offence punishable under section 10, section 12, section 13, or section 14, is guilty of any offence punishable under any of those sections, shall be subject for every such subsequent offence to imprisonment which may extend to four years, or to fine, or to both.

Enhanced punishment for certain offences after previous conviction.

17. Whoever, having been convicted of an offence punishable under section 15, is again guilty of an offence punishable under that section, shall be subject for every such subsequent offence to imprisonment which may extend to four years, or to fine, or to both.

Enhanced punishment for offence under S. 15 after previous conviction.

18. (1) Whenever any person is convicted of an offence punishable under section 10, section 12, section 13, or section 14, and the Court convicting him is of opinion that it is necessary to require such person to execute a bond for abstaining from the commission of offences punishable under those sections, the Court may, at the time of passing sentence on such person, order him to execute a bond for a sum proportionate to his means, with or without sureties, for abstaining from the commission of such offences during such period, not exceeding three years, as it thinks fit to fix.

Security for abstaining from commission of certain offences.

(2) The bond shall be in the form contained in Schedule I, and the provisions of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, shall, in so far as they are applicable, apply to all matters connected with such bond as if it were a bond to keep the peace ordered to be executed under section 106 of that Code.

(3) If the conviction is set aside on appeal or otherwise, the bond so executed shall become void.

(4) An order under this section may also be made by an appellate Court, or by the High Court when exercising its powers of revision.

19. Whoever engages in or controls any trade whereby a dangerous drug is obtained outside British India and supplied to any person outside British India, otherwise than in accordance with the conditions of a licence granted under section 9, shall be punished with fine which may extend to one thousand rupees.

Penalty for contravention of S. 9.

21. (1) Whoever abets an offence punishable under this Chapter shall, whether such offence be or be not committed, in consequence of such abetment, and notwithstanding anything contained in section 116 of the Indian Penal Code, be punished with the punishment provided for the offence.

(2) A person abets an offence within the meaning of this section who, in British India, abets the commission of any act in a place without and beyond British India which—

(a) would constitute an offence if committed within British India; or

(b) under the laws of such place, is an offence relating to dangerous drugs having all the legal conditions required to constitute it such an offence the same as or analogous to the legal conditions required to constitute it an offence punishable under this Chapter, if committed within British India.

CHAPTER IV.

PROCEDURE.

22. (1) The Collector, or other officer authorized by the Provincial Government in this behalf, or a Presidency Magistrate or a Magistrate of the first class, or a Magistrate of the second class specially empowered by the Provincial Government in this behalf, may issue a warrant for the arrest of any person whom he has reason to believe to have committed an offence punishable under Chapter III, or for the search, whether by day or by night, of any building, vessel or place in which he has reason to believe any dangerous drug in respect of which an offence punishable under Chapter III has been committed is kept or concealed.

(2) The officer to whom a search warrant under sub-section (1) is addressed shall have all the powers of an officer acting under section 23.

23. (1) Any officer of the department of Excise, Police, Customs, Salt, Opium, or Revenue, superior in rank to a peon or constable, authorized in this behalf by the Provincial Government, who has reason to believe, from personal knowledge or from information given by any person and taken down in writing, that any dangerous drug in respect of which an offence punishable under Chapter III has been committed is kept or concealed in any building, vessel or enclosed place, may, between sunrise and sunset,—

(a) enter into any such building, vessel or place;

(b) in case of resistance, break open any door and remove any other obstacle to such entry;

(c) seize such drug and all materials used in the manufacture thereof and any other article which he has reason to believe to be liable to confiscation under section 33 and any document or other article which he has reason to believe may furnish evidence of the commission of an offence punishable under Chapter III relating to such drug; and

(d) detain and search, and, if he thinks proper, arrest any person whom he has reason to believe to have committed an offence punishable under Chapter III relating to such drug:

Provided that if such officer has reason to believe that a search warrant cannot be obtained without affording opportunity for the concealment of evidence or facility for the escape of an offender, he may enter and search such building, vessel or enclosed place at any time between sunset and sunrise, after recording the grounds of his belief.

(2) Where an officer takes down any information in writing under sub-section (1), or records grounds for his belief under the proviso thereto, he shall forthwith send a copy thereof to his immediate official superior.

Power of seizure and arrest in public places.

24. Any officer of any of the departments mentioned in section 23 may—

(a) seize, in any public place or in transit, any dangerous drug in respect of which he has reason to believe an offence punishable under Chapter III has been committed, and, along with such drug, any other article liable to confiscation under section 33, and any document or other article which he has reason to believe may furnish evidence of the commission of an offence punishable under Chapter III relating to such drug;

(b) detain and search any person whom he has reason to believe to have committed an offence punishable under Chapter III, and, if such person has any dangerous drug in his possession and such possession appears to him to be unlawful, arrest him and any other persons in his company.

25. The provisions of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, shall apply in so far as they are not inconsistent with the provisions of sections 22, 23 and 24, to all warrants issued and arrests and searches made under those sections.

26. All officers of the several department mentioned in section 23 shall upon notice given or request made, be legally bound to assist each other in carrying out the provisions of this Act.

Obligations on officers to assist each other.

27. Whenever any person makes any arrest or seizure under this Act, he shall, within forty-eight hours next after such arrest or seizure, make a full report of all the particulars of such arrest or seizure to his immediate official superior.

Report of arrests and seizures.

Punishment for vexatious entry, search, seizure or arrest.

28. Any person empowered under section 23 or section 24 who—

(a) without reasonable grounds of suspicion, enters or searches, or causes to be entered or searched, any building, vessel or place;

(b) vexatiously and unnecessarily seizes the property of any person on the pretence of seizing or searching for any dangerous drug or other article liable to be confiscated under section 33, or of seizing any document or other article liable to seizure under section 23 or section 24; or

(c) vexatiously and unnecessarily detains, searches or arrests any person, shall be punished with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees.

29. (1) Every person arrested and article seized under a warrant issued under section 22 shall be forwarded without delay to the authority by whom the warrant was issued; and every person arrested and article seized under section 32 or section 24 shall be forwarded without delay to the officer in charge of the nearest police station or to the nearest officer of the Excise Department empowered under section 30.

Disposal of persons arrested and of articles seized.

(2) The authority or officer to whom any person or article is forwarded under this section shall, with all convenient despatch, take such measures as may be necessary for the disposal according to law of such person or article.

Power to invest Excise officers with powers of an officer in charge of a police station.

30. The Provincial Government may invest any officer of the Excise Department or any class of such officers, with the powers of an officer in charge of a police station for the investigation of offences under this Act.

31. No Magistrate shall try an offence under this Act unless he is a Presidency Magistrate or a Magistrate of the first class, or a Magistrate of the second class specially empowered by the ¹[appropriate] Government in this behalf.

Jurisdiction to try offences.

contravention of any rules which under this Act fall to be made by the Provincial Government, that Government, and in other cases, the Central Government.]

32. In trials under this Act it may be presumed, unless and until the contrary is proved, that the accused has committed an offence under Chapter III in respect of—

- (a) any dangerous drug;
 - (b) any poppy or coca plant growing on any land which he has cultivated;
 - (c) any apparatus specially designed or any group of utensils specially adapted for the manufacture of any dangerous drugs; or
 - (d) any materials which have undergone any process towards the manufacture of a dangerous drug, or any residue left of the materials from which a dangerous drug has been manufactured,
- for the possession of which he fails to account satisfactorily.

33. (1) Whenever any offence has been committed which is punishable under Chapter III, the dangerous drug, materials, apparatus and utensils in respect of which or by means of which such offence has been committed, shall be liable to confiscation.

(2) Any dangerous drug lawfully imported, transported, manufactured, possessed, or sold along with, or in addition to, any dangerous drug which is liable to confiscation under sub-section (1), and the receptacles, packages and coverings in which any dangerous drug, materials, apparatus or utensils liable to confiscation under sub-section (1) is found, and the other contents, if any, of such receptacles or packages, and the animals, vehicles, vessels and other conveyances used in carrying the same, shall likewise be liable to confiscation:

Provided that no animal, vehicle, vessel or other conveyance shall be liable to confiscation unless it is proved that the owner thereof knew that the offence was being, or was to be or was likely to be, committed.

34. (1) In the trial of offences under this Act, whether the accused is convicted or acquitted, the Court shall decide whether any article seized under this Chapter is liable to confiscation under section 33: and, if it decides that the article is so liable, it may order confiscation accordingly.

(2) Where any article seized under this Chapter appears to be liable to confiscation under section 33, but the person who committed the offence in connection therewith is not known or cannot be found, the Collector or other officer authorized by the Provincial Government in this behalf, may inquire into and decide such liability, and may order confiscation accordingly:

Provided that no order of confiscation of an article shall be made until the expiry of one month from the date of seizure, or without hearing any person who may claim any right thereto and the evidence, if any, which he produces in respect of his claim:

Provided, further, that, if any such article other than a dangerous drug, is liable to speedy and natural decay, or if the Collector or other officer is of opinion that its sale would be for the benefit of its owner, he may at any time direct it to be sold; and the provisions of this sub-section shall, as nearly as may be practicable, apply to the net proceeds of the sale.

(3) Any person not convicted who claims any right to property which has been confiscated under this section may appeal to the Court of Session against the order of confiscation.

Sec. 32.—Scope and effect—Presumption under, not sufficient in absence of proof of import—Inference from mere possession not justified. See 21 Pat.L.T. 876, cited under sec. 13, supra.

Power to make rules regulating disposal of confiscated articles and rewards.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Provisions regarding rules.

36. (1) All rules made under this Act shall be subject to the condition of previous publication.

²[(2) Rules made under this Act shall be published in the Official Gazette.]

37. (1) Any arrear of any licence fee chargeable by any rule made under this Act may be recovered from the person primarily liable to pay the same or from his surety (if any) as if it were an arrear of land-revenue.

(2) When any person, in compliance with any rule made under this Act, gives a bond (other than a bond under section 18) for the performance of any act, or for his abstention from any act, such performance or abstention shall be deemed to be a public duty, within the meaning of section 74 of the Indian Contract Act, 1872; and, upon breach of the conditions of such bond by him, the whole sum named therein as the amount to be paid in case of such breach may be recovered from him or from his surety (if any) as if it were an arrear of land-revenue.

38. All prohibitions and restrictions imposed by* or under this Act on the import into British India, the export from British India, and the transshipment of dangerous drugs, shall be deemed to be prohibitions and restrictions imposed under section 19 or section 134 of the Sea Customs Act, 1878, and the provisions of that Act shall apply accordingly:

Application of the Sea Customs Act, 1878. Provided that, where the doing of any thing is an offence punishable under that Act and under this Act, nothing in that Act or in this section shall prevent the offender from being punished under this Act.

39. (1) Nothing in this Act or in the rules made thereunder shall affect the validity of any enactment of a local ³[or Provincial] Legislature for the time being in force, or of any rule made thereunder, which imposes, any restriction not imposed by or under this Act, or imposes a restriction greater in degree than a corresponding restriction imposed by or under this Act, on the consumption of or traffic in any dangerous drug within British India.

(2) Nothing in this Act or in the rules made thereunder shall affect the validity of the Opium Act, 1857:

Provided that, where the doing of any thing is an offence punishable under that Act and under this Act, nothing in that Act or in this sub-section shall prevent the offender from being punished under this Act.

Amendment of certain enactments.

40. [Rep. by Act I of 1938.]

41. When anything done under any enactment specified in the first three columns of Schedule II is in force immediately prior to the commencement of this Act, it shall be deemed, as from the commencement of this Act, to have been

THE DEFENCE OF INDIA ACT (XXXV OF 1939).

[Amended by Act XIX of 1940; and Ordinances No. XXIII of 1942; XLVIII of 1942; XIV of 1943; XLIV of 1943; III of 1944; XXVI of 1944; XXXV of 1944; XXV of 1945.]

[29th September, 1939.

An Act to provide for special measures to ensure the public safety and interest and the defence of British India and the trial of certain offences.

WHEREAS an emergency has arisen which renders it necessary to provide for special measures to ensure the public safety and interest and the defence of British India and for the trial of certain offences:

AND WHEREAS the Governor-General in his discretion has declared by Proclamation under sub-section (1) of section 102 of the Government of India Act, 1935, that a grave emergency exists whereby the security of India is threatened by war;

It is hereby enacted as follows:—

CHAPTER I.

PRELIMINARY.

Short title, extent, commencement and duration.

1. (1) This Act may be called THE DEFENCE OF INDIA ACT, 1939.

SEC. 1: ACT, NOT ultra vires.—It is within the powers of the Indian Legislature to pass the Defence of India Act. 76 C.L.J. 292. See also (1944) F.L.J. 72=A.I.R. 1944 Lah. 33 (F.B.); A.I.R. 1941 All. 321=1941 A.L.J. 352. Entry No. 1 of List 1 of the Government of India Act gives the Central Legislature power to legislate with respect to preventive detention in British India for reasons of state connected with defence and certain other specified matters. The Defence of India Act is therefore within the competence of the Central Legislature. (1943) 2 M.L.J. 90=6 F.L.J. 28=A.I.R. 1943 F.C. 1; 47 P.L.R. 134; 79 C.L.J. 189; 1943

Cal. 377. The expressions "Reasons of State connected with defence" in Entry No. 1 of List 1 (Government of India Act) and "Reasons connected with the maintenance of public order" in entry No. 1 of List 2 are wide enough to include "public safety or interest". (1943) 2 M.L.J. 468=6 F.L.J. 151=A.I.R. 1943 F.C. 75.

ACT AND RULES.—The Defence of India Act is intra vires of the Government and the Defence of India Rules have valid statutory authority independent of the Ordinance under which they were made. A.I.R. 1943 Oudh 227.

- (2) It extends to the whole of British India, and it applies also—
 (a) to British subjects and servants of the Crown in any part of India;
 (b) to British subjects who are domiciled in any part of India wherever they may be;
 (c) in respect of the regulation and discipline of any naval, military or air force raised in British India, to members of, and persons attached to, employed with, or following, that force, wherever they may be; and
 (d) to, and to persons on, ships and aircraft registered in British India wherever they may be.
- (3) This section shall come into force at once, and the remaining provisions of this Act shall come into force in such areas and on such date or dates as the Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, appoint.
- (4) It shall be in force during the continuance of the present war and for a period of six months thereafter.

AMENDING ACT—RETROSPECTIVE OPERATION.—Ordinance XIV of 1943 (amending Defence of India Act) has retrospective operation. This amending ordinance giving it retrospective operation is also not ultra vires of the powers of the Government. 56 L.W. 430.

PENDING PROCEEDINGS—LAW APPLICABLE TO.—"The law existing at the commencement of an action or proceeding must decide the rights of the parties and not the law that existed at the date of the judgment or order. Where the statute gives its provisions retrospective operation in express terms it would be a matter for consideration how far the retrospective operation extended and whether pending actions were intended to be affected by it. The question finally resolves itself into a matter of construction. In my judgment express words are not essential in order that a statute may apply to pending actions or proceedings. It is enough if that intention can be inferred, and for ascertaining the intention of the Legislature not only the meaning of words used in the enactment but also the object of the enactment must be kept in view. In fact the object of the enactment as gathered from its provisions would be a very important matter. A.I.R. 1943 Cal. 377 (390, 391), (S.B.).

DECISION OF FEDERAL COURT, BINDING ON HIGH COURTS.—By reason of S. 212, Government of India Act, the law declared by the Federal Court so far as applicable has to be followed by the High Court. The Federal Court may have the power, on a new point being taken before it, to revise its view but so far as the High Court is concerned it is bound by the Federal Court's decisions. (1944) F.L.J. 72=A.I.R. 1944 Lah. 33 (F.B.).

ACT BASED ON ENGLISH LAW.—"The Defence of India Act and the Defence of India Rules are not novel legislations but are analogous to the Emergency Powers Defence Act and the Defence (General) Regulations passed and made in England in 1939. The provisions in the Indian Act and Rules are not identical in every respect with the provisions contained in the English Act and Regulations, but the difference between the two is attributable to the varying conditions in the two countries." A.I.R. 1943 All. 277.

ENGLISH DEFENCE OF REALM ACT, 1914—LEGISLATION DURING THE LAST GREAT WAR.—During the last great war of 1914 the Crown obtained by Act of Parliament, power to issue regulations for securing the public safety and the defence of the realm. These Acts and regulations have been almost entirely repealed, and when the present World War began were re-enacted in a more stringent form. See Halsbury, 2nd Ed., Vol. VI, p. 533.

NATURE AND SCOPE OF THE ACT.—This Act is designed to provide special powers to meet the existing war emergency and is drawn on the lines of the Defence of India (Crl. Law Am.) Act, 1915, with adaptations to meet the present conditions. It is also largely based on existing War Regulations in the United Kingdom and repeals the Defence of India Ordinance of 1939. (See Statement of Objects and Reasons.)

CONSTRUCTION OF ACT AND RULES.—"In times of war and in matters relating to war the Crown enjoys generally a somewhat wider latitude in the exercise of the prerogative than in times of peace, for, in such matters more stringent measures than are ordinarily allowed by the common or statute law are frequently rendered necessary for the public safety or for the restoration of peace and good order." Halsbury, 2nd Ed., Vol. VI, p. 527. "The canons of constructions are not the same in respect of war measures as those passed in times of peace; [see Lords Macmillan and Wright in (1941) 3 All. E. R. 338 and 6 Halsbury's Laws of England, Hailsham Edition, p. 527]. Far greater latitude is allowed to the executive, and presumptions in favour of the liberty of the subject are weakened; but those canons and those rights do not disappear altogether. In my opinion, some limit must be placed upon claims to the arbitrary exercise of absolute power in matters connected with the restraint of a man's liberty, and unless such powers are unmistakably conferred either expressly or by necessary implication—and by 'necessary' I mean when no other construction is reasonably possible—they must be taken, at the very least, to be subject to the right of a person detained

(2) Without prejudice to the generality of the powers conferred by subsection (1), the rules may provide for, or may empower any authority to make orders providing for, all or any of the following matters, namely:—

(i) ensuring the safety and welfare of His Majesty's forces, ships and aircraft, and preventing the prosecution of any purpose likely to prejudice the operations of His Majesty's forces or the forces of His Majesty's allies;

(ii) prohibiting anything likely to prejudice the training, discipline or health of His Majesty's forces;

(iii) preventing any attempt to tamper with the loyalty of persons in, or to dissuade (otherwise than with advice given in good faith to the person dissuaded for his benefit or that of any member of his family or any of his dependents) persons from entering, the service of His Majesty;

(iv) preventing anything likely to assist the enemy or to prejudice the successful conduct of war, including—

(a) communications with the enemy or agents of the enemy,

(b) acquisition, possession without lawful authority or excuse and publication of information likely to assist the enemy,

(c) contribution to, participation in, or assistance in, the floating of loans raised by or on behalf of the enemy, and

(d) advance of money to, or contracts or commercial dealings with, the enemy, enemy subjects or persons residing, carrying on business, or being, in enemy territory;

(v) preventing the spreading without lawful authority or excuse of false reports or the prosecution of any purpose likely to cause disaffection or alarm, or to prejudice His Majesty's relations with foreign powers [or with States in India, or to prejudice the maintenance of peaceful conditions in the tribal areas,] or to promote feelings of enmity and hatred between different classes of His Majesty's subjects;

Explanation.—To point out, without malicious intention and with an honest view to their removal, matters which are producing, or have a tendency to produce, feelings of enmity or hatred between different classes of His Majesty's subjects does not amount to promoting such feelings within the meaning of this clause.

(vi) requiring the publication of news and information;

(vii) regulating the conduct of persons in respect of areas the control of which is considered necessary or expedient, and the removal of persons from such areas;

(viii) requiring any person or class of persons to comply with a scheme of defence;

(ix) ensuring the safety of ports, dockyards, light-houses, lightships, aerodromes, railways, telegraphs, post offices, signalling apparatus and all other means of communication, sources of water-supply, works for the supply of water, gas or electricity and any other place or thing the protection of which is necessary for the defence of British India;

(b) Inserted by the Defence of India (Amendment) Act, 1940 (XIX of 1940), section 2.

(1943) 2 M.L.J. 468=6 F.L.J. 151=A. I.R. 1943 F.C. 75 (86).

GOVERNOR'S POWERS AND DELEGATION OF HIS AUTHORITY.—The Governor is required to exercise his individual judgment. The Ministers can tender their advice to him but he is not bound to accept their advice. Hence, the Governor must act himself, unless he has delegated his power and duty to another by an order made under S. 2 (5), Defence of India Act. Standing Orders cannot authorise the Secretary, even in cases of urgency, to deal himself with a case of detention under R. 26. The matter being within the special responsibility of the Governor, the Governor alone (in the absence of an order made under S. 2 (5), Defence of India Act) has to make an order after he is satisfied about the necessity of the detention of that particular person. A.I.R. 1943 Cal. 377 (S.B.). See also A. I. R. 1944 Lah. 142 (F.B.).

c[(x) the apprehension and detention in custody of any person whom the authority empowered by the rules to apprehend or detain as the case may be suspects, on grounds appearing to such authority to be reasonable, of being of hostile origin, or of having acted, acting, being about to act, or being likely to act in a manner prejudicial to the public safety or interest, the defence of British India, the maintenance of public order, His Majesty's relations with foreign powers or Indian States, the maintenance of peaceful conditions in tribal areas or the efficient prosecution of the war, or with respect to whom such authority is satisfied that his apprehension and detention are necessary for the purpose of preventing him from acting in any such prejudicial manner, the prohibition of such person from entering or residing or remaining in any area, and the compelling of such person to reside and remain in any area or to do or abstain from doing anything;]

SEC. 2 (2) (x).—See also Notes under R. 26.

SEC. 2 (2) (x): Not ultra vires.—Paragraph (x) of sub-S. (2) of S. 2 of the Defence of India Act, is intra vires the Central Legislature in as much as Entry No. 1 of List I of the Seventh Schedule of the Constitution Act, 1935, gives the Central Legislature power to legislate with respect to preventive detention in British India for reasons of state connected with defence and certain other specified matters. (1943) 2 M.L.J. 90=6 Fed.L.J. 28=A.I.R. 1943 F. C. 1. The expression "reasons of State connected with defence" and the expression "reasons connected with the maintenance of public order" in Entry No. 1 of List I and Entry No. 1 of List No. II of Sch. VII of the Constitution Act are wide enough to include "public safety or interest," and therefore S. 2 of the Defence of India Act is not ultra vires either in its original or amended form. (1943) 2 M.L.J. 468=6 F.L.J. 151=A.I.R. 1943 F.C. 75 (F.C.). Section 2 of Ordinance XIV of 1943 has been validly enacted. (1944) A.L.J. 59=A.I.R. 1944 A. 62 (F.B.).

Section 2 and S. 2 (2) (x) in particular are not ultra vires on the ground that the Governor-General had delegated his powers of legislation on matters of principle and policy and had left it to the executive to make rules on those matters which should have been the subject of legislation by him, and that no principles had been laid down to guide the rule-making authority or to limit the powers of such authority or the scope of the rules to be made. S. 2 (1) read with Section 2 (2) (x) definitely lays down the principle or policy of legislation and does not delegate to the Central Government uncontrolled and unfettered power to make rules regarding the apprehension and detention of persons in general. S. 2 (2) (x) states in considerable detail who can be apprehended and detained and in what circumstances. The subsection does not leave it to the rule-making authority to apprehend and detain any one at its discretion or for any reason which it thinks fit. The power to make rules on this matter is circumscribed and strictly limited. The Legislature has laid down principles to guide and direct the rule-making authority and to limit its powers and the scope of the rules which it may make. (1944) F.L.J. 72=A.I.R. 1944 Lah. 33 (F.B.).

AMENDING ORDINANCE XIV OF 1943—SCOPE—NOT ultra vires—RETROSPECTIVE OPERATION.—Ordinance No. XIV of 1943, amending S. 2 (2) so as to bring into conformity with R. 26 of the Rules issued under it, is not ultra vires the powers of the Governor-General. The Ordinance has also retrospective effect. S. 2 of the Act alone would be sufficient to give retrospective effect to the Ordinance. In re, 56 L.W. 430=A.I.R. 1943 Mad. 714. The Governor-General is competent to make and promulgate ordinances giving the same retrospective effect. Hence the Governor-General has the power to make amendments in the Defence of India Act and give such amendments retrospective effect. The amendment made in the Defence of India Act by the Ordinance XIV of 1943 is therefore with retrospective effect. I.L.R. (1943) A. 778=A.I.R. 1943 All. 331=1943 A.L.J. 344.

Provincial Government cannot validate with retrospective effect the orders passed by the Additional District Magistrate. I.L.R. (1943) Nag. 154=1943 N.L.J. 1=A.I.R. 1943 Nag. 26 (per Pollock, J.).

AMENDING ORDINANCE XIV OF 1943 APPLICABLE TO PENDING PROCEEDINGS.—The Governor-General by his Ordinance XIV of 1943, says that no person, detained in the past under orders made under R. 26, Defence of India Rules, is to be released on the ground that the rule was bad. That being the plain intendment of the ordinance, its provisions, if otherwise valid, would apply to pending proceedings, as there is no saving of pending proceedings. A.I.R. 1943 Cal. 377 (S. B.); see also A.I.R. 1943 All. 331; A.I.R. 1944 Bom. 119 (120) (S. 3 of Ord. XIV of 1943 applies to pending proceedings).

MEANING OF WORDS.—There is no substantial difference in meaning between the two phrases "has reasonable cause to believe" and "is satisfied". I.L.R. 1943 Nag. 154=A.I.R. 1943 Nag. 26 (32). The one is used in the Indian Act and Rules and the other is used in the corresponding English rule.

(xi) the control of persons entering, departing from, or travelling in, British India, and of foreigners residing or being in British India;

(xii) prohibiting or regulating traffic, and the use of vessels, buoys, lights and signals, in ports and territorial, tidal and inland waters;

(xiii) restricting the charter of foreign vessels;

(xiv) regulating the structure and equipment of vessels d[* *] for the purpose of ensuring the safety thereof and of persons therein;

(xv) regulating work in dockyards and shipyards in respect of the construction and repairs of vessels;

(xvi) prohibiting or regulating the sailings of vessels from ports, traffic at aerodromes and the movement of aircraft, and traffic on railways, tramways and roads, and reserving, and requiring to be adapted, for the use of the Central Government, all or any accommodation in vessels, aircraft, railways, tramways or road vehicles for the carriage of persons, animals or goods;

(xvii) impressment of vessels, aircraft, vehicles and animals for transport;

(xviii) prohibiting or regulating the use of postal, telegraph or telephonic services, including the taking possession of such services and the delaying, seizing, intercepting or interrupting of postal articles or telegraphic or telephonic messages;

(xix) regulating the delivery otherwise than by postal or telegraphic service of postal articles and telegrams;

(xx) the control of e[agriculture, trade or industry] for the purpose of regulating or increasing the supply of, and the obtaining of information with regard to, articles or things of any description whatsoever which can be used in connection with the conduct of war or for maintaining supplies and services essential to the life of the community;

(xxi) ensuring the ownership and control of mines by British subjects;

(xxii) controlling the use or disposal of, or dealings in, coin, bullion, securities or foreign exchange;

(xxiii) the control of any road or pathway, waterway, ferry or bridge, river, canal or other source of water-supply;

(xxiv) the requisitioning of any property, movable or immovable, including the taking possession thereof and the issue of any orders in respect thereof;

(xxv) prohibiting or regulating the possession, use or disposal of—

(a) explosives, inflammable substances, arms and ammunitions of war,

(b) vessels,

(d) The words "used or likely to be used by the Central Government" omitted by the Defence of India (Amendment) Ordinance, 1942 (XXIII of 1942.)

(e) Substituted by the Defence of India (Second Amendment) Ordinance, 1942 (XLVIII of 1942) for the words "any trade or industry".

SEC. 2 (2) (xxiv): "MOVABLE PROPERTY"—MEANING.—The expression "movable property" in S. 2 (2) (xxiv) of the Defence of India Act includes a chose in action or a right to sue. 48 C.W.N. 163.

DEFENCE OF INDIA (AMENDMENT) ORDINANCE (XIV OF 1943), Ss. 2 AND 3—RELATIVE SCOPE—VALIDITY—If ultra vires.—Importance must be attached to the difference between the provision in S. 2 of the Defence of India (Amendment) Ordinance (XIV of 1943), which makes the substituted provision take effect from the date of the Defence of India Act itself and the provision in S. 3 which prevents any question being raised as to the validity of orders theretofore passed under R. 26 of the Defence of India Rules. Whether S. 2 of the Ordinance was valid or not, S. 3 is not invalid or ultra vires, as it cannot be said directly to amend or repeal any provision of the Defence of India Act, and is not so dependent on S. 2, or so connected with it as to be incapable of being given effect to by itself. S. 3 merely deals with the remedies of parties and the power of Court to give redress in respect of a breach of the pre-existing law and might well have been enacted by the legislature or by the ordinance making authority without any provision corresponding to S. 2 of the Ordinance. (1943) 2 M.L.J. 468=6 F. L.J. 151=A.I.R. 1943 F.C. 75 (F.C.); see also (1944) F.L.J. 72=A.I.R. 1944 Lah. 33 (36) (F.B.).

(c) wireless telegraphic apparatus,
 (d) aircraft, and
 (e) photographic and signalling apparatus and any means of recording information;

"(xxvi) prohibiting or regulating the bringing into, or taking out of, British India of goods or articles of any description (including coin, bullion, bank notes, currency notes, securities and foreign exchange), and applying the provisions of the Sea Customs Act, 1878 (VIII of 1878) and in particular section 19 thereof, to such prohibitions and restrictions."—(Ord. XXXV of 1944.)

(xxvii) prohibiting or regulating the bringing into, or taking out of, British India and the possession, use or transmission of ciphers and other secret means of communicating information;

(xxviii) prohibiting or regulating the publication of inventions and designs;

(xxix) preventing the disclosure of official secrets;

(xxx) prohibiting or regulating meetings, assemblies, fairs and processions;

(xxxi) preventing or controlling any use, calculated to prejudice the public safety, the maintenance of public order, the defence of British India or the prosecution of war, of uniforms, flags and insignia and of anything similar thereto;

(xxxii) ensuring the accuracy of any report or declaration legally required of any person;

(xxxiii) preventing the unauthorised change of names;

(xxxiv) preventing anything likely to cause misapprehension in respect of the identity of any official person, official document or official property or in respect of the identity of any person, document or property purporting to be, or resembling, an official person, official document or official property;

(xxxv) entry into, and search of, any place reasonably suspected of being used for any purpose prejudicial to the public safety or interest, to the defence of British India or to the efficient prosecution of war, and for the seizure and disposal of anything found there and reasonably suspected of being used for such purpose.

(3) the rules made under sub-section (1) may further—

(i) provide for the arrest and trial of persons contravening any of the rules * [or any order issued thereunder];

(ii) provide that any contravention of, or any attempt to contravene, and any abetment of, or attempt to abet, the contravention of any of the provisions of the rules, or any order issued under any such provision, shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to seven years or with fine or with both;

(iii) provide for the seizure, detention and forfeiture of any property in respect of which such contravention, attempt or abetment as is referred to in the preceding clause has been committed;

(iv) confer power and impose duties—

(a) upon the Central Government or officers and authorities of the Central Government as respects any matter, notwithstanding that that matter is one in respect of which the Provincial Legislature also has power to make laws, and

(b) upon any Provincial Government or officers and authorities of any Provincial Government as respects any matter notwithstanding that that matter is one in respect of which the Provincial Legislature has no power to make laws;

(v) prescribe the duties and powers of public servants and other persons

SEC. 2 (3) (iv) (b): "AS RESPECTS ANY MATTER"—MEANING OF.—The accused was alleged to have sold on 8-7-1942 a ream of paper for a price in excess of that fixed by the Provincial Government by an order issued R. 81 (2) of the Defence of India Rules. He was therefore convicted under R. 81 (4) of the Defence of India Act. R. 81 (4) as it originally stood only made penal any contravention of the provisions of the rule but not of any order passed as regards preventing the contravention of, or securing the observance of, the rules * [or any order issued thereunder];

(vi) provide for preventing obstruction and deception of, and disobedience to any person acting, and interference with any notice issued, in pursuance of the rules * [or any order issued thereunder];

(vii) prohibit attempts by any person to screen from punishment any one other than the husband or wife of such person, contravening any of the rules * [or any order issued thereunder];

(viii) empower or direct any authority to take such action as may be specified in the rules or as may seem necessary to such authority for the purpose of ensuring the public safety or interest or the defence of British India;

(ix) provide for charging fees in respect of the grant or issue of any licence, permit, certificate or other document for the purposes of the rules.

(4) The Central Government may by order direct that any power or duty which by rule under sub-section (1) is conferred or imposed upon the Central Government shall in such circumstances and under such conditions, if any, as may be specified in the direction be exercised or discharged—

(a) by any officer or authority subordinate to the Central Government, or

(b) whether or not the power or duty relates to a matter with respect to which a Provincial Legislature has power to make laws, by any Provincial Government or by any officer or authority subordinate to such Government, or under it. On 18-7-1942, the sub-rule was amended to include contraventions of the orders passed under the rule. Held, (1) that the offending act having been committed prior to the amendment of R. 81 (4), and that as the Provincial Government had no power to make penal provisions, no offence was committed by the accused though he contravened the order; (2) that the words "as respects any matter" in S. 2 (3) (iv) (b) of the Defence of India Act could not be construed as covering a provision for punishment for the contravention of any provisions of the rules or any order issued under such rules. (1943) 2 M.L.J. 287=A.I.R. 1943 Mad. 687; see also (1943) 1 M.L.J. 99.

(c) by any other authority.

SEC. 2, SUB-CL. (3) (ii): "SENTENCE OF SEVEN YEARS".—On this point the Hon. Sir Mhd. Zafrullah Khan said:—"Courts of justice in awarding sentence would have regard to the criminality of the act which had been proved. The Rules, as actually framed under the corresponding part of the Ordinance, do not in each case provide the maximum penalty of seven years. In some cases it is only as light as six months. In some cases it is two years, in some cases three, and in some cases, five. The mere fact that a maximum sentence of seven years is here provided for does not necessarily mean that for the contravention of every rule the maximum penalty of seven years will be imposed." (Assembly Debates—Hon'ble Sir Mhd. Zafrullah Khan, 19-9-39, p. 697.)

SEC. 2 (3) AND RR. 81 AND 122.—A salesman of a firm was convicted under R. 81 (4) of the Defence of India Rules and sentenced to pay a fine of Rs. 50 in respect of a sale of sugar on 15-7-1942 at a price in excess of that fixed by the Collector of Madras under R. 81 (2) (b) of the Defence of India Rules. At the time of the offence R. 81 (4) in its amended form did not provide any punishment for the contravention of an order made under the rules but only made punishable a contravention of R. 81. No appeal or revision was preferred. But subsequently, the partners of the firm were charged under R. 122 of the Rules. Held, that the power to frame rules for the punishment of offenders vested exclusively in the Central Government under S. 2 (3) of the Defence of India Act and neither the Provincial Government nor its officers had any power to frame their own penal provisions. The sale of sugar by the salesman on 15-7-1942 was not punishable under S. 81 (4) of Rules and therefore there was no contravention in respect of which the partners could be punished under R. 122. Penal provisions or powers must be specifically conferred where they do not already exist and they cannot be deemed to exist merely by inference or analogy. (1943) 1 M.L.J. 99=1943 M. W.N. 46=56 L.W. 39.

SECS. 2 (4) AND (5) AND RR. 75-A.—The expression "duty" in sub-sections (4) and (5) of S. 2 of the Act refers to any substantive and independent duty that may, by the rules, be imposed on the Government concerned under sub-S. (3) (iv) (a) and (b) of that section. The duty or obligation of the authority concerned to form an opinion as to the necessity or expediency of making a requisition of property under R. 75-A of the Defence of India Rules, is an integral part of the power to make the requisition. This being so, the delegation of the power carries with it the delegation of the duty to form the requisite opinion.

(5) A Provincial Government may by order direct that any power or duty which by rule under sub-section (1) is conferred or imposed on the Provincial Government, or which, being by such rule conferred or imposed on the Central Government, has been directed under sub-section (4) to be exercised or discharged by the Provincial Government, shall, in such circumstances and under such conditions, if any, as may be specified in the direction, be exercised or discharged by any officer or authority, not being f[(except in the case of a Chief Commissioner's Province)] an officer or authority subordinate to the Central Government.

LEG. REF.

(f) Inserted by the Defence of India (Amendment) Act, 1940 (XIX of 1940), S. 2.

Therefore, after the power is delegated the requisite opinion must be formed by the delegatee himself. 49 C.W.N. 322.

S. 2 (4)—“DUTY”—MEANING OF.—Per Gentle, J.—A duty of the Central Government which S. 2 (4) contemplates being delegated, is a substantial or an express duty, such as, a duty which, pursuant to S. 2 (3) (iv), can be imposed upon it, and its duty to appoint an arbitrator under S. 19 (1) (b). 49 C.W.N. 583.

SEC. 2, CLS. (4) AND (5).—The expression “duty” in sub-sections (4) and (5) of S. 2 refers to any substantive and independent duty that may, by the rules, be imposed on the Government concerned under sub-S. (3) (iv) (a) and (b) of that section. The duty or obligation of the authority concerned to form an opinion as to the necessity or expediency of making a requisition of property under R. 75-A of the Defence of India Rules, is an integral part of the power to make the requisition. This being so, the delegation of the power carries with it the delegation of the duty to form the requisite opinion. Therefore, after the power is delegated the requisite opinion must be formed by the delegatee himself. 49 C.W.N. 322.

SEC. 2 (5): SCOPE OF.—S. 2 (5) only requires a delegation where matters cannot be dealt with by the Provincial Government in the manner in which it normally deals with its executive business. (1943) 2 M.L.J. 468—6 F.L.J. 151—A.I.R. 1943 F.C. 75 (per Spens, C.J.). See also A.I.R. 1944 Lah. 142 (F.B.); 1943 Nag. 26. At the date when the Defence of India Act was passed, the Central Legislature had law-making power with regard to all matters in lists I, II and III by virtue of S. 102 of the Government of India Act, consequent upon the emergency proclamation of September 3rd, 1939. Consequently S. 2 (2) (xx) of the Defence of India Act giving authority to the Central Government to make rules relating to the distribution and sale of essential goods is within the competence of the Central Legislature and such matters being covered by Items 27 and 29 of the Provincial Legislative List. 49 C.W.N. 595. The provisions of the Defence of India Act relating to the requisitioning of movable property contained in S. 2 (2)

(xxiv) of that Act are within the powers of the Legislature under the heading “Public order” in Item 1 of List II. The words “public order” have a wide meaning and they authorise the Legislature to do such acts as are necessary for the public safety and defence of the country. 49 C.W.N. 607. See also 49 C.W.N. 505.

POWER OF COURT TO QUESTION ORDER OF DETENTION BY MAGISTRATE.—It is necessary that the Magistrates who have issued the orders of detention should be satisfied in respect of each person, detained, individually and separately, that it is necessary to detain him for the purposes specified in the section or some of them. If he is not satisfied and yet issues the order then he cannot be said to be acting upon or under a power conferred by the Act. I.L.R. (1943) Nag. 154—A.I.R. 1944 Nag. 26.

JURISDICTION OF ADDITIONAL DISTRICT MAGISTRATE.—An Additional District Magistrate has no jurisdiction to issue the order of detention. The Notification of 16—3—42 authorised him to exercise all the powers of a District Magistrate under the Cr.P. C. or under any other law “for the time being in force”. The expression “under any other law” cannot include R. 26 of the Defence of India Rules. The rule confers power on the Central and Provincial Governments only. The Provincial Government's Notification is not a statutory but an administrative or an executive order. The word “law” in “any other law” occurring in S. 10 (2) of the Cr.P. Code is not meant to include an executive order but only legislative enactments, and rules, regulations or orders which have the force of law, and consequently the District Magistrate, who acts for the Provincial Government under the powers conferred upon him by the Provincial Government by an executive order, cannot be regarded as acting under any “law” as such. 1944 N.L.J. 44—A.I.R. 1944 Nag. 84. S. 10 (2), Cr. P. Code and S. 2 (5), of the Defence of India Act are quite distinct in their scope and application. The former is concerned with the powers of the District Magistrate under the law and the latter with the powers of the Provincial Government. S. 10 (2) of the Cr. P. Code cannot be called in aid to confer the powers of the Provincial Government under R. 26 of the Defence of India Rules on any officer subordinate to it. 1944 N.L.J. 44—A.I.R. 1944 Nag. 84; (1887) 18 Q.B.D. 704, 708, Rel.

S. 2 (5)—DELEGATION OF POWERS UNDER

3. Any rule made under section 2, and any order made under any such rule, shall have effect notwithstanding anything inconsistent therewith contained in any enactment other than this Act or in any instrument having effect by virtue of any enactment other than this Act.

Effect of rules, etc., inconsistent with other enactments.

4. The Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, direct by general or special order that any persons who, not being members of His Majesty's forces, are attached to, or employed with, or following, those forces, shall be subject to naval, military or air force law, and thereupon such persons shall be subject to discipline, and liable to punishment for offences, under the Indian Navy (Discipline) Act, 1934, the Indian Army Act, 1911, or the Indian Air Force Act, 1932, as the case may require, as if they were included in such class of persons subject to any of those Acts as may be specified in the notification.

Special powers to control civilian personnel employed in connection with His Majesty's forces.

5. (1) If any person, with intent to wage war against His Majesty or to assist any State at war with His Majesty, contravenes any provision of the rules made under section 2 or any order issued under any such rule, he shall be punishable with death, or transportation for life, or imprisonment for a term which may extend to ten years, and shall also be liable to fine.

Enhanced penalties.

(2) If any person—

(a) contravenes any such provision of, or any such rule or order made under, the Indian Aircraft Act, 1934, as may be notified in this behalf by the Central Government, or

(b) in any area notified in this behalf by a Provincial Government, contravenes any such provision of, or any such rule made under, the Indian Arms Act, 1878, the Indian Explosives Act, 1884, or the Explosive Substances Act, 1908, as may be notified in this behalf by the Provincial Government, he shall,

RULE.—When a Provincial Government acting under S. 2 (5), delegates its powers under a rule of the Defence of India Rules to District Magistrate within the province, such delegation covers only the powers conferred by the rule as it stands on the date of the delegation. It does not cover powers conferred by amendments made in the rule subsequent to the date of delegation. A fresh delegation in respect of the powers under the amendment is necessary, if the powers under the amendment are to be exercised. 46 Bom.L.R. 495. See also 1944 O.W.N. 434; 1944 O.W.N. 429.

SEC. 2 (5) AND R. 89.—A Provincial Government's order directing that the powers conferred on the Provincial Government by Cls. (a), (f) and (i) of R. 89 (2) (1) of the Defence of India Rules with respect to the use of transport vehicles as defined in the Motor Vehicles Act, shall be exercisable also by the Provincial or Regional Transport Authorities constituted under that Act, is a valid delegation under S. 2 (5) of the Defence of India Act. There is no provision in the Defence of India Act to indicate that such a delegation is prohibited. The fact that the power may be simultaneously exercised by both the Central and Provincial Governments does not make such a delegation illegal. (1943) 2 M.L.J. 429=A.I.R. 1944 Mad. 135.

SEC. 3: RULES NOT PROPERLY MADE UNDER S. 2.—EFFECT OF.—It is not correct to say that by reason of S. 3, Defence of India Act, all rules purporting to be made under S. 2 have the effect of law whether properly made or not. S. 3 contemplates only rules properly made within the limits imposed by S. 2 and any rules made which are beyond the powers of the rule-making authority can never have the force of law by reason of S. 3 (1). (1944) F.L.J. 72=A.I.R. 1944 Lah. 33 (F.B.).

Section 3 states that any rule made under S. 2 and any order made under any such rule, shall have effect notwithstanding anything inconsistent therewith, contained in any enactment other than the Defence of India Act itself or any instrument having effect by virtue of any enactment other than the Act. (1944) 1 M.L.J. 263. Accordingly the Collector of Madras had authority to issue an order requisitioning a house belonging to a private person for the purpose of housing the incoming Collector of Madras. Where there was nothing to show that the requisition order was in any way mala fide the order cannot be questioned in Court. (1944) 1 M.L.J. 263.

A notification under S. 3 (1) ousts the jurisdiction of the regular Courts in respect of the offences and persons mentioned in it. 42 P.W.R. 1917=18 Cr.L.J. 927=42 I.C. 159=38 P.R. 1917 (Cr.) (Case under the old Defence of India Act, 1915).

SECS. 4 AND 5.—Proof of guilt under these rules—Common law rule is not applicable. 17 C.L.J. 189.

notwithstanding anything contained in any of the aforesaid Acts or rules made thereunder, be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to five years, or, if his intention is to assist any State at war with His Majesty or to wage war against His Majesty, with death, transportation for life, or imprisonment for a term which may extend to ten years, and shall in either case also be liable to fine.

(3) For the purposes of this section, any person who attempts to contravene, or abets or attempts to abet, or does any act preparatory to, a contravention of, a provision of any law, rule or order, shall be deemed to have contravened that provision.

Temporary Amendments of Acts.

6. During the continuance of this Act,—

(1) section 1 of the Geneva Convention Act, 1911, shall have effect in British India as if, in sub-section (1) thereof, for the words "shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding ten pounds," the words "shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to six months and shall also be liable to a fine" had been substituted;

(2) section 5 of the Indian Official Secrets Act, 1923, shall have effect as if—

(a) in sub-section (1) thereof, after the words "in his possession or control" the words "any information likely to assist the enemy, as defined in the rules made under the Defence of India Act, 1939, or" had been inserted and after the words "in such a place" the words "or which relates to, or is used in, a protected area, as defined in the rules made under the Defence of India Act, 1939, or relates to anything in such an area," had been inserted; and

(b) for sub-section (4) thereof, the following sub-section had been substituted, namely:—

"(4) A person guilty of an offence under this section shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to five years, or, if such offence is committed with intent to assist any State at war with His Majesty, or to wage war against His Majesty, with death, or transportation for life, or imprisonment for a term which may extend to ten years, and shall in either case also be liable to fine."

§(2-A) Section 12 of the Indian Official Secrets Act, 1923, shall have effect as if after clause (a) the following clause had been inserted, namely:—

"(aa) an offence under section 5 shall be a cognizable and non-bailable offence."

(3) the Indian Press (Emergency Powers) Act, 1931, shall have effect as if in sub-section (1) of section 4 thereof, after clause (b), the following word and clause had been inserted, namely:—

"or

(bb) directly or indirectly convey any 'confidential information,' any 'information likely to assist the enemy' or any 'prejudicial report', as defined in the rules made under the Defence of India Act, 1939, or are calculated to instigate the contravention of any of those rules";

(4) the Indian Aircraft Act, 1934, shall have effect as if—

(a) at the end of clause (r) of sub-section (2) of section 5 the following words had been inserted, namely:—

"including the taking of steps necessary to secure compliance with, or to prevent contravention of, the rules regulating such matters, or, where any such rule has been contravened, to rectify, or to enable proceedings to be taken in respect of, such contravention";

(b) in clause (b) of sub-section (1) of section 8, for the words, brackets, letters and figures "clause (h) or clause (i) of sub-section (2) of section 5", the words, brackets, letters and figures “clauses (d), (e), (h), (i), (k) or (l) of sub-section (2) of section 5, or the commission of an offence punishable under section 11,” had been substituted;

(c) in section 11, after the words “in the air” the words “or in such a manner as to interfere with any of His Majesty’s forces, ships or aircraft” had been inserted;

(d) in section 13, for the words, brackets, figures and letters “clause (i) or clause (l) of sub-section (2) of section 5” the words, brackets, figures and letters “clauses (c), (d), (e), (h), (i), (j), (k) or (l) of sub-section (2) of section 5, or punishable under section 11” had been substituted; and

(e) section 14 had been omitted; and

(5) h[the Indian Navy (Discipline) Act, 1934, shall have effect as if in the Naval Discipline Act as set forth in the First Schedule to that Act—

h-1(a) in section 53, for regulation (2) the following regulation had been substituted, namely:—

“(2) Judgment of death shall not be passed on any prisoner unless all the officers present at the court martial, where the number is less than five, and in other cases a majority of not less than two-thirds of the officers present, concur in the sentence.”

(b) in sub-section (2) of section 57-A, for the word “commander” the words “substantive or acting commander” had been substituted;

(c) in section 58—

(i) in regulations (1) and (16) for the word “five” the word “three” in regulation (7) for the words “the president is a captain” the words “the president is a substantive or acting commander”, in regulation (15) for the word “four” the word “two” had been substituted;

(ii) regulation (3) had been omitted];

(d) for section 90 the following section had been substituted, namely:—

“90. (1) If any person who would not otherwise be subject to this Act enters into an engagement with the Central Government to serve His Majesty—

(a) in a particular ship, or

(b) in such particular ship, or in such ships as the Officer Commanding the Indian Navy, or any officer empowered in this behalf by the Officer Commanding the Indian Navy, may from time to time determine, and agrees to become subject to this Act upon entering into the engagement, that person shall, so long as the engagement remains in force, and notwithstanding that for the time being he may not be serving in any ship, be subject to this Act, and the provisions of this Act shall apply in relation to that person, as if, while subject to this Act, he belonged to His Majesty’s navy and were borne on the books of one of His Majesty’s ships in commission.

(2) The Central Government may by order direct that, subject to such exceptions as may in particular cases be made by or on behalf of the Officer Commanding the Indian Navy, persons of any such class as may be specified in the order shall, while subject to this Act by virtue of this section, be deemed to be officers or petty officers, as the case may be, for the purposes of this Act or of such provisions of this Act as may be so specified; and any such order may be varied or revoked by a subsequent order.”

i[(6) the Motor Vehicles Act, 1939, shall have effect subject to the following modifications, namely:—

(a) Notwithstanding anything contained in section 62 of that Act a permit under that section may be granted, and shall be granted in any case in which the Provincial Government so directs, to be effective for a period exceeding four months;

(h). Substituted by the Defence of India (Amendment) Ordinance, 1942 (XXIII of 1942) for the original clause. (5).

(h-1) Substituted by Ordinance XLIV of

(i) Inserted by the Defence of India (Amendment) Ordinance, 1942 (XXIII of 1942).

(b) Notwithstanding anything contained in Chapter IV of that Act, but without prejudice to the provisions of section 60, the transport authority which granted a permit may at any time cancel the permit or may suspend it for such period as it thinks fit, if in the opinion of the transport authority it is no longer in the public interest that the service should continue and the vehicle or vehicles covered by the permit can be more usefully employed elsewhere; and the transport authority shall cancel or suspend a permit issued by it if so required by the Provincial Government;

(c) If in any particular case the Provincial Government thinks fit so to order, the authority empowered to grant a permit under Chapter IV of that Act shall not, in deciding to grant or refuse a permit, be bound to take into consideration representations made by any person, authority or association other than the applicant, or to follow the procedure laid down in section 57, and may accept an application for a stage carriage permit or a public carrier's permit though made less than six weeks before the date on which it is desired that the permit shall have effect;

(d) The Provincial Government may exempt from all or any of the provisions of Chapter IV of that Act, all or any transport vehicles used or required for use in connection with work considered by the Provincial Government to be work connected with the defence of British India or the prosecution of war.]

7. (1) Notwithstanding anything contained in the Indian Tea Control Act, 1938, the Central Government may appoint any person to be an additional member of, and to act as Chairman of, the Indian Tea Licensing Committee during the continuance of this Act, and on such appointment being made and until this Act ceases to be in force, the Chairman of the said Committee elected under section 5 of that Act shall cease to exercise the functions of Chairman.

(2) If in pursuance of any scheme for the control of import of Indian tea into the United Kingdom, the Central Government considers it necessary or expedient so to do, it may by order direct the Indian Tea Licensing Committee to apportion the requirement of the United Kingdom among the tea estates in accordance with such principles as may be laid down in the order, and the said Committee shall comply with such order.

(3) If at any time during the continuance of this Act, the agreement referred to in the preamble to the Indian Tea Control Act, 1938, is determined or otherwise ceases to be valid as between the parties thereto, the provisions of that Act shall, notwithstanding the said determination or invalidity of the agreement, continue in force:

Provided that nothing in this sub-section shall be construed as continuing the Indian Tea Control Act, 1938, in force after the 31st day of March, 1943.

CHAPTER III.

SPECIAL TRIBUNALS.

8. (1) The Provincial Government may for the whole or any part of the Province constitute Special Tribunals which shall consist of three members appointed by the Provincial Government.

Constitution of Special Tribunals.

SEC. 8: NOT MANDATORY, ONLY AN ENABLING PROVISION.—S. 8 is not mandatory, but merely enables the Provincial Government to constitute a Special Tribunal composed of persons possessing the qualifications set out in sub-cl. (2). The use of the word 'may' in this section as well as in S. 9 clearly shows that it is for the Provincial Government to decide whether a Special Tribunal should be constituted and whether any general or special order should be passed directing it to try the offences mentioned in S. 9. That the word "may" cannot be read as meaning "must" is clear from S. 14. 22 Pat. 433=A, I.R. 1943 Pat. 245 (S.B.).

(2) No person shall be appointed as a member of a Special Tribunal unless he—

(a) is qualified under sub-section (3) of section 220 of the Government of India Act, 1935, for appointment as a Judge of a High Court; or

(b) has for a total period of not less than three years exercised, whether continuously or not, the powers under the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898 (hereafter in this Chapter referred to as the Code) of any one or more of the following, namely:—

(i) Sessions Judge, Additional Sessions Judge, Chief Presidency Magistrate, Additional Chief Presidency Magistrate, (ii) District Magistrate, Additional District Magistrate.

(3) At least one member of a Special Tribunal shall be qualified for appointment thereto under clause (a) of sub-section (2), and where only one member is so qualified under that clause, at least one other member shall be qualified for appointment under clause (b) of that sub-section by virtue of having exercised powers exclusive of those specified in sub-clause (ii) of the said clause (b).

9. The Provincial Government may, by general or special order, direct that a Special Tribunal shall try any offence—

(a) under any rule made under section 2, or

(b) punishable with death, transportation or imprisonment for a term which may extend to seven years,— triable by any Court having jurisdiction within the local limits of the jurisdiction of the Special Tribunal, and may in any such order direct the transfer to the Special Tribunal of any particular case from any other Special Tribunal or any other Criminal Court not being a High Court.

10. (1) A Special Tribunal may take cognisance of offences without the accused being committed to it for trial.

(2) Save in cases of trials of offences punishable with death or transportation for life, it shall not be necessary in any trial for a Special Tribunal to take down the evidence at length in writing, but the Special Tribunal shall cause a memorandum of the substance of what each witness deposes to be taken down in the English language, and such memorandum shall be signed by a member of the Special Tribunal and shall form part of the record.

(3) A Special Tribunal shall not be bound to adjourn any trial for any purpose unless such adjournment is, in its opinion, necessary in the interests of justice.

(4) A Special Tribunal shall not, merely by reason of a change in its members, be bound to recall and rehear any witness who has given evidence, and it may act on the evidence already recorded by or produced before it.

(5) After an accused person has once appeared before it, a Special Tribunal may try him in his absence if, in its opinion, his absence has been brought about by the accused himself for the purpose of impeding the course of justice, or if the behaviour of the accused in Court has been such as, in the opinion of the Special Tribunal, to impede the course of justice.

(6) In the event of any difference of opinion among the members of a Special Tribunal, the opinion of the majority shall prevail.

(7) The Provincial Government may, by notification in the official Gazette, make rules providing for—

(i) the times and places at which Special Tribunals may sit; and

Sec. 9.—The use of the word "may" in S. 9 shows that it is for the Provincial Government to decide whether a Special Tribunal should be constituted and whether any general or special order should be passed directing it to try the offences mentioned in S. 9. A.I.R. 1943 Pat. 245.

(ii) the procedure to be adopted in the event of any member of a Special Tribunal being prevented from attending throughout the trial of any accused person.

(8) A Special Tribunal shall, in all matters in respect to which no procedure has been prescribed by this Act or by rules made thereunder, follow the procedure prescribed by the Code for the trial of warrant cases by Magistrates.

11. In addition, and without prejudice, to any powers which a Special Exclusion of public from proceedings of Special Tribunals.

Tribunal may possess by virtue of any law for the time being in force to order the exclusion of the public from any proceedings, if at any stage in the course of a trial of any person before a Special Tribunal application is made by the prosecution, on the ground that the publication of any evidence to be given or of any statement to be made in the course of the trial would be prejudicial to the safety of the State, that all or any portion of the public shall be excluded during any part of the hearing, the Special Tribunal may make an order to that effect, but the passing of sentence shall in any case take place in public.

Power of Special Tribunals.

12. A Special Tribunal shall have all the powers conferred by the Code on a Court of Session exercising original jurisdiction.

Sentence of Special Tribunals.

13. (1) A Special Tribunal may pass any sentence authorised by law.

(2) A person sentenced by a Special Tribunal

(a) to death or transportation for life, or

(b) to imprisonment for a term extending to ten years under section 5 of this Act or under sub-section (4) of section 5 of the Indian Official Secrets Act, 1923, as amended by section 6 of this Act—shall have a right of appeal to the High Court within whose jurisdiction the sentence has been passed, but save as aforesaid and notwithstanding the provisions of the Code, or of any other law for the time being in force, or of any thing having the force of law by whatsoever authority made or done, there shall be no appeal from any order or sentence of a Special Tribunal, and no Court shall have authority to revise such order or sentence, or to transfer any case from a Special Tribunal, or to make any order under section 491 of the Code, or have any jurisdiction of any kind in respect of any proceedings of a Special Tribunal.

(3) The powers conferred upon the Provincial Government and the Governor-General by Chapter XXIX of the Code shall apply in respect of a person sentenced by a Special Tribunal.

CHAPTER IV.

SUPPLEMENTAL.

Jurisdiction of Ordinary Courts.

14. Save as otherwise expressly provided by or under this Act, the ordinary criminal and civil Courts shall continue to exercise jurisdiction.

LEG. REF.

(j) Chapter IV came into force in the whole of British India on the 14th November, 1939, vide D.C. Dept. Notification No. 253-OR/39, dated the 14th November, 1939.

Sec. 14: SCOPE.—NO BAR TO SETTING UP SPECIAL COURTS.—Section 14 merely preserves the jurisdiction of the ordinary Courts in certain circumstances, so far as the Defence of India Act itself is concerned, not so far subsequent Acts are concerned. It indicates that the Defence of India Act (and that Act only) does not take away the ordinary Court's jurisdiction, except in the manner specifically indicated. It is no bar to the Legislature setting up other Courts like Special Courts under Ordinance II of 1942.

15. Any authority or person acting in pursuance of this Act shall interfere with the ordinary avocations of life and the enjoyment of property as little as may be consonant with the purpose of ensuring the public safety and interest and the defence of British India.

Ordinary avocations of life to be interfered with as little as possible.

Savings as to orders.

16. (1) No order made in exercise of any power conferred by or under this Act shall be called in question in any Court.

(2) Where an order purports to have been made and signed by any authority in exercise of any power conferred by or under this Act, a Court shall, within the meaning of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872, presume that such order was so made by that authority.

17. (1) No suit, prosecution or other legal proceeding shall lie against any person for anything which is in good faith done or intended to be done in pursuance of this Act or any rules made thereunder * [or any orders issued under any such rule].

Protection of action taken under the Act.

Further, if the provisions of the ordinance are in any way inconsistent with those of the Defence of India Act, those of the ordinance, which is equivalent to a subsequent Act, must prevail. 22 Pat. 433=A.I.R. 1943 Pat. 245 (S.B.).

The section preserves the jurisdiction of ordinary Courts under S. 491, Cr. P. Code, see A.I.R. 1943 Nag. 26 at p. 30. See now Ordinance III of 1944, S. 10.

SEC. 14.—Decree for ejectment of tenant by Civil Court—Order by District Magistrate requiring landlord not to interfere with possession of tenant—not ultra vires. See 47 Bom.L.R. 357.

SECS. 14 AND 15: POWERS CONFERRED ARE TO BE USED SPARINGLY.—Under the Defence of India Act nothing is to be altered, no rights or liberties to be interfered with, no privileges withdrawn or curtailed, except as expressly provided by or under the Act. The ordinary laws are to continue to function except and in so far as they are expressly altered by or under the Act. Even when they are altered the special powers conferred are to be used sparingly, and the ordinary lives and avocations of those proceeded against under the Act and its rules are to be interfered with as little as possible, and only to the extent consonant with the public safety and interest and the defence of British India. These conditions are express and restrictive. They are fundamental. The Act and the rules must be construed in the light of them. A.I.R. 1945 Nag. 8.

SEC. 15: SCOPE OF.—Section 15 of the Defence of India Act (1939) stating that an authority or person acting in pursuance of the Act shall interfere with the ordinary avocations of life and the enjoyment of property as little as may be consonant with the purpose of ensuring the public safety and interest and the defence of British India, is directory and must be read in conjunction with S. 16 which says that no order made in exercise of any power conferred by or under the Act shall be called in question in any Court. Of course this does not preclude the Court from deciding whether a power has been conferred or whether a power which has been conferred has been abused. (1944) 1 M.L.J. 263.

SEC. 16: BASIS OF ORDERS.—Section 16 requires that the order is passed in the exercise of the power conferred by the Act and not merely in colourable exercise of such power. It is not enough that the orders should be passed under colour of the power conferred. They must be done in actual exercise of it and no power is conferred to make such order in bad faith, or in abuse of the Act or for the purpose of effecting a fraud on the Act and consequently these issues must be investigated if they are raised. I.L.R. (1943) Nag. 154=1943 N.L.J. 1=A.I.R. 1943 Nag. 26.

ORDER MADE UNDER INVALID RULE.—An order made under or by virtue of a rule which is invalid has no force or effect and is a nullity. S. 16 (1) has no application to such an order. (1943) 2 M.L.J. 90=6 Fed. L. J. 28=A. I. R. 1943 F.C. 1.

An application in Court calling in question an order made under R. 75-A is barred by S. 16. I.L.R. (1941) 1 Cal. 181.

An order detaining a person in order to enable the Police to investigate into the alleged offence is a misuse of the powers and can be questioned in a Court. S. 16 is no bar. 1944 Lah. 373.

Section 16 is no bar to an inquiry whether the order passed under the Defence of India Act or the rules is a valid order made in good faith, and the question of good faith, when raised, has to be decided by the Court. A.I.R. 1945 Nag. 8. See also 48 C.W.N. 966.

(2) Save as otherwise expressly provided under this Act, no suit or other legal proceeding shall lie against the Crown for any damage caused or likely to be caused by anything in good faith done or intended to be done in pursuance of this Act or any rules made thereunder * [or any orders issued under any such rule].

Powers and functions and legal protection of Indian State Military and police forces and of Crown Representative's police force when employed on military or police duties in British India.

k[18. When any members of the military or police forces of an Indian State or any members of a police force constituted under the authority of the Crown Representative are, with the authority of the Central or a Provincial Government, employed in British India on military or police duties, then—

(a) sections 128, 130 and 131 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, shall apply to officers, non-commissioned officers and men of an Indian State military force when so employed as if they were officers, non-commissioned officers and soldiers respectively of His Majesty's Army;

(b) any provision of law for the time being in force which invests a police officer in British India with any status, power or function shall operate to invest a police officer of equivalent rank in an Indian State police force or in a police force constituted under the authority of the Crown Representative when so employed with the like status power or function; and for the purposes of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, an officer in any such force not below the rank equivalent to that of a sub-inspector of police in British India shall be deemed to be an officer-in-charge of a police station;

(c) any provision of law for the time being in force which gives protection, whether specifically or otherwise, to members of His Majesty's military forces or of the police forces in British India from or in respect of any prosecution or other legal proceedings or from or in respect of any other liability shall apply also to members of an Indian State military force and to members of an

LEG. REF.

* Inserted by Ord. XXV of 1945.

(k) Substituted by the Defence of India (Amendment) Ordinance, 1942 (XXIII of 1942), for the original section 18 as amended by the Defence of India (Amendment) Act, 1940 (XIX of 1940).

JURISDICTION OF COURTS TO SCRUTINIZE CONDITIONS OF DETENTION.—The rules drawn up under sub-rules 5 and 5-A of R. 26 of the Defence of India Rules are not the "orders" contemplated by Ss. 2 and 16 of the Defence of India Act and authorised by R. 26. The Court consequently has power to scrutinise the conditions of detention "determined" under sub-rules 5 and 5-A and to see that they do not contravene any law, and in particular the law laid down by S. 15 of the Act. 1944 N.L.J. 38.

SCS. 16 AND 17. ORDER PASSED IN BAD FAITH.—The immunity from judicial interference laid down in S. 16 (1) of the Act is not limited to orders made in exercise of the powers conferred by the Act but extends also to orders made in exercise of powers conferred by the Rules made under S. 2 of the Act. The presumption raised by S. 16 (2) covers both the fact of the making of the order by the particular authority by whom it purports to have been made, and the making of it in exercise of the powers conferred by or under the Act. But the presumption regarding both these matters is rebuttable. To reconcile sub-S. (1) of S. 16 with sub-S. (2) of that section and S. 17 of the Act which protects only acts done or intended to be done "in good faith," it has to be held that the immunity provided for in sub-S. (1) of S. 16 of the Act cannot be claimed for an order made in bad faith. What is protected by S. 16 (1) is an order made in exercise of the power and not one made in abuse of the power. If the power is exercised in bad faith or for a collateral purpose, it is an abuse of the powers and a fraud upon the statute and is not really an exercise of the power at all and the Court can interfere with such colourable exercise of the power. This construction of S. 16 (1) of the Act is consonant with the general principles of law of which it is a statutory recognition and embodiment. When, therefore, an issue is raised that an order superseding a Municipality under R. 51-F of the Defence of India Rules has been made in bad faith or for a collateral purpose, the Court is bound to enquire into the facts. The onus is, of course, on the party raising the issue to prove his allegation. 48 C.W.N. 766. See also 1945 Nag. 8.

Compensation to be paid in accordance with certain principles for compulsory acquisition of immovable property, etc.

19. (1) Where by or under any rule made under this Act any action is taken of the nature described in sub-section (2) of section 299 of the Government of India Act, 1935, there shall be paid compensation, the amount of which shall be determined in the manner, and in accordance with the principles hereinafter set out, that is to say:—

(a) Where the amount of compensation can be fixed by agreement, it shall be paid in accordance with such agreement.

(b) Where no such agreement can be reached, the Central Government shall appoint as arbitrator a person qualified under sub-section (3) of section 220 of the abovementioned Act for appointment as a Judge of a High Court.

(c) The Central Government may, in any particular case, nominate a person having expert knowledge as to the nature of the property acquired, to assist the arbitrator, and where such nomination is made, the person to be compensated may also nominate an assessor for the said purpose.

(d) At the commencement of the proceedings before the arbitrator, the Central Government and the person to be compensated shall state what in their respective opinions is a fair amount of compensation.

(e) The arbitrator in making his award shall have regard to—

(i) the provisions of sub-section (1) of section 23 of the Land Acquisition Act, 1894, so far as the same can be made applicable; and

(ii) whether the acquisition is of a permanent or temporary character.

(f) An appeal shall lie to the High Court against an award of an arbitrator except in cases where the amount thereof does not exceed an amount prescribed in this behalf by rule made by the Central Government.

(g) Save as provided in this section and in any rules made thereunder, nothing in any law for the time being in force shall apply to arbitrations under this section.

(2) The Central Government may make rules for the purpose of carrying into effect the provisions of this section.

(3) In particular and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power, such rules may prescribe—

(a) the procedure to be followed in arbitrations under this section;

(b) the principles to be followed in apportioning the costs of proceedings before the arbitrator and on appeal;

(c) the maximum amount of an award against which no appeal shall lie.

THE DEFENCE OF INDIA RULES.

PART I.

PRELIMINARY.

Short title.

1. [Eng. Def. R. 105.] These Rules may be called THE DEFENCE OF INDIA RULES.

nance under which they made. 1943 O.A. (C.C.) 16=1943 O.W.N. 37=1943 Oudh 227. S. 21 does not merely continue the rules made in pursuance of the powers given by Defence of India Ordinance but continues them by re-enactment. A.I.R. 1943 Cal. 377 (S.B.). S. 21 only requires the rule to have been 'made'—not validly made—under the earlier Ordinance. The object of S. 21 was only to avoid a break in the operation of the rules and to obviate the necessity of promulgating them afresh under the new enactment. It had no reference to the validity or validation of the rules. Hence R. 26 of Defence of India Rules should be held to have been continued by S. 21 even though it was declared to be ultra vires. 6 F.L.J. 151=A.I.R. 1943 F.C. 75=(1943) 2 M.L.J. 468.

RULES AND REGULATIONS.—Regulations made by the King in Council under the Defence of Realm Act have all the force of a Statute and may take away a Statutory privilege or impose a Statutory duty. (1919) 89 L.J.K.B. 42=121 L.T. 222=83 J.P. 182=35 T.L.R. 512=26 Cox.C.C. 458; see also (1944) F.L.J. 72=A.I.R. 1944 Lah. 33 (F.B.). The Act and Rules are not ultra vires of the Governor-General-in-Council and the High Court has not power to call in question orders passed thereunder. 20 C.W.N. 1327 (case under the old Defence of India Act, 1915). See also 1943 Oudh 227. Orders in Council applying Defence Regulations in accordance with statutory requirements are valid, and are not questionable in a Court of law. (1918) 1 S.L.T. 123 (Scot.). Rules framed under S. 2 must be read as part of that section and are effective from date of publication and are not dependent on the remainder of the Act being brought into operation. I.L.R. 42 Mad. 69 (case under the old Act).

ORDER UNDER THAT NO TENANT SHOULD BE EJECTED.—SCOPE, NATURE AND TIME OF APPLICATION OF SUCH ORDER.—PROCEDURE.—An order of a District Magistrate under the Defence of India Rules that no tenant should be ejected is one which should be applied at the time of actual ejection in the course of execution rather than at the time when the decree is to be passed. The obligation not to eject corresponds not with a right in the individual to resist execution in his own interests but with a right in some public officer, not a party to the decree, to resist ejection in the interests of the state. An order of this nature is irrelevant to a private dispute between the parties. Hence decrees for ejection should not be refused on their basis but courts executing such decrees should take judicial notice of such orders when brought to their notice and should either dismiss application for execution or stay proceedings. In cases of doubt the matter must be brought to the notice of the authority issuing the order to give him an opportunity of being heard in the interests of the state. 1944 O.W.N. (H.C.) 272=1944 A.L.W. 591.

The regulations authorised under the Defence of Realm Act not limited to regulations for the protection of the country against foreign enemies, but include regulations, designed for the prevention of internal disorder and rebellion. The operation of the proclamation is not limited to the duration of the military emergency, but remains in force till the end of the war unless revoked sooner. LIABILITY OF MASTER FOR ACTS OF SERVANTS.—Ordinarily a person should not be held liable for a criminal act of another. No person can be charged with the commission of an offence unless a particular intent or knowledge or mens rea—is found to be present; but in cases where a particular intent or state of mind is not of the essence of an offence, the person can be held liable for the act or omission of another. But the Defence of Burma Act is a piece of emergency legislation and is designed and intended, among others, to prevent profiteering so as to ensure the proper working of the normal economic life of the people. The act will entirely fail in its object if a master is not held liable for the act of his servant or a partner for the act of his copartner. Because of this, the Control of Prices Order, has been enacted. 1941 Rang.L.R. 536=A.I.R. 1941 Rang. 349 (case under Defence of Burma Rules).

R. 2 (9): PROVINCIAL GOVERNMENT—MEANING OF.—The definition of a Provincial Government in S. 3, General Clauses Act, must be read subject to the special definition of the Provincial Government in R. 2 (9); of the Defence of India Rules which defines Provincial Government in relation to a Chief Commissioner's Province as the Chief Commissioner. No doubt by R. 3, the General Clauses Act applies to the interpretation of the Rules as it applies to the interpretation of a Central Act, but that must mean that the Act applies whenever it can legitimately be applied. The provisions of the General Clauses Act cannot be applied to override the express provisions in the rules themselves. They can only be applied when there is nothing repugnant to their provisions in the rules. The meaning to be given to the phrase "Provincial Government," when used with respect to a Chief Commissioner's province, must be the meaning given in the rules themselves; namely in R. 2 (9), that is, the Chief Commissioner. (1944) F.L.J. 72=A.I.R. 1944 Lah. 33 (F.B.).

Province the Chief Commissioner;

(10) "public servant" includes any public servant as defined in the Indian Penal Code and any servant of any local authority or railway administration;

(11) "requisition" means in relation to any property to take possession of the property or to require the property to be placed at the disposal of the requisitioning authority;

(12) "war" means any war in which His Majesty may for the time being be engaged.

3. [Eng. Def. R. 100.] (1) The General Clauses Act, 1897, shall apply to the interpretation of these Rules as it applies to the interpretation of a Central Act.

(2) Any reference in these Rules to the forces, vessels, aircraft, servants, subjects or prisoners of war of His Majesty shall, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context, be deemed to include the forces, vessels, aircraft, servants, subjects, or prisoners of war, as the case may be, of any part of His Majesty's dominions, of any territories under the protection or suzerainty of His Majesty and of any State in alliance with His Majesty.

(3) Any reference in these Rules to the master of a vessel or the pilot of an aircraft shall be construed as including a reference to the person for the time being in charge of the vessel or aircraft, as the case may be.

4. No prohibition, restriction or disability imposed [by these rules, or by any order made or direction given thereunder not being an order or direction of the Central Government or of an officer specially authorised by the Central Government in this behalf expressly providing the contrary]. (D.D. 5 D.C. (64) 44, dated 29-4-44, Gazette of India, Pt. 5. If any person to whom any provision of these Rules relates, or to whom any order made in pursuance of these Rules is addressed or relates, or who is in occupation, possession or control of any land, building, vehicle, vessel or other thing to which such provision relates, or in respect of which such order is made—

RR. 2 AND 9: "ENEMY SUBJECT".—A Mahomedan debtor executed in April, 1939, a will in favour of the plaintiff, who was a Chinese merchant, resident in Penang, by which he bequeathed the whole of his movable and immovable properties in order to discharge the debts subsisting between them. In 1939, the plaintiff, through his powers-of-attorney holder in India sued to recover the amount due under a usufructuary mortgage forming one of the assets included in the will but he was non-suited on the ground that the will was not true and valid. The plaintiff appealed, but at the time of hearing of the appeal in October, 1939 after Penang had become enemy territory, it was pleaded that the plaintiff was an "enemy subject" under R. 97 of the Rules read with R. 2, and was debarred from suing in the Courts in India. Held, that the appeal was not maintainable either by the plaintiff because he had, since the dismissal of his suit, become an "enemy subject" within the meaning of the Defence of India Rules, or by his power of attorney agent, because the authority became automatically revoked consequent on the occupation of Penang by the enemy. 57 L.W. 554=(1944) 2 M.L.J. 293.

R. 2 (10): "PUBLIC SERVANT".—A head clerk of a Government office is a person who occupies a position to which certain duties of a public character are attached or a person who occupies a place in the administration of Government. He is accordingly a "public servant" within the terms of the definition in S. 21, I.P. Code. Hence the head clerk of the office of the controller of prices whose duties are immediately auxiliary to those of the controller, to whom the Government has delegated part of its functions is a public servant competent to lay a complaint in respect of an offence under Defence of Burma Rules. 1941 Rang. under a rule should be deemed to have committed the provision of the Rule authorising the making of the order. Therefore up to 10-1-1942, the penalty clause in R. 81, which is sub-rule (4) of R. 81 was quite in order in a case of contravention of an order made under R. 81 (2) of the Rules committed before that date. A person who was guilty of such a contravention can therefore be legally convicted under R. 81

(4). It is only after 10-1-1942, when R. 5 was amended that it can be said that any one failing to comply with an order under R. 81 (2) can be said to contravene only the order in question but not the provisions of the rule itself. The guilt and liability to punishment of a person has to be determined in accordance with the state of the law at the time when he commits the acts or makes the omissions for which he is prosecuted. 22 Pat. 602=1944 Pat. 1.

R. 6 (5): SENTENCE—RULE AS TO—GRAVITY OF OFFENCE.—Offences under R. 6 (5) of the Defence of India Rules, 1939, may obviously differ very much in their gravity, and they cannot be dealt with by any rule-of-thumb sentence. If there is any reason for supposing that a man has entered a prohibited area with a view to obtaining information which might be useful to the enemy, he would deserve a severe sentence. Again, if a man has entered a prohibited area knowing full well that it is prohibited having climbed over a fence or eluded a sentry or done something of that sort, he would deserve a more severe sentence than a man who has entered a prohibited area without appreciating that it is a prohibited area; but a man who enters a prohibited area inadvertently should be dealt with more leniently. Sentencing first offenders for offences of this type to a term of imprisonment would only be a very good way of manufacturing criminals for the future, though it cannot be laid down as a general rule that sentences of imprisonment shall not be imposed in the case of these offences. 43 Bom.L.R. 839=1941 Bom. 355.

(3) In any proceedings arising out of an alleged contravention of any of the provisions of this rule, it shall be a defence for the accused to prove that at the date of the alleged contravention, application had been made by him for the first time for the necessary permission in relation to the apparatus or contrivance in respect of which the proceedings are taken, and that the application was still pending at that date.

(4) If any person contravenes any of the provisions of this rule, he shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to three years b-1[or with fine or with both].

15. (1) In any area notified in this behalf by the Central Government, c[or the Provincial Government, that Government may, if in its opinion], it is necessary, or expedient for the efficient prosecution of the war or the defence of British India,—

(a) by general or special order prohibit the use, display or possession of any article which is intended to serve or to be used, or, in the opinion of d[that Government], is capable of serving or of being used, as a landmark or as a means of transmitting or conveying in any way any message or information to the enemy;

(b) by order direct the person having control of any such article as aforesaid to remove it, or to take such other action in relation to it as may be specified in the order;

(c) seize and remove any such article as aforesaid or take such other action in relation to it as may seem expedient to d[that Government].

(2) If any person contravenes any order made under any of the provisions of this rule, he shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to three years e[or with fine or with both].

(b) by notified order direct the said person to appear before such officer, at such place and within such period as may be specified in the order; and if the said person fails to comply with such direction he shall, unless he proves that it was not possible for him to comply therewith and that he had within the period specified in the order informed the officer of the reason which rendered compliance therewith impossible and of his whereabouts, be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to seven years or with fine or with both.]

^u[5-C) The Central Government or the Provincial Government may, by general or special order made with the consent of the Crown Representative, provide for the removal of any person detained by it under sub-rule (1) to, and for the detention of such person in, any area administered by the Crown Representative.]

(6) If any person contravenes any order made under this rule, he shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to five years ^v[or with fine or with both], and if such person has entered into a bond in pursuance of the provisions of sub-rule (3), his bond shall be forfeited, and any person bound thereby shall pay the penalty thereof, or show cause to the satisfaction of the convicting Court why such penalty should not be paid.

RULE 26.—SCOPE—VALIDITY—ORDER OF DETENTION—CONDITION PRECEDENT TO.—The validity of R. 26 has been put beyond question by S. 3 of the Ordinance XIV of 1943. But before an order under R. 26 for the detention of a person can be made, the "Provincial Government" must be satisfied that such detention was necessary for preventing the person proceeded against from acting in a prejudicial manner. Orders of detention made in pursuance of a general order, that if the police recommended detention of any person under R. 26, such person may be detained, are bad. (1943) 2 M.L.J. 468=6 F.L.J. 151=1943 F.C. 75 (F.C.).

"PROVINCIAL GOVERNMENT".—The expression "Provincial Government" in R. 26 does not mean anything other than what it would mean under the definition of the General Clauses Act. (1943) 2 M.L.J. 468=6 F.L.J. 151=1943 F.C. 75 (86); see also S. 20 of the Act.

"PROVINCIAL GOVERNMENT"—AUTHORITY TO BE SATISFIED BEFORE ORDER OF DETENTION CAN BE PASSED—DELEGATION.—"Provincial Government" in R. 26 of the Defence of India Rules means the Governor acting with or without the advice of his ministers, and delegation of powers and duties imposed on the Provincial Government by the Defence of India Rules can be made only under the provisions of S. 2 (5) of the Defence of India Act. In the absence of a delegation under S. 2 (5) of that Act, the authority to be satisfied under R. 26 must be the Governor. (1943) 2 M.L.J. 468=6 F.L.J. 151=1943 F.C. 75.

DETENUE, A PARTY TO PROCEEDING—POWER OF HIGH COURT TO DIRECT HIS ATTENDANCE.—The High Court has power to direct the attendance of a security prisoner detained under R. 26 of the Defence of India Rules when he is a party to a proceeding in Court. But as a matter of discretion it will not make such an order if the detenue can be adequately represented by counsel or otherwise, or if his interests are not likely to suffer by reason of his non-attendance, and never unless it is essential in the interests of justice that he should be produced. If the Government refuses to obey the order of the High Court, the High Court may conclude that such conduct indicates bad faith. Bad faith would attract the provisions of S. 491, Cr. P. Code, and the High Court would be entitled to hold that detention "according to law" means such detention as is consistent with S. 15 of the Defence of India Act, that is to say, a detention which enables the detenue to safeguard his rights to property in a reasonable manner, rights which are not confiscated or taken away or destroyed by the detention but which might in certain cases be seriously imperilled by Government's refusal to permit personal attendance in Court. The Court would have power to see that this was put right and to order that the detention be "according to law". If Government were still to be obdurate not only would the Court be entitled to release the detenue altogether on the ground of bad faith but also to bring into play its coercive processes contempt. 1944 N.L.J. 38.

DETENUE—RIGHT TO INTERVIEW LEGAL ADVISER—POWER OF HIGH COURT TO MAKE ORDER ALLOWING INTERVIEW.—There is no authority which would enable the High Court to direct the authorities responsible for the detention of a person under R. 26 to allow some third party, viz., his legal adviser to have access to him. That is a matter which is entirely within the discretion of Government, and it is not open to the High Court to make any order in the matter. In re 45 Bom.L.R. 316=1943 Bom. 194=1.L.R. (1943) 433.

POWERS OF ADDITIONAL DISTRICT MAGISTRATE.—No power under R. 26 can be exercised by the Additional District Magistrate simply by virtue of the Notification under S. 10 (2) of the Criminal Procedure Code. (1944) N.L.J. 44 (51)=1944 Nag. 84. The mere fact that an Additional District Magistrate can exercise the powers of the District Magistrate for a great many purposes does not necessarily invest him with authority to exercise all the District Magistrate's powers.

GROUND OF GOVERNOR'S BELIEF NOT TO BE QUESTIONED BY COURT.—The Court cannot investigate the sufficiency of the material or the reasonableness of the grounds upon which the Governor had been satisfied. But whenever powers of this kind or indeed other special statutory powers are conferred, they must, to the extent to which specific provision has been made in the statute conferring the powers, be exercised by the authority and in the manner specified in the statute and in strict conformity with the provisions thereof and the Court can see whether this is done. (1943) 2 M.L.J. 468=6 F.L.J. 151=1943 F.C. 75 (84-85).

Where persons who are detained under R. 129 are ordered to be detained under R. 26 as a matter of routine on a mere recommendation of the Police, the orders are bad in law as it does not appear that the matter was considered by the Governor at any stage, much less that at the time the order was made he was satisfied with regard to any of the matters set out in the order of detention. (1943) 2 M.L.J. 468=6 F.L.J. 151=1943 F.C. 75.

If on a perusal of an order under R. 26, it becomes clear that the authority or officer making the order did not apply its or his mind as required by R. 26, the order must be held to be invalid. The obligation to consider reasons or grounds for making the order and to be satisfied upon material laid before the authority or officer making it or within his or its cognizance is a condition precedent to the making of an order. If that condition is not satisfied, the order is a nullity, and is, in fact no order at all. In each case the Court has to consider the order of detention in the light of the actual language used and the circumstances surrounding the making of it. If the circumstances do not show that the authority or officer did exercise any executive discretion, or did make a quasi judicial consideration of the facts pertinent to the case of the person ordered to be detained, the order is no order at all and is of no force or effect. 47 Bom.L.R. 42 (F.B.).

GROUND OF DETENTION, NOT COMPETENT FOR COURTS TO ENQUIRE.—The Courts cannot enquire into the grounds of satisfaction or the sufficiency thereof but have certainly the jurisdiction to enquire as to whether that authority or person was satisfied as a matter of fact before he made the order of detention. 47 C.W.N. 802=1943 Cal. 377 (S.B.).

Ordinarily the ipsi dixit of the Governor would be quite enough and it would be extremely difficult for any one to prove that the Governor was not in fact satisfied when he stated that he was.

If a detaining authority give four reasons for detaining a man without distinguishing between them, and any two or three of the reasons are held to be bad, it can never be certain to what extent the bad reasons operated on the mind of the authority or whether the detention order would have been made at all if only one or two good reasons had been before them. (1943) 2 M.L.J. 90 = 6 F.L.J. 28=1943 F.C. 1 (8).

R. 26 (1) (b) not ultra vires.—It is well settled that R. 26 (1) (b) is intra vires, and that it is not open to a Court of law, on an application made by a person detained under that rule for a writ of habeas corpus, or in a suit to recover damages for false imprisonment to inquire into and pronounce on the validity of the reasons which led to the making of the order. It is, however, equally well settled that the High Court may examine the correctness of the recital contained in any such order, and if it comes to the conclusion that the recital is incorrect, may declare the order to be invalid and the detention of the individual concerned illegal. 23 Pat. 252=1944 P.W.N. 245=A. I. R. 1944 Pat. 354. See also 23 Pat. 475.

“Satisfied” meaning—Governor ordering detention with ulterior object to regularise illegal detention or to punish for past acts.—The word “satisfied” in R. 26 (1) (b) of the Defence of India Rules means “reasonably satisfied”. It cannot import an arbitrary or irrational state of being satisfied. If it can be shown that the Governor acted under a mis-apprehension as to the extent of the powers entrusted to him and did not in fact order the detention of a particular individual with a view to prevent him from acting in a manner prejudicial to the public order but with some ulterior object, such as to regularise illegal detention or to punish him for acts already done rather than to prevent him from doing or instigating the doing of similar acts again, he would be entitled to be released. In such a case it cannot be said that the Governor had in law acted in good faith and the order of detention would be practically a sham order. 23 Pat. 252=1944 P.W.N. 245=A.I.R. 1944 Pat. 354.

DUTY OF CROWN TO SUPPLY COPY OF ORDER

TO PERSON DETAINED.—It is essential that, when a person is detained under R. 26 (1) (b), a copy of the order made against him should be supplied to him immediately. If that is not done and if he makes an application to the High Court under S. 491, Cr. P. Code, the High Court will have no option but to issue a Rule forthwith. It is also incumbent on the Crown, whenever a rule is issued, to exhibit in the High Court the original order. 23 Pat. 252=(1944) P. W.N. 245=A.I.R. 1944 Pat. 354.

ORDER OF DETENTION—REASONS FOR ORDER.—IF TO BE DISCLOSED OR SET OUT IN ORDER.—In making an order of detention under R. 26 (1) (b) the Governor is not required to communicate to the person detained the grounds on which he makes the order, and the High Court is not entitled to compel their disclosure and examine into them. The Governor is not required to give any indication of the reasons which led to the making of the order still less to set them out in the order itself. 23 Pat. 252=(1944) P.W. N. 245=A.I.R. 1944 Pat. 354.

PERSON ARRESTED AND BROUGHT UP FOR TRIAL ON CHARGE—ORDER OF DETENTION AGAINST—PROPRIETY.—When a man is arrested and brought up before a Court on some definite and specific charge, it is very undesirable and quite wrong for an order of detention to be made against him before he has been tried on the charge and his guilt or innocence finally determined. If he is convicted and sentenced the necessity for any order of detention ceases to exist, at least until he has served out the sentence. If, on the other hand, he is acquitted and an order of detention is sought against him, the official, on whom the responsibility of making an order rests, should obtain and study a copy of the judgment of acquittal; and if he neglects to send for and study a copy of the judgment, it may very well be said that he has failed to act with due care and attention in the discharge of that duty. 23 Pat. 252=1944 P.W.N. 245=A. I. R. 1944 Pat. 354.

ORDER OF DETENTION BY GOVERNOR—PRESUMPTION THAT MATERIALS WERE PLACED BEFORE GOVERNOR AND THAT ORDER WAS MADE BY GOVERNOR.—Where an order of detention under R. 26 (1) (b) is made by the Governor, a presumption arises that in exercising his power the Governor had acted regularly and that before making the order he had satisfied himself on the materials placed before him that it was necessary to detain the individual named with a view to prevent him from acting in a manner prejudicial to the public order. The presumption, however, is a rebuttable one. There is of course an obligation on the Chief Secretary to Government to submit cases of this kind to the Governor and to obtain his orders. In the absence of anything to the contrary in the affidavits or proof adduced by the person detained, the High Court is bound to presume that the Chief Secretary did in fact place the materials before the Governor and that the order of detention was in fact made by the Governor. If in a particular case this has not been done and the order of detention was in fact that of some other subordinate official the detention would be illegal. But ordinarily, there is a presumption that the papers were laid before the Governor. Further, it is not open to Court to require proof that an order which purports to have been made by the Governor which is properly authenticated as such order, was in fact made by him. 23 Pat. 252=1944 P.W.N. 245= 1944 Pat. 354.

CRITICISM OF GOVERNMENT—SEDITION AS GROUND FOR DETENTION ORDER.—Where the criticism of the Government passes beyond all fair comment, the question is not whether some of these criticisms have a certain amount of justification or not, but whether they have been over-emphasised in such a way, and such inferences have been drawn from them, that the intention of the speaker to bring the Government into hatred or contempt is manifest. 1943 Oudh 227; 1942 Fed. cases 22.

EMERGENCY, WHAT CONSTITUTES.—No hard and fast rule can be laid down as to what constitutes an emergency, justifying the promulgation of an Ordinance. Thus the decision of the Federal Court that R. 26 was ultra vires was held to constitute an emergency that led to Ordinance XIV of 1943. (1943) 2 M.L.J. 468=6 F.L.J. 151=1943 F.C. 75.

RIGHT OF DETENUE TO PREFER HABEAS CORPUS APPLICATION UNDER S. 491, Cr. P. CODE—ORD. III OF 1944.—S. 10 of Ord. III of 1944 enacts that "no order made under this Ordinance and no order having effect by virtue of S. 6 (i.e., validation of orders made under R. 26 of the Defence of India Rules) shall be called in question in any Court, and no Court shall have power to make any order under S. 491, Cr. P. Code in respect of any order made or having effect under this ordinance, or in respect of any person, the subject of such an order." See 23 Pat. 968=1945 Pat. 44.

RIGHT OF DETENUE TO PREFER HABEAS CORPUS APPLICATION—LAW BEFORE ORDINANCE III OF 1944. See 1943 Nag. 26.

EVIDENCE—PRESUMPTION AND BURDEN OF PROOF.—The production by the Secretary of State of an order of detention by him ex facie regular and duly authenticated, constitutes a peremptory defence to any action of false imprisonment and places upon the plaintiff the burden of establishing that the order is unwarranted, defective or otherwise invalid. Per Lord Macmillan in (1941) 3 All.E.R. 338 (370). Orders of detention passed under R. 26 (1) (b) are not public records and therefore S. 35, Evidence Act, has no application. (1944) F. L.J. 72=A.I.R. 1944 Lah. 33 (F.B.).

The presumption set out in illustration (c) to S. 114, Evidence Act, vis., that official acts have been regularly performed attaches to these orders. Before any such presumption can arise it must be shown that the orders are on the face of them regular and conform to the provisions of the rule under which they purport to have been made. (1943) 2 M.L.J. 468=6 F.L.J. 151=1943 F.C. 75 (88).

The words "may presume" in S. 114, leave it to the Court to make or not to make the presumption, according to the circumstances of the case; and the presumption when made is rebuttable. (1943) 2 M.L.J. 468=6 F.L.J. 151=1943 F.C. 75 (84).

ANSWERS BY MINISTER IN THE LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY ADMISSIBLE.—Answers given by a Minister in the Legislative Assembly in his capacity and in the discharge of his duties as such Minister, to whom the duty of answering questions on the subject had been allocated by the Governor under the Rules of Business are admissible under Ss. 17, 18 and 20, Evidence Act, as admissions on behalf of the Government. (1943) 2 M.L.J. 468=6 F.L.J. 151=1943 F.C. 75.

EXERCISE OF POWERS UNDER THIS RULE—PROCEDURE.—"Whenever powers of this kind or indeed other special statutory powers are conferred, they must to the extent to which specific provision has been made in the statute conferring the powers be exercised by the authority and in the manner specified in the statute and in strict conformity with the provisions thereof." (1943) 2 M. L.J. 468=6 F.L.J. 151=1943 F.C. 75 (85).

REFERENCE BY HIGH COURT TO FEDERAL COURT.—Where an appellate order passed by the Federal Court is not clear and the High Court makes a reference to the Federal Court with a desire to be more fully informed as to the meaning and effect of the appellate order, the Federal Court can entertain the reference and clarify its previous appellate order. See 6 F.L.J. 73 =1943 F.C. 72.

RR. 26 AND 129—INVESTIGATION INTO OFFENCE—PROCEDURE.—If either the police or the Provincial Government desire an investigation into any offence, whether under the Penal Code or under the Defence of India Rules, then they are bound to conduct their enquiry in accordance with the provisions of the Criminal Procedure Code. They cannot call in aid their powers of detention and under the guise of exercising these powers conduct a secret investigation into a crime. If they have information that these detenus have committed crimes or offences, they are not bound to investigate into them. They can rest content with detaining them under R. 26 or 129. But if they want an investigation they must proceed in accordance with the provisions of the Criminal Procedure Code. If they do otherwise it is a fraud upon the Act and their action is not taken in good faith. The expression "good faith" as used here is akin to "malice in law." A.I.R. 1945 Nag. 8.

27. (1) The Central Government or, as the case may be, the Provincial Government may, by order, direct that any person in respect of whom an order has been made by that Government under the provisions of rule 26, shall—

Power of photographing, etc., suspected persons.

- (a) allow himself to be photographed;
- (b) allow his finger and thumb impressions to be taken;
- (c) furnish specimens of his handwriting and signature; and
- (d) attend at such time and place before such authority or person as may be specified in the order for all or any of the purposes mentioned in this sub-rule.

(2) If any person contravenes any order made under this rule, he shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to six months [or with fine or with both].

Control and winding up of certain organisations. * [27-A. (1) If the Central Government or the Provincial Government is satisfied with respect to any organisation either—

- (a) that it is subject to foreign influence or control; or
- (b) that the persons in control thereof have, or have had, association with persons concerned in the Government of, or sympathies with the system of government of, any State at war with His Majesty, or have been conspiring to assist any such State, and in either case that there is danger of the utilisation of the organisation for purposes prejudicial to the defence of British India, the public safety, the maintenance of public order, the efficient prosecution of war, or the maintenance of supplies and services essential to the life of the community, that Government may by notified order direct that this rule shall apply to that organisation.

(2) If the Central Government or the Provincial Government is satisfied that any organisation is engaged, in succession to any organisation to which this rule applies, in activities substantially similar to those formerly carried on thereby, that Government may by notified order direct that this rule shall apply to that organisation.

(3) No person shall—

(a) manage or assist in managing any organisation to which this rule applies;

(b) promote or assist in promoting a meeting of any members of such an organisation, or attend any such meeting in any capacity;

(c) publish any notice or advertisement relating to any such meeting;

(d) invite persons to support such an organisation; or

(e) otherwise in any way assist the operations of such an organisation.

(4) The provisions of sections 17-A to 17-E of the Indian Criminal Law Amendment Act, 1908 (XIV of 1908), shall apply in relation to an organisation to which this rule applies, as they apply in relation to an unlawful association:

Provided that all powers and functions exercisable by the Provincial Government under the said sections as so applied shall be exercisable also by the Central Government.

(5) If any person contravenes any of the provisions of this rule, he shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to seven years, or with fine, or with both.]

Prisoners of war, etc.

28. [Eng. Def. R. 18-C.] (1) The Central Government may, by order, make provision—

(a) for regulating access to, and the conduct of persons in, places in British India where prisoners of war are detained, and for prohibiting or regulating the despatch or conveyance, from outside such places to or for prisoners of war therein, of any such articles as may be specified in the order;

(b) for regulating the conditions to be observed in connexion with the employment and maintenance of prisoners of war in British India while elsewhere than in places for the detention of prisoners of war.

y[(c) for prohibiting or regulating communication with, or the supply of articles to, prisoners of war in British India.]

(2) The provisions of sub-rule (1) and of sections 128, 129 and 130 of the Indian Penal Code shall apply in relation to a person detained or confined by order made under clause (b) of sub-rule (1) of rule 26 or clause (g) of sub-rule (2) of rule 31 ^z[or made or deemed to be made under clause (g) of sub-section (2) of section 3 of the Foreigners Act, 1940] as they apply in relation to a prisoner of war.

(3) No proceedings shall be taken, by virtue of this rule, against a person in respect of any act done by him when he is himself a prisoner of war.

(4) If any person contravenes any order made under the provisions of this rule, he shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to five years ^a[or with fine or with both].

Change of name by British subjects.

29. [Eng. Def. R. 20.] (1) For the purposes of this rule,—

(a) the expression "name" shall be construed as including a surname, and

(b) a name shall be deemed to be changed if the spelling thereof is altered.

(2) No British subject who is in British India on the day on which the ^a[Ordinance came into force shall, while in British India at any time after that day, assume or use or purport to assume or use for any purpose any name other than that by which he was ordinarily known immediately before the said day, unless, at least one month before the day on which he first assumes or uses or purports to assume or use that other name, he has given to the Provincial Government a notice specifying—

(a) his existing name in full and the change which he proposes to make in it, and

(b) the address of his place of residence or place of abode, if any, in British India, and has complied with such orders in respect of such notice, including orders for giving public intimation of his intention to change his name, as the Provincial Government may give.

(3) In relation to any British subject who, not having been in British India on the day on which the Ordinance came into force, thereafter enters British India, sub-rule (2) shall have effect as if for any reference in that sub-

RULE 28.—The Crown is entitled in the exercise of its prerogative to imprison an alien enemy, and the Court has no jurisdiction to interfere with the exercise of the prerogative. An alien enemy resident in the Kingdom, who, in the opinion of the Executive Government is a person hostile to the welfare of the country and is on that account interned may properly be described as a prisoner of war although not a combatant or a spy, and an application by him for a writ of habeas corpus will be refused. PART V.

RESTRICTIONS ON FOREIGNERS.

30. For the purposes of this Part the expression "foreigner" means a Definition. foreigner as defined in the Foreigners Act, 1864, but does not include—

(i) any ruler or subject of an Indian State;

(ii) any native of the tribal areas.

31. (1) If in the opinion of the Central Government it is necessary for the defence of British India, the efficient prosecution of the war or the public safety or interest so to do, the Central Government may, by order, make provision, either generally with respect to all foreigners or with respect to such foreigner or class of foreigners as may be specified in the order, for all or any of the following purposes, that is to say,—

(a) for prohibiting, regulating or restricting the entry of foreigners into British India or their departure therefrom or their continuance therein;

(b) for regulating or restricting the liberty of foreigners residing or being in British India.

(2) In particular and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power, an order made under the provisions of sub-rule (1) may provide that a foreigner, or class of foreigners, or all foreigners generally,—

(a) shall not enter British India, or shall enter British India only within such period and by such route or by such port or place and subject to the observance of such conditions on landing or arriving at any place in British India as may be specified in the order;

(b) shall not depart from British India, or shall depart only within such period and by such route or from such port or place and subject to the observance of such conditions on departing as may be specified in the order;

(c) shall not remain in British India or in such area therein as may be specified in the order;

(d) shall remove themselves to and remain in any such area in British India as may be specified in the order;

(e) entering into or residing or being in British India, or any specified area in British India, shall comply with any conditions specified in the order—

(i) requiring them to reside in a particular place;

(ii) imposing any restrictions on their movements;

(iii) requiring them to furnish proof of their identity and such other particulars, including photographs, specimens of handwriting and signature, and finger and thumb impressions, as may be specified in the order;

(iv) prohibiting them from association with persons of such description as may be specified in the order;

(b) Substituted by D.C. Dept. Notification No. 701-OR/41, dated the 15th February 1941, for the words "and shall also be liable to fine".

(c) Substituted by D.C. Dept. Notification No. 890-OR/41, dated the 28th June 1941, for the words "the Provincial Government".

(v) prohibiting them from engaging in activities of such description as may be specified in the order;

(vi) prohibiting them from using or possessing such articles as may be specified in the order;

(vii) otherwise regulating their conduct in any particular;

(f) shall enter into a bond with or without sureties for the due observance of, or as an alternative to the enforcement of, any or all of the restrictions or conditions specified in the order;

(g) shall be arrested and detained or confined.

(3) So long as there is in force in respect of any foreigner such an order as aforesaid directing that he be detained or confined, he shall be liable to be detained or confined in such place, and under such conditions, as the Central Government may from time to time determine.

(4) The Central Government may, by order, exempt any class or description of foreigners or any individual foreigner either absolutely or conditionally from all or any of the provisions of any order made under this rule.

(5) If any person contravenes any order made under this rule, he shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to five years ^d[or with fine or with both]; and if such person has entered into a bond in pursuance of an order made under clause (f) of sub-rule (2), his bond shall be forfeited, and any person bound thereby shall pay the penalty thereof, or show cause to the satisfaction of the convicting Court why such penalty should not be paid.

(6) If any question arises in any proceedings under this rule or with reference to anything done or proposed to be done in pursuance of any order made under this rule whether any person is or is not a foreigner, or is or is not a foreigner of a particular class or description, the onus of proving that that person is not a foreigner or, as the case may be, is not a foreigner of that class or description shall lie upon that person.

places at which they embarked, the ports or places of their disembarkation or intended disembarkation, and such other particulars as may be required by order of the Central Government made in pursuance of this rule;

(ii) to answer to the best of his ability any question relating to the passengers who are on board or who have disembarked in any part of British India;

(b) if any foreigner on board such vessel or aircraft does not state his reasons for coming to British India or if his account thereof is not satisfactory, either—

(i) refuse to allow such foreigner to disembark from such vessel or aircraft, or

(ii) place him under such restraint as may be specified by the Central Government in this behalf.

(2) If the master of any vessel or the pilot of any aircraft wilfully makes any false report or gives any false answer in respect of any matter as to which he is ordered under this rule to make a report or furnish an answer, or wilfully neglects or refuses to comply with the provisions of this rule or of any order given in pursuance thereof, he shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to one year f[or with fine or with both].

Change of name by foreigners. 33. [Eng. Def. R. 20.] (1) For the purposes of this rule,—

(a) the expression "name" shall be construed as including a surname, and

(b) a name shall be deemed to be changed if the spelling thereof is altered.

(2) No foreigner who is in British India on the day on which the Ordinance came into force shall, while in British India at any time after that day, assume or use or purport to assume or use for any purpose any name other than that by which he was ordinarily known immediately before the said day.

(3) Where, after the day on which the Ordinance came into force, any foreigner carries on or purports to carry on (whether alone or in association with any other person) any trade or business under any name or style other than that under which that trade or business was being carried on immediately before the said day, he shall, for the purposes of sub-rule (2), be deemed to be using a name other than that by which he was ordinarily known immediately before the said day.

(4) In relation to any foreigner who, not having been in British India on the day on which the Ordinance came into force, thereafter enters British India, sub-rules (2) and (3) shall have effect as if for any reference in those sub-rules to the said day there were substituted a reference to the day on which he first enters British India after the day on which the Ordinance came into force.

(5) If any person contravenes any of the provisions of this rule, he shall be punishable with imprisonment which may extend to five years g[or with fine or with both].

(6) Nothing in this rule shall apply to the assumption or use—

(a) by any married woman of her husband's name; or

(b) of any name in pursuance of a Royal licence.

 "Exhibit" and "Exhibition."
- (5) "information likely to assist the enemy" means any information, whether true or false, or any document or other record whatsoever containing or purporting to contain, or calculated, directly or indirectly, to convey, any information, whether true or false, with respect to any of the following matters, that is to say,—
 "Information likely to assist the enemy."
- (a) the number, description, armament, equipment, disposition, movement, sympathies or condition of any of His Majesty's forces, vessels or aircraft;
- (b) any operations or projected operations of any of His Majesty's forces, vessels or aircraft;
- (c) any measures, works, appliances or arrangements for, or connected with, or intended for, the defence or fortification of any place by or on behalf of His Majesty's forces;
- (d) the number, description or location of any prisoners of war;
- (e) any enemy agents, that is to say, persons engaged in or believed to be engaged in assisting the enemy;
- (f) the condition of His Majesty's subjects or of any class thereof or the sympathies of such subjects or class as regards matters relating to the war;
- (g) the invention, manufacture, quantity, supply, description, condition, disposition, movement, storage, repair, testing, trial or use of any munitions of war or other thing which can be used in connection with the prosecution of the war;
- (h) any measures, works, appliances or arrangements for or connected with, or intended for, the protection of any munitions of war or other thing which can be used in connection with the prosecution of the war;

(i) any arrangements relating to the collection of means of transport or for the protection of—

(i) transport or communications, or

(ii) the supply or distribution of any essential commodity;

(j) any prohibited place, protected place or protected area, or any person or thing in, or relating to, any such place or area or anything used in, or done or proposed to be done in, or in relation to, any such place or area;

(k) the passage of any vessel or aircraft near or over any part of India;

(l) any losses or casualties incurred by persons in the service of His Majesty, or the number or description of any such persons returning to the active service of His Majesty after casualty, or any injury or damage caused, whether by hostile operations or otherwise, to any of His Majesty's vessels or aircraft, or to any prohibited place, protected place or protected area, or to any person or thing in any such place or area, or to any munitions of war, or any injury or damage caused by hostile operations to any other person or thing whatsoever;

(m) any cipher, code or secret or official codeword or password;

(n) any orders, instructions or regulations regarding, or connected with, any of the aforesaid matters;

(o) any other matter whatsoever information as to which would or might be, directly or indirectly, useful to the enemy;

“Prejudicial act.” (6) “prejudicial act” means any act which is intended or is likely—

i[(a) to prejudice His Majesty's relations with any Indian State or with any foreign power, or the maintenance of peaceful conditions in any tribal area;]

(b) to cause disaffection among, or to prejudice, prevent or interfere with the discipline, health or training of, or the performance of their duties by, members of His Majesty's forces or public servants;

(c) to render any member of His Majesty's forces or any public servant incapable of efficiently performing his duties as such, or to induce any member of His Majesty's forces or any public servant to fail in the performance of his duties as such;

(d) to prejudice the recruiting of, or the attendance of persons for service in, any of His Majesty's forces or any police force or fire brigade or any other body of persons entered, enrolled or engaged as public servants;

R. 34 (5) (k): “INFORMATION LIKELY TO ASSIST THE ENEMY”—WHAT CONSTITUTES.—R. 34 (5) (k) only requires that the “information likely to assist the enemy,” whether true or false, must be with respect to the passage of any vessel near any part of India. The passage may be from any place to any other place whether disclosed or not. All that is necessary is that the information must be with respect to the passage of a vessel near any part of India. It is not necessary that there must be evidence of the passage from one specified place to another. The passage may be at any time whether at the time when the information or message is sent, or before or even after. 47 Bom.L.R. 78.

R. 34 (6): “SPEECH, IF AMOUNTS TO ‘PREJUDICIAL ACT’.”—Where the question to be decided is whether a particular speech amounted to a ‘prejudicial act’, the intention of the accused has to be gathered from the speech as a whole and not from words and isolated sentences here and there. 41 Cr.L.J. 927=190 I.C. 197=A.I.R. 1940 Oudh 417.

In a prosecution under R. 34 (6) in respect of a speech delivered by the accused, it cannot be held that the speech of the accused must be considered as a whole and that he cannot be convicted unless the whole speech be found to be “a prejudicial act”. Even a particular portion of a speech can constitute a prejudicial act. 1941 M.W.N. 1035=1942 Mad. 199.

SHOUTING ANTI-WAR SLOGANS.—The shouting anti-war slogans is a “prejudicial act” within the meaning of R. 34. 1941 Lah. 301=I.L.R. (1941) Lah. 796.

ABUSIVE LANGUAGE.—Abusive language even when used about a Government is not necessarily seditious. Sedition is a grave offence, a prosecution for which is a formidable weapon in the hands of Governother dues or amount payable to Government or any local authority or payable under any law or custom having the force of law for any services rendered to the community m[or any rent of agricultural land or anything recoverable as arrears of or along with such rent];]

(k) to influence the conduct or attitude of the public or of any section of the public in a manner likely to be prejudicial to the defence of British India or to the efficient prosecution of war;

(l) to instigate directly or indirectly the use of criminal force against public servants generally or any class of public servants or any individual public servant;

(m) to instigate or incite directly or indirectly the commission or abetment of an offence punishable under section 121, section 121-A, section 122, section 131, or section 436 of the Indian Penal Code, or of the offence of robbery or dacoity;

(n) to instigate or incite directly or indirectly the commission or abetment of an offence against, or against any rule made under, the Indian Arms Act, 1878, the Indian Explosives Act, 1884, or the Explosive Substances Act, 1908;

(o) to instigate or incite directly or indirectly the commission or abetment of an offence against section 27 of the Indian Army Act, 1911, section 35 of the Indian Air Force Act, 1932, or sections 10 to 16 (both inclusive) of n[the Naval Discipline Act as set forth in the first Schedule to] the Indian Navy (Discipline) Act, 1934;

(p) otherwise to prejudice the efficient prosecution of the war and the defence of British India, or the public safety or interest;

(7) "prejudicial report" means any report, statement or visible representation, whether true or false, which, or the publishing of which is, or is an incitement to the commission of, a prejudicial act as defined in this rule;

"Prejudicial report."

(8) "unauthorised cinematograph film" means a cinematograph film which has not been certified under, or in respect of which a certificate has been suspended under, or in respect of which the Provincial Government has decided that it shall be deemed to be uncertified under section 7 of the Cinematograph Act, 1918.

"Unauthorised cinematograph film."

R. 34 (6) (κ): SUGGESTION TO WITHHOLD SUPPORT IN WAR EFFORT IN CASE INDIA IS NOT MADE FREE.—Where the speech complained against exhorted people not to give the Government support in this war unless India was made free, it was held that the underlying suggestion was clearly an active withholding of support in war effort and such withholding might well be highly prejudicial to the defence of British India or to the efficient prosecution of the war and that hence it offended against R. 34 (6) (k). 1943 A.L.W. 113.

SPEECH.—A person making a speech at a public meeting exhorting the audience to desist from enlisting in the army or assisting the prosecution of the war in any manner is guilty of "prejudicial acts" as defined by R. 34 (6) (d) and (k) of the Defence of India Rules, and is liable to conviction under R. 38 (5). 53 L.W. 711=1941 Mad. 687.

RR. 34 (6) (κ) AND (p), 38 (5) AND 121: STAGES IN THE COMMISSION OF OFFENCE GENERALLY.—COMMUNICATION TO MAGISTRATE OF INTENTION TO SHOUT ANTI-WAR SLOGAN.—There are four stages ordinarily in the commission of an offence, namely, intention, preparation, attempt and the final act constituting the offence. Intention per se is not ordinarily punishable at all. Preparation is punishable in rare cases as for example, S. 399 of I. P. Code. Attempt is punishable in a large majority of cases while the final act constituting the offence is always punishable. Preparation consists in devising or arranging the means or measure for the commission of an offence. The mere communication of a letter to the District Magistrate containing an intention on the part of the writer to shout anti-war slogans at a particular place on a particular day is not an offence under R. 121 read with Rr. 38 (5) and 34 (6) (k) and (p). Intention is not to be confused with preparation. The communication of the letter does not come under preparation because it does not in any way devise or arrange any means or measure for the commission of the offence, that is, the shouting of the slogan. The

R. 35 (1) (b).—Damage to telephone posts or to its line falls within R. 35 (1) (b), as the word "telegraph" in that clause includes telephone line and posts by virtue of its definition in S. 3 of the Telegraph Act. The amendment of cl. (b) by the addition of the words "telegraph line or post" made by a notification issued on the 14th August, 1942, is only intended ex abundanti cautela to make the meaning of the original word "telegraph" clear. 1945 N.L.J. 191. But where the notice for calling the strike is to remedy the real or supposed grievances of the workers resulting from an arbitrary exercise of the employer's power of dismissal without a fair inquiry or reasonable warning there is a lawful excuse for the strike and the person calling the strike would not be guilty, even though he knows that as a result of the strike essential war work would be impeded. R. 38 (1) only prohibits the doing of a prejudicial act without lawful authority or excuse; it does not require that the excuse should be reasonable or just. So long as a strike is not prohibited by law, any excuse which is not unlawful would be sufficient to take it out of the category of the mischiefs contemplated by R. 38 (1) (a), though it may be a prejudicial act as defined in R. 34 (h). 46 Bom.L.R. 444=A.I.R. 1944 Bom. 248.

CHARGE OF OFFENCE AMOUNTING TO SEDITION—COGNISANCE ON REPORT OF PUBLIC SERVANT.—Where a person is charged under R. 38 (1) (a) for doing a prejudicial act within the meaning of R. 34 (6) (e) and (h), which might amount to sedition, the Court is competent to take cognizance of the offence on the report in writing of a public servant as required by R. 130 (1). It is not necessary that a complaint should be made by order of or under the authority of the Provincial Government. (1940) 2 M. L.J. 830=1941 Mad. 363=I.L.R. (1941) Mad. 169.

R. 38 (1) (A) (5): SEDITION—WHAT CONSTITUTES—DISCUSSION OF CURRENT POLITICS IN THE LANGUAGE USUALLY USED FOR SUCH PURPOSE.—The essence of the offence of sedition as defined in the I.P. Code—in this respect there is no difference between offences under the Code and under the Defence of India Rules—consists in the intention with which the language is used. Such intention has to be judged primarily by the language used. To arrive at a conclusion as to the intention, the Court must have regard to the class of audience to which and the circumstance in which the speech was made. It must then decide as to the probable effect of the speech. The speech must be read as a whole in a fair, free and liberal spirit. Ordinarily it should be difficult to found a charge of sedition upon ideas, sentiments and expressions which have become a part and parcel of the normal political life of the country and which do not excite people to disorder. Where the main and accepted object of a speech was to support Pakistan and not to create any anti-British feeling, the act that certain reflections are cast upon the British Government by certain arguments used would not render the speech seditious even though the argument might be unfounded in fact and its logic open to doubt and challenge. 1943 A.L.J. 168=1943 A. 244=I.L.R. (1943) A. 429.

Illegal possession of certain information and publications.

39. (1) No person shall, without lawful authority or excuse, have in his possession—

R. 39 is not ultra vires. 47 Bom.L.R. 339; 47 Bom.L.R. 79.

R. 39: "PREJUDICIAL"—DUTY OF COURT TO DECIDE PREJUDICIAL CHARACTER.—Under R. 39, it is for the Court and not for the Provincial Government to determine whether or not a document is prejudicial. The fact that the document has been proscribed by a Provincial Government is not a relevant fact in the case of a prosecution under R. 39. 22 Pat. 549=1943 Pat. 389.

R. 39 (1): "POSSESSION"—MEANING OF.—There is no authority or warrant for holding that "possession" in R. 39 (1) is to be looked at very much more stringently than under the ordinary law. The word must be given its ordinary meaning; if there are words with a technical legal meaning they must be given their ordinary legal meaning, unless the context or an express definition necessitates their being given some other meaning. The accused was prosecuted under R. 39 for being in possession of a book containing a prejudicial report on the ground that the book in question was found in a trunk which was common to him and to his elder brother in a room occupied by both of them. There was nothing in the book to identify it as the property of one brother rather than the other. Held, that in the circumstances, it must be held that the prosecution had failed to prove that the book was in the possession of the accused; and he could not therefore be convicted. 22 Pat. 549=1943 Pat. 389. Where a husband and wife are living together, prima facie, a box containing documents would be in possession of the husband, and the mere fact that when he is absent he has left the keys with his wife or that there were letters in the box addressed to the wife does not mean that she was in joint possession of all the contents of the box. The fact that the wife is literate is irrelevant. 1944 Bom. 125.

¶(2) Any person who, without lawful authority or excuse, has on any premises in his occupation or under his control any document containing any information likely to assist the enemy, any confidential information or any prejudicial report shall, unless he proves that he did not know, and had no reason to suspect, that the said document contained any such information or report as aforesaid, or that the said document was on such premises without his knowledge or against his consent, be deemed to have contravened this rule.]

(4) The licensee of any building or other premises licensed under the Cinematograph Act, 1918, and the occupier, or, if there is no occupier, the owner, of any other building or other premises, in or on which any unauthorised film as aforesaid is found, shall, unless he proves that the said unauthorised film was in or on such building or other premises without his knowledge or against his consent, be deemed to have contravened this rule.

(5) In any proceedings arising out of a contravention of this rule in respect of the possession of any document or information, it shall be a defence for the accused to prove that the said document or information—

(a) was in his possession with the permission or under the authority of Government; or

(b) was a proof prepared by or for him for submission to Government or to a person or authority designated by Government in this behalf with a view to the obtaining of permission for its publication; or

(c) was published before the Ordinance came into force.

(z) Sub-rule (3). omitted by D.C. Dept. notification No. 520-OR/40, dated the 16th November 1940.

R. 39 (2): "IN HIS OCCUPATION OR UNDER HIS CONTROL"—MEANING OF.—The expression "control" in R. 39 (2) is used to represent something different from occupation and is intended to cover the case of a person who is not in physical occupation of premises, but, by virtue of his title or other circumstances, is in a position to exercise effective control over the premises. "Occupation" must be taken to mean effective occupation, that is to say, such an occupation as gives the alleged occupant effective control over the premises in question. Where more than one person are together using premises which cannot be sub-divided into separate parts each in the exclusive occupation of one person, no one can be said to be in occupation of the premises within the meaning of R. 39 (2). 22 Pat. 549=1943 Pat. 389. See also 1944 Bom. 125. No doubt, a wife, in a loose sense occupies the house in which she lives with her husband. But when R. 39 speaks of a person in occupation it means legal occupation. The natural presumption would be that the husband is the occupier unless it is shown that the wife is the occupier and he is a mere appendix to her. If he is the occupier, the house is under his control. 1944 Bom. 125.

"Occupation" in R. 39 (2) contemplates physical occupation rather than occupation in the sense of being the legal tenant or other person who may be looked to for payment of taxes, etc. Where on a search of a room shared by the accused, a Hindu co-parcener, and his elder brother who was the manager of the joint family a large quantity of highly prejudicial literature is found and the accused is charged with unlawful possession of prejudicial literature, the burden is on the accused to prove his innocence and it is not necessary for the prosecution to prove that the accused was in sole occupation of the premises where the literature was found. Joint occupation with another is sufficient "occupation" for purposes of R. 39 (2). 57 L.W. 466= (1944) 2 M.L.J. 150.

When a document containing any prejudicial report is found in a house or premises jointly occupied by several persons, every such occupant will be deemed to have contravened R. 39 (1) (b) of the Defence of Rules, unless he proves that he did not know and had no reason to suspect that the said document contained any prejudicial report, or that it was in such house or such premises without his knowledge or against his consent. The burden is on the accused. 47 Bom.L.R. 79.

(6) If any person contravenes any of the provisions of this rule, he shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to three years a[or with fine or with both].

b[40. (1) Where in the opinion of the Central Government or the Provincial Government any document made, printed or published, whether before or after the Ordinance came into force, contains any confidential information, any information likely to assist the enemy or any prejudicial report, that Government may by order,—

FALSE REPRESENTATIONS, ETC.

Personation and misleading acts and misrepresentations.

46. [Eng. Def. R. 1.] (1) In this rule the expression "Government" means any Government whether within or without British India.

(2) No person shall do any act, or make any statement,—

(a) calculated falsely to suggest that he or any other person is or is not acting (either generally or in a particular capacity) in the service, or on behalf, of any Government, or as a public servant, or

(b) calculated falsely to suggest that any article or property does or does not belong to, or is or is not in the possession or under the control of, Government or has or has not been classified, selected or appropriated on behalf of Government for any particular purpose, or

(c) whereby any directions, instructions or information falsely purporting to be duly issued or given for purposes connected with the defence of British India or the securing of the public safety * [or the maintaining of supplies and services essential to the life of the community] are communicated or are intended to be communicated to the public or to any section thereof, or

(d) having reasonable cause to believe that the said act or statement is likely to mislead any person in the discharge of any lawful functions in connexion with the defence of British India or the securing of the public safety.

(3) If any person contravenes any of the provisions of this rule, he shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to five years x-1 [or with fine or with both].

Forgery and improper use of official documents, etc.

47. (1) In this rule—

(a) "Government" means any Government whether within or without British India;

(b) "official document" includes any passport, pass, permit, certificate, licence, notice or other document issued by or under the authority of any Government or any officer of His Majesty's forces or any police officer;

(c) "official seal" includes any die, seal, plate or other instrument for making an impression or stamp and any impression or stamp of any such die, seal, plate or other instrument belonging to, or used, made or provided by or for, any Government.

(2) No person shall—

(a) forge, alter, tamper with or destroy any official document or any application, request or receipt in respect of any official document; or

(b) use or have in his possession any forged or altered official document, or any document so nearly resembling an official document as to be calculated to deceive; or

(c) personate or falsely represent himself to be, or not to be, a person to whom an official document relates or to whom an official document or any secret official codeword or password has been duly issued or communicated; or

(d) with intent to obtain an official document, secret official codeword or password, whether for himself or for any other person, knowingly make any false statement; or

(e) without lawful authority make, use or have in his possession or under his control any official seal or any die, seal, plate, or other instrument so nearly resembling an official seal as to be calculated to deceive.

(3) If any person contravenes any of the provisions of this rule, he shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to five years x-2 [or with fine or with both].

Improper use of uniforms, etc.

48. (1) No person shall without lawful authority use or wear—

(a) any official uniform, Indian, British or foreign, or any dress so nearly resembling such uniform as to be calculated to deceive; or

(b) any official decoration, medal, badge or mark of rank, rating, qualification or duty, Indian, British or foreign, or any copy or miniature thereof,

R. 56: SCOPE OF.—The power given to the police officers to disperse meetings was thought to be very wide; but an attempt to curtail the powers was not adopted by the assembly.

ORDER PROMULGATED UNDER—CONSTRUCTION OF—PREAMBLE TO RULE.—The preamble to R. 56 is only relevant on the question of the validity of an order issued under it. If it could be proved that the purpose of Government in framing an order was not such as is indicated in the rule, then the order would be bad; but once the order has been promulgated, its construction must depend upon the language in which it is framed, and the preamble to R. 56 has nothing to do with the construction of the order. 45 Bom.L.R. 310=1943 Bom. 177.

R. 56 (1): "PROCESSION"—MEANING OF.—The only important ingredients of a "procession" in R. 56, are a common purpose and a formal or demonstrative march. Even two persons can form a procession. Where two persons, one of them carrying a flag and both shouting slogans, march together in a line along a public road for the purpose of demonstration, they constitute a "procession" and are guilty under R. 56 (1). 45 Bom.L.R. 303.

A procession may be defined as a formal

(2) For the purposes of sub-rule (1), any procession, meeting or assembly which is open to the public or to any class or portion of the public, whether held in a public or a private place and whether admission thereto is restricted by the issue of tickets or otherwise, shall be deemed to be a public procession, meeting or assembly as the case may be.

(3) Any police officer may take such steps, and use such force, as may be reasonably necessary for securing compliance with any order made under this rule.

(4) If any person contravenes any order made under this rule, he shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to three years k[or with fine or with both].

and organised march of two or more persons "formal" implying a kind of solemnity or something spectacular, so as to attract attention, and organised implying a common intention or unity of purpose. 45 Bom.L.R. 303=1943 Bom. 209.

R. 56 (3): EXTENT OF POWERS OF POLICE OFFICERS, EXPLAINED.—R. 56 (3) does not give wide powers to the police officers as to enable them to close a road wholesale and prevent innocent passers-by from making legitimate use of it. If it be thought necessary that any road should be thus closed, a proper order should be obtained from the Police Commissioner under the Bombay City Police Act. But such a wide power is not conferred upon the Inspector or his subordinates. Preamble is only relevant on the question of the validity of an order issued under it. If it could be proved that the purpose of Government in framing the order was not such as is indicated in the rule, then the order would be bad; but once the order has been promulgated, its construction must depend upon the language in which it is framed, and the preamble to R. 56 has nothing to do with the construction of the order: [1943 Bom. 177, Rel. on.] 1944 Bom. 139, at pp. 142-143.

R. 56 (4): TAKING PART IN PRIVATE ASSEMBLY—OFFENCE—"PUBLIC ASSEMBLY"—WHAT IS.—It is perfectly plain that the order promulgated by the Government of Bombay applies only to public assemblies and does not apply to private assemblies. An assembly, to be a public assembly, must be qualified both as to its purpose, and as to its composition. A public assembly is one the object of which is the furtherance of some public purpose, and the constitution of which involves the admission of members of the public, whether conditionally or unconditionally. The public must have access to it, though it may be in limited numbers or on payment. If the assembly is confined to the members of a particular body or association, it would generally not be a public assembly. The question whether any particular assembly or meeting is a public assembly or meeting must be determined on the facts of each case. The place where the assembly meets may have some relevance, since it is obvious that a meeting which takes place in a public hall is more likely to be a public meeting than one which takes place in a private house. The accused, who were members of a society called the "Rashtriya Seva Dal", the main purpose of which was to indulge in gymnastic exercises, took part in a meeting of the society. The assembly consisted of about 150 persons, all of whom were members of this body, and they sang vande-mataram and saluted the congress flag, which might give some political flavour to the meeting. Held, that it was not established that the public had any access to the assembly or that the object of the assembly was to further some public purpose, and it did not fall within the rule and the accused were not consequently liable to conviction under R. 56 (4). 45 Bom.L.R. 310=A.I.R. 1943 Bom. 177.

An offence under R. 56 (4) is committed by a person who contravenes any order made under the rule; and before a Court can convict or uphold a conviction, under the rule, it must first be satisfied that there was an order lawfully issued under that rule by an officer properly empowered thereto. Where the only evidence relating to the existence of such an order is a statement of a Sub-Inspector of Police to the effect that an order of the District Magistrate banning processions, meetings and assemblies was issued and proclaimed by beat of drum before the date of the occurrence on which the charge is based, that is insufficient and it is impossible for any Court to come to a finding and to convict under R. 56 (4). The fact that there is no cross-examination by the defence on the point or that that accused in his statement under S. 342, Cr. P. Code, answers in the affirmative a question, "Did you contravene R. 56 (4) of the Defence of India Act by taking part in a procession?" cannot be interpreted as an admission by the defence of the existence of such a lawful order under R. 56 (4). It is for the prosecution to prove all the essentials necessary to establish the guilt of the accused and if they do not do so, the prosecution must fail. Nor can the prosecution be allowed to fill in gaps in its evidence at a late stage in the appellate Court. 23 Pat. 1=A.I.R. 1944 Pat. 345. See also 1945 P.W.N. 65.

Prevention of hartals in places of employment.

1[56-A. (1) In this rule—

(a) 'trade dispute' means a trade dispute as defined in the Trade Dispute Act, 1929.

(b) 'hartal' means any concerted cessation of work or refusal to work by a body of persons employed in any place of employment, except a cessation or refusal in furtherance of a trade dispute with which such body of persons is directly concerned.

(2) If in the opinion of the Provincial Government a body of persons employed in any place of employment is likely to take part in, or is taking part in, a hartal, then, without prejudice to any other proceedings which may by order in writing require the person owning or having the management of such place of employment to take, within such time as may be specified in the order, such measures as may be so specified to secure that the hartal shall not take place, or, as the case may be, shall cease.

(3) If in the opinion of the Provincial Government a place of employment has been closed for reasons other than the furtherance of a trade dispute, the Provincial Government may by order in writing require the owner or persons having the management of such place of employment to take, within such time as may be specified in the order, such measures as may be so specified to secure that the place of employment shall be opened, and shall remain open, for the uninterrupted employment of persons employed therein.

(4) If any person contravenes the provisions of any order made under this rule, he shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to five years or with fine which may extend to five lakhs of rupees and to a further fine which may extend to one lakh of rupees for every day after the first during which the contravention continues, or with both such imprisonment and fine as aforesaid.]

R. 58: APPLICABILITY AND SCOPE—"EXERCISE OF A MILITARY CHARACTER"—MEANING OF.—It is difficult to say what "exercise, movement, evolution or drill" is not of a military character. A thing is said to be of a military nature when it resembles something done by or appertaining to or belonging to soldiers. Where the object of certain exercises made by a body of persons, about 150 in number, 75 of whom are armed with lathis about four to six feet long, is found to be to enable a large body of men to respond immediately to a word of command so that it would be possible for one man in charge of a large body of persons to make them execute his will without the need for any elaborate explanations or directions, it must be held that the exercise are of a military nature, and the organisers as well as the instructor of such exercises are guilty of the offence under R. 58 (1). Loading of ships. i[62-B. (1) In this rule, unless the context otherwise requires,

(a) "the Act" means the Indian Merchant Shipping Act, 1923;

(b) "assigning authority" has the same meaning as in the load-line rules;

(c) "load-line rules", "load-line certificate" and "international load-line certificate" have the same meanings as in the Act;

(d) "unsafe ship" has the same meaning as in sub-section (1) of section 232 of the Act.

(2) Sub-section (1) of section 221 of the Act shall have effect, in relation to a ship to which this sub-rule applies, subject to the following amendments:—

(a) where the ship is entitled under the load-line rules to be loaded to the depth indicated by the summer load-line prescribed by the said rules, the appropriate load-line for the purposes of the said sub-section shall be the tropical load-line so prescribed;

(b) where the ship is entitled under the load-line rules to be loaded to the depth indicated by the tropical load-line prescribed by the said rules, the appropriate load-line for the purposes of the said sub-section shall be the tropical fresh water load-line so prescribed.

(3) Subject to the provisions of this rule, sub-rule (2) shall apply to all British ships registered in British India (not being exempt from the provisions of Part V of the Act, relating to load-lines) with such exceptions and subject to such restrictions as may be specified in a general or special order by the Central Government.

(4) Sub-rule (2) shall not apply to a ship unless the load-line certificate issued in respect thereof bears an endorsement in the prescribed form signed by or on behalf of an assigning authority stating—

(a) that the ship is one to which the said sub-rule applies;

(b) the effect of the said sub-rule;

(c) any restrictions specified in any such order subject to which the said sub-rule applies to the ship.

(5) A certificate issued in respect of a ship shall not be endorsed by or on behalf of an assigning authority in pursuance of sub-rule (4) unless the authority is satisfied that the ship, if loaded in accordance with sub-section (1) of section 221 of the Act [as amended by sub-rule (2)], will not be an unsafe ship.

(6) It shall be the duty of the owner of every ship mentioned in sub-rule (3) not being a ship excepted by an order made by the Central Government under that sub-rule, to apply in writing to an assigning authority within the prescribed time for endorsement of the ship's load-line certificate in pursuance of sub-rule (4).

(a) require such documents and information with respect to the ship as may be specified in the order to be delivered to it within such period as may be so specified;

(b) require the ship to be submitted for survey at such place and within such period as may be so specified;

(c) in a case where it appears to the assigning authority (whether as the result of a survey or otherwise) that the ship, if loaded as mentioned in sub-rule (5) would be an unsafe ship, require the ship, within such period as may be so specified, to be altered in such manner, or to be equipped with such apparatus, contrivances or appliances, as may be so specified, being alterations or equipment which in its opinion will cause the ship not to be an unsafe ship if loaded as aforesaid;

(d) require the ship's load-line certificate to be delivered to it for endorsement within such period as may be so specified.

(8) The provisions of clause (ii) of sub-section (1) of section 224-C and sub-section (1) of section 224-D of the Act shall, in the case of a ship the load-line certificate of which has been endorsed by virtue of sub-rule (4), have effect as if the particulars mentioned in the said provisions included particulars of the endorsement.

(9) Where the load-line certificate of a ship has been endorsed by virtue of sub-rule (4) and the ship ceases, by virtue of an order under sub-rule (3) to be a ship to which sub-rule (2) applies, the owner of the ship shall forthwith deliver up the certificate to an assigning authority who shall cancel the endorsement

(10) Where the Central Government is satisfied that provision has been made by the law of any country to which the International Convention respecting load-lines, 1930, applies similar to the provisions of sub-rule (2) and for the endorsement of load-line certificates of ships of that country in manner similar to that required by sub-rule (4) it may by order direct that, where a certificate issued in respect of a ship of that country bears such an endorsement in such form as may be specified in the order, the certificate—

(a) shall be deemed for the purposes of Part V of the Act, to be a valid international load-line certificate, notwithstanding that it bears the endorsement, if, but for the endorsement, it would be such a certificate; and

(b) shall have effect, for the purposes of the said Part V, as varied by the endorsement.

(11) Where an order is in force under sub-rule (10) as respects ships of any country, section 224-I of the Act shall have effect in relation to any such ship as if the following sub-clause were substituted for sub-clause (a) of clause (ii) thereof, namely:—

(a) in case of a ship in respect of which there is produced on such an inspection as aforesaid a valid international load-line certificate, the load-line appearing by the certificate to indicate the maximum depth to which the ship is for the time being entitled to be loaded;

(a) the trades in which the vessel may be engaged and the voyages which may be undertaken by the vessel;

(b) the class of cargoes or passengers which may be carried in the vessel;

(c) the hiring of the vessel and the terms upon which cargoes or passengers may be carried in the vessel;

and may also contain provisions for requiring any vessel in respect of which such a licence is in force to comply with any directions given on behalf of the Central Government as to the ports to which and the routes by which the vessel is to proceed for any particular purposes.

(2) Any provisions of an order made under sub-rule (1) may be framed so as to apply to any such vessels either wherever they may be or while in such waters, or engaged in such trades or on such voyages, as may be specified.

(3) Without prejudice to any of the provisions of sub-rules (1) and (2), the Central Government, with a view to regulating the use of vessels in the coasting trade, may by order provide that no vessel shall proceed to sea from any port in British India on a voyage to any other such port except under the authority of a licence granted by such authority or person as may be specified in the order.

(4) Without prejudice to any order made under sub-rule (1) of rule 60 or to any other provision of these Rules, the Central Government may make such orders with respect to any r[vessel or class of vessels]—

(a) for securing that goods or passengers shall not be put off or taken on board s[such vessel or class of vessels] in British India elsewhere than at a prescribed port,

(b) for determining the class of goods or passengers that may be put off or taken on board s[such vessel or class of vessels] at a port in British India, t[or

R. 75-A [See also under Rule 81]: REQUISITIONING A PRIVATE HOUSE FOR RESIDENCE OF COLLECTOR.—The Collector of Madras is in charge of supplies which are essential to the lives of the citizens of Madras and moreover he is the Deputy Civil Defence Commissioner. The provision of a house for his residence is something which is necessary for the "maintaining of supplies and services essential to the life of the community" within the meaning of R. 75-A of the Rules. (1944) 1 M.L.J. 263.

R. 75-A in so far as it relates to the requisitioning of movable property cannot be held to be ultra vires. S. 102 of the Government of India Act, 1935 and Sch. VII, List II, Items 27 and 29 confer such a power. The power to make laws with respect to "trade and commerce" and with respect to "the production, supply and distribution of goods" includes the power to requisition goods for public purposes. (1945) 8 F.L.J. 59=1945 M.W.N. 55.

OPINION OF AUTHORITY AS TO NECESSITY OF

REQUISITIONING PROPERTY—IF AND WHEN CAN BE QUESTIONED IN COURT OF LAW.—The formation of the opinion of the authority concerned as to the necessity or expediency of making a requisition of property under R. 75-A of the Defence of India Rules, is clearly a matter for executive discretion and cannot be questioned in a Court of law. The Court cannot investigate into the grounds or the sufficiency or otherwise of the materials or evidence on which that opinion is formed and substitute its own opinion for that of the authority concerned. But if such power is exercised in bad faith or for a collateral purpose, it is an abuse of the power and not in reality an exercise of the power and the Court can interfere with such colourable exercise of power. Where the issue is raised as to bad faith or collateral purpose, the Court has to investigate the matter and decide the issue. 49 C. W. N. 322.

Where the exercise of the requisitioning power under R. 75-A is not mala fide, no Court can interfere. A Court has no power to inquire into the necessity or expediency of such requisitioning. 49 C.W.N. 583.

There is full power of delegation under S. 2 (4) of the Act and when such power has been delegated the person or authority to whom the delegation has been made has all the powers of the Central Government Provided that no property used for the purpose of religious worship and no such property as is referred to in rule 66 or in rule 72 shall be requisitioned under this rule.

(2) Where the Central Government or the Provincial Government has requisitioned any property under sub-rule (1), that Government may use or deal with the property in such manner as may appear to it to be expedient, and may acquire it by serving on the owner thereof, or where the owner is not readily traceable or the ownership is in dispute, by publishing in the official gazette, a notice stating that the Central or Provincial Government, as the case may be, has decided to acquire it in pursuance of this rule.

(3) Where a notice of acquisition is served on the owner of the property or published in the official gazette under sub-rule (2), then at the beginning of the day on which the notice is so served or published, the property shall vest in Government free from any mortgage, pledge, lien or other similar encumbrance, and the period of the requisition thereof shall end.

(4) Whenever in pursuance of sub-rule (1) or sub-rule (2) the Central Government or the Provincial Government requisitions or acquires any movable property, the owner thereof shall be paid such compensation as that Government may determine:

*[Provided that, where immediately before the requisition, the property was by virtue of a hire purchase agreement in the possession of a person other than the owner, the amount determined by Government as the total compensation payable in respect of the requisition or acquisition shall be apportioned between that person and the owner in such manner as they may agree upon, and in default of agreement in such manner as an arbitrator appointed by the Government in this behalf may decide to be just.]

unless the order of delegation contains some restriction on the exercise of the power. The order of delegation by notification, dated 25th April, 1942, under which the Collector of Madras acted (in requisitioning a private bungalow for housing the incoming Collector) contained no restriction on his power to requisition houses in Madras. Under sub-S. (4) of S. 2 of the Act, the power may be delegated so as to apply only in specified circumstances and under specified conditions but the delegation may be unrestricted. The power delegated by the order was a power to requisition for any of the purposes mentioned in R. 75-A, if the occasion should arise, subject to the property being within the jurisdiction of the Collector issuing the requisition order. (1944) 1 M.L.J. 263.

The existence of the Land Acquisition Act is no bar to the power of the legislature to provide for requisitioning of property for any of the purposes mentioned in R. 75-A of the rules as the Land Acquisition Act relates to acquisition of absolute ownership when property is required for a public purpose or for a public company and not to requisitioning in an emergency. (1944) 1 M.L.J. 263.

"PROPERTY"—MEANING OF—ORDER REQUISITIONING HOTEL BUSINESS.—The words "any property, movable or immovable" in R. 75-A of the Defence of India Rules, must if necessarily include all kinds of property except those referred to in the proviso. They prima facie cover business and its good will. An order requisitioning a commercial undertaking (e.g.) the business of a hotel, is not, therefore, ultra vires of the Rule. 49 C.W.N. 583. See also 49 C.W.N. 322.

CERTIFICATE TO APPEAL TO FEDERAL COURT.—An application for a certificate to file appeal under S. 205 of the Government of India Act, 1935, on the ground that the question whether the legislature had power to requisition when the Land Acquisition Act (1894) remained unrepealed involved an interpretation of the Constitution Act, S. 292 was rejected on the ground that no such question of interpretation was involved and even if it did involve such interpretation the question was not a substantial one. (1944) 1 M.L.J. 263.

RR. 75-A AND 81: ACQUISITION OF AN UNDERTAKING—POWER OF GOVERNMENT.—Under R. 75-A, Government can requisition or acquire only movable and immovable property but not an undertaking like an Electric Supply Company as a going concern. R. 81 is obviously the rule contemplated for dealing with the control of an undertaking. Sub-R. (1) of that rule shows that orders taking control of the supply of electric energy were deliberately contemplated by this rule. But under this rule Government has no power to acquire but can only control an undertaking for the duration of the war and a limited period afterwards. 45 P.L.R. 71=1943 Lah. 41=I.L.R. (1943) Lah. 617 (F.B.).

(5) The Central Government or the Provincial Government may, with a view to requisitioning any property under sub-rule (1) or determining the compensation payable under sub-rule (4), by order—

(a) require any person to furnish to such authority as may be specified in the order such information in his possession relating to the property as may be so specified;

(b) direct that the owner, occupier or person in possession of the property shall not without the permission of Government dispose of it ^y[or where the property is a building, structurally alter it] ^z[or where the property is movable remove it from the premises in which it is kept] till the expiry of such period as may be specified in the order.

a(5-a) Without prejudice to any powers otherwise conferred by these Rules, any person authorised in this behalf by the Central Government or the Provincial Government may enter any premises and inspect such premises and any property therein or thereon for the purpose of determining whether, and if so, in what manner, an order under this rule should be made in relation to such premises or property, or with a view to securing compliance with any order made under this rule.]

(6) Any orders made, and any action taken, under or in relation to rule 76, 79 or 83 before the 16th May, 1942, shall be deemed to have been made or taken under or in relation to this rule and to be as valid as if this rule had been then in force.

(7) If any person contravenes b[any order made under this rule] he shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to three years or with fine or with both.]

c[76-A. (1) The Central Government d[or the Provincial Government] may by order in writing require the owner, or the person having the management, of any warehouse or cold storage depot to place at the disposal of Government the whole or any part of the space or accommodation available in such warehouse or cold storage depot and to employ such space or accommodation for the storage of any articles or things specified in the order; and such an order may require the said owner or person to afford such facilities, and maintain such services, in respect of the storage of such articles or things, as may be specified.

R. 75-A (7) : DISPOSAL OF GOODS—MEANING OF.—"Disposal" within R. 75-A (7) does not mean any actual removal or delivery by actual movement of the goods. The receipt of a delivery order by the purchaser and payment of money by the purchaser to vendor's agent, will certainly amount to a disposal of the goods. If the intention of the parties was that the property in the goods should pass with the delivery order, the subsequent acceptance of the money by the vendor's agent is another act of disposal, as actual delivery of the goods by him would be if he allows the purchaser to remove the goods. 79 C.L.J. 189. It is quite legitimate for the prosecution under S. 236, Cr. P. Code, to charge the accused in the alternative either that they had disposed of the goods in contravention of the freezing order or had falsely informed the authorities that they had done so. 79 C.L.J. 189. Writ of certiorari, if lies. See 49 C.W.N. 322.

R. 81: SCOPE AND OPERATION OF.—R. 81 is merely an enabling rule and merely provides that Government may in certain circumstances by order provide for certain things. There is nothing in the rule itself which has to be obeyed by any one. 22 Pat. 602=A.I.R. 1944 Pat. 1.

Defence of India Act, in so far as it purports to invest the Provincial Government with power to authorise certain officers to fix the prices of commodities is not invalid as contravening the provisions of the Constitution Act. A.I.R. 1944 Pat. 205; 46 Bom. L.R. 529=1944 Bom. 292; 1944 Cal. 317.

The word "undertaking" in R. 81 is, broadly speaking, synonymous with the word "business", and includes, therefore, the business of carrying on a hotel. 49 C.W.N. 583.

POWERS OF PROVINCIAL GOVERNMENTS—DELEGATION TO ADDITIONAL DISTRICT MAGISTRATE.—A provincial Government has all the powers conferred by R. 81 and it has the power of delegation. Where a Provincial Government delegates to all Additional District Magistrates the power of controlling the transport of rice or paddy to places outside the districts concerned, every Additional District Magistrate has power to pass an order prohibiting the export of paddy or rice from his district without a permit issued by a proper authority. The validity of such an order cannot be called in question. A person offends such an order if he removes or takes any steps towards the removal of paddy or rice from the district without a permit and it matters not whether the intended removal is to the adjoining district or to a Native State, so long as the removal is outside the district. Such an order by the Additional District Magistrate is intra vires. 1944 F.L.J. 200: (1944) 2 M.L.J. 49.

Before a person can be punished under R. 81, for having contravened the provisions of an order made thereunder, it must be established that the contravention took place after, and not before, the 18th July, 1942, the date on which the amended sub-R. (4) came into force. 47 P.L.R. 134.

R. 81 specifically authorises the Central Government or the Provincial Government to make orders for regulating the letting and sub-letting of accommodation. Where such an order is made by the Provincial Government the personal satisfaction of the Governor is not required. 47 P.L.R. 134.

The rules concerning the letting and sub-letting of residential or other accommodation are not in excess of the powers conferred by sec. 2 (1). An order under R. 81, regulating of accommodation is not ultra vires. 47 P.L.R. 134.

Rule 81 is the rule for dealing with the control of an undertaking (like an Electric Supply Co.). 1943 Lah. 41=45 P.L.R. 71 =I.L.R. (1943) Lah. 617 (F.B.).

SALE PRIOR TO NOTIFICATION REGULATING PRICE.—A notification regulating the prices of an article issued subsequent to the date upon which the accused made the sale for which he has been convicted, cannot be used to support the conviction. 208 I.C.

(2) The Central Government ¹[or the Provincial Government], so far as appears to it to be necessary or expedient for securing the defence of British India or the efficient prosecution of the war, or for maintaining supplies and services essential to the life of the community, may by order provide—

(a) for regulating or prohibiting the production, treatment, keeping, storage, movement, transport, distribution, disposal, acquisition, use or consumption of articles or things of any description whatsoever ¹[and in particular for prohibiting the withholding from sale, either generally or to specified persons or classes of persons, of articles or things kept for sale, and for requiring articles or things kept for sale to be sold either generally or to specified persons or classes of persons or in specified circumstances;]

²[(aa) for collecting any information or statistics with a view to the rationing of any article essential to the life of the community;]

¹[(ab) for controlling the rates at which any vessel registered in British India may be hired and the rates at which persons or goods may be carried in or on any such vessel;]

AUTHORITY TO EXERCISE CERTAIN POWERS DELEGATED SUBJECT TO THE SUPERVISION OF THE DELEGATING AUTHORITY—EFFECT.—Where a notification is issued by the Commissioner under an authority delegated to him by the Chief Commissioner to fix rates to be charged for certain commodities subject to the general supervision of the Chief Commissioner, it is quite valid and legal. The reservation of a general power of supervision could not take away the authority conferred on the Commissioner. 1943 A. M.L.J. 41. See also 45 Bom.L.R. 572=1943 Bom. 314.

Order of Additional District Magistrate notifying that “no person shall export any amount of paddy or rice, however small, from any place in his District to places outside its limits, except under a permit issued by the Collector of the District or by an officer authorized by him is intra vires his powers under R. 81. (1944) 1 M.L.J. (Notes of Recent Cases) 33.

BREACH OF RULES BY SERVANT—LIABILITY OF MASTER.—When a servant of an owner of a petrol pump fills up a petrol coupon wrongly, there is a contravention of the Petrol Rationing Order. The penal liability under the former rules is an absolute liability and a breach of the rules either by the master or servant would render both of them guilty irrespective of their knowledge of the breach of the rules. The question of mens rea cannot affect the conviction but can only affect the measure of punishment. 1943 A.M.L.J. 38.

R. 81 (2) (a) AND (b)—VALIDITY.—The provisions of R. 81 (2) (a) and (b) enabling the making of orders regulating the distribution of articles, requiring them to be sold to specified persons and for incidental matters, relate to the distribution of goods is intra vires the Government of India Act, 49 C.W.N. 595. See also 46 Bom.L.R. 877.

R. 81 (2) (bb) (ii)—JURISDICTION.—Before an order can be made on an application by a District Magistrate under R. 81 (2) (bb) (ii) he has to be satisfied that it is necessary and expedient to make the order in question “for securing the Defence of British India of the efficient prosecution of the war or for maintaining the supplies and services essential to the life of the community”. An order requiring a landlord who has obtained a decree for eviction of his tenant in a Civil Court, not to interfere with the possession of his tenant cannot ordinarily have any connection with the Defence of British India, etc. An order passed, when none of the conditions are satisfied is without jurisdiction. 47 Bom.L.R. 357.

R. 81 (2) (b).—R. 81 (2) (b) does not relate to withholding from sale. The clause has reference only to the controlling of prices. It is therefore not competent to the Collector of a District under cl. (b) of R. 81 (2) to provide by a Notification that a person selling matches commits an offence when he withholds matches from sale notwithstanding that he possesses saleable stock. Such a notification would be valid only if made under cl. (a). A Notification under cl. (b) is therefore not valid. 1945 M.W.N. 54 = 58 L.W. 20.

R. 81 (2)—FOOD GRAINS CONTROL ORDER (1942).—It must be held that under R. 81 (2), the Central Government had the power to issue the Food Grains Control Order (1942), and the provisions of Cl. (3) of that order are in all respects intra vires notwithstanding that there is a discretion in the matter of issuing licences. Sec. 2 (2) of the Act expressly empowers the Central Government to make rules for the control of trade,

(b) for controlling the prices ^m[or rates] at which articles or things of any description whatsoever may be sold ^m[or hired] ⁿ[and for relaxing any maximum or minimum limits otherwise imposed on such prices or rates;]

etc., and a power to control includes a power to prohibit; one way of controlling or regulating a trade is by insisting upon those engaged in it taking out licences. 57 L.W. 363.

TRADE DISPUTE.—According to R. 81 (a), for the definitions and technical terms used in the rule, regard is to be had to the Trade Disputes Act. A reference to the notification dated 21st August, 1942, and the definition of 'trade dispute' in sec. 2 of the Trade Disputes Act, shows clearly that there is no warrant for importing into the rule the words 'with his own employer' after the words 'in connection with any trade dispute'. Hence a strike without giving notice would be an offence under the rule even though it was in sympathy with the disputes in another mill. 1944 A.M.L.J. 2.

R.R. 81 (2) (B) AND 119: ORDER, WHEN BECOMES BINDING—PUBLICATION OF ORDER.—Any order passed under R. 81 (2) (b) cannot bind the person concerned unless it is published in accordance with R. 119 of the Defence of India Rules. This latter rule lays an obligation on the officer making the order to publish notice of such order. The manner in which such notice is to be published is no doubt left to the discretion of that officer. If he adopts a mode of publication however inadequate or unreasonable it is not liable to be questioned in any Court of law. But the burden of proving publication of the notice of that order in the manner contemplated by the officer making the order lies on the prosecution. In other words it must be shown that the officer making the order himself prescribed the manner of its publication and that the publication was made in that manner. The obligation laid on the officer passing the order is a statutory obligation and it is incumbent on the prosecution to prove that the statutory obligation was duly discharged. The prosecution cannot in such a case merely rely on the presumption of S. 114, clause (e) of the Evidence Act, 1943 N.L.J. 605—1944 Nag. 40.

R. 81 (2): WITHHOLDING, WHAT CONSTITUTES.—The Court must construe the word "withhold" in R. 81 (2) (a) of the Defence of India Rules in relation to the facts of each particular case. It cannot be read as "unreasonably withhold"; when the word unreasonably is not in the rule, the Court cannot put it there. But it can and ought to be held that a man has not withheld from sale to any person of a thing, if he has sold some quantity to anyone demanding it and has not evidenced unwillingness to sell the rest to their persons. In order to bring home the offence, the prosecution has to go much further to show that the accused was over a period withholding his stock from sale. A dealer is not bound to sell his whole stock or a large part of it, to the first customer who demands it. If, at the end of a period, it is found that a dealer has not sold his stock, although asked to do so, there may be a case for the prosecution. The accused, who kept a small grocery shop had a stock of sugar consisting of four pounds only. A casual customer hurried up and asked for one pound of sugar at the price fixed. The accused, however, refused to sell him more than one anna worth of sugar, on the ground that he had considerable number of regular customers, and that he was anxious to sell his sugar to them, and in view of the small stock he had he was not prepared to part with one-fourth of his stock to somebody whom he did not know. Held, that the accused was not liable to conviction under R. 81 (2) (a). 1943 Bom. 49—44 Bom.L.R. 921.

serted at the end of R. 81 (2), on 18th May, 1943, has not repealed the Notification No. 954 P.C.—34 P.C., dated 23rd January, 1943, and the Courts can look into the notification and the order fixing the maximum price of rice. No doubt as soon as the notification and the order in question ceased to have effect it was no longer possible to contravene either of them, but it cannot be said that contravention which had already occurred would not continue to be punishable after the notification and the order had ceased to have effect. Neither the notification nor the order by itself imposed a punishment on anyone. The only effect of the notification and the order in question was to render certain acts unlawful, and that effect was complete as soon as the acts were done. The subsequent events, viz., the prosecution and conviction would be the effect not of the notification and the order but of R. 81 (4). 1944 P.W.N. 147—1944 Pat. 217, Where a dealer who has got large stocks of matches in his shop flatly refuses to sell even a box of matches to a customer, commits the offence of "withholding" from — within

R. 81 (4) : CONSTRUCTION AND EFFECT OF OFFENCE UNDER R. 81 (4) IS COGNIZABLE AND NON-BAILABLE. 47 P.L.R. 229. The expression "contravenes any of the provisions of this rule" in R. 81 (4) is unfortunate. It is difficult to comprehend how any person, except possibly the Central or Provincial Government, could contravene any of these provisions. What was evidently meant was that a person should be punishable for contravening the provisions of any order passed under the rule, not for contravening any provisions [Provided that where the contravention is of an order relating to an article of food which contains an express provision in this behalf, the Court shall make such direction, unless for reasons to be recorded in writing it is of opinion that the direction should not be made in respect of the whole, or as the case may be, a part of the property.] (5 D.C. of the rule itself, which provisions in themselves do not fix any prices. 208 I.C. 219—A.I.R. 1943 Pat. 315. See also 1943 M. 281—(1943) 1 M.L.J. 99. The words “if the order so provides” in R. 81 (4) limit the Court's power to order confiscation under the general provisions of S. 517, Criminal P. C. and clearly indicate that the property which is the subject matter of the proceedings can be confiscated only if the order alleged to have been contravened provides for confiscation. If the order alleged to have been contravened does not so provide there is no power of confiscation. (A.I.R. 1944 Bom. 292 (F.B.), Foll. A.I.R. 1944 Bom. 247. Approved) A.I.R. 1945 Lab. 149 (F.B.).

APPLICABILITY—INFRINGEMENT OF ORDER BEFORE AMENDMENT MAKING INFRINGEMENT PUNISHABLE.—Until an amendment was made by which infringement of an order under the rule was made punishable with the same penalty as breach of the rule itself, it was not an offence to commit a breach of an order made under the rule. 308 I.C. 639—A.I.R. 1943 Pat. 313.

R. 81 (4), in its unamended form (amendment being of 18th July, 1942), contained no provision for punishment for contravention of orders framed under R. 81 (2) (b) and the rule cannot be construed in a liberal sense so as to make punishable contravention of an order before the date of the amendment of the rule. (1943) 1 M.L.J. 20—1943 Mad. 255; (1943) 2 M.L.J. 287; 9 Cut.L.T. 18; 9 Cut.L.T. 19. As to burden of proof of publication of order see (1945) P.W.N. 243.

SALE OF ARTICLE AT EXCESS PRICE.—Where the price of an article has not been controlled under R. 81 (2) (b) a conviction for selling the article at a price in excess of that fixed by the Local Press Advisory Committee is illegal. (1943) 1 M.L.J. 22.

TRADER INCREASING PRICE OF DHOTIES BY 10 PER CENT.—Before a trader who increases the price of cloth can be held to be liable under R. 81 (4), it must be proved that there is an order controlling the price of cloth. When there is no order fixing the price of cloth in a District, a trader in that District who increases the price of dhoties by about 10 per cent. cannot be held to have committed an offence under the Defence of India Rules. 21 Pat.L.T. 273—A.I.R. 1940 Pat. 373; see also 1943 A.M.L.J. 33 (failure to sell wheat on tender of fixed price is offence).

CHARGE OF SELLING ABOVE PRICE FIXED—ESSENTIALS TO BE PROVED.—On a charge under R. 81 (4) of having sold a specified commodity at a price more than 20 per cent. in excess of price prevalent on a specified date the prosecutors, in order to make out the offences, have to prove (1) that they purchased the article at a particular price from the accused; (2) the price that prevailed on the specified date for that class of commodity; and that such price was more than 20 per cent. less than the price charged by the accused. Unless these are satisfactorily proved, it cannot be said that the offence is established and a conviction cannot be sustained. 42 Bom. L.R. 473—1940 Bom. 254.

BURDEN OF PROOF.—In a prosecution under R. 81 (4) for selling an article at a price in excess of that which is authorised, it must be proved by the prosecution that the person authorised under the Rules had fixed the price of the article in question in the absence of such evidence, the accused cannot be convicted of an offence under R. 81. 11 Cut. L.T. 9.

KEROSENE SOLD AT CONTROLLED RATE PLUS TRANSPORTATION CHARGES.—Where the accused sold kerosene oil at the controlled rate plus transportation charges and it is not shown that the amount charged on account of costs of transportation was excessive it cannot be said that the prosecution succeeded in proving that any provision of R. 81 or any order made thereunder has been contravened. 211 I.C. 132—A.I.R. 1943 Cal. 643. Where a notification issued by the Collector of a district directs licensees dealing in kerosene to issue receipts in respect of sales and to exhibit lists of maximum prices of kerosene fixed by the Collector, such notification applies only to wholesale dealers and only wholesale dealers have to take out licenses. A retail merchant vending kerosene cannot be prosecuted or convicted under R. 81 (4) for not complying with the notification. (1944) 2 M.L.J. 154. See also (1945) 1 M.L.J. 457.

FOOD GRAINS CONTROL ORDER—LICENCE UNDER, CONDITION—CONTRAVENTION OF—OFFENCE.—A wholesale dealer in rice holding a licence under the Food Grains Control Order of 1942, sold rice to various persons without showing in the receipts or in the duplicate maintained by him the name, address and licence number of the various purchasers, in contravention of condition No. 6 of the licence granted to him. He was charged under R. 81 (4), read with cl. (3) of the Food Grains Control Order. Held, that the omission on the part of the dealer to mention the particulars in the receipts and counterfoils amounted to an offence under R. 81 (4), as he contravened the Food Grains Control Order which was an order under the Defence of India Rules, and he was therefore liable to conviction. (1943) 2 M.L.J. 378—1944 Mad. 41. A condition in a licence for the purchase, sale or storage, for sale, in wholesale quantities, of food grains issued to the 1st accused, the owner of a rice mill, required the licensee to issue a receipt or invoice giving particulars of any sale and to keep a duplicate for the same. The 1st accused's son, the second accused who was managing the mill, sold a bag of rice for a price which would be the price if sold in retail, but refused to pass a receipt. The accused, who were prosecuted for breach of the condition in the licence pleaded that the condition applied only to wholesale sales. Held, that the condition applied to retail as well as wholesale sales by the licensee and both the accused were liable to conviction for breach of the condition. (1945) M.W.N. 263—(1945) 1 M.L.J. 457. The conditions of a licence issued under the Food Grains Control Order should be regarded as part of that order itself, so that any contravention of any one of the conditions would be a contravention of an order made under R. 81 (2) and punishable under R. 81 (4). [(1943) 2 M.L.J. 378, Foll.; 26 Cal. 571, Dist.] 57 L.W. 548—(1944) 2 M.L.J. 299. See also 57 L.W. 363; 1944 Pat. 308; (1945) 1 M.L.J. 389. Purchase of food-grains as buying agent of another without licence is offence. See (1944) 2 M.L.J. 183. Storage of paddy in wholesale quantities without licence for sale at a future date is an offence. 1944 M.W.N. 444; (1944) 2 M.L.J. 33. See also 1944 Pat. 308—25 Pat.L.T. 81. As to Motor Spirit Ration Order. See 1945 P.W.N. 228.

OFFENCE UNDER—BAIL—GRANT OF.—The offence under R. 81 (4) is not one that has been notified by the Government as non-bailable. It must, therefore, be considered a bailable offence subject to the provisions of R. 130-A (a). The burden lies on the prosecution to make out special circumstances why the accused persons should be denied the advantage of the law in their favour. 1944 N.L.J. 75. As to bail, see also 1943 A.M.L.J. 43; 45 Bom.L.R. 72; (1941) 2 M.L.J. 1014—1942 Mad. 221.

SENTENCE.—The appellant, a dealer in tin and lead was charged with having sold and delivered some slabs of tin to different persons on different dates without permit and without licence and also failed to submit returns provided for in the order. It was found that he violated the terms of the order deliberately. He pleaded guilty and was sentenced to suffer imprisonment for three months and to pay a fine of one thousand rupees. Before the High Court it was urged on behalf of the appellant that the sentence of imprisonment should be set aside. Held, a sentence of fine is not enough; a sentence of imprisonment is also necessary in the present case. Though R. 81, sub-R. (4) prescribes the alternative penalty of fine for the contravention of any order under the rule it is the duty of the Court to determine which punishment is called for by the circumstances of the case, and the Court would be failing in its duty if it lost sight of the inclination of dealers to make profit out of irresponsible commerce in commodities which are needed by the nation and sought to be controlled by Government, and to pass deterrent sentences in proper cases. (1943) Cal.L.J. 461.

R. 81 (4): PROFITEERING CASES—PROPER SENTENCE.—The fact that the bigger dealers are rarely prosecuted for profiteering and those who sell at the source, never and most of those who are prosecuted are, relatively small dealers such as shopkeepers and in some of the instances these shopkeepers had to pay more than the controlled prices for the goods they dealt with, is no reason for not giving sentences which will be an effective deterrent for what is unquestionably a grave and a growing evil, namely, profiteering and breaking the law which prescribes that goods and articles should not be sold at more than the controlled prices. Magistrates should not hesitate to use their powers to inflict imprisonment where a maximum sentence of fine seems to them to be inadequate. The practice of using contributions to the police poor box as a substitute for prosecutions and punishments according to law, lends itself to abuse, and an abuse which may bring those who use it within the reach of the law. The sooner the practice ceases the better both from the point of view of the public and of the police. 212 I.C. 104—A. I. R. 1944 Cal. 121. Although sub-R. (4) of R. 81 prescribes the alternative penalty of fine for the contravention of any orders made under the Rule, it is the duty of the Court to determine which punishment is called for by the circumstances of the case and the Court would be failing in its duty if it lost sight of the inclination of dealers to make profit out of irresponsible commerce in commodities which are needed by the nation and sought to be controlled by the Government. A sentence of fine is not enough but a sentence of imprisonment is necessary on conviction of a dealer for deliberately violating the Non-Ferrous Metals Control Order, 1941, as amended by a Central Government Notification, dated 8th January, 1942, by selling and delivering quantities of tin without a permit 77 C.L.J. 461.

R. 81 (4): ORDER OF FORFEITURE.—The clear meaning of R. 81 (4), which provides for confiscation, is that the property in respect of which the offence is committed may be forfeited by order of the Court only if the order promulgated under R. 81 (2) so provides, but not otherwise. S. 517, Cr.P. Code, is inconsistent with R. 81 (4) and cannot be invoked by reason of S. 3 of the Defence of India Act so to enable a Court to exercise powers of forfeiture which R. 81 (4) does not give him. Where an order of the Collector prohibiting export of chillies from a district is contravened, but the order at the time contains no provision for confiscation of the property transported, a Court has no jurisdiction to order forfeiture or confiscation of the property under S. 517, Cr. P. Code. 57 L.W. 475—1944 M.W.N. 558

(b) "Design", "invention", "patent" and "patentee" have the meaning assigned to them by section 2 of the Indian Patents and Designs Act, 1911.

(2) Where a patent has been granted to any person in respect of an invention communicated to him by some other person, that other person shall, for the purposes of rule 84-B, be deemed to have an interest in the patent unless the contrary is proved.

Power of Central Government to grant licences under patents, or designs of enemies and enemy subjects.

84-B. (1) Where—

(a) an enemy or an enemy subject is, or has at any time subsequent to the 2nd September, 1939, been, whether alone or jointly with any other person, the proprietor of a patent or registered design, or entitled to any other interest in a patent or registered design (not being merely the interest of a licensee);

(b) the Central Government is satisfied that it is expedient for securing the defence of British India or the efficient prosecution of the war or for maintaining supplies and services essential to the life of the community that the rights conferred by the patent should be exercised, or that the design should be applied, as the case may be, and that a person who is not an enemy or an enemy subject desires to exercise the said rights or apply the said design and is in a position so to do, the Central Government may, on the application of that person, make an order granting to him a licence under the patent or for the application of the design, as the case may be, either for the whole of the residue of the term of the patent or the registration, or for such less period as the Central Government thinks fit.

(2) The power of the Central Government under this rule to make an order granting a licence shall include the power—

(a) to make an order granting an exclusive licence;

(b) to make an order granting a licence in relation to a patent or registered design, notwithstanding that a licence, whether exclusive or otherwise (not being an exclusive licence granted by virtue of the powers conferred by this rule), is in force in relation thereto; and

(c) to make an order granting a licence on any terms that the Central Government may think expedient.

(3) Where, under the power conferred by this rule, the Central Government makes an order granting a licence in relation to a patent or registered design, in relation to which any other licence has been granted otherwise than by an order made under this rule, the Central Government may, in relation to that other licence, make such order—

(a) revoking the licence;

(b) revoking or varying any conditions subject to which the licence has effect; or

(c) revoking or varying any of the provisions of a contract relating to the licence in so far as they relate thereto, as appears to it to be expedient having regard to the order made under sub-rule (1).

^a[(3-A)] Where under the power conferred by this rule, the Central Government has made an order granting a licence under a patent in which an enemy or an enemy subject was or had been interested, a licence under the patent granted by any other person after the making of the said order or the coming into force of this sub-rule, whichever is later, shall be void unless before the granting thereof that other person has applied for and obtained a certificate of approval by the Central Government of the granting of the licence and of the terms thereof, and shall cease to have effect if any conditions subject to which the certificate was granted or contravened or not complied with:

Provided that this sub-rule shall not affect—

(a) a licence granted under any powers conferred by the said order of the Central Government, or

(b) a licence granted, whether expressly or by implication, to a person acquiring any article if the licence was granted to him as being a person acquiring that article and not as being a particular person.]

(4) An order granting a licence under this rule shall, without prejudice to any other method of enforcement, operate as if it were embodied in a deed granting the licence which the patentee or the proprietor of the registered design, as the case may be, and all other parties having any interest therein, had executed with full capacity so to do, and the order shall accordingly operate to take away from any such party any right in relation thereto, the exercise whereof would be inconsistent with the exercise of the licence in accordance with and subject to the terms on which it is granted.

(5) A licensee under a licence granted under this rule may institute proceedings for infringement in his own name as though he were the patentee or the proprietor of the registered design, as the case may be, so, however, that any person other than an enemy who, whether alone or jointly with any other person, is the patentee or the registered proprietor of the registered design, as the case may be, shall, unless the Court in which the proceedings are taken thinks fit to direct otherwise, be made a party to the proceedings, either—

(a) if he consents in writing thereto, as a plaintiff, or

(b) if he does not so consent, as a defendant.

Where any person is made defendant to any proceedings by virtue of this sub-rule, he shall not be liable for any costs unless he enters an appearance and takes part in the proceedings.

(6) An order granting a licence under this rule shall give directions as to the person to whom or the manner in which the licensee is to pay or deal with any royalties or other payments to be paid in respect of the licence.

(7) An order under this rule and a licence granted by such an order may be varied by a subsequent order made by the Central Government either:—

(a) where the licensee makes application to the Central Government for the variation thereof, or

(b) where the Central Government is of opinion that circumstances have arisen which make it just and equitable, or that it is expedient for the purposes specified in clause (b) of sub-rule (1), that it should be varied.

8. An order under this rule and a licence granted by such an order may be revoked by a subsequent order made by the Central Government in any of the following cases, that is to say:—

(a) where the licensee makes application to the Central Government for the revocation thereof;

(b) where it appears to the Central Government that it was obtained by any misrepresentation, whether intentional or not, or was made or granted without the Central Government's having full knowledge of the material facts;

(c) where the licensee has failed to comply with any term on which the licence was granted or with a direction given under sub-rule (6), or has failed to exercise the licence in such a manner as to satisfy the reasonable requirements of the public in relation to the invention or registered design, as the case may be, or has charged unreasonable or excessive prices in respect of anything made or done in the exercise of the licence; or

(d) where the Central Government is of opinion that circumstances have arisen which make it just and equitable, or that it is expedient for the purposes specified in clause (b) of sub-rule (1), that it should be revoked.

(9) Any licence granted under this rule may provide that the licensee may, subject to such conditions as may be imposed by the Central Government, adopt the name used by the patentee for describing or denoting the article or substance manufactured under the patent.

(10) The fee to be paid on an application under this rule for an order—

(a) granting a licence,

(b) revoking any licence,

(c) revoking or [*] varying any conditions subject to which any licence has effect, or

(d) revoking or varying any of the provisions of a contract relating to any licence in so far as they relate thereto,

P[(e) granting a certificate of approval of a licence,] shall be rupees twenty in respect of each patent or registered design.

R. 90 (2) (a): INTERPRETATION—PRINCIPLES.—The requirements of each individual will vary according to a variety of circumstances. The Court would have to take note of all these and then decide whether the coins recovered is out of proportion to the "personal or business requirements" of the accused "for the time being" as necessarily to lead to the inference that he was defying the law. While this aims to protect society, it makes a serious inroad upon individual liberty and as such has to be construed strictly. 1944 A.L.W. 257.

interpreted literally. The drafting of the rule leaves much to be desired and if strictly enforced it might become an engine of great oppression. 1944 A.M.L.J. 9.

R. 90 (2) (c) is, on the face of it hastily and inappropriately drafted and could not under any circumstances be given effect to literally without causing very serious miscarriages of justice. The adverb "unreasonably" must be understood between the words "shall" and "refuse" in the expression "shall refuse to accept" in that rule. 1943 A.M.L.J. 65.

REFUSAL TO ACCEPT A RUPEE NOTE IN PAYMENT FOR GOODS WORTH THREE ANNAS.—Cl. (c) of R. 90 (2) does not penalise a shop-keeper who refuses to accept a rupee note in payment for goods worth three annas. He is not obliged to part with his goods unless there is a tender of the price. A tender of a rupee note for goods worth three annas is not a tender or offer of the price of the goods, and there is no obligation on his part to give change. 1944 N. L.J. 98.

GOODS WORTH LESS THAN ONE RUPEE PURCHASED AND ONE RUPEE NOTE OFFERED.—SHOP-KEEPER REFUSING TO ACCEPT NOTE ON GROUND THAT HE HAD NO CHANGE IS NO OFFENCE.—R. 90 (2) (c) makes it an offence for a person to refuse to accept that whole of a rupee or a note or other coin as legal tender. It implies that a person may refuse to accept a legal tender on the ground that he does not consider it as valuable as its face value indicates, and it is to avoid such consequence that the act has been made punishable. Where goods worth less than one rupee are purchased and one rupee note is offered and the shop-keeper refuses to accept the note not on the ground that he thought that the note was not worth the price which it was supposed normally to fetch but on the ground that he had no change he does not commit any offence. There is no law by which a shop-keeper is bound to keep enough change to give to the customer in exchange for rupee notes and a shop-keeper would be perfectly within his rights to say to a customer that he should bring small coins if he wishes to buy stuff worth less than Re. 1. A tender of a rupee note for goods worth less than a rupee is not a tender or offer of the price of the goods, and there is no obligation on the part of a shop-keeper to give change. A.I.R. 1944 Pesh. 41.

R. 90 (2) (d): SCOPE—ACQUIRING OF COINS BEFORE DATE OF RULE AND KEEPING SAME AFTER THAT DATE.—There is no indication in R. 90 (2) (d), which forbids a person from acquiring coins in excess of his requirements, from which the Court can infer that it is intended to strike at past acquisitions. The rule only forbids acquisitions from the date on which it came into force. What the rule strikes at is the acquisition from and after the date of the rule and not the continuing to keep or retain possession of coins already acquired. 22 Pat. 423=1943 Pat. 361.

MERE HOARDING OF COINS—FACTS TO BE PROVED TO SUSTAIN CHARGE.—Mere hoarding of coins is not an offence under sub-cl. (d) of sub-rule (2). It is only those who acquired coins in contravention of the sub-cl. (d) that are liable to punishment. In order to prove a charge under the sub-clause the prosecution must prove by direct or circumstantial evidence that the accused had acquired coins in excess of his personal or business requirements. The word 'acquire' in the sub-clause is obviously intended to mean 'to get actively into one's possession' and has not been used in the sense of hoarding. 1943 All. 329=43 I.L.R. (1943) A. 786; see also 56 L. W. 646=(1943) 2 M.L.J. 500=1944 M. 125.

R. 90 (2).—Under S. 12 (1), Coinage Act III of 1906, read with S. 2 of Ordinance IV of 1940, a rupee note is legal tender in payment or on account. But a tender of a rupee note for goods worth three annas is not a tender or offer of the price of the goods, and there is no obligation on the part of a shop-keeper to give change. If a shop-keeper acquires or possesses small coin in excess of his personal or business requirements he may be prosecuted under cl. (d) or cl. (e) of R. 90 (2). A.I.R. 1944 Nag. 131 at p. 136.

R. 90 (2) (d) AND (3): GIST OF OFFENCE ACQUIRING OF COINS.—The acquiring of coins by a merchant by vending his articles is not prohibited, but what is prohibited is the acquiring of coins beyond a particular limit. If a merchant has been acquiring from his customers more coins than what are reasonably required for his purpose and keeps them without giving change to his customers or changing them into notes, that amounts to acquiring more coins than what he can do under the law in force punishable under the Defence

(e) ^s[possess small coin to an amount in excess of his personal or business requirements for the time being].

(3) If any person contravenes any of the provisions of this rule, he shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to five years ^t[or with fine or with both].

^u[90-A. (1) The Central Government may, if it is of opinion that it is expedient so to do for the purpose of controlling the price of ^{}[gold or silver] in British India, impose on any person authorised to import ^{}[gold or silver] into British India such conditions as it thinks fit regarding the use or disposal of, or dealings in, ^{*}[gold or silver] imported in pursuance of such authorisation.

(2) If any person contravenes any of the conditions imposed under sub-rule (1) he shall, without prejudice to any other action that may be taken against him, be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to five years ^{u.1}[or with fine or with both].

^v[90-B. [Cf. Eng. Def. Fin. R. 3.] (1) In this rule "money" means any coin ^w[other than a gold coin], or currency note which is legal tender in British India or elsewhere, and includes bills of exchange; ^w[and "gold"] of India Rules. It is the duty of every person to see that he does not retain with him more change than what is necessary for his requirements, and if he does it, he does so at his peril. (1943) 2 M.L.J. 280=56 L. W. 488.

R. 90 (2) (d): INTENTION OF.—The intention of R. 90 (2) (d) is that the currency officer is entitled to determine how much money he should pay to any person and if the sum is a large one no other person shall thereafter be in a position to say that it was in fact in excess of the need of the person acquiring it. The Rule cannot be interpreted to mean that no one can take small change from the Currency Office unless he had personally obtained the authority of the Currency Officer. 1944 A.L.J. 320=1944 A. W.B. (H.C.) 180 (2).

"ACQUIRE"—MEANING OF—PRESUMPTION

FROM POSSESSION—INGREDIENTS OF OFFENCE.

—The word "acquire" in R. 90 (2) (d) is not equivalent of "being in possession" but means "to seek". If a person makes an effort to get or obtain anything, he may be said to have acquired it, but if he gets it without any effort, physical or mental on his part, he cannot be said to have acquired that particular thing. There must therefore be a conscious effort to acquire "coins" as such. In order to find a man guilty of an offence under this Rule, it is the duty of the prosecution to show not only that the accused was on a particular date in possession of coins but also that he had made an effort to seek or get them as coins. No presumption can be raised against the accused from the fact that they were found in his possession. The prosecution must further show that the accused had acquired coins to an amount in excess of his personal or business requirements and that he had done so after these rules had come into force. The rules cannot be held to be retrospective in effect. 212 I.C. 279=A.I.R. 1944 Lah. 113.

RR. 90 (2) (d) AND 90 (3): STATIONERY SHOP-OWNER ACQUIRING SMALL CHANGE AMOUNTING TO RS. 17 AND ODD.—It is not the acquisition of small change that is made an offence under the Defence of India Rules, but the acquisition beyond a particular limit, namely, beyond what is required for the daily needs of the business. Where most of the purchases made at a stationery shop were by litigants, school boys and sundry persons who may pay in rupee coins and expect to receive small coins as change, the possession in small coins by the shop-keeper amounting to Rs. 17 and odd, cannot be deemed to be in excess of his requirements. (1943) 2 M. L.J. 280 and A.I.R. 1943 All. 329, (Foll.). (1944) 1 M.L.J. 139=57 L.W. 106.

(2) No person shall, except with the permission of the Reserve Bank of India or of a person authorised in this behalf by the said Bank, take or send out of British India w[any money] in excess of such amount as may be specified in this behalf by the said Bank, w[or any gold].

*[(3) The restrictions imposed by sub-rule (2) on the export of money or gold shall be deemed to have been imposed under section 19 of the Sea Customs Act, 1878, and all the provisions of that Act shall have effect accordingly:

Control of dealings in bullion.

¶[90-C. (1) In this rule—

LEG. REF.

(w) No. 860-OR/44, dated the 4th December, 1943.

(x) Substituted by D.C. Dept. Notification No. 860-OR/41, dated the 14th June 1941, for the original sub-rules (3), (4), (5), (6) and (7) of rule 90-B, as amended by D.C. Dept. Notification Nos. 701-OR/41 and 591-OR/40, dated the 15th February and 1st March 1941, respectively.

(y) Inserted by No. 5-DC (30)/43, dated the 29th May 1943, and amended by No. 5-D.C. (40)/43, dated the 5th August 1943; No. 5-DC (40)/43, dated the 24th September 1943 and No. 5-DC (40)/43, dated the 24th January 1944.

(e) is fully covered by the rule making power conferred by sec. 2 (xxix) of the Defence of India Act, and is not therefore ultra vires. 1944 N.L.J. 393. The Defence of India Act only permits the Central Government to make Rules controlling the use or disposal of, or dealings in coin. R. 90 (2) (e) provides for an offence for possession of small coin in excess of one's use. The latter rule cannot be said to be ultra vires because the "use" of coin was different from the "possession" of them. The use of current coin includes the possession of it. Possession of current coin is tantamount to the use of such coin. 1944 A.M.L.J. 15. See also 47 Bom.L.R. 644.

R. 90 (3): CONFISCATION OF COINS.—Magistrate has power to order confiscation of the hoarded coins in respect of which the accused is found guilty under sec. 30 (2). 1941 Bom. 412, Dist; 1944 Mad. 125=(1943) 2 M.L.J. 500=56 L.W. 646.

The requirements of each individual will vary according to a variety of circumstances. The Court would have to take note of all these and then decide whether the coins recovered is out of proportion to the 'personal or business requirements' of the accused 'for the time being' as necessarily to lead to the inference that he was defying the law. While this aims to protect society, it makes a serious inroad upon individual liberty and as such has to be construed strictly. 1944 A. L.W. 257.

CONFISCATION.—There is no provision in the Defence of India Rules authorising the Courts on a conviction (for fishing in the vicinity of the Madras harbour in contravention of the notification under the Defence of India Rules) to order the confiscation of the catamarans, nets, etc., used by the accused. (1944) 1 M. L.J. Notes of cases) p. 22.

R. 90-B (2) (3): OFFENCE—MONEY FOUND ON PERSON ON SEARCH IN EXCESS OF LIMIT PRESCRIBED—PERSON NOT ORDERED OR ASKED TO DECLARE DETAILS OF MONEY—CONVICTION—SUSTAINABILITY.—It is a condition precedent to liability under R. 90-B (3) (a), that the officer of Customs should order a person (such as traveller) to "declare with full details the money and gold which he had with him. Where there is no evidence of such an order having been made or even a request to the person concerned to make a declaration, he cannot be convicted under R. 90-B (3) (a) on the mere ground that on a search money in excess of the limit prescribed was found on his person. 43 Bom.L.R. 872=A.I.R. 1941 Bom. 412.

SEARCH—MONEY FOUND IN EXCESS OF LIMIT ALLOWED.—Where a person is properly searched by a Customs Officer under sub-R. (4) of R. 90-B, and such person is found to have in his possession money in contravention of R. 90-B (2) read with R. 121, the Customs Officer is entitled to seize the money in excess of that amount which is permitted to be carried. Money up to the limit permitted cannot be seized but must be refunded to the searched person. The excess found has, under R. 90-B (6), to be disposed of in such manner as the Central Government may direct. The money properly seized never becomes subject to the jurisdiction of the Court by which the person searched is tried for his offence, and the Court has no jurisdiction to make any order as to the disposal of such money. R. 90-B (6) prevails

- (a) 'bullion' means gold or silver bullion;
- (b) 'contract' means a contract made, or to be performed in whole or in part, in British India relating to the sale or purchase of bullion, and includes an option in bullion;
- (c) 'forward contract' means a contract for the delivery of bullion at a future date, such date being later than [seven] days from the date of the contract;
- (d) 'option in bullion' means a contract made, or to be performed in whole or in part, in British India for the purchase or sale of a right to buy, or a right to sell, or a right to buy or sell, bullion in future, and includes a teji, a mandi or teji-mandi in bullion.
- (2) No person shall enter into any forward contract or option in bullion.
- (3) If any person contravenes the provisions of this rule, he shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to five years or with fine or with both.]

Restriction on purchases of foreign exchange.

91. [Cf. Eng. Def. Fin. R. 2.] (1) For the purposes of this rule and of rule 92 the expression "foreign exchange" means—

- (a) any currency other than currency which is legal tender in British India ^a[* *] ^a[or in any Indian state],
- (b) any bill or promissory note, payable otherwise than in rupees, and
- (c) any credit or balance otherwise than in rupees.

(2) No person resident in British India shall acquire any foreign exchange, or transfer rupees, gold coin or bullion, or securities with a view, directly or indirectly, to the acquisition of any foreign exchange, [except from a person authorised under sub-rule (4) by the Reserve Bank of India to deal in Foreign Exchange.] (5 D. C. (67) 44, Gazette of India, dated 10th June 1944, p. 775.).

(3) No person shall buy or borrow from, or sell or lend to, any person not authorised by the ^b[Reserve Bank of India] in this behalf, any foreign exchange, ^c[other than gold sovereign];

(4) The provisions of this rule shall not restrict the doing of anything, within the scope of his authority, by a person authorised ^d[by the Reserve Bank of India] to deal in foreign exchange, and shall not restrict the doing of anything which is authorised ^d[by the Reserve Bank of India] to be necessary for the purposes—

(a) of meeting the reasonable requirements of a trade or business carried on in India, or

(b) of performing a contract made before the 3rd September 1939, or

(c) of defraying reasonable travelling or other personal expenses.

(5) If any person contravenes any of the provisions of this rule, he shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term, which may extend to five years, ^e[or with fine or with both].

Restrictions on payments, etc.

j[92-A. (1) For the purposes of this rule,—

(i) "sterling area" means His Majesty's dominions, excluding Canada, Newfoundland and Hongkong, the British protectorates and protected States, and such other territories as may be declared by the Reserve Bank of India to be included for the time being in the sterling area;

(ii) "security" includes shares, stock bonds, debentures, debenture stock, deposit receipts in respect of the deposit of securities, units or sub-units of a unit trust, coupons representing dividends or interest, and life or endowment assurance policies, but does not include bills of exchange and promissory notes;

(iii) "transfer" includes, in relation to any security, transfer by way of loan or security.

(2) Subject to any exemptions which may be granted by the Reserve Bank of India, no person resident in British India shall, except with the permission of the Reserve Bank of India,—

(a) draw, issue or negotiate any bill of exchange or promissory note, or acknowledge any debt, so that a right (whether actual or contingent) to receive a payment in India is created or transferred in favour of a person who is resident outside the sterling area; k* *

(b) make any payment to, or by the order or on behalf of, any such person;

l[(c) transfer any security, or create or transfer any interest in a security, to or in favour of any such person;

(d) transfer any security from a register in British India to a register outside the sterling area, or do any act which is calculated to secure or forms part of a series of acts which together are calculated to secure, the substitution for any security which is either in, or registered in, British India of any security which is either outside, or registered outside, the sterling area.]

94. (1) For the purposes of this rule—

LEG. REF.

(r) Substituted by Finance Department Notification No. 123-S.R.B. dated the 4th Sept., 1939, for the words "Central Government."

(s) Omitted by order dated 31st August 1943.

(t) Substituted by D. C. Dept. Notification No. 701-OR/41, dated the 15th February, 1941, for the words "and shall also be liable to fine".

(u) Inserted by D. C. Dept. Notification No. 1257-OR/42, dated the 2nd March, 1942.

(i) "foreign security" means a security issued in any country other than India u-1[* *];

(ii) "owner", in relation to any security, includes any person who has power to sell or transfer a security, or who has the custody thereof, or who receives, whether on his own behalf or on behalf of any other person, dividends or interest thereon, or who has any interest therein.

(2) The Central Government may, by notified order, direct the owners of any foreign securities specified in the v[order] to make a return to the Reserve Bank of India, within such period and giving such particulars as to those securities, as may be specified in the order.

(3) The Central Government may, if it is of the opinion that it is expedient so to do for the purpose of strengthening its financial position, w[by notified order transfer to itself any foreign securities], specified in the order at a price so specified being a price which in the opinion of the Central Government, is not less than the market value of the securities on the date of the order.

(4) On the making of an order under sub-rule (3)—

(a) the securities to which the order relates shall forthwith vest in the Central Government free from any mortgage, pledge or charge, and the Central Government may deal with them in such manner as it thinks fit;

(b) the owner of any of the securities to which the order relates and any person who is responsible for keeping any registers or books in which any of those securities are registered or inscribed, or who is otherwise concerned with the registration or inscription of any of those securities, shall do all such things as are necessary, or as the Central Government or the Reserve Bank of India, on behalf of the Central Government, may order to be done, for the purpose of securing that the securities and any documents of title relating thereto are delivered to the Central Government and, in the case of registered and inscribed securities, that the securities are registered or inscribed in the name of the Central Government.

(5) A certificate signed by any person authorised in this behalf by the Central Government that any specified securities are securities transferred to the Central Government under this rule, shall be treated by all persons concerned as conclusive evidence that the securities have been so transferred.

(6) The provisions of this rule shall not apply to any security in respect of which the Central Government is satisfied that at all times since the 3rd September, 1939, all persons interested in the security, other than persons interested therein merely as trustees or merely by virtue of any mortgage, pledge or charge, but including any persons beneficially interested therein under the trust, were not resident in British India.

(7) If any person contravenes any of the provisions of this rule x[or any order made thereunder] he shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to five years y[or with fine or with both].

Control of capital issues.

[94-A. (1) For the purpose of this rule—

(a) securities shall mean the following instruments issued or to be issued by or for the benefit of a company, viz., (i) shares, stocks and bonds, (ii) debentures, (iii) other instruments creating a charge or lien on the assets of the company, and (iv) instruments acknowledging loan to or indebtedness of the company and guaranteed by a third party or entered into jointly with a third party;

LEG. REF.

(u-1) Omitted by order, dated 31st August 1943.

(v) Substituted by D. C. Dept. Notification No. 664-OR/41, dated the 25th January, 1941, for the word "notification".

(w) Substituted by ibid. for the words "by order transfer to itself any such foreign securities as aforesaid".

(x) Inserted by D. C. Dept. Notification No. 1500-OR/42, dated the 18th July, 1942.

(y) Substituted by D. C. Dept. Notification No. 701-OR/41, dated the 15th February, 1941, for the words "and shall also be liable to fine".

(z) D.D. Notification No. 5-DC (27)/43, dated 17th May, 1943.

(b) a person shall be deemed to make an issue of capital who issues any securities whether for cash or otherwise.

(2) (a) No company whether incorporated in British India or not, shall except with the consent of the Central Government—

(i) make an issue of capital in British India;

(ii) make in British India any public offer of securities for sale;

(iii) renew or postpone the date of maturity or repayment of any security maturing for payment in British India;

(b) the Central Government may on application make an order according recognition to an issue of capital made or to be made outside British India by a company not incorporated in British India.

(3) The Central Government may qualify any consent or recognition accorded by it under sub-rule (2) with such conditions whether for immediate or future fulfilment, as it may think fit to impose; and where a company acts in pursuance of such consent or recognition, it shall comply with the terms of any condition so imposed.

(4) No company incorporated in British India shall, except with the consent of the Central Government, make an issue of capital outside British India.

(5) No person shall issue in British India any prospectus or other documents offering for subscription or publicly offering for sale any security, which does not include a statement that the consent or recognition, as the case may be, of the Central Government has been obtained to the issue or the offer of the securities;

[And no person shall without the consent of the Central Government issue in British India any document publicly offering for sale any security issued with the consent or recognition of the Central Government if such issue was made by a private company or if the order according it consent or recognition, contained a condition that the securities should be privately subscribed.] [Fort St. Geo. Gaz. Rules Supplement to Part I, dated 13th Feb., 1945, pp. 1-2; also Gaz. of India, Pt. I, S. 1, 27th January, 1945, p. 112.]

(6) The Central Government may by order condone a contravention of sub-rule (2), sub-rule (4) or sub-rule (5) and on the making of such order the provisions of this rule shall have effect as if an exemption had been granted under this rule from the operation of sub-rule (2), sub-rule (4) or sub-rule (5) as the case may be, in favour of the thing done in contravention of such sub-rule.

(7) No person shall accept or give any consideration for any securities in respect of an issue of capital made or proposed to be made in British India or elsewhere unless the consent or recognition of the Central Government has been accorded to such issue of capital.

(8) No person shall sell or purchase or otherwise transfer or accept transfer of any securities issued by a company in respect of any issue of capital made after the 17th May, 1943, in British India or elsewhere unless such issue has been made with the consent or recognition of the Central Government.

[(8-A) Any person authorised in this behalf by the Central Government may, for the purpose of enquiring into the correctness of any statement made in an application for consent or recognition to an issue of capital or of ascertaining whether or not the requirements of any condition attached to an order according such consent or recognition have been complied with—

(a) require any company or any officer of a company which has made such application or obtained such order to submit to him such accounts, books or other documents or to furnish to him such information as he may reasonably think necessary, or

(b) at any reasonable time enter any office, factory, land or other premises occupied by such company and inspect the office, factory, land or other premises and require any person found therein who is for the time being in charge thereof to produce to him and allow him to examine such accounts, books, or other documents as may relate to the business of the company or to furnish to him such information as he may reasonably think necessary".] (Gazette of India, Pt. I, Sec. 1, dated 31—3—1945, p. 380.)

(9) The Central Government may, by special or general order, grant exemption from all or any of the provisions of this rule.

(10) If any person contravenes the provisions of this rule he shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to five years or with fine or with both.] (Rule 94-A, substituted by 5 D.C. (68) 44, Gazette of India, Extraordinary, dated 9th June, 1944, at page 1087-88.)

d[94-B. (1) The Central Government may, if it appears to it to be necessary or expedient for securing the efficient prosecution of war or for maintaining supplies and services essential to the life of the community, by notified order, Power to prohibit advances against specified commodities.

(i) prohibit or restrict, either generally or in respect of any specified class of persons or any specified class of transactions, the making of advances of money on the security of such commodities (including bullion) as may be specified in the order, and

(ii) require the repayment of any such advances outstanding on the date of the order within a specified period.

(2) If any person contravenes any order made under this rule, he shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to five years, or with fine, or with both.]

Prohibition of budla.

e[94-C. (1) In this rule—

(a) budla includes a contango and a backwardation and any other arrangement whereby the performance of any obligation under a contract to take or give delivery of securities within a stipulated period is postponed to some future date in consideration of the payment or receipt of interest or other charges;

(b) 'contract' means a contract made, or to be performed in whole or in part, in British India relating to the sale or purchase of securities;

(c) 'ready-delivery contract' means a contract which must be performed by the actual delivery of, or payment for, the securities specified therein on a date not later than the seventh day (or, if the seventh day happens to be a holiday, the business day next following) from the date of the contract;

(d) 'securities' include stocks, shares, bonds, debentures and debenture stock and any other instrument of a like nature;

(e) 'Stock Exchange' means any association, organization or body of individuals, whether incorporated or not, established for the purpose of assisting, regulating and controlling business in buying, selling and dealing in securities;

(2) No stock exchange shall, after the 24th September, 1943, permit or afford facilities for—

(a) the transaction of budla;

(b) the making of any contract other than a ready-delivery contract;

or
(c) the carrying out or settlement of any budla transaction or any contract other than a ready-delivery contract.

(3) Any Director, Manager, Secretary or other officer of a Stock Exchange who contravenes any of the provisions of this rule shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to five years or with fine or with both.]^d e-1[(4) The Central Government may, by order, authorise, subject to such conditions, if any, as it may impose, any Director, Manager, Secretary or other officer of a Stock Exchange to extend, in any particular case, for reasons to be recorded in writing, the time for the performance of a 'ready-delivery contract' specified in clause (c) of sub-rule (1).]

(f) as respects any business carried on in enemy territory, any individual or body of persons p-1[whether incorporated or not] carrying on that business.]

98. (1) For the purposes of this Part a person shall be deemed to have traded with the enemy if he has had any commercial, financial or other intercourse or dealings with, or for the benefit of, an enemy, and, in particular, but without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing provision, if he has—

(i) supplied any goods to or for the benefit of an enemy, or obtained any goods from an enemy, or traded in, or carried, any goods consigned to or from an enemy or destined for or coming from enemy territory, or

(ii) paid or transmitted any money, negotiable instrument or security for money, to or for the benefit of an enemy or to a place in enemy territory, or

(iii) performed any obligation to, or discharged any obligation of, an enemy, whether the obligation was undertaken before or after the commencement of the Ordinance:

Provided that a person shall not be deemed to have traded with the enemy by reason only that he has—

(a) done anything under an authority given generally or specially by, or by any person authorised in that behalf by, the Central Government, or

(b) received payment from an enemy of a sum of money due in respect of a transaction under which all obligations on the part of the person receiving payment q[had already been performed when payment was received and had been performed at a time when the person from whom the payment was received was not an enemy].

(2) Any reference in this rule to an enemy shall be construed as including a reference to a person acting on behalf of an enemy.

(3) Any person who trades with the enemy shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to seven years r[or with fine or with both].

s[(4) In any proceedings for an offence of trading with the enemy, the fact that any document has been despatched addressed to a person in enemy territory shall, unless the contrary is proved, be evidence, as against any person who was a party to the despatch of the document, that the person to whom the document was despatched was an enemy.]

99. No transaction which constitutes an offence of trading with the enemy shall, except to such extent as the Central Government may by general or special order regulate, be effective so as to confer any rights or remedies on the parties to such transaction or on any persons claiming under them.

t[100. The Central Government may, either generally or for any particular area, appoint one or more Controllers, Deputy Controllers and Inspectors, of Enemy Trading, for securing compliance with the provisions of this Part, and may, by general or special order, provide for the distribution and allocation of the work to be performed by them under these Rules.

100-A. (1) If a Controller, or Deputy Controller, of Enemy Trading has reasonable cause to believe that an offence punishable under rule 98 has been, or is likely to be, committed, he may—

(a) inspect or cause to be inspected any books or documents belonging to, or under the control of, any person,

(b) order any person to give such information in his possession with respect to any business carried on by that or any other person as the Controller or Deputy Controller, as the case may be, may demand, and for the purposes aforesaid, may—

(i) enter and search, or authorise a police officer not below the rank of Sub-Inspector to enter and search, any premises used for the purposes of the said business,

(ii) summon any person, examine him on oath, reduce his answers to writing and require him to sign the writing, and

(iii) if any person so summoned fails to appear at the time appointed, cause him to be apprehended by a police officer and brought before him for examination.

(2) A Controller, or Deputy Controller, of Enemy Trading may by order in writing delegate his powers in any particular case to an Inspector of Enemy Trading.]

u[101. If in order to secure compliance with the provisions of this Part the Central Government considers it expedient so to do, it may by order direct that the business of any person (hereinafter referred to as the suspected person) shall be subject to supervision; and, thereupon a Controller of Enemy Trading and any person authorised by a Controller in this behalf shall have in relation to that business—

(a) all the powers mentioned in rule 100-A,

(b) the power to prohibit or regulate by means of written instructions to the suspected person or his agents or employees any transactions or class of transactions of that person, and

(c) such other powers as may from time to time be conferred on him by the Central Government.

101-A. If any person contravenes any order lawfully given by any Controller, Deputy Controller, or Inspector, of Enemy Trading, or any person authorised by a Controller under rule 101, that person shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to six months ^{Penalty or failure to comply with orders of Controllers, etc.} or with fine or with both].

102. If any person with intent to evade the provisions of this Part conceals, destroys, mutilates, or defaces any book or other document, that person shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to five years ^{Penalty for concealment, destruction, etc., of books or documents.} or with fine or with both].

111. (1) Where it appears to the Central Government that a transfer of property movable or immovable [made, whether before or after the commencement of the Ordinance, to or by a person or body of persons who at the time of such transfer was, or subsequent to such transfer became, an enemy as defined in rule 97 or an enemy subject or an enemy firm], is injurious to the public interest or was made with a view to evade the provisions of this Part, the Central Government may, by order, declare such transfer, and any subsequent transfer or sub-transfer of the same property or part thereof, to be void, either in whole or in part, or may impose such conditions on the transferee as it thinks fit.

(2) On the making of an order under sub-rule (1) declaring any transfer, subsequent transfer or sub-transfer of any property to be void, that property shall, with effect from the date of the order, be deemed to be revested in the original transferor.

112. (1) If any securities are transferred by, or allotted or transferred to, an enemy firm, then, except with the sanction of the Central Government, the transferee or allottee shall not by virtue of the transfer or allotment have any rights or remedies in respect of the securities; and no body corporate by which the securities were issued, or are managed, shall take cognisance of, or otherwise act upon, any such transfer except under the written authority of the Central Government.

(2) No share warrants, stock certificates or bonds shall be issued, payable to bearer, in respect of securities registered or inscribed in the name of an enemy firm or of a person acting on behalf, or for the benefit, of an enemy firm.

(3) If any person contravenes any of the provisions of this rule, he shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to six months [or with fine or with both].

113. (3) Where an order under sub-rule (2) is made as respects any business, the Central Government may, by that or a subsequent order, appoint a Supervisor to control and supervise the carrying out of the order, and, in the case of a winding up order, to conduct the winding up of the business and may confer on the Supervisor any such powers in relation to the business as are exercisable by a liquidator in the voluntary winding up of a company in relation to the company (including power in the name of the person carrying on the business or in his own name, and by deed or otherwise, to convey or transfer any property, and power to apply to the court to determine any question arising in the carrying out of the order), and may by the order confer on the Supervisor such other powers as the Central Government thinks necessary or convenient for the purpose of giving full effect to the order.

(4) Where a restriction order or a winding up order is made as respects any business, the distribution of any assets of the business which are distributed while the order is in force shall be subject to the same rules as to preferential payments either applicable to the distribution of the assets of a company which is being wound up, and the said assets of the business shall, so far as they are available for discharging unsecured debts, be applied in discharging unsecured debts due to creditors of the business who are not enemies in priority to unsecured debts due to any other creditors, and any balance, after providing for the discharge of all liabilities of the business, shall be distributed among the persons interested in the business in such manner as the Central Government may direct:

Provided that the provisions of this sub-rule shall, in their application to the distribution of any money or other property which would, in accordance with those provisions, fall to be paid or transferred to an enemy, whether as a creditor or otherwise, have effect subject to the provisions of rule 114 and of any order made under that rule.

(5) Where any business for which a Supervisor has been appointed under this rule has assets in enemy territory, the Supervisor shall, if in his opinion it is practicable so to do, cause an estimate to be prepared—

(a) of the value of those assets;

(b) of the amount of any liabilities of the business to creditors, whether secured or unsecured, who are enemies;

(c) of the amount of the claims of persons who are enemies to participate, otherwise than as creditors of the business, in any distribution of assets of the business made while an order under sub-rule (2) is in force as respects the business and where such an estimate is made, the said liabilities and claims shall, for the purposes of this rule, be deemed to have been satisfied out of the said assets of the business in enemy territory, or to have been satisfied thereout so far as those assets will go, and only the balance (if any) shall rank for satisfaction out of the other assets of the business.

(6) Where an estimate has been prepared under sub-rule (5), a certificate of the Supervisor as to the value or amount of any assets, claims or liabilities to which the estimate relates shall be conclusive for the purpose of determining the amount of the assets of the business available for discharging the other liabilities of the business and for distribution amongst other persons claiming to be interested in the business:

Provided that nothing in this sub-rule shall affect the rights of creditors of, and other persons interested in, the business against the assets of the business in enemy territory.

(7) The Central Government may, on an application made by a Supervisor appointed under this rule, after considering the application and any objections which may be made by any person who appears to the Central Government to be interested, by order grant the Supervisor a release, and an order of the Central Government under this sub-rule shall discharge the Supervisor from all liability in respect of any act done or default made by him in the exercise and performance of his powers and duties as Supervisor, but any such order may be revoked by the Central Government on proof that it was obtained by fraud or by suppression or concealment of any material fact.

(8) Where an order under sub-rule (2) has been made as respects a business carried on by any individuals or by a company, no insolvency petition against the individuals, or petition for the winding up of the company, shall be presented, or resolution for the winding up of the company passed, or steps for the enforcement of the rights of any creditors of the individuals or company taken, without the consent of the Central Government, but where the business is carried on by a company, the Central Government may present a petition for the winding up of the company by the court, and the making of an order under sub-rule (2) shall be a ground on which the company may be wound up by the court.

(9) Where an order is made under this rule appointing a Supervisor, for any business, any remuneration of, and any costs, charges and expenses incurred by, the Supervisor, and any other costs, charges and expenses incurred in connection with the control and supervision of the carrying out of the order, shall, to such amount as may be certified by the Central Government, be defrayed out of the assets of the business, and as from the date of the certificate, be charged on those assets in priority to any other charges thereon.

(10) If any person contravenes the provisions of any order made under sub-rule (2), he shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to 5 years or with fine or both.]

PUBLICATION — ADEQUACY — POWER OF COURT TO INQUIRE INTO.—Under R. 119 of the Defence of India Rules, the authority concerned is to decide the best method of publication and when that authority has adopted a particular method of publication, the Courts cannot enquire into the adequacy or otherwise of such publication of the notification in question. 1944 A.M.L.J. 59.

SCOPE—MANDATORY CHARACTER OF—NON-COMPLIANCE—EFFECT ON PROSECUTION.—R. 119 of the Defence of India Rules requires that the authority making an order should determine the manner in which notice of the order shall be given; and it further requires that notice of the order shall be published in the manner determined by that authority. These provisions of R. 119 are mandatory and must be complied with; in the absence of evidence proving compliance with these requirements, a prosecution must fail. 11 Cut.L.T. 9. See also 1945 Pat. 306.

R. 119 is mandatory and not directory. When a person is ordered to be detained under R. 26, it is essential that a copy of the order made against him should be served on him. If this is not done, his detention is illegal. 1945 N.L.J. 144.

ORDER UNDER—RULES—WHEN COMES INTO OPERATION—PUBLICATION OF NOTICE.—An order made under the Defence of India Rules comes into operation only when it is made known to the public or the persons whom it concerns. The legal fiction contained in R. 119, that when a notice has been published the persons concerned shall be deemed to have been duly informed of the order, is applicable only when it has been proved that everything that was required to be done by the authorities or officer was actually done. 214 I.C. 241=25 P. L. T. 144.

Where an order is addressed to a private individual, mere publication in the Government Gazette cannot be held to be sufficient notice to that individual of an order passed against him, unless there is reason to believe that he is in the habit of reading the Gazette or has read it in the particular instance. If, in fact, the individual concerned knew perfectly well that an order had been passed against him and acquired his knowledge by other means, it cannot be held that he had not received notice of the order

[(1-B) If in the course of any judicial proceedings, a question arises whether a person was duly informed of an order made in pursuance of these Rules, compliance with sub-rule (1), or, in a case to which sub-rule (1-A) applies, the notification of the order, shall be conclusive proof that he was so informed; but a failure to comply with sub-rule (1)—

(i) shall not preclude proof by other means that he was so informed; and
(ii) shall not affect the validity of the order.] (Gazette of India, Pt. I, Sec. 1, dated 21st July 1945, p. 966).]

h[(2) Any police officer, and any other person authorised by Government merely because notice was not given to him in the manner prescribed by R. 119. The consequences of failure to carry out the provisions of R. 119 are practical rather than legal. 46 Bom.L.R. 495.

In a prosecution for contravening a prohibitory order under the Defence of India Rules, the prosecution has to show that there was a publication or notification of the order in accordance with what the officer or person issuing the order considered was best for conveying information to the persons whom the order concerned. Once he exercises his discretion as to the manner of publication, the discretion cannot be interfered with. It is not the rule that before there can be a conviction for violation of a prohibitory order that knowledge on the part of the accused should be shown in any particular manner. 58 L.W. 138=(1945) 1 M.L.J. 273.

R. 119: PUBLICATION OF ORDER OR NOTIFICATION—PROPER MODE OF.—What is to be published under R. 119 is notice of the order. That does not mean merely the fact of the order, but the order itself. Publication of the order means publication of all its material particulars. The mere publication of a notification in the Government Gazette is not sufficient to charge a person with liability for infringement of its terms. In the case of notifications involving a very large number of agriculturists and traders and involving penal liability they should be properly brought to the knowledge of the public especially as such persons living in villages are not expected to read the Government Gazette. When there is a direction by the authority making the order that it should be published by beat of drum in all villages, the best course would be that the summary of the notification or order by beat of drum in every village and a translation of the notification in the language of the district should be put up in the chavadi or chora of the village, and it should be announced to the public while publishing its summary by beat of drum that a translation of the notification has been put up in the village chavadi. 47 Bom.L.R. 143.

The most important ingredient of R. 119 of the Defence of India Rules is that it is for the authority passing the order under the Rules to exercise its mind and to decide upon some method of publication of the order. This power can be exercised only by the authority passing the order and by nobody else. Before a person can be charged with infringement of an order passed under the Defence India Rules, it is incumbent on the prosecution to establish that the authority passing that order had prescribed a certain method of publishing that order and that method had been carried out. 1945 O.W.N. (H.C.) 181. As to burden of proof, see 24 Pat. 29=1945 Pat. 307; 1945 P.W.N. 121; 1945 P.W.N. 243.

NOTICE OF ORDER UNDER RULES—NECESSITY FOR—MANNER OF GIVING NOTICE.—Before a person can be punished for breach of an order under the Defence of India Rules, notice as required by R. 119 should be given of the orders affecting individuals to the individual concerned. The manner in which notice is to be given is to be decided by the authority or officer making the order, and it is the opinion of that authority or officer that counts. The Court cannot substitute its own opinion for that of the officer, but the Court should be satisfied that the officer has decided on the manner in which notice of the order should be given, and that the notice has been given in accordance with the manner the officer has decided on. Where notice is to be given by publication in the Gazette, such publication means publication at the place where the offence is committed by breach of the rules and not publication at the place of issue of the Gazette. I.L.R. (1944) Kar. 107=A.I.R. 1944 Sind 142.

R. 119 (1) of the Defence of India Rules requires that the authority issuing a notification under the Rules should decide in what manner the notification should be published. Therefore unless the prosecution shows in what manner the publication was decided on, it would not be entitled to rely on the presumption regarding notice to the accused mentioned in last para. of R. 119 (1). Mere publication in the Government or Official Gazette is not sufficient to fix a person with knowledge of the rule or notification in the absence of evidence to show that the authority had decided about the manner of publication. III. (e) to S. 114, Evidence Act, cannot also be applied to such a case. The burden of proof is on the prosecution. 47 Bom.L.R. 431=A. I. R. 1945 Bom. 368.

APPLICABILITY—ACCUSED ORGANISING MEETINGS AT WHICH INTENDING satyagrahis MADE ANTI-WAR SPEECHES.—Where the charge against the petitioner was that he organised meetings at which intending satyagrahis made anti-war speeches, introduced them to the audience, made appreciative references to their speeches at the close of the meetings, and thereby abetted the satyagrahis, in infringing the Defence of India Act and Rules, it was contended that as the principal offender had determined to commit an offence the petitioner committed no offence in merely announcing to the public that the principal offender intended to commit an offence. Held, that the offence committed by the principal could not be committed in the absence of the public, and by bringing the principal who intended to commit an offence into contact with the public, the petitioner himself committed the offence of abetment within the meaning of R. 121. JOINDER OF CHARGES—RULE.—R. 121 makes punishable the abetment of a particular offence and a person cannot be punished for abetting in general. He has to be charged with the abetment of a particular offence, and the ordinary rules of joinder must apply to offences punishable under R. 121 read with the other provisions of the Rules. "PREPARATORY ACT"—WHAT AMOUNTS TO.—R. 121 does not make mere intention to contravene any of the provisions of the rules punishable. It makes attempt abetment, and acts preparatory to the contravention of the rules punishable, but not mere intention to contravene them. The act preparatory to the contravention of the rules is presumably one that prepares the way (i.e.) facilitates the contravention of the rules, in some manner or other and not merely an act which precedes the contravention of the rules, but does not facilitate the contravention in any way. 123. Any person who, knowing or having reasonable cause to believe that any other person has contravened any of the provisions of these Rules 1-1 [or of any order made thereunder], gives that other person any assistance with intent thereby to prevent, hinder or otherwise interfere with his arrest, trial or punishment for the said contravention, shall be deemed to have abetted that contravention.

(a) to enter and search the place in the manner specified in the warrant, and

(b) to seize anything found in or on such place which the police officer has reason to believe [has been, is being or is intended to be used], for the purposes of or in connection with, any such contravention or offence as aforesaid; and the provisions of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, shall, so far as they may be applicable, apply to any such search or seizure, as they apply to any search or seizure made under the authority of a warrant issued under section 98 of that Code.

(2) Any Magistrate before whom anything seized under sub-rule (1) is conveyed shall forthwith report the fact of such seizure to the Provincial Government and, pending the receipt of its orders, may detain in custody anything so seized or take such other order for its safe custody as he may think proper.

R. 129 (1): POWER TO ARREST AND DETAIN. —The power to arrest and detain on mere suspicion, which has been conferred on the executive under R. 129 (1) is not intended to be exercised in an arbitrary or capricious manner. In exercising this power the executive must act reasonably and in good faith, and in such a way that a Court of law cannot say that it was obviously not acting bona fide because it was acting so unreasonably that no honest man could say that it could possibly have so acted. 23 Pat. 252=1944-P.W.N. 245=A.I.R. 1944 Pat. 354.

ORDER DETAINING PERSON TO ENABLE POLICE TO INVESTIGATE OFFENCES COMMITTED BY HIM. —A person can be detained under R. 129, only if he is a possible danger to the State or to the efficient prosecution of the war. An order detaining him in order to enable the police to carry on unhampered an investigation of offences alleged to have been committed by him is a misuse or an abuse of the powers given by that rule and therefore can be questioned in a Court in spite of S. 16 (1) of the Defence of India Act. A.I. R. 1944 Lah. 373.

OBJECT OF—PRESS REPORTER MISREPORTING REMARKS OF DEPUTY COMMISSIONER CONCERNING A.R.P.—LEGALITY OF HIS ARREST.—R. 129 was provided to enable police officers or other officers of Government to detain dangerous men immediately and to hold them in detention until the Provincial Government or the Central Government issued orders of detention under R. 26 of the rules. Rr. 26 and 129 give power to arrest and detain without specifying any charge and obviously confer powers which should be carefully exercised. A newspaper reporter who was present at a press conference convened by the Deputy Commissioner misreported in the newspaper the remarks made by the Deputy Commissioner concerning the A.R.P. Orga-

(a) with intent to assist any State at war with His Majesty, or in a manner prejudicial to the public safety or to the efficient prosecution of war;

(b) in any area in which the Provincial Government has, by notification, declared that this clause shall become operative, in a manner calculated to promote, or to assist the promotion of, rebellion against the authority of Government;

(c) in any prohibited place, * [protected place or protected area, or any other place or area as respects which an order has been made under rule 9] in a manner prejudicial—

(i) to the safety of any such place or area or of any industry, machinery or building in any such place or area;

(ii) to the output or effective control of any such industry or machinery.

(2) Any officer who makes an arrest in pursuance of sub-rule (1) shall forthwith report the fact of such arrest to the Provincial Government, and, pending the receipt of the orders of the Provincial Government, may, subject to the provisions of sub-rule (3), by order in writing, commit any person so arrested to such custody as the Provincial Government may by general or special order specify:

nisation. The misreported passage was as follows: The Deputy Commissioner "quoted the instance of the A.R.P. Organisation and said that public-spirited men did not come forth to join the A.R.P. Organisation because it was treated as an official organisation. A journalist—Rightly of course". The reporter was, on publication of this passage in the newspaper, arrested under R. 129 as a punishment and as a warning to others. Held, that the misreporting of the Deputy Commissioner might amount to some offence but such conduct could not afford ground for arrest and detention under R. 129. A.I.R. 1943 Lah. 329 (F.B.).

DETENTION FOR FACILITATING INVESTIGATION IF ABUSE OF POWER.—If a police officer for facility of carrying on an investigation unhampered and unrestricted detains an accused person, or a witness supposed to be acquainted with the facts and circumstances of the case, under R. 129 that would be an abuse of the power conferred under R. 129. A.I.R. 1945 Nag. 8.

LEGAL INTERVIEWS.—So far as the Central Province is concerned interviews with counsel must be granted to detenues. A. I. R. 1945 Nag. 8.

PROCEDURE REGARDING INVESTIGATION.—Rule 129 gives the Provincial Government special power to regulate the place of detention and the nature of the custody but not to regulate the manner of an investigation. Therefore, the procedure regulating the manner of the investigation is the procedure set out in the Criminal Procedure Code, e.g., Ss. 61 and 167. None of the rights under S. 61 of S. 167 or of bail is taken away or touched by the Defence of India Act. Therefore all the old rights and privileges remain intact. A.I.R., 1945 Nag. 8.

REASONABLE GROUNDS FOR SUSPICION—DUTY OF POLICE OFFICER TO PROVE.—Under R. 129 all that the Provincial Government can do is to specify the place of detention and up to a limit of two months its duration. The power to arrest or detain under R. 129 is not conferred on the Provincial Government. The only authority we are concerned with under R. 129 is the police officer who made the detention, and it is for him to show that he had reasonable grounds for suspicion. He cannot discharge that onus by merely asserting that he had reasonable grounds because that is the very question the Courts have to decide. Under the law the Court is to be the judge of that and not the police officer. Therefore he must tell the High Court what those grounds were and leave the Court to decide whether they are reasonable. Where the order is couched in alternate terms it becomes patently apparent that no thought has been given to the requirements of the rule and that a rubber stamp order has been made. That will certainly not satisfy the condition of "reasonable suspicion" which R. 129 requires. Under R. 129 the Court has to determine whether the suspicions were reasonable and not the Provincial Government. A.I.R. 1945 Nag. 8.

REASONABLENESS—BURDEN OF PROOF.—Under R. 129, the Courts must decide the question of reasonableness and not the police. The burden of proof lies on the police. R. 129 gives the Provincial Government the right to determine the place of custody. But it gives no other right. It does not give the Provincial Government power to justify an unauthorised arrest or to make legal that which in the beginning was illegal. Nor does it confer any right to control or regulate the mode of any investigation which the police, or anyone else, may wish to make. Consequently, if the original order made by the police officer is defective the subsequent order of the Provincial Government specifying the place of detention and its duration will not serve to cure the original defect. (Difference between R. 26 and R. 129 indicated.) A.I.R. 1945 Nag. 8.

Provided—

(i) that no person shall be detained in custody under this sub-rule for a period exceeding fifteen days without the order of the Provincial Government; and

(ii) that no person shall be detained in custody under this sub-rule for a period exceeding two months.

(3) If any person arrested under clause (c) of sub-rule (1) is prepared to furnish security, the officer who has arrested him may, instead of committing him to custody, release him on his executing a bond with or without sureties that he will not, pending the receipt of the orders of the Provincial Government, enter, reside or remain in the areas in respect of which he became liable to arrest.

(4) On receipt of any report made under the provisions of sub-rule (2), the Provincial Government may, in addition to making such order, subject to the second proviso to sub-rule (2), as may appear to be necessary for the temporary custody of any person arrested under this rule, make, in exercise of any power conferred upon it by any law for the time being in force, such final order as to his detention, release, residence or any other matter concerning him as may appear to the said Government in the circumstances of the case to be reasonable or necessary.

(5) Subject to the condition that nothing in this sub-rule shall be deemed to extend the limits of detention prescribed in the first and second provisos to sub-rule (2), the Provincial Government may direct that any person arrested under clause (a) or clause (b) of sub-rule (1) shall be removed to any other province of which the Provincial Government (hereinafter described as the second Government) has given its consent in this behalf, and thereupon such person shall be removed and the second Government shall take in respect of such person such action as may be lawful in like manner as if such person had been arrested within its province.

(6) When security has been taken in pursuance of the provisions of sub-rule (3), the bond shall be deemed to be a bond taken under the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, by the Chief Presidency Magistrate or District Magistrate having jurisdiction in the area in respect of which the said security has been taken and the provisions of section 514 of the said Code shall apply accordingly.

130. (1) No Court or Tribunal shall take cognizance of any alleged contravention of these Rules, ^{Cognizance of Contraventions of the Rules, etc.} ~~or of any order made thereunder~~, except on a report in writing of the facts constituting such contravention, made by a public servant.

(2) Proceedings in respect of a contravention of the provisions of these Rules ^{or of any order made thereunder} alleged to have been committed by

Under R. 130, it is a sine qua non for a valid prosecution that a public officer should make a report in writing of the facts which constitute the contravention of the rules. The absence of such report is fatal to the case. A.I.R. 1945 Pesh. 6.

R. 130 requires a report by a public servant containing the facts constituting the alleged contravention of the Rules. The main purpose of the rule is to prevent prosecution by private persons arising from malice and enmity, and to limit prosecutions by public servants. There is no need on the part of the public servant to state all the necessary facts on one and the same paper; there is nothing to prevent him by reference embodying in the police report details contained in a complaint which is appended to pending trial even apart from the general power conferred by S. 2 (1). Hence no person accused of an offence under the Defence of India Act or the rules thereunder can be released on bail unless the Court is satisfied that there are reasonable grounds for believing that he is innocent. In respect of offences, under the Defence of India Act, that Act governs all other statutory provisions and therefore the provisions of the Criminal Procedure Code with regard to bail do not apply. The trial of such offences is governed by the special rules under the Act, though the offences are now tried in the ordinary Criminal Courts and not by special tribunals. (1941) 2 M.L.J. 1014—I.L.R. (1942) Mad. 414—55 L. W. 77—A.I.R. 1941 Mad. 221.

Rule 130-A of the Defence of India Rules embodies a valid and binding provision of law. 1944 A.L.J. 150. R. 130-A does not depart from the fundamental principle of accused being presumed to be innocent until proved guilty. 1944 A.L.J. 150—1944 All. 118 (F.B.).

The effect of R 130-A is to repeal the provisions of S. 496, Cr. P. Code in so far as it divests the Court of its discretion in the matter of refusing bail in cases of bailable offences. The legislature may impliedly repeal penal laws by a later enactment like any other statute even if the repeal introduces stringency of procedure or takes away a privilege. R. 130-A gives the Court a discretion in the matter, while under the imperative provisions of S. 496, Cr. P. Code, the accused in a bailable case would be entitled to be released on bail. 45 Bom.L.R. 72—I.L.R. (1943) Bom. 167—1943 Bom. 82.

VALIDITY.—R. 130-A embodies a valid and binding provision of law. 1944 A. L. W. 259—1944 O.W.N. (H.C.) 64—1944 A.L.J. 150 (F.B.).

R. 130-A is not ultra vires and inoperative, S. 2 (3) of the Act does confer powers to make a rule in terms of R. 130-A covering even the revisional stage of the case; and having regard to S. 3 of the Defence of India Act, any provisions of the Cr. P. Code, inconsistent with anything in the Defence of India Act or Rules must be regarded as repealed. 23 Pat. 22.

CR. C. M.-I—58

SCOPE AND EFFECT—IF BAR TO INHERENT POWERS OF HIGH COURT TO GRANT BAIL.—It is not correct to say that R. 130-A relates only to applications for bail by under-trial prisoners and not by convicted persons who have appealed. It cannot be said that since S. 2 (3) (i) of the Defence of India Act refers only to the trial, it can give no power to make rules governing the appellate stage of the proceedings. But an appeal is only a continuation of the trial and is a part of the trial. The accused is on his trial before the appellate Court just as much as before the Court of first instance. R. 130-A is in very wide terms and imposes a bar "Notwithstanding anything contained in the Code of Criminal Procedure." Therefore R. 130-A would operate to exclude even the inherent powers of the High Court to grant bail as even the inherent powers of the High Court as based upon the Cr. P. Code. 23 Pat. 22.

The notification of a Rule under R. 130-A (b) of the Defence of India Rules, does not annul the notification of an order made under it. Accordingly the specification by notified order under R. 130-A (b) of certain clauses of Defence of India Rule 81 (2) does not signify that orders made under that Rule, (e.g.) the Cotton Cloth and Yarn (Control) Order, 1943, have at the same time been notified. As the said order has not been duly notified, an offence against the provisions of that order must be dealt with according to the Code of Criminal Procedure subject to the requirement of Cl. (a) of R. 130-A of the D. I. Rules. 1945 N.L.J. 223. Notification (Bombay) of 5th October, 1942, has no retrospective effect. It cannot authorize complaint by unauthorized person before that date. 45 Bom.L.R. 572—1943 Bom. 314.

R. 130-A AND 38: BAIL IN CASE OF CONTRAVENTION OF R. 38.—Where a student is cribed in clause (k) of sub-rule (6) of rule 34 shall be taken in respect of any document circulated by, or under the authority of, a candidate for election to a Chamber of the Central or of a Provincial Legislature, save with the written sanction of the Central Government or of the Provincial Government, as the case may be.

132. (1) Any authority, officer or person who is empowered by or in pursuance of i[the Defence of India Act, 1939, or] Power to give effect to rules, orders, etc. any of these Rules to make any order, or to exercise any other power may, in addition to any other action prescribed by or under these Rules, take, or cause to be taken, such steps and use, or cause to be used, such force as may, in the opinion of such authority, officer or person, be reasonably necessary for securing compliance with, or for preventing or rectifying any contravention of, such order, or for the effective exercise of such power.

(2) Where in respect of any of the provisions of these Rules there is no authority, officer or person empowered to take action under sub-rule (1), the Central or the Provincial Government may take, or cause to be taken, such steps and use, or cause to be used, such force as may in the opinion of that Government be reasonably necessary for securing compliance with, or preventing or rectifying any breach of, such provision.

(3) For the avoidance of doubt it is hereby declared that the power to take steps under sub-rule (1) or under sub-rule (2) includes the power to enter upon any land or other property whatsoever.

j[133. The Administrator-General (Eastern Frontier Communications) Administrator - General may, if in his opinion it is necessary or expedient for (Eastern Frontier Communications) carrying out his duties as such, exercise any power conferred on any authority by any of these Rules.]

N.B.—Validity of certain of the defence of India Rules.—For the removal of doubts it is hereby enacted—

(a) that rules 22, 84, 90-B and 93 of the Defence of India Rules shall be deemed to have been made under section 2 of the Defence of India Act, 1939 (XXXV of 1939), as amended by this Ordinance, and

(b) that no order made under, and no action taken in, exercise of any power conferred by or under, any of the said rules 22, 84, 90-B and 93 shall be called in question merely on the ground that the rule conferred or purported to confer powers in excess of the powers that might at the time the rule was made be lawfully conferred by or under a rule made or deemed to have been made under the said section 2.—(Ord. 35 of 1944.)

THE INDIAN DOCK LABOURERS ACT (XIX OF 1934).

[19th August, 1934.

An Act to give effect in British India to the Convention concerning the protection against accidents of workers employed in loading and unloading ships.

WHEREAS a Revised Draft Convention concerning the protection against accidents of workers employed in loading or unloading ships was adopted at Geneva on the twenty-seventh day of April, nineteen hundred and thirty-two;

AND WHEREAS it is expedient to give effect in British India to the said Convention;

It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Short title, extent, commencement and application.

1. (1) This Act may be called THE INDIAN DOCK LABOURERS ACT, 1934.

(2) It extends to the whole of British India.

(3) It shall come into force on such date as the Governor-General in Council may, by notification in the Gazette of India, appoint.

(4) It shall not apply to any ship of war of any nationality.

Definitions.

2. In this Act, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,—

(a) “the processes” includes all work which is required for or is incidental to the loading or unloading of cargo or fuel into or from ship and is done on board the ship or alongside it; and

(b) “worker” means any person employed in the processes.

3. (1) The ¹[Central Government], may, by notification in the Official Gazette, appoint such persons as it thinks fit to be Inspectors for the purposes of this Act within such local limits as it may assign to them respectively.

(2) All Principal Officers of the Merchantile Marine Department shall be Inspectors under this Act, ex officio within the limits of their charges.

(3) Every Inspector shall be deemed to be a public servant within the meaning of the Indian Penal Code and shall be officially subordinate to such authority as the ¹[Central Government] may direct.

4. Subject to any rules made in this behalf under section 6, an Inspector Powers of Inspectors. may, within the local limits for which he is appointed,—

(a) enter, with such assistants (if any) as he thinks fit, any premises or ship where the processes are carried on;

(b) make such examination of the premises or ship and the machinery and gear, fixed or loose, used for the processes, and of any prescribed registers and notices, and take on the spot or otherwise such evidence of any person as he may deem necessary for carrying out the purposes of this Act; and

(c) exercise any other powers which may be conferred upon him by the regulations made under section 5.

Power to Central Government to make regulations. 5. (1) The Central Government may make regulations—

(a) providing for the safety of working places on shore and of any regular approaches over a dock, wharf, quay or similar premises which workers have to use for going to or from a working place at which the processes are carried on, and for the lighting and fencing of such places and approaches;

(b) prescribing the nature of the means of access which shall be provided for the use of workers proceeding to or from a ship which is lying alongside a quay, hulk or other vessel;

(c) prescribing the measures to be taken to ensure the safe transport of workers proceeding to or from a ship by water and the conditions to be complied with by the vessels used for the purpose;

(d) prescribing the nature of the means of access to be provided for the use of the workers from the deck of a ship to a hold in which the processes are carried on;

(e) prescribing the measures to be taken to protect hatchways accessible to the workers and other openings in a deck which might be dangerous to them;

(f) providing for the efficient lighting of the means of access to ships on which the processes are carried on and of all places on board at which the workers are employed or to which they may be required to proceed;

(g) providing for the safety of the workers engaged in removing or replacing hatch coverings and beams used for hatch coverings;

(h) prescribing the measures to be taken to ensure that no hoisting machine, or gear, whether fixed or loose, used in connection therewith, is employed in the processes on shore or on board ship unless it is in a safe working condition;

(i) providing for the fencing of machinery, live electric conductors and steam pipes;

(j) regulating the provision of safety appliances on derricks, cranes and winches;

(k) prescribing the precautions to be observed in regard to exhaust and live steam;

(l) requiring the employment of competent and reliable persons to operate lifting or transporting machinery used in the processes, or to give signals to a driver of such machinery, or to attend to cargo falls on winch ends or winch drums, and providing for the employment of a signaller where this is necessary for the safety of the workers;

(m) prescribing the measures to be taken in order to prevent dangerous methods of working in the stacking, unstacking, stowing and unstowing of cargo or handling in connection therewith;

(n) prescribing the precautions to be taken to facilitate the escape of the workers when employed in a hold or between decks in dealing with coal or other bulk cargo;

(o) prescribing the precautions to be observed in the use of stages and trucks;

(p) prescribing the precautions to be observed when the workers have to work where dangerous or noxious goods are, or have been, stowed or have to deal with or work in proximity to such goods;

(q) providing for the rendering of first-aid to injured workers and removal to the nearest place of treatment;

(r) prescribing the provision to be made for the rescue of immersed workers from drowning;

(s) prescribing the abstracts of this Act and of the regulations required by section 8;

(t) providing for the submission of notices of accidents and dangerous occurrences and prescribing the forms of such notices, the persons and authorities to whom they are to be furnished, the particulars to be contained in them and the time within which they are to be submitted;

(u) specifying the persons and authorities who shall be responsible for compliance with regulations made under this Act;

(v) defining the circumstances in which and conditions subject to which exemptions from any of the regulations made under this section may be given, specifying the authorities who may grant such exemptions and regulating their procedure;

(w) defining the additional powers which Inspectors may exercise under clause (c) of section 4; and

(x) providing generally for the safety of workers.

(2) Regulations made under this section may make special provision to meet the special requirements of any particular port or ports.

(3) In making a regulation under this section, the Central Government may direct that a breach of it shall be punishable with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees and when the breach is a continuing breach with a further fine which may extend to twenty rupees for every day after the first during which the breach continues.

Power to Central Government to make rules. 6. ¹[* * * *]
 * [The Central Government] may make rules regulating—

(a) the inspection of premises or ships where the processes are carried on; and

(b) the manner in which Inspectors are to exercise the powers conferred on them by this Act.

General provisions relating to regulations and rules.

7. (1) The power to make regulations and rules conferred by sections 5 and 6 is subject to the condition of the regulations and rules being made after previous publication.

(2) Regulation and rules shall be published in ²[the Official Gazette].

8. There shall be affixed in some conspicuous place near the main entrance of every dock, wharf, quay or similar premises where the processes are carried on, in English and in the language of the majority of the workers, the abstracts of this Act and of the regulations made thereunder which may be prescribed by the regulations.

Abstracts of Act and regulations to be conspicuously posted.

Penalties.

9. Any person who—

(a) wilfully obstructs an Inspector in the exercise of any power under section 4, or fails to produce on demand by an Inspector any registers or other documents kept in pursuance of the regulations made under this Act, or any gear, fixed or loose, used for the processes, or conceals or attempts to prevent any person from appearing before, or being examined by, an Inspector, or

(b) unless duly authorised or, in case of necessity, removes any fencing, gangway, gear, ladder, life-saving means or appliance, light, mark, stage or other thing required to be provided by or under the regulations made under this Act, or

(c) having in case of necessity removed any such fencing, gangway, gear,

10. (1) No Court inferior to that of a Presidency Magistrate or a Magistrate of the first class shall try any offence under this Act or the regulations made thereunder.

(2) No prosecution for any offence under this Act or the regulations made thereunder shall be instituted except by or with the previous sanction of an Inspector.

(3) No Court shall take cognizance of any offence under this Act or the regulations made thereunder, unless complaint thereof is made within six months of the date on which the offence is alleged to have been committed.

11. The Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, exempt from all or any of the provisions of this Act and of the regulations made thereunder, on such conditions, if any, as he thinks fit,—

(a) any port or place, dock, wharf, quay or similar premises at which the processes are only occasionally carried on or the traffic is small and confined to small ships, or

(b) any specified ship or class of ship.

12. No suit, prosecution or other legal proceeding shall lie against any person for anything which is in good faith done or intended to be done under this Act.

THE DOURINE ACT (V OF 1910)¹.

Year	No.	Short title.	Amendments.
1930	V	" Dourine Act, 1910.	Am. Act VIII of 1920.

[25th February, 1910.

An Act to provide for the prevention of the spread of Dourine.

WHEREAS it is expedient to provide for the prevention of the spread of dourine; it is hereby enacted as follows:—

1. (1) This Act may be called THE DOURINE ACT, 1910.

(2) This section extends to the whole of British India; the rest of this Act extends only to such areas as the Provincial Government may, by notification² in the Official Gazette, direct.

2. (1) In this Act, the expressions "inspector" and "veterinary practitioner" mean, respectively, the officers appointed as such under this Act, acting within the local limits for which they are so appointed.

VI, pp. 13, 90 and 121, dated 5th February, 1910, 26th February, 1910 and 12th March, 1910, respectively.

This Act has been declared in force in the Angul District by the Angul Laws Regulation, 1913 (III of 1913) sec. 3.

² The Act has been extended to Coorg, see Coorg Gazette, 1919, Part I, p. 118; to Bombay, see Bombay Gazette, 1919, Part I, p. 3001; to Central Provinces, see C. P. Gazette, dated 11th Nov. 1922, Part I, p. 1151.

(2) The provisions of this Act in so far as they relate to entire horses shall, if the Provincial Government, by notification as aforesaid, so directs, apply also to entire asses used for mule-breeding purposes.

3. The Provincial Government may, by notification as aforesaid, make such orders as it thinks fit directing and regulating the registration of entire horses maintained for breeding purposes.

4. (1) The Provincial Government may, by notification as aforesaid, appoint any persons it thinks fit to be inspectors, and any qualified veterinary surgeons to be veterinary practitioners, under this Act, and to exercise and perform, within any area prescribed by the notification, the powers conferred and duties imposed by this Act upon such officers respectively.

(2) Every person so appointed shall be deemed to be a public servant within the meaning of the Indian Penal Code.

5. An Inspector may, subject, to such rules as the Provincial Government may make in this behalf,—

(a) enter and search any building, field or other place for the purpose of ascertaining whether there is therein any horse which is affected with dourine; [*]¹

(b) prohibit, by order in writing, the owner or keeper of any horse, which in his opinion is affected with dourine, from using such horse for breeding purposes, pending examination by the veterinary practitioner;

²[(c) direct, by order in writing, the owner or keeper of any horse which, in the opinion of the Inspectors, is affected with dourine to remove it or permit it to be removed for the purpose of segregation to a place specified in the order, and such direction shall be sufficient authority for the detention of the horse in that place for that purpose.]

6. An Inspector issuing an order under section 5, * * * shall forthwith forward a copy of such order to the veterinary practitioner.

7. A veterinary practitioner receiving a copy of an order forwarded under section 6 shall, as soon as possible after receipt of such copy, examine the horse mentioned therein, and may for such purpose enter any building, field or other place.

8. A veterinary practitioner may—

(a) cancel any order issued under section 5, * * * ; or

(b) if on microscopical examination ³[or by other scientific test] he finds that any horse is affected with dourine,—

(i) in the case of an entire horse, cause it to be castrated,

⁴[(ii) in the case of a mare, with the previous sanction of such authority, as the Provincial Government may appoint in this behalf, or, if so empowered by the Provincial Government, without such sanction, cause it to be destroyed.]

9. When any horse is castrated or destroyed under section 8, the market-value of such horse immediately before it became affected with dourine shall be ascertained; and the Provincial Government shall pay as compensation to the owner thereof—

(a) in the case of a mare which has been destroyed, or of an entire horse which has died in consequence of castration, such market-value, and,

(b) in the case of an entire horse which survives castration, half the amount by which such value has been diminished owing to infection with dourine and castration.

10. (1) A veterinary practitioner may award, as compensation to be paid under section 9 in respect of each horse castrated or destroyed under section 8, a sum not exceeding two hundred and fifty rupees.

Settlement of compensation.

(2) If, in the opinion of the veterinary practitioner, the amount which should be paid as such compensation exceeds two hundred and fifty rupees, he shall report accordingly to the Collector, who shall decide the amount to be so paid.

11. (1) The Provincial Government shall, by rules published in the Official Gazette, make provision for the constitution of a committee or committees for the hearing of appeals from decisions under section 10.

Committees for hearing appeals.

(2) Such rules shall provide that not less than one member of any committee constituted thereunder shall be a person not in the ¹[service of the Crown] or of a local authority.

12. Any owner may, within two months from the date of a decision under section 10, appeal against such decision to the committee constituted in that behalf by rules made under section 11, and the decision of such committee shall be final.

Appeals.

13. (1) Whoever, being an Inspector appointed under this Act, vexatiously and unnecessarily enters or searches any field, building or other place, shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to six months, or with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees, or with both.

Vexatious entries and searches.

(2) No prosecution under this section shall be instituted after the expiry of three months from the date on which the offence has been committed.

14. (1) The Provincial Government may make rules for the purpose of carrying into effect the provisions of this Act.

Rules.

(2) In particular, and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power such rules as aforesaid may—

²[(a) regulate the exercise of the powers conferred on Inspectors under section 5;]

(b) regulate the action to be taken by veterinary practitioners under section 8;³

⁴[* * * *].

(3) All such rules shall be published in the Official Gazette, and, on such publication, shall have effect as if enacted in this Act.

(4) In making any rule under this section the Provincial Government may direct that a breach of it shall be punishable with fine which may extend to fifty rupees.

15. Whoever uses or permits to be used for breeding purposes—

(a) any horse which has not been registered in accordance with the requirements of a notification under section 3, or

⁵[(b) any horse in respect of which an order under clause (b) or clause (c) of section 5 is in force,]

THE DRAMATIC PERFORMANCES ACT (XIX OF 1876.)¹

Year.	No.	Short title.	Repeals and Amendments.
1876	XIX	The Dramatic Performances Act, 1876.	Repealed in part X of 1914; Amended, IV of 1914.

[16th December, 1876.

An Act for the better control of public dramatic performances.

WHEREAS it is expedient to empower the Government to prohibit public dramatic performances which are scandalous, defamatory, seditious or obscene: It is hereby enacted as follows:

Short title. 1. This Act may be called THE DRAMATIC PERFORMANCES ACT, 1876.

Local Extent. It extends to the whole of British India; *

2. In this Act "Magistrate" means, in the Presidency-towns, a Magistrate of Police, and elsewhere the Magistrate of the district.

3. Whenever the Provincial Government is of opinion that any play, pantomime or other drama performed or about to be performed in a public place is—

(a) of a scandalous or defamatory nature, or

(b) likely to excite feelings of disaffection to the Government established by law in British India [or British Burma],³ or

(c) likely to deprave and corrupt persons present at the performance, the Provincial Government, or outside the Presidency-towns [* *]⁴ the Provincial Government or such Magistrate as it may empower in this behalf, may by order prohibit the performance.

Explanation.—Any building or enclosure to which the public are admitted to witness a performance on payment of money shall be deemed a "public place" within the meaning of this section.

LEG. REF.

¹ For the statement of Objects and Reasons, see Gazette of India, 1876, Pt. V, p. 347; for Proceedings in Council, see ibid., Supplement, pp. 328, 343 and 1941.

This Act has been declared, by notification under sec. 3 (a) of the Scheduled Districts Act, 1874 (XIV of 1874), to be in force in the following Scheduled Districts, namely:—

The Districts of Hazaribagh, Lohardaga and Manbhum, and Pargana Dhalbhum and the Kolhan in the District of Singhbhum. See Gazette of India, 1886, Pt. I, p. 504. The District of Lohardaga included at this time the present District of Palamau, which was separated in 1894; Lohardaga is now called the Ranchi District, Calcutta Gazette, 1899, pt. I, p. 44.

It has, with modifications and with the exception of sec. 12, been declared in force in Upper Burma generally (except the Shan States), by the Burma Laws Act, 1898 (XIII of 1898), sec. 4 (1) and Sch. I.

² The words "And it shall come into force at once" were repealed by the Repealing and Amending Act, 1914 (X of 1914).

³ Inserted by A. O., 1937.

⁴ The words "and Rangoon" omitted by ibid.

4. A copy of any such order may be served on any person about to take part in the performance so prohibited, or on the owner

Power to serve order of prohibition. . . or occupier of any house, room or place in which such performance is intended to take place; and any person on whom such copy is served, and who does or willingly permits any act in disobedience to such order shall be punished on conviction before a Magistrate with imprisonment for a term which may extend to three months, or with fine or with both.

5. Any such order may be notified by proclamation, and a written or printed

Power to notify order. . . notice thereof may be stuck up at any place or places adapted for giving information of the order to the persons intending to take part in or to witness the performance so prohibited.

Penalty for disobeying prohibition. . . 6. Whoever after the notification of any such order—

(a) takes part in the performance prohibited thereby or in any performance substantially the same as the performance so prohibited, or

(b) in any manner assists in conducting any such performance, or

(c) is in wilful disobedience to such order present as a spectator during the whole or any part of any such performance, or

(d) being the owner or occupier, or having the use of any house, room or place, opens, keeps or uses the same for any such performance, or permits the same to be opened, kept or used for any such performance, shall be punishable on conviction before a Magistrate with imprisonment for a term which may extend to three months, or with fine, or with both.

7. For the purpose of ascertaining the character of any intended public Power to call for information. . . dramatic performance, the Provincial Government, or such officer as it may specially empower in this behalf, may apply to the author, proprietor or printer of the drama about to be performed, or to the owner or occupier of the place in which it is intended to be performed, for such information as the Provincial Government or such officer thinks necessary.

Every person so applied to shall be bound to furnish the same to the best of his ability, and whoever contravenes this section shall be deemed to have committed an offence under section 176 of the Indian Penal Code.

8. If any Magistrate has reason to believe that any house, room or place is

Power to grant warrant to Police to enter and arrest and seize. . . used, or is about to be used, for any performance prohibited under this Act, he may, by his warrant, authorize any officer of Police to enter with such assistance as may be requisite, by night or by day, and by force, if necessary, any such house, room or place, and to take into custody all persons whom he finds therein, and to seize all scenery, dresses and other articles found therein and reasonably suspected to have been used, or to be intended to be used, for the purpose of such performance.

Saving of prosecutions under Penal Code, sections 124-A and 294. . . 9. No conviction under this Act shall bar a prosecution under section 124-A or section 294 of the Indian Penal Code.

10. Whenever it appears to the Provincial Government that the provisions

Power to prohibit dramatic performance in any local area, except under license. . . of this section are required in any local area, it may ¹[* *] declare, by notification in the Official Gazette, that such provisions are applied to such area from a day to be fixed in the notification.

On and after that day, the Provincial Government may order that no dramatic performance shall take place in any place of public entertainment within such area, except under a license to be granted by such Provincial Government, or such officer as it may specially empower in this behalf.

The Provincial Government may also order that no dramatic performance shall take place in any place of public entertainment within such area, unless a copy of the piece, if and so far as it is written, or some sufficient account of its purport, if and so far as it is in pantomime, has been furnished, not less than three days before the performance, to the Provincial Government, or to such officer as it may appoint in this behalf.

A copy of any order under this section may be served on any keeper of a place of public entertainment; and if thereafter he does, or willingly permits any act in disobedience to such order, he shall be punishable on conviction before a Magistrate with imprisonment for a term which may extend to three months, or with fine, or with both.

Powers exercisable by Governor-General.

Exclusion of performances at religious festivals.

²12. Nothing in this Act applies to any jatras or performances of a like kind at religious festivals.

THE DRUGS ACT, (XXIII OF 1940).

[10th April, 1940.

An Act to regulate the import, manufacture, distribution and sale of drugs.

WHEREAS it is expedient to regulate the import into, and the manufacture, distribution and sale in, British India of drugs;

AND WHEREAS the Legislatures of all the Provinces have passed resolutions in terms of section 103 of the Government of India Act, 1935, in relation to such of the above-mentioned matters and matters ancillary thereto as are enumerated in List II of the Seventh Schedule to the said Act; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

CHAPTER I.

INTRODUCTORY.

Short title, extent and commencement.

1. (1) This Act may be called THE DRUGS ACT, 1940.

(2) It extends to the whole of British India.

(3) It shall come into force at once; but Chapter III shall take effect only from such date as the Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, appoint in this behalf, and Chapter IV shall take effect in a particular Province only from such date as the Provincial Government may, by like notification, appoint in this behalf.

Application of other laws not barred.

2. The provisions of this Act shall be in addition to, and not in derogation of, the Dangerous Drugs Act, 1930, and any other law for the time being in force.

Definitions.

3. In this Act, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,—

(a) “the Board” means the Drugs Technical Advisory Board constituted under section 5;

(b) “drug” includes all medicines for internal or external use of human beings or animals, and all substances intended to be used for or in the treatment, mitigation or prevention of disease in human beings or animals, other than medicines and substances exclusively used or prepared for use in accordance with the Ayurvedic or Unani systems of medicine ;

(c) "to import", with its grammatical variations and cognate expressions, means to bring into British India ;

(d) "patent or proprietary medicine" means a drug which is a remedy or prescription prepared for internal or external use of human beings or animals, and which is not for the time being recognised by the Permanent Commission on Biological Standardisation of the League of Nations or in the latest edition of the British Pharmacopoeia or the British Pharmaceutical Codex or any other Pharmacopoeia authorised in this behalf by the Central Government after consultation with the Board ;

(e) "prescribed" means prescribed by rules made under Chapter II or Chapter III by the Central Government, or under Chapter IV by the Provincial Government.

4. Any substance specified as poisonous by rule made under Chapter III or Chapter IV shall be deemed to be a poisonous substance for the purposes of Chapter III or Chapter IV, as the case may be.

Presumption as to poisonous substances.

CHAPTER II.

THE DRUGS TECHNICAL ADVISORY BOARD, THE CENTRAL DRUGS LABORATORY AND THE DRUGS CONSULTATIVE COMMITTEE.

5. (1) The Central Government shall, as soon as may be, constitute a Board (to be called the Drugs Technical Advisory Board) to advise the Central Government and the Provincial Governments on technical matters arising out of the administration of this Act and to carry out the other functions assigned to it by this Act.

(2) The Board shall consist of the following members, namely :—

(i) the Director-General Indian Medical Service, ex-officio, who shall be Chairman ;

(ii) the Director of the Central Drugs Laboratory, ex-officio ;

(iii) the Director of the Central Research Institute, ex-officio ;

(iv) the Director of the Imperial Veterinary Research Institute, Muktesar, ex-officio ;

(v) the Chief Chemist, Central Revenues, ex-officio ;

(vi) two persons holding the appointment of Government Analyst under this Act, to be nominated by the Central Government ;

(vii) one pharmacologist and one pharmaceutical chemist to be elected by the Scientific Advisory Board of the Indian Research Fund Association ;

(viii) three persons to be elected by the Medical Council of India, two of whom shall be from among teachers of medicine or therapeutics on the staff of a university or college in British India providing a course of study which qualifies for admission to the examination for a degree which is a recognised qualification under the Indian Medical Council Act, 1933, and one shall be a registered medical practitioner not being a servant of the Crown ;

(ix) one member of the pharmaceutical profession to be nominated by the Central Government ;

(x) two persons to be elected by the Council of the Indian Chemical Society ;

(xi) one person to be elected by the Central Council of the Indian Medical Association and one person to be elected by the branches in India of the British Medical Association.

(3) The nominated and elected members of the Board shall hold office for three years, but shall be eligible for re-nomination and re-election.

(4) The Board may, subject to the previous approval of the Central Government, make by-laws fixing a quorum and regulating its own procedure and the conduct of all business to be transacted by it.

(5) The Board may constitute sub-committees and may appoint to such sub-committees for such periods, not exceeding three years, as it may decide, or temporarily for the consideration of particular matters, persons who are not members of the Board.

(6) The functions of the Board may be exercised notwithstanding any vacancy therein.

(7) The Central Government shall appoint a person to be secretary of the Board and shall provide the Board with such clerical and other staff as the Central Government considers necessary.

6. (1) The Central Government shall, as soon as may be, establish a Central Drugs Laboratory under the control of a Director to be appointed by the Central Government, to carry out the functions entrusted to it by this Act or any rules made under this Chapter :

Provided that, if the Central Government so prescribes, the functions of the Central Drugs Laboratory in respect of any drug or class of drugs shall be carried out at the Central Research Institute, Kasauli, or at any other prescribed Laboratory and the functions of the Director of the Central Drugs Laboratory in respect of such drug or class of drugs shall be exercised by the Director of that Institute or of that other Laboratory, as the case may be.

(2) The Central Government may, after consultation with the Board, make rules prescribing—

(a) the functions of the Central Drugs Laboratory ;

(b) the procedure for the grant of certificates of registration under this Act by the said Laboratory in respect of patent or proprietary medicines not having displayed on the label or container thereof the true formula or list of ingredients contained therein in a manner readily intelligible to members of the medical profession, the forms of such certificates and the fees payable therefor ;

(c) the procedure for preserving the secrecy of the formulae of patent or proprietary medicines when disclosed to the said Laboratory under this Act ;

(d) the procedure for the submission to the said Laboratory under Chapter IV of samples of drugs for analysis or test, the forms of the Laboratory's reports thereon and the fees payable in respect of such reports ;

(e) such other matters as may be necessary or expedient to enable the said Laboratory to carry out its functions ;

(f) the matters necessary to be prescribed for the purposes of the proviso to sub-section (1).

7. (1) The Central Government may constitute an advisory committee to be called "the Drugs Consultative Committee" to advise the Central Government, the Provincial Governments and the Drugs Technical Advisory Board on any matter tending to secure uniformity throughout the Provinces in the administration of this Act.

(2) The Drugs Consultative Committee shall consist of two representatives of the Central Government to be nominated by that Government and one representative of each Provincial Government to be nominated by the Provincial Government concerned.

(3) The Drugs Consultative Committee shall meet when required to do so by the Central Government and shall have power to regulate its own procedure.

CHAPTER III.

IMPORT OF DRUGS.

8. (1) For the purposes of this Chapter the expression "standard quality" when applied to a drug means that the drug complies with the standard set out in the Schedule.

Standards of quality.

(2) The Central Government, after consultation with the Board and after giving by notification in the official Gazette not less than three months' notice of its intention so to do, may by a like notification add to or otherwise amend the Schedule for the purposes of this Chapter, and thereupon the Schedule shall be deemed to be amended accordingly.

Misbranded drugs. 9. For the purposes of this Chapter a drug shall be deemed to be misbranded—

(a) if it is an imitation of, or substitute for, or resembles in a manner likely to deceive, another drug, or bears upon it or upon its label or container the name of another drug, unless it is plainly and conspicuously marked so as to reveal its true character and its lack of identity with such other drug ; or

(b) if it purports to be the product of a place or country of which it is not truly a product; or

(c) if it is imported under a name which belongs to another drug ; or

(d) if it is so coloured, coated, powdered or polished that damage is concealed, or if it is made to appear of better or greater therapeutic value than it really is ; or

(e) if it is not labelled in the prescribed manner ; or

(f) if its label or container or anything accompanying the drug bears any statement, design or device which makes any false claim for the drug or which is false or misleading in any particular ; or

(g) if the label or container bears the name of an individual or company purporting to be the manufacturer or producer of the drug, which individual or company is fictitious or does not exist.

Prohibition of import of certain drugs. 10. From such date as may be fixed by the Central Government by notification in the Official Gazette, in this behalf, no person shall import—

(a) any drug which is not of standard quality ;

(b) any misbranded drug ;

(c) any drug for the import of which a licence is prescribed, otherwise than under, and in accordance with, such licence ;

(d) any patent or proprietary medicine, unless there is displayed in the prescribed manner on the label or container thereof either the true formula or list of ingredients contained in it in a manner readily intelligible to members of the medical profession, or the number of the certificate of registration granted in the prescribed manner in respect of such medicine by the Central Drugs Laboratory after being correctly informed of the formula of such medicine ;

(e) any drug which by means of any statement, design or device accompanying it or by any other means, purports or claims to cure or mitigate any such disease or ailment, or to have any such other effect, as may be prescribed ;

(f) any drug the import of which is prohibited by rule made under this Chapter :

Provided that nothing in this section shall apply to the import, subject to prescribed conditions, of small quantities of any drug for the purpose of examination test or analysis or for personal use :

Provided further that the Central Government may, after consultation with the Board, by notification in the official Gazette, permit, subject to any conditions specified in the notification, the import of any drug or class of drugs not being of standard quality.

Explanation.—The formula or list of ingredients mentioned in clause (d) shall be deemed to be true and a sufficient compliance with that sub-clause if, without disclosing a full and detailed recipe of the ingredients, it indicates correctly all potent or poisonous substances contained therein together with an approximate statement of the composition of the medicine.

11. (1) The law for the time being in force relating to sea customs and to goods, the import of which is prohibited by section 18 of the Sea Customs Act, 1878, shall, subject to the provisions of section 13 of this Act apply in respect of drugs the import of which is prohibited under this Application of law relating to sea customs and powers of Customs officers.

Chapter, and officers of customs and officers empowered under that Act to perform the duties imposed thereby on a Customs Collector and other officers of Customs, shall have the same powers in respect of such drugs as they have for the time being in respect of such goods as aforesaid.

(2) Without prejudice to the provisions of sub-section (1), the Customs Collector, or any servant of the Crown authorised by the Provincial Government in this behalf, may detain any imported package which he suspects to contain any drug the import of which is prohibited under this Chapter, and shall forthwith report such detention to the Director of the Central Drugs Laboratory and, if required by him, forward the package or samples of any suspected drug found therein to the said Laboratory.

12. (1) The Central Government may, after consultation with the Board and after previous publication by notification in the Official Gazette, make rules for the purpose of giving effect to the provisions of this Chapter.

Power of Central Government to make rules.

(2) Without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power, such rules may—

(a) specify the drugs or classes of drugs for the import of which a licence is required, and prescribe the form and conditions of such licences, the authority empowered to issue the same, and the fees payable therefor ;

(b) prescribe the methods of test or analysis to be employed in determining whether a drug is of standard quality ;

(c) prescribe, in respect of biological and organometallic compounds, the units or methods of standardisation ;

(d) specify the diseases or ailments which an imported drug may not purport or claim to cure or mitigate and such other effects which such drug may not purport or claim to have ;

(e) prescribe the conditions subject to which small quantities of drugs, the import of which is otherwise prohibited under this Chapter, may be imported for the purpose of examination, test or analysis or for personal use ;

(f) prescribe the places at which drugs may be imported, and prohibit their import at any other place ;

(g) require the date of manufacture and the date of expiry of potency to be clearly and truly stated on the label or container of any specified imported drug or class of such drug, and prohibit the import of the said drug or class of drug after the expiry of a specified period from the date of manufacture ;

(h) regulate the submission by importers, and the securing, of samples of drugs for examination, test or analysis by the Central Drugs Laboratory, and prescribe the fees, if any, payable for such examination, test or analysis ;

(i) prescribe the evidence to be supplied, whether by accompanying documents or otherwise, of the quality of drugs sought to be imported, the procedure of officers of Customs in dealing with such evidence, and the manner of storage at places of import of drugs detained pending admission ;

(j) provide for the exemption, conditionally or otherwise, from all or any of the provisions of this Chapter and the rules made thereunder of drugs imported for the purpose only of transport through, and export from, British India ;

(k) prescribe the conditions to be observed in the packing in bottles, packages or other containers of imported drugs ;

(l) regulate the mode of labelling drugs imported for sale in packages, and prescribe the matters which shall or shall not be included in such labels ;

(m) prescribe the maximum proportion of any poisonous substance which may be added to or contained in any imported drug, prohibit the import of any drug in which that proportion is exceeded, and specify substances which shall be deemed to be poisonous for the purposes of this Chapter and the rules made thereunder ;

(n) require that the accepted scientific name of any specified drug shall be displayed in the prescribed manner on the label or wrapper of any imported patent or proprietary medicine containing such drugs ;

(o) provide for the exemption, conditionally or otherwise, from all or any of the provisions of this Chapter or the rules made thereunder of any specified drug or class of drugs.

13. (1) Whoever contravenes any of the provisions of this Chapter or of any rule made thereunder shall, in addition to any penalty to which he may be liable under the provision of section 11, be punishable with imprisonment which may extend to one year, or with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees, or with both.

(2) Whoever, having been convicted under sub-section (1), is again convicted under that sub-section shall, in addition to any penalty as aforesaid, be punishable with imprisonment which may extend to two years, or with fine which may extend to one thousand rupees, or with both.

14. Where any offence punishable under section 13 has been committed, the consignment of the drug in respect of which the offence has been committed shall be liable to confiscation.

15. No Court inferior to that of a Presidency Magistrate or of a Magistrate of the first class shall try an offence punishable under section 13.

CHAPTER IV.

MANUFACTURE, SALE AND DISTRIBUTION OF DRUGS.

16. (1) For the purposes of this Chapter the expression "standard quality" when applied to a drug means that the drug complies with the standard set out in the Schedule.

(2) The Provincial Government, after consultation with the Board and after giving by notification in the Official Gazette not less than three months' notice of its intention so to do, may by a like notification add to or otherwise amend the Schedule for the purposes of this Chapter, and thereupon the Schedule shall be deemed to be amended accordingly.

17. For the purposes of this Chapter a drug shall be deemed to be misbranded—

(a) if it is an imitation of, or substitute for, or resembles in a manner likely to deceive, another drug, or bears upon it or upon its label or container the name of another drug, unless it is plainly and conspicuously marked so as to reveal its true character and its lack of identity with such other drug ; or

(b) if it purports to be the product of a place or country of which it is not truly a product ; or

(c) if it is sold, or offered or exposed for sale, under a name which belongs to another drug ; or

(d) if it is so coloured, coated, powdered or polished that damage is concealed or if it is made to appear of better or greater therapeutic value than it really is ; or

(e) if it is not labelled in the prescribed manner ; or

(f) if its label or container or anything accompanying the drug bears any statement, design or device which makes any false claim for the drug or which is false or misleading in any particular ; or

(g) if the label or container bears the name of an individual or company purporting to be the manufacturer or producer of the drug, which individual or company is fictitious or does not exist.

18. From such date as may be fixed by the Provincial Government by notification in the Official Gazette in this behalf, no person shall himself or by any other person on his behalf—

Prohibition of manufacture and sale of certain drugs.

- (a) manufacture for sale or sell, or stock or exhibit for sale, or distribute—
- (i) any drug which is not of standard quality ;
 - (ii) any misbranded drug ;
 - (iii) any patent or proprietary medicine, unless there is displayed in the prescribed manner on the label or container thereof either the true formula or list of ingredients contained in it in a manner readily intelligible to members of the medical profession, or the number of the certificate of registration granted, in the manner prescribed by the Central Government, in respect of such medicine by the Central Drugs Laboratory after being correctly informed of the formula of such medicine ;
 - (iv) any drug which by means of any statement, design or device accompanying it or by any other means, purports or claims to cure or mitigate any such disease or ailment, or to have any such other effect as may be prescribed ;
 - (v) any drug, in contravention of any of the provisions of this Chapter or any rule made thereunder ;
- (b) sell, or stock or exhibit for sale, or distribute any drug which has been imported or manufactured in contravention of any of the provisions of this Act or any rule made thereunder ;

(c) manufacture for sale, or sell, or stock or exhibit for sale, or distribute any drug, except under, and in accordance with the conditions of, a licence issued for such purpose under this Chapter :

Provided that nothing in this section shall apply to the manufacture, subject to prescribed conditions, of small quantities of any drug for the purpose of examination, test or analysis :

Provided further that the Provincial Government may, after consultation with the Board, by notification in the Official Gazette, permit, subject to any conditions specified in the notification, the manufacture for sale, sale or distribution of any drug or class of drugs not being of standard quality.

Explanation.—The formula or list of ingredients mentioned in sub-clause (iii) of clause (a) shall be deemed to be true and a sufficient compliance with that sub-clause if, without disclosing a full and detailed recipe of the ingredients, it indicates correctly all the potent or poisonous substances contained therein together with an approximate statement of the composition of the medicine.

19. (1) Save as hereinafter provided in this section, it shall be no defence in a

Pleas. prosecution under this Chapter to prove merely that the accused was ignorant of the nature, substance or quality of the drug in respect of which the offence has been committed or of the circumstances of its manufacture or import, or that a purchaser, having bought only for the purpose of test or analysis, has not been prejudiced by the sale.

(2) For the purposes of section 18 a drug shall not be deemed to be misbranded or to be below standard quality only by reason of the fact that—

(a) there has been added thereto some innocuous substance or ingredient because the same is required for the manufacture or preparation of the drug as an article of commerce in a state fit for carriage or consumption, and not to increase the bulk, weight or measure of the drug or to conceal its inferior quality or other defects ; or

(b) in the process of manufacture, preparation or conveyance some extraneous substance has unavoidably become intermixed with it, provided that this clause shall not apply in relation to any sale or distribution of the drug occurring after the vendor or distributor became aware of such intermixture.

(3) A person, not being the manufacturer of a drug or his agent for the distribution thereof, shall not be liable for a contravention of section 18 if he proves—

(a) that he did not know, and could not with reasonable diligence have ascertained, that the drug in any way contravened the provisions of that section, and that the drug while in his possession remained in the same state as when he acquired it ; or

(b) that he acquired the drug from a person resident in British India under a written warranty in the prescribed form and signed by such person that the drug does not in any way contravene the provisions of section 18, and that the drug while in his possession remained in the same state as when he acquired it :

Provided that a defence under clause (b) shall be open to a person only—

(i) if he has, within seven days of the service on him of the summons, sent to the Inspector a copy of the warranty with a written notice stating that he intends to rely upon it and giving the name and address of the warrantor, and

(ii) if he proves that he has, within the same period, sent written notice of such intention to the said warrantor.

20. The Provincial Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, Government Analysts.

appoint such persons as it thinks fit, having the prescribed qualifications, to be Government Analysts for such areas and in respect of such drugs or classes of drugs as may be specified in the notification :

Provided that a servant of the Crown serving under the Central Government or another Provincial Government shall not be so appointed without the previous consent of the Government under which he is serving.

21. (1) The Provincial Government may, by notification in the Official Inspectors.

Gazette, appoint such persons as it thinks fit, having the prescribed qualifications, to be Inspectors for the purposes of this Chapter within such local limits as it may assign to them respectively:

Provided that no person who has any financial interest in the manufacture, import or sale of drugs shall be appointed to be an Inspector under this sub-section.

(2) Every Inspector shall be deemed to be a public servant within the meaning of the Indian Penal Code, and shall be officially subordinate to such authority as the Provincial Government may specify in this behalf.

22. Subject to the provisions of section 23 and of any rules made by the Powers of Inspectors.

Provincial Government in this behalf, an Inspector may within the local limits for which he is appointed—

(a) inspect any premises wherein any drug is being manufactured and in the case of sera, vaccines and any other drug prescribed in this behalf the plant and process of manufacture and the means employed for standardising and testing the drug ;

(b) taking samples of any drug which is being manufactured, or being sold or stocked or exhibited for sale, or is being distributed ;

(c) where he has reason to believe that any drug which is being manufactured for sale, or being sold or is stocked or exhibited for sale, or is being distributed, contravenes any of the provisions of section 18, order in writing the person, in whose possession such drug may be, not to dispose of any stock of such drug for a specified period not exceeding ten days, or, unless the alleged contravention is such that the defect may be removed by the possessor of the drug, seize the stock of such drug :

Provided that the Inspector shall not take any action under this clause unless he has reported the facts to the District Magistrate or the Chief Presidency Magistrate and has been authorised by such Magistrate to take such action ;

(d) for any of the aforesaid purposes enter at all reasonable times, with such assistants, if any, as he considers necessary, any premises wherein any drug is being manufactured, or being sold, or is stocked or exhibited for sale, or is kept for distribution;

(e) exercise such other powers as may be necessary for carrying out the purposes of this Chapter or any rules made thereunder.

23. (1) Where an Inspector takes any sample of a drug under this Chapter, Procedure of Inspectors.

he shall tender the fair price thereof and may require a written acknowledgment therefor.

(2) Where the price tendered under sub-section (1) is refused, or where the Inspector seizes the stock of any drug under clause (c) of section 22, he shall tender a receipt therefor in the prescribed form.

(3) Where an Inspector takes a sample of a drug for the purpose of test or analysis, he shall intimate such purpose in writing in the prescribed form to the person from whom he takes it and, in the presence of such person unless he wilfully absents himself, shall divide the sample into four portions and effectively seal and suitably mark the same and permit such person to add his own seal and mark to all or any of the portions so sealed and marked :

Provided that where the sample is taken from premises whereon the drug is being manufactured, it shall be necessary to divide the sample into three portions only :

Provided further that where the drug is made up in containers of small volume, instead of dividing a sample as aforesaid, the Inspector may, and if the drug be such that it is likely to deteriorate or be otherwise damaged by exposure shall, take three or four, as the case may be, of the said containers after suitably marking the same and, where necessary, sealing them.

(4) The Inspector shall restore one portion of a sample so divided or one container, as the case may be, to the person from whom he takes it, and shall retain the remainder and dispose of the same as follows :—

(i) one portion or container he shall forthwith send to the Government Analyst for test or analysis ;

(ii) the second he shall produce to the Court before which proceedings, if any, are instituted in respect of the drug ; and

(iii) the third, where taken, he shall send to the warrantor, if any, named under the proviso to sub-section (3) of section 19.

(5) Where an Inspector takes any action under clause (c) of section 22,—

(a) he shall use all despatch in ascertaining whether or not the drug contravenes any of the provisions of section 18 and, if it is ascertained that the drug does not so contravene, forthwith revoke the order passed under the said clause or, as the case may be, take such action as may be necessary for the return of the stock seized ;

(b) if he seizes the stock of the drug, he shall as soon as may be inform a Magistrate and take his orders as to the custody thereof ;

(c) without prejudice to the institution of any prosecution, if the alleged contravention be such that the defect may be remedied by the possessor of the drug, he shall, on being satisfied that the defect has been so remedied, forthwith revoke his order under the said clause.

24. Every person for the time being in charge of any premises whereon any drug is being manufactured or is kept for sale or distribution shall, on being required by an Inspector so to do,

Persons bound to disclose place where drugs are manufactured or kept.

be legally bound to disclose to the Inspector the place where the drug is being manufactured or is kept, as the case may be.

25. (1) The Government Analyst to whom a sample of any drug has been submitted for test or analysis under sub-section (4) of section 23, shall deliver to the Inspector submitting it a signed report in triplicate in the prescribed form.

Reports of Government Analysts.

(2) The Inspector on receipt thereof shall deliver one copy of the report to the person from whom the sample was taken and another copy to the warrantor, if any, named under the proviso to sub-section (3) of section 19, and shall retain the third copy for use in any prosecution in respect of the sample.

(3) Any document purporting to be a report signed by a Government Analyst under this Chapter shall be evidence of the facts stated therein, and such evidence shall be conclusive unless the person from whom the sample was taken or the said warrantor has, within twenty-eight days of the receipt of a copy of the report, notified in writing the Inspector or the Court before which any proceedings in respect of the sample are pending that he intends to adduce evidence in controversion of the report.

(4) Unless the sample has already been tested or analysed in the Central Drugs Laboratory, where a person has under sub-section (3) notified his intention of adducing evidence in controversion of a Government Analyst's report, the Court may, of its own motion or in its discretion at the request either of the complainant or the accused, cause the sample of the drug produced before the Magistrate under sub-section (4) of section 23 to be sent for test or analysis to the said Laboratory, which shall make the test or analysis and report in writing signed by, or under the authority of, the Director of the Central Drugs Laboratory the result thereof, and such report shall be conclusive evidence of the facts stated therein.

(5) The cost of a test or analysis made by the Central Drugs Laboratory under sub-section (4) shall be paid by the complainant or accused as the Court shall direct.

26. Any person shall, on application in the prescribed manner and on payment of the prescribed fee, be entitled to submit for test or analysis to a Government Analyst any drug purchased by him and to receive a report of such test or analysis signed by the Government Analyst.

Purchaser of drug enabled to obtain test or analysis.

27. Whoever himself or by any other person on his behalf manufactures for sale, sells, stocks or exhibits for sale, or distributes any drug in contravention of any of the provisions of this Chapter or any rule made thereunder shall be punishable with imprisonment which may extend to one year, or with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees, or with both.

Penalty for manufacture, sale, etc., of drugs in contravention of this Chapter.

28. (1) Whoever, in respect of any drug sold by him whether as principal or agent, gives to the purchaser a false warranty that the drug does not in any way contravene the provisions of section 18 shall, unless he proves that when he gave the warranty he had good reason to believe the same to be true, be punishable with imprisonment which may extend to one year, or with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees, or with both.

Penalties for giving false warranty or misuse of warranty.

(2) Whoever applies or permits to be applied to any drug sold, or stocked or exhibited for sale, by him, whether on the container or label or in any other manner, a warranty given in respect of any other drug, shall be punishable with imprisonment which may extend to one year, or with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees, or with both.

29. Whoever uses any report of a test or analysis made by the Central Drugs Laboratory or by a Government Analyst, or any extract from such report, for the purpose of advertising any drug, shall be punishable with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees.

Penalty for use of Government Analyst's report for advertising.

30. Whoever having been convicted of any offence under section 27 or section 28 or section 29, is again convicted of an offence under the same section shall be punishable with imprisonment which may extend to two years, or with fine which may extend to one thousand rupees, or with both.

Penalty for subsequent offences.

31. Where any person has been convicted under this Chapter for contravening any such provision of this Chapter or any rule made thereunder as may be specified by rule made in this behalf, the stock of the drug in respect of which the contravention has been made shall be liable to confiscation.

Confiscation.

Cognizance of offences.

32. (1) No prosecution under this Chapter shall be instituted except by an Inspector.

(2) No Court inferior to that of a Presidency Magistrate or of a Magistrate of the first class shall try an offence punishable under this Chapter.

(3) Nothing contained in this Chapter shall be deemed to prevent any person from being prosecuted under any other law for any act or omission which constitutes an offence against this Chapter.

33. (1) The Provincial Government may, after consultation with the Board and after previous publication by notification in the official Gazette, make rules for the purpose of giving effect to the provisions of this Chapter.

Power of Provincial Government to make rules.

(2) Without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power, such rules may—

(a) provide for the establishment of laboratories for testing and analysing drugs ;

(b) prescribe the qualifications and duties of Government Analysts and the qualifications of Inspectors ;

(c) prescribe the methods of test or analysis to be employed in determining whether a drug is of standard quality ;

(d) prescribe, in respect of biological and organometallic compounds, the units or methods of standardisation ;

(e) prescribe the forms of licences for the manufacture for sale, for the sale and for the distribution of drugs or any specified drug or class of drugs, the form of application for such licences, the conditions subject to which such licences may be issued, the authority empowered to issue the same and the fees payable therefor ;

(f) specify the diseases or ailments which a drug may not purport or claim to cure or mitigate and such other effects which a drug may not purport or claim to have ;

(g) prescribe the conditions subject to which small quantities of drugs may be manufactured for the purpose of examination, test or analysis ;

(h) require the date of manufacture and the date of expiry of potency to be clearly and truly stated on the label or container of any specified drug or class of drugs, and prohibit the sale, stocking or exhibition for sale, or distribution of the said drug or class of drugs after the expiry of a specified period from the date of manufacture or after the expiry of the date of potency ;

(i) prescribe the conditions to be observed in the packing in bottles, packages and other containers of drugs, and prohibit the sale, stocking or exhibition for sale, or distribution of drugs packed in contravention of such conditions ;

(j) regulate the mode of labelling packed drugs, and prescribe the matters which shall or shall not be included in such labels ;

(k) prescribe the maximum proportion of any poisonous substance which may be added to or contained in any drug, prohibit the manufacture, sale or stocking or exhibition for sale, or distribution of any drug in which that proportion is exceeded and specify substances which shall be deemed to be poisonous for the purposes of this Chapter and the rules made thereunder ;

(l) require that the accepted scientific name of any specified drug shall be displayed in the prescribed manner on the label or wrapper of any patent or proprietary medicine containing such drug ;

(m) prescribe the form of warranty referred to in sub-section (1) of section 19 ;

(n) regulate the powers and duties of Inspectors ;

(o) prescribe the forms of report to be given by Government Analysts, and the manner of application for test or analysis under section 26 and the fees payable therefor ;

(p) specify the offences against this Chapter or any rule made thereunder in relation to which the stock of the drug shall be liable to confiscation under section 31 ;

(q) provide for the exemption, conditionally or otherwise, from all or any of the provisions of this Chapter or the rules made thereunder of any specified drug or class of drugs.

34. No suit, prosecution or other legal proceeding shall lie against any person for anything which is in good faith done or intended to be done under this Chapter.

Protection to persons acting under this Chapter.

Definitions.

4. In this Part, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,—

(a) “costs” means all costs, charges and expenses of, or incidental to, an inquiry;

¹[(b) “election” means an election to a Chamber of any Legislature or Legislative Council constituted under the Government of India Act or the Government of India Act, 1935];

(c) “inquiry” means an inquiry in respect of an election by Commissioners appointed for that purpose by the Governor-General ²[or] Governor ²[* *];

(d) “pleader” means any person entitled to appear and plead for another in a Civil Court, and includes an advocate, a vakil, and an attorney of a High Court.

5. Commissioners appointed to hold an inquiry shall have the powers which are vested in a Court under the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, when trying a suit in respect of the following matters:—

(a) discovery and inspection,

(b) enforcing the attendance of witnesses, and requiring the deposit of their expenses,

(c) compelling the production of documents,

(d) examining witnesses on oath,

(e) granting adjournments,

(f) reception of evidence taken on affidavit, and

(g) issuing commissions for the examination of witnesses,

1 Cl. (b) of sec. 4 substituted by A.O., 1937.

2 In cl. (c) of sec. 4 word ‘or’ inserted and words ‘or Lieutenant-Governor’ omitted by A.O., 1937.

SEC. 1: ELECTION PETITION—NEW ACT COMING INTO FORCE—EFFECT ON PENDING PROCEEDING.—An election to the presidentship of a District Board was made in February, 1930. A petition was filed contesting the validity of the election on the ground that the person elected was disqualified to hold the office by virtue of his being a salaried officer within the meaning of sec. 13w. of the Madras Local Boards Act, 1920. During the pendency of the election petition, Madras Act XI of 1930, came into force, Held, (1) that sec. 54 (2) of the Act XI of 1930 is not a declaratory provision so as to apply to an election held under the old Act of 1920. Meaning of declaratory enactment discussed. (2) That even assuming sec. 54 is of a declaratory nature the jurisdiction of the Court to deal with pending proceeding remains unaffected and the procedure prescribed by the second proviso to sec. 54 (2) need not be pursued. 54 Mad. 627=130 I. C. 177=33 L.W. 168=1931 M. 83=60 M.L. J. 191. By the Government of India (Adaptation of Indian Laws) Order, 1937, the Election Offences and Inquiries Act XXXIX of 1920 has been amended so as to come into line with the new Government of India Act, 1935. The words “or Lieutenant-Governor” have been omitted in sec. 12 and an election has been defined as the election for the Legislative bodies contemplated by Government of India Act, 1935. The Election Offences and Inquiries Act therefore is still in force in the whole of British India and applies to the elections for the Legislative Assemblies under the Constitution Act of 1935. 201 I.C. 331=(1942) F.L.J. (H.C.) 154=A.I.B. 1942 Pesh. 53.

to them to be material; and shall be deemed to be a Civil Court within the meaning of sections 480 and 482 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898.

Explanation.—For the purposes of enforcing the attendance of witnesses, the local limits of the Commissioners' jurisdiction shall be the limits of the Province in which the election was held.

Application of Act I of 1872 to inquiries. 6. The provisions of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872, shall, subject to the provisions of this Act, be deemed to apply in all respects to an inquiry.

7. Notwithstanding anything in any enactment to the contrary, no documentary evidence. document shall be inadmissible in evidence on the ground that it is not duly stamped or registered.

Obligation of witness to answer any certificate of indemnity. 8. (1) No witness shall be excused from answering any question as to any matter relevant to a matter in issue in an inquiry upon the ground that the answer to such question will criminate or may tend, directly or indirectly, to criminate him; or that it will expose, or tend, directly or indirectly, to expose him to a penalty or forfeiture of any kind:

Provided that—

(i) no person who has voted at an election shall be required to state for whom he has voted; and

(ii) a witness who, in the opinion of the Commissioners, has answered truly all questions which he has been required by them to answer shall be entitled to receive a certificate of indemnity, and such certificate may be pleaded by such person in any Court and shall be deemed to be a full and complete defence to or upon any charge under Chapter IX-A of the Indian Penal Code arising out of the matter to which such certificate relates, nor shall any such answer be admissible in evidence against him in any suit or other proceeding.

(2) Nothing in sub-section (1) shall be deemed to relieve a person receiving a certificate of indemnity from any disqualification in connection with an election imposed by any law or any rule having the force of law.

9. Any appearance, application or act before the Commissioners may be made or done by the party in person or by a pleader duly appointed to act on his behalf:

Appearance by pleader. Provided that any such appearance shall, if the Commissioners so direct, be made by the party in person.

10. The reasonable expenses incurred by any person in attending to give evidence may be allowed by the Commissioners to such person, and shall, unless the Commissioners otherwise direct, be deemed to be part of the costs.

Expenses of witnesses. 11. (1) Costs shall be in the discretion of the Commissioners, and the Commissioners shall have full power to determine by and to whom and to what extent such costs are to be paid and to include in their report all necessary recommendations for the purposes aforesaid. The Commissioners may allow interest on costs at a rate not exceeding six per cent. per annum, and such interest shall be added to the costs.

Costs and pleaders' fees, etc. (2) The fees payable by a party in respect of fees of his adversary's pleader shall be such fees as the Commissioners may allow.

12. Any order made by the Central Government or Provincial Government¹ [* *] on the report of the Commissioners regarding the costs of the inquiry may be produced before the principal Civil Court of original jurisdiction within

LEG. REF.
1 Words 'or Lieutenant-Governor' omitted by A.O., 1937.

SEC. 12.—An appeal lies against an order passed by a Civil Court in the course of the execution of an order for costs awarded by the local limits of whose jurisdiction any person directed by such order to pay any sum of money has a place of residence or business, or, where such place is within the local limits of the ordinary original civil jurisdiction of a chartered High Court, before the Court of Small Causes having jurisdiction there, and such Court shall execute such order or cause it to be executed in the same manner and by the same procedure as if it were a decree for the payment of money made by itself in a suit.

13. Any person who has been convicted of an offence under section 171-E or 171-F of the Indian Penal Code or has been disqualified from exercising any electoral right, for a period of not less than five years, on account of malpractices in connection with an election shall be disqualified for five years from the date of such conviction or disqualification from—

(a) being appointed to, or acting in, any judicial office;
(b) being elected to any office of any local authority when the appointment to such office is by election, or holding or exercising any such office to which no salary is attached;

(c) being elected or sitting or voting as a member of any local authority; or
(d) being appointed or acting as a trustee of a public trust:

¹[Provided that the Governor-General, in the case of an election to a Chamber of the Federal Legislature or the Indian Legislature, and the Governor, in the case of an election to a Chamber of a Provincial Legislature, may, in his discretion, exempt any such person from such disqualification.]

14. (1) Every officer, clerk, agent or other person who performs any duties in connection with the recording or counting of votes at an election shall maintain and aid in maintaining the secrecy of the voting and shall not (except for some purpose authorised by or under any law) communicate to any person any information calculated to violate such secrecy.

(2) Any person who wilfully acts in contravention of the provisions of this section shall be punished with imprisonment of either description for a term not exceeding three months or with fine, or with both.

²[15. As respects elections to a Chamber of a Legislature constituted under the Government of India Act, 1935, this Part of this Act shall have effect subject to any relevant provision of any Order in Council or rules made under that Act in relation to such elections.]

the Governor on an election petition. 41 C. W.N. 893=A.I.R. 1937 C. 425.

An order for costs passed by the Governor under sec. 12 in connection with an election is executable in the District Court as a decree for payment of money made by that Court itself in a suit. An appeal lies under sec. 47, C. P. Code, to the Chief Court from an order of the District Judge refusing to execute the order as to costs. (1942) F.L.J. (H.C.) 154=A.I.R. 1942 Pesh. 53.

Under sec. 12 an order as to costs passed by His Excellency the Governor in connection with an election petition is executable in the Court of the District Judge in the same way as if it were an order by that Judge for the payment of that amount in a suit. A separate suit for the recovery of costs does not lie. (1942) F.L.J. (H.C.) 157=A.I.R. 1942 Pesh. 54.

SEC. 13: ELECTION—BRIBERY—TEST—PAYMENT TO WORKERS.—A candidate may lawfully pay either an association of persons or an individual to work for him at an election, but he may only pay what is a done. Where that payment is to a voter it reasonable sum for the particular work may, however, amount to a bribe if the payment is out of all proportion to the work done or agreed to be done. Whether any particular payment by a candidate is or is not a bribe must always fall to be decided upon the particular facts of each case. Money paid to a club to pay off its debt and to repair its club premises with the object of inducing those of its members who are voters to record their votes in favour of a candidate is bribe. Whether that object was in fact achieved is immaterial. The motive of the briber, and not the effect on the bribed, is the test. 199 I.C. 110=A.I.R. 1942 Rang. 52. Corruption—Effect on election—Test. THE INDIAN ELECTRICITY ACT (IX OF 1910).¹

[18th March, 1910.

N.B.—This Act has been amended by Act X of 1937 in its application to British India, including British Baluchistan and the Sonthal Parganas but excluding Burma (vide S. 2 of Act X of 1937). (The said amendments are noted under the respective sections.)

An Act to amend the law relating to the supply and use of electrical energy.

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend the law relating to the supply and use of electrical energy; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

PART I.

PRELIMINARY.

Short title, extent and commencement.

1. (1) This Act may be called THE INDIAN ELECTRICITY ACT, 1910.

(2) It extends to the whole of British India, inclusive of British Baluchistan and the Sonthal Parganas; and

(3) It shall come into force on such date as the Central Government may, by notification in the official Gazette, direct in this behalf.

2. In this Act, expressions defined in the Indian Telegraph Act, 1885 have the meanings assigned to them in that Act, and, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,—

Definitions.

(a) "aerial line" means any electric supply-line which is placed above ground and in the open air;

(b) "area of supply" means the area within which alone a licensee is for the time being authorized by his license to supply energy;

(c) "consumer" means any person who is supplied with energy by a licensee, or whose premises are for the time being connected for the purposes of a supply of energy with the works of a licensee;

V, p. 39; and for Proceedings in Council, see ibid., 1909, Pt. VI, p. 152 and ibid., 1910, Pt. VI, pp. 12, 157 and 275, dated 5th February, 1910, 19th March, 1910, and 9th April, 1910, respectively.

The Act was brought into force on the 1st January, 1911, see Gazette of India, 1910, Pt. I, p. 1246.

SEC. 2 (c) 'CONSUMER,' MEANING OF.—In order to hold that a person is a "consumer" as defined by sec. 2 (c) of the Electricity Act, it would prima facie be enough to prove either

(d) "daily fine" means a fine for each day on which an offence is continued after conviction therefor ;

(e) "distributing main" means the portion of any main with which a service-line is, or is intended to be, immediately connected ;

(f) "electric supply line" means a wire, conductor or other means used for conveying, transmitting or distributing energy together with any casing, coating, covering, tube, pipe or insulator enclosing, surrounding or supporting the same or any part thereof, or any apparatus connected therewith for the purpose of so conveying, transmitting or distributing, such energy ;

(g) "energy" means electrical energy when generated, transmitted, supplied, or used for any purpose except the transmission of a message ;

(h) "licensee" means any person licensed under Part II to supply energy :

(i) "main" means any electric supply-line through which energy is, or is intended to be, supplied by a licensee to the public ;

(j) "prescribed" means prescribed by rules made under this Act ;

(k) "public lamp" means an electric lamp used for the lighting of any street ;

¹[(l) "service-line" means any electric supply-line through which energy is, or is intended to be, supplied by a licensee—

(i) to a single consumer either from a distributing main or immediately from the licensee's premises, or

(ii) from a distributing main to a group of consumers on the same premises or on adjoining premises supplied from the same point of the distributing main.]

(m) "street" includes any way, road, lane, square, court, alley, passage or open space, whether a thoroughfare or not, over which the public have a right of way, and also the roadway and footway over any public bridge or causeway : and

(n) "works" includes electric supply-lines and any buildings, machinery or apparatus required to supply energy and to carry into effect the objects of a license granted under Part II.

PART II.

SUPPLY OF ENERGY.

Licenses.

3. (1) The Provincial Government may, on application made in the prescribed form and on payment of the prescribed fee (if any), grant to any person a license to supply energy in any specified area, and also to lay down or place electric supply-lines for the conveyance and transmission of energy,—

SECS. 3, 21, 22 AND 23.—A licence given by the Local Government to a person under this Act confers the right on the licensee to supply

(a) where the energy to be supplied is to be generated outside such area, from a generating station situated outside such area to the boundary of such area, or

(b) where energy is to be conveyed or transmitted from any place in such area to any other place therein, across an intervening area not included therein, across such area.

(2) In respect of every such license and the grant thereof the following provisions shall have effect, namely :—

(a) any person applying for a license under this Part shall publish a notice of his application in the prescribed manner and with the prescribed particulars, and the license shall not be granted—

(i) until all objections received by the Provincial Government with reference thereto have been considered by it :

Provided that no objection shall be so considered unless it is received before the expiration of three months from the date of the first publication of such notice as aforesaid ; and

(ii) until, in the case of an application for a license for an area including the whole or any part of any cantonment, fortress, arsenal, dockyard or camp or of any building or place in the occupation of the Government for naval or military purposes, the Provincial Government has ascertained that there is no objection to the grant of the license on the part of the ¹[Engineer-in-Chief, Army Headquarters, India] ;

(b) where an objection is received from any local authority concerned, the Provincial Government shall, if in its opinion the objection is insufficient, record in writing and communicate to such local authority its reasons for such opinions ;

(c) no application for a license under this Part shall be made by any local authority except in pursuance of a resolution passed at a meeting of such authority held after one month's previous notice of the same and of the purpose thereof has been given in the manner in which notices of meetings of such local authority are usually given ;

(d) a license under this Part—

(i) may prescribe such terms as to the limits within which, and the conditions under which, the supply of energy is to be compulsory or permissive, and as to the limits of price to be charged in respect of the supply of energy, and generally as to such matters as the Provincial Government may think fit ; and

(ii) save in cases in which under section 10, clause (b) the provisions of sections 5 and 7, or either of them, have been declared not to apply, every such license shall declare whether any generating station to be used in connection with the undertaking shall or shall not form part of the undertaking for the purpose of purchase under section 5 or section 7 ;

(e) the grant of a license under this Part for any purpose shall not in any way hinder or restrict the grant of a license to another person within the same area of supply for a like purpose ;

(f) the provisions contained in the Schedule shall be deemed to be incorporated with, and to form part of, every license granted under this Part, save in so far as they are expressly added to, varied or excepted by the license, and shall, subject to any such additions, variations or exceptions which the Provincial Government is hereby empowered to make, apply to the undertaking authorised by the license :

Provided that, where a license is granted in accordance with the provisions of clause IX of the Schedule for the supply of energy to other licensees for distribution by them, then, in so far as such license relates to such supply, the provisions

4. (1) The Provincial Government may, if in its opinion the public interest so requires, revoke a license, in any of the following cases, namely:—

(a) where the licensee, in the opinion of the Provincial Government, makes wilful and unreasonably prolonged default in doing anything required of him by or under this Act;

(b) where the licensee breaks any of the terms or conditions of his license the breach of which is expressly declared by such license to render it liable to revocation;

(c) where the licensee fails, within the period fixed in this behalf by his license or any longer period which the Provincial Government may substitute therefor by order under sub-section (3), clause (b) and before exercising any of the powers conferred on him thereby in relation to the execution of works,— undertakes a public undertaking, to construct his work, his plant, service mains, etc., and to maintain them, and certain duties are also imposed on him for the safety of the public or individuals. 63 Cal. 1047=40 C.W.N. 789=A.I.R. 1936 Cal. 265. The undertaking being for public benefit, a duty is imposed on the licensee to supply energy to any person who wants to take a supply of energy subject to certain conditions laid down either in the Act or in the schedule which is incorporated in the licence, and subject to any addition or modification which the Local Government may make. (Ibid.) The licensee cannot show undue preference to any particular consumer in the matter of rates; subject to this he is empowered to regulate his relations by agreement with his consumers, but even here there are restrictions imposed. He cannot in his agreement with his consumers insert any condition whatever, but only such conditions as are consistent with the Act or his license and to which previous sanction of the Local Government had been obtained. Subject to these restrictions, the legislature has intended the rights between a licensee and a consumer to be regulated by contract. (Ibid.)

SEC. 4 (1) (c).—POWER OF GOVERNMENT TO REVOKE LICENSE.—TIME LIMIT.—SATISFACTION OF GOVERNMENT AS TO QUALIFICATION OF LICENSEE.—DECISION AS TO.—The conditions about satisfying the Government as to qualification and furnishing security in sec. 4 (1) (c) are subject to identical limitations; namely, that they have to be within a specified time and before the exercise of any of the powers conferred by the license. It is manifest that the licensee would be entitled to deposit his security up to the last hour of the last day fixed in the license and if the license is to be revoked on the ground of failure of deposit of the security, the revocation of necessity shall have to be made after the time for depositing the security had run out. It follows, therefore, that the time limit with regard to security operates only in favour of the licensee and against the licensee and it does not apply to Government which can make the revocation after time had run out. For a similar reason, the condition that satisfaction as to his qualification by the licensee shall be given before any powers are exercised and within the time fixed in the license also operates in favour of and against the licensee and they do not apply to Government and it is open to Government to revoke the license even after powers had been exercised by the licensee and time fixed in the license had run out. 1944 A.L.J. 43=1944 All. 66.

The Act nowhere prescribes the manner in which the Government would be satisfied and the evidence which is required for this satisfaction. It is also obvious that if once the Government has finally come to the conclusion that the licensee was qualified to discharge his duties it cannot change its mind subsequently and act under section 4 (1) (c) of the Act. Ordinarily, it will be in the interest of all parties that this decision should be reached before any powers under the license are exercised. And after the supply had begun, or when the works had considerably advanced or when the power was exercised long after the time fixed for satisfaction in the license, a presumption might arise that satisfaction in fact was given by the licensee and it might not be open to Government to revoke the license on that ground. But it is also open under the Act to the Government to fix any period for, the satisfaction and to make the period of completion of works and of satisfaction as to qualification synchronise and to judge the qualification of the licensee with reference to the progress of his work. In such a case no presumption can arise by the mere exercise of powers under the license that the Government had, in fact, received satisfaction as to qualification of the licensee and it is for the licensee if he wants not to exercise the powers under the license before giving satisfaction to Government to insist on a condition in the license that the work shall not begin till the satisfaction is accepted and to insist on a short term for satisfaction of qualification and a long term for the completion of works. I.L.R. (1943) All. 907=1944 All. 66=1944 A.L.J. 43.

(ii) to make the deposit or furnish the security required by his license ;

(d) where the licensee is, in the opinion of the Provincial Government, unable by reason of his insolvency, fully and efficiently to discharge the duties and obligations imposed on him by his license.

(2) Where the Provincial Government might, under sub-section (1), revoke a license, it may, instead of revoking the license, permit it to remain in force subject to such further terms and conditions as it thinks fit to impose, and any further terms or conditions so imposed shall be binding upon and be observed by, the licensee, and shall be of like force and effect as if they were contained in the license.

(3) Where in its opinion the public interest so permits, the Provincial Government may, on the application or with the consent of the licensee, and if the licensee is not a local authority, after consulting the local authority (if any) concerned,—

(a) revoke a license as to the whole or any part of the area of supply upon such terms and conditions as it thinks fit, or

(b) make such alterations or amendments in the terms and conditions of a license, including the provisions specified in section 3, sub-section (2), clause (f) as it thinks fit.

Provisions where license of licensee, not being a local authority is revoked.

5. Where the Provincial Government revokes, under section 4, sub-section (1), the license of a licensee, not being a local authority, the following provisions shall have effect, namely :—

(a) the Provincial Government shall serve a notice of the revocation upon the licensee, and, where the whole of the area of supply is included in the area for which a single local authority is constituted, upon that local authority also, and shall in the notice fix a date on which the revocation shall take effect ; and on and with effect from that date all the powers and liabilities of the licensee under this Act shall absolutely cease and determine ;

(b) where a notice has been served on a local authority under clause (a), the local authority may, within three months after the service of the notice, and

SEC. 5 ORDER OF SALE OF UNDERTAKING—
SALE PRICE FIXED BY AWARD—LICENSEE WRONGFULLY REFUSING TO COMPLETE SALE—PURCHASER'S RIGHT OF SUIT—RELIEF.—If after an order of sale of an undertaking under sec. 5 of the Act, and determination of the sale price under sec. 5 read with sec. 52 of that Act and its tender by the purchaser, the licensee wrongfully refuses to complete the sale and to execute a conveyance or to give possession of the undertaking an action for declaration of title, for possession of the undertaking and for injunction restraining the defendant from interference will certainly lie. The relief of the execution of the sale cannot be refused if such a relief is also claimed in addition to or in substitution of the above reliefs simply because such a relief cannot be brought in within the four corners of Chap. II of the Act. The Specific Relief Act was enacted not to consolidate but only "to define and amend the law relating to certain kinds of specific relief" and though the Act may be exhaustive with regard to those matters which are specifically dealt with by it, there is no reason to hold that the entire law in relation to sec. 5 (b) of the Act was codified in Chap. II, and the relief for specific performance should be confined to contractual obligations or those arising under sec. 30 of the Act, and cannot be granted in relation to statutory obligations. Nor is there any valid reason for not following the English Law in this matter and holding in conformity with it that the direction of sale followed by an award by which the sale price has been determined brings into existence an obligation which though ordinarily statutory, becomes also contractual and may be specifically enforced. I.L.R. (1943) All. 907=1944 A.L.J. 43=A.I.R. 1944 All. 66.

SEC. 5 (b) : LANDS, BUILDINGS, WORKS, MATERIALS AND PLANTS—IF MUST BE ALL ACQUIRED TOGETHER.—One possible construction of sec. 5 (b) of the Electricity Act is that lands, buildings, works, materials and plants must all co-exist and must all be acquired together. If so, the clause implies that an incomplete undertaking which has not substantially reached the stage of supplying electrical energy and comprises only of one or two or more of these things but not all of them, cannot be compulsorily ordered to be sold. But even if the other construction be accepted and it is possible to acquire one or more of them, provided it or they comprise the entire undertaking at the time, there must be evidence to show that the property which is sought to be ordered to be sold is suitable to, and is used for, the purpose of the undertaking. It is a question of fact in each case whether the particular property sought to be ordered to be sold does or does not answer the description. I.L.R. (1943) All. 907=1944 A.L.J. 43=A.I.R. 1944 All. 66.

SEC. 5 (b) AND (c) : UNDERTAKING AS IT EXISTS ON DATE OF SALE—IF CAN BE ORDERED TO BE SOLD.—Under sec. 5 (b) and (c) of the Act, the undertaking which can be compulsorily ordered to be sold is the undertaking which existed on the date when the revocation of the license took effect and not the undertaking which existed on the date of the order of sale. I.L.R. (1943) All. 907=1944 A.L.J. 43=A.I.R. 1944 All. 66.

with the written consent of the Provincial Government by notice in writing, require the licensee to sell, and thereupon the licensee shall sell, the undertaking to the local authority on payment of the value of all lands, buildings, works, materials and plant of the licensee suitable to, and used by him for, the purposes of the undertaking, other than a generating station declared by the license not to form part of the undertaking for the purpose of purchase, such value to be, in case of difference or dispute, determined by arbitration:

Provided that the value of such lands, buildings, works, materials and plant shall be deemed to be their fair market-value at the time of purchase, due regard being had to the nature and condition for the time being of such lands, buildings, works, materials and plant, and to the state of repair thereof, and to the circumstances that they are in such a position as to be ready for immediate working, and to the suitability of the same for the purposes of the undertaking, but without any addition in respect of compulsory purchase or of goodwill or of any profits which may be or might have been made from the undertaking, or of any similar considerations ;

(c) where no purchase has been effected by the local authority under clause (b), and any other person is willing to purchase the undertaking, the Provincial Government may, if it thinks fit, with the consent of the licensee or without the consent of the licensee in case the price is not less than that for which the local authority might have purchased the same, require the licensee to sell, and thereupon the licensee shall sell, the undertaking to such other person ;

(d) where no purchase has been effected under clause (b) or clause (c) within such time as the Provincial Government may consider reasonable, or where the whole of the area of supply is not included in the area for which a single local authority is constituted, the Provincial Government shall have the option of purchasing the undertaking and, if the Provincial Government elects to purchase, the licensee shall sell the undertaking to the Provincial Government upon terms and conditions similar to those set forth in clause (b) ;

(e) where a purchase has been effected under any of the preceding clauses,—

(i) the undertaking shall vest in the purchasers free from any debts, mortgages or similar obligations of the licensee or attaching to the undertaking :

Provided that any such debts, mortgages or similar obligations shall attach to the purchase-money in substitution for the undertaking ; and

(ii) the revocation of the license shall extend only to the revocation of the rights, powers, authorities, duties and obligations of the licensee from whom the undertaking is purchased, and, save as aforesaid, the license shall remain in full force, and the purchaser shall be deemed to be the licensee :

Provided that where the Provincial Government elects to purchase under clause (d), the license shall, after purchase, in so far as the Provincial Government is concerned, cease to have any further operation ;

(f) where no purchase has been effected under any of the foregoing clauses, the licensee shall have the option of disposing of all lands, buildings, works, materials and plant belonging to the undertaking in such manner as he may think fit :

SEC. 5 (c) : POWER OF GOVERNMENT TO ORDER LICENSEE TO SELL UNDERTAKING AFTER REVOCATION OF LICENSE.—Under sec. 5 (c), the Government has power to order the licensee to sell his undertaking to a particular person after the revocation of his license takes effect and his liabilities under the Act have ceased. 1944 A.L.J. 43=A.I.R. 1944 All. 66.

POWER OF GOVERNMENT TO ORDER SALE TO THIRD PERSON—FIXING OF PRICE—PROCEDURE.—Under sec. 5 (c), the Government can order the licensee to sell the undertaking to a third person although no price was fixed by mutual agreement or arbitration between the licensee and the local authority. Under this clause the Government can order an arbitration in case of difference or dispute as to price between the licensee and the purchaser. 1944 All. 66=(1943) All. 907=1944 A.L.J. 43.

SEC. 5 (d) authorises the Government to purchase the undertaking "upon terms and conditions similar to those set forth in cl. (b)." These words are wide enough to bring in the arbitration clause which is to be found in cl. (b). I.L.R. (1943) All. 907=1943 A.L.J. 43=A.I.R. 1944 All. 66.

SEC. 5 (f) : ATTACHMENT OF PROPERTY OF LICENSEE WHOSE LICENSE HAS BEEN REVOKED.—Where the judgment-debtor is a licensee whose licence under the Electricity Act has been revoked, the Court when it has to consider whether under sec. 60, C. P. Code, his property

Provided that, if the licensee does not exercise such option within a period of six months from the date on which the same became exercisable, the Provincial Government may forthwith cause the works of the licensee in, under, over, along or across any street to be removed and every such street to be reinstated, and recover the cost of such removal and reinstatement from the licensee ;

(g) if the licensee has been required to sell the undertaking, and if the sale has not been completed by the date fixed in the notice issued under clause (a), the purchaser may, with the previous sanction of the Provincial Government, work the undertaking pending the completion of the sale.

6. (1) Where the Provincial Government revokes the license of a local authority under section 4, sub-section (1), and any person is willing to purchase the undertaking, the Provincial Government may, if it thinks fit, require the local authority to sell, and thereupon the local authority shall sell, the undertaking to such person on such terms as the Provincial Government thinks just.

(2) Where no purchase has been effected under sub-section (1), the licensee shall have the option of disposing of all lands, buildings, works, materials and plant belonging to the undertaking in such manner as he may think fit :

Provided that, if the licensee does not exercise such option within a period of six months from the date on which the same became exercisable, the Provincial Government may forthwith cause the works of the licensee in, under, over, along or across any street to be removed and every such street to be reinstated, and recover the cost of such removal and reinstatement from the licensee.

7. (1) Where a license has been granted to any person not being a local authority, and the whole of the area of supply is included in the area for which a single local authority is constituted, the local authority shall, on the expiration of such period, not exceeding fifty years, and of every such subsequent period not exceeding twenty years, as shall be specified in this behalf in the license, have the option of purchasing the undertaking, and, if the local authority, with the previous sanction of the Provincial Government, elects to purchase, the licensee shall sell the undertaking to the local authority on payment of the value of all lands, buildings, works, materials and plant of the licensee suitable to, and used by him for, the purposes of the undertaking, other than a generating station declared by the license not to form part of the undertaking for the purpose of purchase, such value to be, in case of difference or dispute determined by arbitration :

Provided that the value of such lands, buildings, works, materials and plant shall be deemed to be their fair market-value at the time of purchase, due regard being had to the nature and condition for the time being of such lands, buildings, works, materials and plant, and to the state of repair thereof, and to the circumstance that they are in such a position as to be ready for immediate working and to the suitability of the same for the purposes of the undertaking :

Provided also that there shall be added to such value as aforesaid such percentage, if any, not exceeding twenty per centum on that value as may be specified in the license, on account of compulsory purchase.

(2) Where—is or is not liable to attachment and sale in execution of the decree, has to bear in mind sec. 4, C. P. Code. As the Electricity Act is a special law, the provisions under the C. P. Code, are subject to any conditions regulating that procedure by the provisions of the Electricity Act. When a licence is revoked certain provisions laid down by section 5 of the Act have an imperative effect and under those provisions the licensee has the option of disposing the property of the undertaking in such manner as he thinks fit under cl. (f) only. That clause is more or less residuary and comes into operation only when the preceding provisions in the earlier clauses have been complied with. I.L.R. (1939) All. 901=1939 A.L.J. 983=1939 A.W.R. (H.C.) 848 =A.I.R. 1940 All. 24.

Sec. 5 (g) entitles the prospective transferee to take over charge at once and to 'work' the concern pending the completion of the sale as fully and completely as if the sale had been completed within the time fixed. 1943 N.L.J. 551=1944 Nag. 66.

(a) the local authority does not elect to purchase under sub-section (1), or
 (b) the whole of the area of supply is not included in the area for which a single local authority is constituted, or

(c) a licensee supplies energy from the same generating station to two or more areas of supply, each controlled by its own local authority, and has been granted a license in respect of each area of supply, the Provincial Government shall have the like option upon the like terms and conditions.

(3) Where a purchase has been effected under sub-section (1) or sub-section (2),—

(a) the undertaking shall vest in the purchasers free from any debts, mortgages or similar obligations of the licensee or attaching to the undertaking :

Provided that any such debts, mortgages or similar obligations shall attach to the purchase-money in substitution for the undertaking ; and

(b) save as aforesaid, the license shall remain in full force, and the purchaser shall be deemed to be the licensee :

Provided that where the Provincial Government elects to purchase under sub-section (2) the license shall, after purchase, in so far as the Provincial Government is concerned, cease to have any further operation.

(4) Not less than two years' notice in writing of any election to purchase under this section shall be served upon the licensee by the local authority or the Provincial Government as the case may be.

(5) Notwithstanding anything hereinbefore contained, a local authority may, with the previous sanction of the Provincial Government waive its option to purchase and enter into an agreement with the licensee for the working by him of the undertaking until the expiration of the next subsequent period referred to in sub-section (1), upon such terms and conditions as may be stated in such agreement.

8. Where, on the expiration of any of the periods referred to in section 7, sub-section (1) neither a local authority nor the Provincial Government purchases the undertaking and the licensee is, on the application or with the consent of the licensee, revoked, the licensee shall have the option of disposing of all lands, buildings, works, materials and plant belonging to the undertaking in such manner as he may think fit.

Provided that, if the licensee does not exercise such option within a period of six months, the Provincial Government may proceed to take action as provided in section 5, clause (f), proviso.

9. (1) The licensee shall not, at any time without the previous consent in writing of the Provincial Government, acquire by purchase or otherwise, the license or the undertaking of, or associate himself so far as the business of supplying energy is concerned with, any person supplying, or intending to supply, energy under any other license, and, before applying for such consent, the licensee shall give not less than one month's notice of the application to every local authority, both in the licensee's area of supply, and also in the area or district in which such other person supplies, or intends to supply, energy :

Provided that nothing in this sub-section shall be construed to require the consent of the Provincial Government for the supply of energy by one licensee to another in accordance with the provisions of clause IX of the Schedule.

(2) The licensee shall not at any time assign his license or transfer his undertaking, or any part thereof, by sale, mortgage, lease, exchange or otherwise without the previous consent in writing of the Provincial Government.

10. Notwithstanding anything in sections 5, 7 and 8, the Provincial Government may, [1* * *] in any license to be granted under this Act,—

(a) vary the terms and conditions upon which, and the periods on the expiration of which, the licensee shall be bound to sell his undertaking, or

(b) direct that, subject to such conditions and restrictions (if any) as it may think fit to impose, the provisions of the said sections or any of them shall not apply.

11. (1) Every licensee shall, unless expressly exempted from the liability by his license, or by order in writing of the Provincial Government, prepare and render to the Provincial Government or to such authority as the Provincial Government may appoint in this behalf on or before the prescribed date in each year, an annual statement of accounts of his undertaking made up to such date, in such form and containing such particulars, as may be prescribed in this behalf.

(2) The licensee shall keep copies of such annual statement at his office and sell the same to any applicant at a price not exceeding five rupees per copy.

of Property Act, there is no adequate reason to give a restricted meaning to the word 'transfer' in the Electricity Act, the more so as the last mentioned Act is not in pari materia with the Transfer of Property Act. The word transfer is used in sec. 9 (2) in a wide sense as embracing the transactions which either in present or in future may lead to the passing of the undertaking from one person to another. 196 I.C. 425 = 1941 A.L.J. 518 = A.I.R. 1941 All. 345 (F.B.).

Sec. 9 (2) AND (3).—Where a licensee company for supply of electricity executed without the consent of Government, a debenture trust deed whereby the whole undertaking was transferred to trustees for debenture-holders and also purported to create a mortgage over the entire property of the company and it further purported to create a charge over the property in favour of the debenture-holders, it was held that the deed so far as it intended to operate as a transfer of the properties to the trustees was void in view of the provisions of section 9 (2) of the Act and that it was similarly void in so far as it purported to create a mortgage but that it was valid in so far as it purported to create a charge which entitled the debenture-holders to rank as secured creditors in the winding up of the company. A charge could not be regarded as a transfer either in presenti or in future. I.L.R. (1940) All. 568 = 1940 A.L.J. 449 = 1940 A.W.R. (H.C.)

413 = A.I.R. 1940 All. 458. See also I.L.R. (1941) All. 691. Words 'transfer' and 'undertaking' are used in widest sense in this section. Where a licensee took in partners and the partnership-deed vested the buildings, machinery, books, papers and the licence of electricity in the partners, held, that it amounted to 'transfer of undertaking' under this section. 167 I.C. 707 = A.I.R. 1937 Rang. 47.

Sec. 12.—The Act does not authorise a licensee to place any work on any private lands without the consent of the owner or occupier, except in the case provided for by the first proviso to section 12 (1). But in the case of lands dedicated to public use, the licensee would be able to place its works without the consent of the authorities in charge of such lands and without paying any compensation for the same. The Local Government might while granting the licence insert a term in it regarding rent or compensation for the use of such lands and in such cases undoubtedly a duty to pay rent or compensation will arise. I.L.R. (1937) 2 Cal. 746 = 41 C.W.N. 1045 = A.I.R. 1937 Cal. 521. The ordinary rule of law is that whoever owns the site is the owner of everything up to the sky and down to the centre of the earth, and such owner can, therefore, object to the laying of electric wire on his land although the line may be laid, more than 30 feet above land. There is no law authorising the District Magistrate to grant permission to an electric company to erect a post over the land of a person. 114 I.C. 692 = 1929 L. 226. A post was erected on the land of a person. Permission from the District Magistrate for erecting it was obtained not before

- (a) open and break up the soil and pavement of any street, railway or tramway ;
- (b) open and break up any sewer, drain or tunnel in or under any street, railway or tramway ;
- (c) lay down and place electric supply lines and other works ;
- (d) repair, alter or remove the same ; and
- (e) do all other acts necessary for the due supply of energy.

(2) Nothing contained in sub-section (1) shall be deemed to authorise or empower a licensee, without the consent of the local authority or of the owner and occupier, concerned, as the case may be, to lay down or place any electric supply-line, or other work in, through or against any building, or on, over or under any land not dedicated to public use whereon, wherever or whereunder any electric supply-line or work has not already been lawfully laid down or placed by such licensee :

Provided that any support of an aerial line or any stay or strut required for the sole purpose of securing in position any support of an aerial line may be fixed on any building or land or, having been so fixed, may be altered, notwithstanding the objection of the owner or occupier of such building or land, if the District Magistrate or, in a Presidency-town ^{1*} the Commissioner of Police by order in writing so directs :

Provided, also, that, if at any time the owner or occupier of any building or land on which any such support, stay or strut has been fixed shows sufficient cause, the District Magistrate or, in a Presidency-town ^{1*} the Commissioner of Police may by order in writing direct any such support, stay or strut to be removed or altered.

(3) When making an order under sub-section (2), the District Magistrate or the Commissioner of Police, as the case may be, shall fix the amount of compensation or of annual rent, or of both, which should in his opinion be paid by the licensee to the owner or occupier.

(4) Every order made by a District Magistrate or a Commissioner of Police under sub-section (2) shall be subject to revision by the Provincial Government.

(5) Nothing contained in sub-section (1) shall be deemed to authorise or empower any licensee to open or break up any street not repairable by ²[the Central Government or the Provincial Government] or a local authority, or any railway or tramway, except such streets, railways or tramways (if any), or such parts thereof, as he is specially authorised to break up by his license, without the written consent of the person by whom the street is repairable or of the person for the time being entitled to work the railway or tramway, unless with the written consent of the Provincial Government:

Provided that the Provincial Government shall not give any such consent as aforesaid, until the licensee has given notice by advertisement or otherwise as the Provincial Government may direct, and within such period as the Provincial Government may fix in this behalf, to the person above referred to, and until all representations or objections received in accordance with the notice have been considered by the Provincial Government.

13. (1) Where the exercise of any of the powers of a licensee in relation to the execution of any works involves the placing of any works in, under, over, along or across any street, part of a street, railway, tramway, canal or waterway, the following provisions shall have effect, namely :—

decision. 114 I.C. 692=1929 L. 226. The Civil Courts have no jurisdiction to decide as to whether a bracket should be fixed on a particular private wall or not by a licensee under the Electricity Act and whether the person whose wall is being used should be given any compensation for it. It is entirely for the District Magistrate to decide these questions. 196 I.C. 547=A.I.R. 1941 Pesh. 73.

(a) not less than one month before commencing the execution of the works (not being a service-line immediately attached, or intended to be immediately attached, to a distributing main, or the repair, renewal or amendment of existing works of which the character or position is not to be altered), the licensee shall serve upon the person responsible for the repair of the street or part of a street, (hereinafter in this section referred to as "the repairing authority") or upon the person for the time being entitled to work the railway, tramway, canal or waterway (hereinafter in this section referred to as "the owner"), as the case may be, a notice in writing describing the proposed works, together with a section and plan thereof on a scale sufficiently large to show clearly the details of the proposed works, and not in any case smaller than one inch to eight feet vertically and sixteen inches to the mile horizontally, and intimating the manner in which, and the time at which, it is proposed to interfere with or alter any existing works, and shall upon being required to do so by the repairing authority or owner, as the case may be, from time to time give such further information in relation thereto as may be desired ;

(b) if the repairing authority intimates to the licensee that it disapproves of such works, section or plan, or approves thereof subject to amendment, the licensee may, within one week of receiving such intimation, appeal to the Provincial Government whose decision, after considering the reasons given by the repairing authority for its action, shall be final ;

(c) if the repairing authority fails to give notice in writing of its approval or disapproval to the licensee within one month, it shall be deemed to have approved of the works, section and plan, and the licensee, after giving not less than forty-eight hours' notice in writing to the repairing authority, may proceed to carry out the works in accordance with the notice and the section and plan served under clause (a) ;

(d) if the owner disapproves of such works, section or plan, or approves thereof subject to amendment, he may, within three weeks after the service of the notice under clause (a) serve a requisition upon the licensee demanding that any question in relation to the works or to compensation, or to the obligations of the owner to others in respect thereof, shall be determined by arbitration, and thereupon the matter shall, unless settled by agreement, be determined by arbitration :

(e) where no requisition has been served by the owner upon the licensee under clause (d), within the time named, the owner shall be deemed to have approved of the works, section and plan, and in that case, or where after a requisition for arbitration the matter has been determined by arbitration, the works may, upon payment or securing of compensation, be executed according to the notice and the section and plan, subject to such modifications as may have been determined by arbitration or agreed upon between the parties.

(f) where the works to be executed consist of the laying of any underground service-line immediately attached, or intended to be immediately attached, to a distributing main, the licensee shall give to the repairing authority or the owner, as the case may be, not less than forty-eight hours' notice in writing of his intention to execute such works ;

(g) where the works to be executed consist of the repair, renewal or amendment of existing works of which the character or position is not to be altered, the licensee shall, except in cases of emergency, give to the repairing authority, or to the owner, as the case may be, not less than forty-eight hours' notice in writing of his intention to execute such works, and, on the expiry of such notice, such works shall be commenced forthwith and shall be carried on with all reasonable despatch, and, if possible, both by day and by night until completed.

(2) Where the licensee makes default in complying with any of these provisions, he shall make full compensation for any loss or damage incurred by reason thereof, and, where any difference or dispute arises as to the amount of such compensation, the matter shall be determined by arbitration.

(3) Notwithstanding anything in this section, the licensee may, in case of emergency due to the breakdown of an underground electric supply-line, after giving notice in writing to the repairing authority or the owner, as the case may be, of his intention to do so, place an aerial line without complying with the provisions of sub-section (1) :

Provided that such aerial line shall be used only until the defect in the underground electric supply-line can be made good, and in no case (unless with the written consent of the Provincial Government) for a period exceeding six weeks, and shall be removed as soon as may be after such defect is removed.

14. (1) Any licensee may alter the position of any pipe (not forming, in a case where the licensee is not a local authority, part of a local authority's main sewer), or of any wire under or over any place which he is authorised to open or break up, if such pipe or wire is likely to interfere with the exercise of his powers under this Act ; and any person may alter the position of any electric supply-lines or works of a licensee under or over any such place as aforesaid, if such electric supply-lines or works are likely to interfere with the lawful exercise of any powers vested in him.

(2) In any such case as aforesaid the following provisions shall, in the absence of an agreement to the contrary between the parties concerned, apply, namely :—

(a) not less than one month before commencing any alteration, the licensee or other person desiring to make the same (hereinafter in this section referred to as "the operator") shall serve upon the person for the time being entitled to the pipe, wire, electric supply-lines or works, as the case may be (hereinafter in this section referred to as "the owner"), a notice in writing, describing the proposed alteration, together with a section and plan thereof on a scale sufficiently large to show clearly the details of the proposed works, and not in any case smaller than one inch to eight feet vertically and sixteen inches to the mile horizontally, and intimating the time when it is to be commenced, and shall subsequently give such further information in relation thereto as the owner may desire ;

(b) within fourteen days after the service of the notice, section and plan upon the owner, the owner may serve upon the operator a requisition to the effect that any question arising upon the notice, section or plan shall be determined by arbitration, and thereupon the matter shall, unless settled by agreement, be determined by arbitration ;

(c) every arbitrator to whom a reference is made under clause (b) shall have regard to any duties or obligations which the owner is under, and may require the operator to execute any temporary or other works so as to avoid as far as possible interference therewith ;

(d) where no requisition is served upon the operator under clause (b) within the time named, or where such a requisition has been served and the matter has been settled by agreement or determined by arbitration, the alteration may, upon payment or securing of any compensation accepted or determined by arbitration, be executed in accordance with the notice, section and plan and subject to such modifications as may have been determined by arbitration or agreed upon between the parties ;

SECS. 14 AND 19.—An operator cannot claim damages for acts of his own or done on his behalf and at his expense by the owner. Where a gas company was cut off from reasonable access to its own property by acts done in the exercise of its powers by the Electric Supply Company and those acts caused damage, detriment and inconvenience, held, that the damage claimed to have been suffered could be compensated under section 19, and sec. 14 did not apply and the gas company could not be deprived of its remedies. 16 Bom.L.R. 964=26 I.C. 892=A.I.R. 1939 Bom. 124.

(e) the owner may, at any time before the operator is entitled to commence the alteration, serve upon the operator a statement in writing to the effect that he desires to execute the alteration himself and requires the operator to give such security for the repayment of any expenses as may be agreed upon or, in default of agreement, determined by arbitration ;

(f) where a statement is served upon the operator under clause (e), he shall, not less than forty-eight hours before the execution of the alteration is required to be commenced, furnish such security and serve upon the owner a notice in writing intimating the time when the alteration is required to be commenced, and the manner in which it is required to be made ; and thereupon the owner may proceed to execute the alteration as required by the operator ;

(g) where the owner declines to comply, or does not, within the time and in the manner prescribed by a notice served upon him under clause (f), comply with the notice, the operator may himself execute the alteration ;

(h) all expenses properly incurred by the owner in complying with a notice served upon him by the operator under clause (f) may be recovered by him from the operator.

(3) Where the licensee or other person desiring to make the alteration makes default in complying with any of these provisions, he shall make full compensation for any loss or damage incurred by reason thereof, and, where any difference or dispute arises as to the amount of such compensation, the matter shall be determined by arbitration.

Laying of electric supply-line or other works near sewers, pipes or other electric supply-lines or works.

15. (1) Where—

(a) the licensee requires to dig or sink any trench for laying down any new electric supply-lines or other works, near to which any sewer, drain, water-course or work under the control of the Provincial Government or of any local authority, or any pipe, syphon, electric supply-line or other work belonging to any duly authorized person, has been lawfully placed, or

(b) any duly authorized person requires to dig or sink any trench for laying down or constructing any new pipes or other works, near to which any electric supply-lines or works of a licensee have been lawfully placed, the licensee or such duly authorized person, as the case may be (hereinafter in this section referred to as "the operator") shall, unless it is otherwise agreed upon between the parties interested or in case of sudden emergency, give to the Provincial Government or local authority, or to such duly authorized person, or to the licensee, as the case may be (hereinafter in this section referred to as "the owner"), not less than forty-eight hours' notice in writing before commencing to dig or sink the trench and the owner shall have the right to be present during the execution of the work, which shall be executed to the reasonable satisfaction of the owner.

(2) Where the operator finds it necessary to undermine, but not to alter, the position of any pipe, electric supply-line or work, he shall support it in position during the execution of the work, and before completion shall provide a suitable and proper foundation for it where so undermined.

(3) Where the operator (being the licensee) lays any electric supply-line across, or so as to be liable to touch, any pipes, lines or service-pipes or service-lines belonging to any duly authorized person or to any person supplying, transmitting or using energy under this Act, he shall not, except with the written consent of such person and in accordance with section 34, sub-section (1), lay his electric supply-lines so as to come into contact with any such pipes, lines or service-pipes or service-lines.

(4) Where the operator makes default in complying with any of the provisions of this section, he shall make full compensation for any loss or damage incurred by reason thereof.

(5) Where any difference or dispute arises under this section, the matter shall be determined by arbitration.

(6) Where the licensee is a local authority, the references in this section to the local authority and to sewers, drains, water-courses or works under its control shall not apply.

Streets, railways, tramways, sewers, drains or tunnels broken up to be reinstated without delay.

16. (1) Where any person, in exercise of any of the powers conferred by or under this Act, opens or breaks up the soil or pavement of any street, railway or tramway, or any sewer, drain or tunnel, he shall—

(a) immediately cause the part opened or broken up to be fenced and guarded ;

(b) before sunset cause a light or lights, sufficient for the warning of passengers to be set up and maintained until sunrise against or near the part opened or broken up ;

(c) with all reasonable speed fill in the ground and reinstate and make good the soil or pavement, or the sewer, drain or tunnel, opened or broken up, and carry away the rubbish occasioned by such opening or breaking up ; and

(d) after reinstating and making good the soil or pavement, or the sewer, drain or tunnel, broken or opened up, keep the same in good repair for three months and for any further period, not exceeding nine months, during which subsidence continues.

(2) Where any person fails to comply with any of the provisions of sub-section (1), the person having the control or management of the street, railway, tramway, sewer, drain or tunnel in respect of which the default has occurred, may cause to be executed the work which the defaulter has delayed or omitted to execute, and may recover from him the expenses incurred in such execution.

(3) Where any difference or dispute arises as to the amount of the expenses incurred under sub-section (2), the matter shall be determined by arbitration.

17. (1) A licensee shall, before laying down or placing, within ten yards of any part of any telegraph-line, any electric supply-
